DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Snow was falling at intervals.
MON.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
TUES.	The Electrical Apparatus is broken.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
WED.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Showers of rain and hail fell during the morning.
THURS.		The sky was overcast till noon, and generally clear afterwards; cumulostrati, cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling from 10h. a.m. till noon.
FRID.		The sky was generally overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. A shower of rain fell at noon.
SAT.		The sky was generally one-half covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud. A shower of rain fell at 4h. 30m. p.m.

The height of the cistern of the barometer is considered to be 139 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The amount of cloud is estimated by considering a clear sky to be represented by 0, a cloudy sky by 10; and when partially cloudy by estimating the number of tenths of the whole sky covered with cloud. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., and 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part. 1, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 10th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 44.4, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 40.9; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 42.5 and 40.4 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

It is shewn by the present Return, that the public health improves with the progress of the early months, and that the mortality has now fallen to the rate that prevailed in the month of October. The deaths in the week were 994, being 31 more than the weekly average of 5 Springs, if allowance be made, in estimating the average, for increase of population, which in females was in 10 years (1831—41) 1·551 per cent. annually. In the Registration Returns the Spring Quarter is reckoned from the 1st of April; and as the rate of mortality falls with the advance of the season, the return of last week is more favourable as compared with the average than at first sight appears. The deaths from the zymotic or epidemic class of diseases were 221; the average is 198: those from affections of the respiratory organs, 202; a considerable excess above the average which is 131, but augmented by the circumstance already mentioned. The deaths from hooping cough, bronchitis, pneumonia, were 54, 79, 87; the respective averages being 36, 37, 61. Consumption exhibits almost as nearly as possible the usual amount of fatality. Deaths from small-pox are still unusually few; those from measles are on the increase. The mortality from scarlatina and typhus is near the average; the aggregate from diarrhoea, dysentery, and cholera, it is satisfactory to observe, can hardly be said to be more than usual at this time. Only 5 persons died of cholera. A woman in Whitechapel died, according to medical certificate, of "intemperate habits, and disease of the heart." According to similar authority, a man of 23 years, died in the sub-district of St. John the Evangelist, Westminster, of "convulsions (10 days) caused by being exposed to the deleterious effects of tobacco, in his ordinary occupation at a cigar manufactory."

The mean height of the barometer was 29·468 in. on Tuesday, the highest recorded in the week. The temperature of the air was highest on Friday, when it was 59°·5. The mean daily temperature was highest on the same day, and was 49°·1. The mean temperature of the week was 45°·7.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, April 7th, 1849.

One is a Case in which an Inquest was held; the others are certified by Medical Attendants.

KENSINGTON; Town.

F. 28, "malignant cholera, and not injuries by violence alleged to have been done to her."—Inquest.

ST. MARTIN-IN-THE-FIELDS; Charing Cross.

F. 38, "cholera spasmodica (10 hours)."

Mr. Leonard, the Registrar, states, that "the deceased was reported as a charwoman, but in fact was an unfortunate female of intemperate habits, brought to the workhouse at 6h. p.m. on the 7th instant in a state of collapse. The House-Surgeon and Assistant gave immediate attendance, and at half-past 9 the District Surgeon also: death occurred at 10 p.m. On the morning of Easter Sunday the District Officer of Health visited the house, No. 5, Hanover-court, Long Acre, and reported it to be a "house of accommodation." In a small yard about 4ft. by 10ft. is a deep cesspool, not sufficiently protected, and very offensive. The under part of the house receives the dust and refuse; and the drain-water from the small yard runs in a pipe into the cellar, and is caught in a tub or butt. The rooms, which are 2 on a floor are cleanly kept. The two Officers of Health visited this house on August 26th of last year, and from notes then taken I find, that over a surface of about 6,480 square feet, there is no surface drainage, or very insufficient; that the cesspool of the above house had been emptied about the 17th July of the same year, and that there appeared to be no drain. The next house has also arrangements of the very worst possible description."

ST. PANCRAS; Camden Town.

M. 34, "Asiatic cholera—active symptoms (18 hours); continued fever (3 days)"

Dr. Barth, Medical Attendant, states, that "all the symptoms of Asiatic cholera were well marked in the patient, except cramps, which were very partial, and restricted to the upper extremities. Lips and face blue and collapse, diarrhoea, rice-water. Transfusion of 30 ounces of blood was tried while in collapse, which rallied him for a day, but he died 3 days afterwards of continued fever."

GREENWICH; Woolwich Arsenal.

In Royal Ordnance Hospital, M. 23, "debility (20 days); cholera biliosa (18 hours)."

Greenwich West.

In Dreadnought Hospital, M. 14, "cholera," p.m.

ERRATA.—In the report for the week ending Saturday, 31st March, 1849, an erroneous column of numbers was used for the lowest temperature of the air, and consequently all the results dependent upon these numbers are wrong. The reader is requested to erase all the thermometer observations and results as given for last week, and to substitute the following in their place:—

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.		The sky was generally covered with cirrostratus and send throughout the day. Rain was falling at different times during the evening.
MON.		The sky was for the most part overcast throughout the day. A steady rain was falling during the afternoon.
TUES.	The Electrical Apparatus is under repair.	The sky was overcast; cirrostratus and send.
WED.		The sky was three-fourths covered with cumuli, cumulostrati and send till the evening, which was overcast.
THURS.		The sky was mostly covered by cloud till 6h. p.m., and it was chiefly clear after that time. A thin misty rain was falling during the morning.
FRID.		The sky was cloudless till 8h. p.m., and it was mostly covered by cloud after this time. This was an extremely fine day for the season.
SAT.		The sky was chiefly covered with cloud during the morning, and it was cloudless afterwards.

The height of the cistern of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The amount of cloud is estimated by considering a clear sky to be represented by 0, a cloudy sky by 10; and when partially cloudy by estimating the number of tenths of the whole sky covered with cloud. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., and 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part. 1, 1848.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 49°7, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 45°4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 48°5 and 44°6 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE deaths registered in the week were 1,066, and show an excess of 103 on the Spring average. Among the causes to which the increase is due, hooping cough, which was fatal in 69 cases, while the average is only 36—bronchitis and pneumonia, which severally count 79, while the respective averages are 37 and 61, are found to predominate. Under the class of diseases which affect the respiratory organs, exclusive of phthisis, 198 deaths are enumerated, making 67 more than the average. Two persons died of influenza in the week: 9 in the last 4 weeks. Cholera was fatal to only two persons. The whole number of lives which it has destroyed during a comparatively mild visitation of 30 weeks, is 1002. The mortality from scarlatina still helps to swell the return to an undue extent, for it continues to maintain a position a little above the average. With reference to a fatal case of this disease, which occurred in Chester-street, Lambeth, the Registrar, Mr. Wheatley, states that it is the second which has occurred in the same house; and that the medical attendant believed that they had their origin in an open sewer, which runs at the back of the premises, and emits a very offensive smell. A boy a year old, died in the week of “cynanche parotidæa maligna.” The case is reckoned for convenience among those from scarlatina, that the list of causes of death might not be too much extended by introducing into it diseases which are rarely fatal.

The mean daily height of the barometer was greatest on Thursday, when it was 29.621; the mean of the week was 29.382. The temperature of the air fell gradually from the beginning of the week till Friday, when it began to rise. The highest daily mean was 47°·1 on Sunday; the mean of the week was 41°·8.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, April 14th, 1849.

Both Cases are certified by Medical Attendants.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	The Electrical Apparatus was under repair on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. On Thursday no Electricity was exhibited. Friday, for the most part of the day, active negative Electricity, with strong tension. Saturday, positive with moderate tension.	The sky was for the most part overcast throughout the morning; at noon the clouds began to break, and at 9h. p.m. the sky became cloudless. Cirrostratus and scud. Heavy rain fell previously to 9h. a.m.
MON.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain fell at intervals from about 2h. p.m., until midnight.
TUES.		The sky was for the most part overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Heavy rain fell previously to 9h. a.m., and from about 2h. p.m. till about 4h. p.m.
WED.		The sky was principally covered by cloud till about 7h. p.m., when the clouds began to disappear, and it became cloudless at 9h. p.m. Cirrostratus and scud. Rain fell at intervals during the day.
THURS.		The sky was about three-fourths covered by cloud throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain fell at intervals during the day.
FRID.		The sky was principally overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Frequent heavy showers of rain fell during the day.
SAT.		The sky was about one-half covered by cloud throughout the day; cirrostratus, cumuli, fleecy clouds and scud.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flat glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part. I, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 45'0, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 41'3; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 43'9 and 41'4 respectively.

NOTE.—The Return (which includes 11 deaths) of Mr. T. Marchant, the Registrar for the Sub-district of St. Paul's, Deptford, was not received till a late hour on Monday. In the above Table it is placed to causes not specified.
* The age of a person whose death is ascribed to puerperal fever is not stated.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

The deaths registered in the week were 1,089. The excess on the weekly average of Spring is considerable, and amounts to 126. The zymotic or epidemic diseases exhibit an increase on the average, the two numbers being 248 and 198; but it is important to observe that most of the fatal complaints in this class—measles, scarlatina, cholera, typhus—have produced this week a mortality scarcely exceeding the usual amount. Smallpox was fatal to 8 children and 4 adults, while the average number of persons at all ages who died of this disease is 21. The deaths from diarrhoea and dysentery were 23, or 9 more than the average; only one is ascribed to cholera. The excess of mortality is ascribed to whooping-cough, bronchitis and phthisis, which number respectively 59, 76, and 159, the averages being 36, 37, and 145—effects which are probably due in great measure to the increased coldness of the weather; the temperature of the air, taking one day with another, having been since Sunday the 8th inst. less than the mean temperature of the same time on an average of 7-years, by 6°.7. This difference on Thursday the 19th even amounted to 14°.5.

The mean temperature of the week was only 37°.1. The highest temperature did not rise on any day above 49°.2; it was lowest on Thursday, namely, 36°.3, on which day also the lowest mean occurred, and was only 32°.4. The mean reading of the barometer in the week was 29.626; it was highest on Saturday, being 29.741.

A tallow-chandler died in Greenwich, according to the verdict of a jury, of "disease of long standing, hastened by destitution and want of common necessities," a case which, as appears from an observation that fell from the Coroner, was aggravated by wanton and atrocious neglect in his own house. In the sub-district of St. Marylebone, two children, the son and daughter of a labourer, died of "the want of the common necessities of life." Inquests were held in both cases. The wife of a labourer died of "exhaustion, the natural effect of delay in procuring for herself medical aid in parturition," a return which was also made by a Coroner's Jury.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Positive, and tension variable at each examination.	The sky was overcast till 8h. p.m., and generally clear afterwards; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling until 3h. p.m.
MON.	Positive, and tension moderate till 3h. p.m. During the evening nothing was shewn.	The sky was covered with cirrostratus and scud throughout the day.
TUES.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was generally covered with cloud till 8h. p.m., clear till 10h. p.m., and overcast afterwards. At 3h. 15m. p.m., snow began to fall, and continued falling heavily till 6h. p.m., and again from 10h. 30m. p.m., till midnight.
WED.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was generally covered with cumulostratus, cirrostratus, and scud. From 2h. 45m. a.m., until 5h. 15m. a.m., a heavy squall of wind, accompanied with a thick fall of snow, occurred, and rain and snow fell frequently during the afternoon.
THURS.	Negative, and very active during the day; frequent sparks and galvanic currents were shewn.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Snow and rain fell, almost without intermission from shortly after 0h. a.m., till 5h. 30m. p.m.
FRID.	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day, and during the squalls of hail frequent sparks were shewn.	Three-fourths of the sky were generally covered till 7h. p.m., and cloudless afterwards. Frequent showers of hail, sleet, and rain occurred.
SAT.	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till about 3h. p.m., when the clouds began to break, and at 9h. p.m. the sky became cloudless.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 42.0, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 37.1; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 40.3 and 36.8 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE deaths in the week were 1,058, or 95 more than the weekly average of Spring: but the return shows a small decrease on the two previous weeks, in which the numbers were respectively 1,066 and 1,089. The excess on the average is chiefly maintained, as was previously shown, by bronchitis and whooping cough, which were fatal—the former to 91 persons, though only 37 died one week with another in the corresponding quarter of former years—the latter to 51 children under 10 years, or 15 more than usual. Whooping-cough, however, shows a marked decline since the beginning of March, when the number returned was 89. Scarletina caused 47 deaths, or 15 more than the average; diarrhoea and dysentery 18, or 4 in excess; cholera only one. The mortality from typhus continues to decline, and is now remarkably low; the deaths from it were 34, the average being 42; in last February they averaged about 60, and in the week of 1848 corresponding to the present, they were 67. The mortality from small pox is under—that from measles a little above the average. The continued excess of mortality from bronchitis may still be attributed to lowness of temperature in recent weeks. In the last week, the temperature was less than that of the same week on an average of seven years, by 3°.7. It was under this average during the whole period between the 8th and 28th of April. It rose, however, considerably on Wednesday, and maintained its position during the rest of the week. On Thursday and Friday, the highest temperature was more than 60°; the daily mean 48°. The mean of the week was 45°.9. The mean height of the barometer was 29.519.

A boy and girl in the Belgrave sub-district, aged 3 months, two of three children at a birth, died of thrush and inanition, or deficient nutriment. The parents are described as in indigent circumstances. Intemperance was fatal to 3 persons, by producing disease of the liver in two cases, and by leading to an act of suicide in a third. This man, who had been a baker, cut his throat after intoxication. One person died of "diphtheritis."

FATAL CASE of CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, April 28th, 1849.

The following Case is certified by Medical Attendant:—

WHITECHAPEL; Aldgate.—In the Tower of London, F. 10, "cholera, (36 hours)."

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Misty rain was falling during the morning.
MON.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 3h. p.m., and the amount of cloud was variable during the remainder of the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling generally till 3h. p.m., and in occasional showers afterwards.
TUES.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
WED.	Positive, and tension weak at 9h. p.m. Nothing was shewn at any other examination.	The sky was covered with cirrostratus of various densities throughout the day. At 9h. a.m. rain was falling.
THURS.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till noon, three-fourths were covered till 7h. p.m., and it was cloudless afterwards; cumuli, cirrostrati, and scud. A great gloom prevailed from 7h. 30m. a.m., till 10h. a.m., and rain fell at intervals.
FRID.	Positive, and tension moderate throughout the day.	The amount of cloud was variable until 6h. p.m., when the sky became overcast, and continued so until midnight; cumuli, cirrostrati, and scud. A heavy shower of rain fell at 8h. 50m. p.m.
SAT.	Positive generally throughout the day, and negative during the continuance of rain: there were galvanic currents and sparks between the hours of 2 and 3.	The amount of cloud was very variable throughout the day; cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud. Frequent and heavy showers of rain fell, and between 2h. and 3h. p.m. loud thunder was heard.

The height of the cistern of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part 1, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 15th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 48.6, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 47.5; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 48.5 and 47.0 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

SUMMER approaches, and brings with it the usual improvement in the public health. The deaths registered in last week, which were 986, are more than the average estimated for increase of population; but show a decrease of about 70 on the month of April, which was unusually cold for the season. It continues to be observed, that hooping-cough and bronchitis are the most active agents in maintaining the rate of mortality at the present mark—the former increasing though the latter declines. From hooping-cough the mortality—namely 71 deaths—is double the average; while the 57 deaths from bronchitis are 20 above the average. The deaths from pneumonia are 77, or 16 more than the average; those from consumption 139, or rather less than the average. There were 12 from serofula (or 7 more than the average); and amongst those enumerated under this head were four deaths of males, chiefly boys under 15, ascribed to lumbar or psoas abscess. The mortality from scarlatina and measles continues slightly above the average; that from small-pox and typhus is still under it. Twenty-two persons died of diarrhoea and dysentery, but not more than in the same week of the last two years; 13 of these were children under two years. A girl, two boys, and a man died of cholera, the last in the Dreadnought Hospital. A female of 34 years died in St. Clement Danes, and the cause of death is reported by the medical man to have been “exhaustion from grief,” after an illness of 5 months.

The mean daily reading of the barometer was above 30 in. on Sunday and Monday; the mean of the week was 29.859. The highest temperature in the week recorded at Greenwich was on Saturday, when it was 75°; on the same day it was highest in the sun, namely 96°.5. The mean temperature rose from 51°.9 on Sunday to 59°.6 on Saturday. The mean of the week was 55°.2. The temperature of the end of the week was about 8° above the average of the same time in the last seven years, though it stood below this average on Tuesday.

FATAL CASE of CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, May 5th, 1849.

The following Cases are certified by Medical Attendants:—

ST. PANCRAS; Gray's Inn-lane.

F. 8, “cholera epidemic (3 days).”

Regent's Park.

M. 15, “English cholera (12 days).”

SHOREDITCH; Holywell.

M. 6, “Asiatic cholera (9½ hours).”

Mr. Earles, the Registrar states, that “the Health Officer of the Parish and himself visited the house in which this case occurred, and found 26 persons living in it, of whom eight slept in the garret in which the child died. They attribute the disease to extreme poverty, bad ventilation, and the noxious effluvia arising from the gorged state of the cesspools. Another child has since died in the same room, upon which an inquest is about to be held.”

GREENWICH; Greenwich West.

In Dreadnought Hospital, M. 21, “cholera (1 week).”

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	At 9h. p.m. nothing was shewn, positive, and tension strong at other examinations.	The sky was generally clear till after noon, and covered with cirrostratus during the remainder of the day.
MON.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	The sky was cloudless throughout the day.
TUES.	Positive, and tension strong at 9h. p.m. Nothing was shewn at other times.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
WED.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Thin rain was falling at 9h. a.m., and from 11h. p.m. till midnight; a heavy storm of thunder and lightning occurred between the last mentioned times.
THURS.	Positive, and tension strong at noon, and from 9h. p.m. until midnight. At other periods of the day nothing was shewn.	The sky was generally covered with cloud till after noon, and cloudless during the remainder of the day. Frequent flashes of lightning were seen during the evening.
FRID.	At 9h. a.m. nothing was shewn; positive, and tension strong at other times.	The sky was cloudless throughout the day.
SAT.	Positive, and tension strong between 2h. and 3h. p.m. At other examinations nothing was shewn.	The sky was at times about one-half, and at others three-fourths covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud, till 4h. p.m., and generally cloudless afterwards; distant thunder was heard between 2h. and 3h. p.m. The decline of temperature from noon till 11h. p.m. was 29°. Between the hours of 5h. p.m. and 11h. p.m. the decrease was 21°.

The height of the cistern of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part 1, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

• In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 59°·5, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 52°·2; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 57°·9 and 51°·3 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

It is satisfactory to observe, that the last Return indicates a continued tendency in the public health to improve. The deaths registered in the week were 58 less than the average; the numbers having gradually fallen during four successive weeks from the middle of April, when they were respectively 1089, 1058, 986, and in the last week 903. This result is obtained notwithstanding recent lowness of temperature, which in last week was considerably under the average of 7 years, though it had been much above it during great part of that immediately preceding. The deaths from zymotic or epidemic diseases, in the aggregate, were 206, and exceeded the average by 8; in the two preceding weeks they were 233 and 248. Of the diseases in this class which sometimes prevail extensively, small-pox and typhus continue to be fatal to a less number of persons than usual; diarrhoea and dysentery are fatal to 13, or one less than the average, showing a decrease on the preceding four weeks; cholera to three, or only two more than the average; measles, which increases a little, to 33, or 12 in excess of the average; and scarlatina, which continues to decline, to 40, or eight in excess. The mortality from bronchitis and pneumonia falls, and now only exceeds the average to an inconsiderable extent; that from phthisis is in less amount than usual. No death was recorded from influenza. The deaths of two men, one 68, and the other 71 years of age, are described as the result of intemperance, which produced in one case typhoid fever, and in the other delirium tremens. A man of 38 years died of "apoplexy succeeding great cerebral excitement."

The mean height of the barometer during the week was 29.835 in.; the mean daily height was above 30 in. on Saturday only. The mean daily temperature which was 50°.7 on Sunday, continuously fell to 42°.2 on Thursday; on Friday and Saturday it rose to about 47°. The mean of the week was 45°.5 It was 6°.7 below the average of the corresponding week of 7 years.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	No Electricity has been shewn throughout the week at the times of examination of the Instruments.	The clouds were slightly broken at 9h. a.m., the sky was otherwise overcast throughout the day; cumuli, cirri, and scud.
MON.		The sky was overcast till noon, three-fourths covered till 5h. p.m., and overcast afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
TUES.		The sky was generally one-half covered till near noon, and overcast afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
WED.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain fell at intervals during the evening.
THURS.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain fell occasionally during the afternoon and evening.
FRID.		The sky was overcast till 6h. p.m., generally cloudless till 8h. 30m. p.m., and overcast afterwards.
SAT.		The sky was for the most part overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus, fleecy clouds and scud.
The height of the cistern of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part 1, 1846. The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections. The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. * In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average. The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 49°9; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 41°6; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 46°2 and 44°2 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE 1,033 deaths registered in the week exhibit an increase of 70 on the weekly average; as well as an excess of nearly 90 on the weekly mortality of the previous fortnight. This unfavourable result is due chiefly to diseases of the respiratory organs. The deaths from hooping cough were 67, or nearly double the average; those in the preceding week were 46. The deaths from bronchitis and pneumonia were 54 and 86, being 17 and 25 above the respective averages, and also showing an increase on the previous week. The deaths from measles were 32, or 11 above the average; those from typhus exactly correspond with it. The mortality from small pox is remarkably low; and scarlatina, after spreading its ravages throughout a long period, has subsided to near the ordinary amount of fatality. The deaths from diarrhoea and dysentery were 18; only one was caused by cholera. The deaths of two persons, one advanced in life, were accelerated by intemperance; and a woman of 77 years, died from immersion in water, and bruises received by falling into a common sewer, when under the influence of intoxicating drink. A man of 58 years, died of "cerebral affection produced by mental anxiety," after an illness of 12 weeks. And a boy was accidentally killed by suspension with a rope at the neck, when engaged in gymnastic exercises.

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.498. The mean temperature of the week was 54°.9. The temperature was a little above the average of the same period of 7 years, throughout the whole week; and the excess, taking one day with another, was 2°.6.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.		The sky was generally covered with cirrostratus and scud till 7h. p.m., and cloudless afterwards.
MON.	No Electricity has been shown throughout the week, with the exception of Friday, during a squall of wind and rain, when Negative Electricity was exhibited with strong tension.	The sky was covered till 9h. a.m., three-fourths were covered till 3h. p.m., and overcast afterwards; cumuli, cirrostratus, and scud.
TUES.		The sky was generally three-fourths covered till 6h. p.m., and cloudless afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
WED.		The clouds were slightly broken at 3h. p.m., the sky was otherwise overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling heavily during the early portion of the morning, and also during the evening.
THURS.		The sky was generally overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Occasional showers of rain fell during the evening.
FRID.		Between 3h. and 5h. p.m., three-fourths of the sky were covered; at other times during the day it was overcast; cirrostratus, scud, and fleecy clouds. A heavy shower of rain fell at 9h. 30m. p.m.
SAT.		The sky was for the most part overcast throughout the day; cumuli, cirrostrati, and scud.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's first standard barometer. The observations taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Trans. Part I, 1846.

The results for temperature of the day include those deduced from the mean and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the rays of the sun, and the other placed in the shade, are read each day at every midnight, and therefore exact highest and lowest readings reported that have occurred in the previous day. They are, however, placed here only to the civil day which precedes that in which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it is borne in mind that + is read "high" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9 a.m. was 56.8; and the mean reading at 9 p.m. was 53.1; the mean readings of the Royal Observatory for the same time were 56.1 and 53.1 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE public health, as shown by the present return, exhibits a decided improvement. The 897 deaths are fewer than in the corresponding week of any former year, since 1846. The mortality which had suddenly increased by 70 deaths above the average in the preceding week, has now fallen as much below it. As compared with that week, the decrease is most apparent in the deaths arising from consumption and inflammation of the lungs. From the former disease, there died in the last week 103 persons (the average being 145), while in the previous week the number was 183. From the latter disease (or pneumonia) 61 died, being exactly the average; of these, 34 were children, who had not completed their second year, while in the previous week the deaths which occurred at the same age were 57. In this return the mortality from bronchitis still exceeds the average by 18 deaths. The only epidemic, which now prevails to a marked extent, is whooping cough, from which the deaths were 60, or 24 more than the average; but diarrhoea appears to be on the increase. Cholera was fatal in 5 cases; but in two of these which occurred to infants, the disease is returned as "diarrhoea choleraica." Mr. Butterfield, the Registrar of Islington, East, reports that the deaths of two young children at Albany-place; Hornsey-road, caused by rubeola and cachexia in one case, and fever in the other, were accelerated by the defective sewerage and damp state of the house. The deaths of a man of 43 years, and a woman of 30, were hastened by intemperance. According to the return of a Coroner's jury, a girl of 15 months, died from "swallowing 44 percussion gun-caps containing poison." Her illness lasted two days; and an examination was made post mortem.

The mean height of the barometer in the week, was 29.818 in. On Thursday, it was 30.014. The temperature of the week was highest on Thursday and Friday, and on the latter day the highest reading in the shade was 70° 6. The mean of the week was 56° 9, showing an increase of 11° on that of the week ending May 12th.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, May 26th, 1849.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling till 5h. 30m. p.m., at which time the amount collected was 0.90 inch.
MON.	May 24d. 0h., positive, with strong tension. Nothing was shewn at any other examination throughout the week.	The sky was overcast till noon, and generally three-fourths covered afterwards; cirrostratus, scud, and fleecy clouds. A shower of rain fell at 5h. p.m.
TUES.		The sky was overcast till noon, the amount of cloud was variable afterwards; cumuli, cirrostrati, and scud. Rain was falling during the morning, and also in occasional showers during the evening.
WED.		The sky was generally one-half covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud throughout the day.
THURS.		The sky was generally free from cloud till 9h. a.m., and three-fourths covered afterwards; cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud.
FRID.		Cumuli, cumulostrati, and fleecy clouds, variable in amount, prevailed till 9h. p.m., and the sky was overcast afterwards.
SAT.		The sky was for the most part covered by cloud at 9h. a.m., overcast at noon; about one-third covered at 3h. p.m., and overcast at 9h. p.m. Slight rain fell previously to 9h. a.m.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 60.5, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 55.7; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 60.4 and 55.1 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE 895 deaths registered in the week exhibit a satisfactory decrease of 68 on the weekly average of five springs. The mortality from the zymotic or epidemic class of diseases continues to fall, the deaths in last week having been 209—those in the preceeding week 233; the average is 198. Scarlatina has now declined rather below the average, and numbers 29 fatal cases. Typhus, which during the previous 13 weeks, ranged from 33 to 46, was fatal in the last week (to only 23, an unusually small number for this disease, and hardly exceeding one-half of the average, Small pox, also, is fatal to few at the present time; the weekly numbers during last month were respectively 12, 6, 8, 6, whilst the average is 21. The mortality from hooping cough declines, though it is still above the average. Measles appears on the increase, and has last week nearly doubled the average, which is 21 deaths. The deaths from diarrhoea and dysentery were 19; the average of the season is 14. Cholera is slightly increasing, for though one death forms the weekly average of former springs, the fatal cases registered during the last four weeks have been 3, 1, 5, 9. Of the last nine cases, five occurred in public institutions, namely, two in the Dreadnought Hospital, one in the Holborn Union, one in the Chelsea, and another in the Battersea Workhouse. Both bronchitis and pneumonia grow less fatal, though the former is still above the average, while the latter is below it. A woman in the Leather-market, Sub-district, Bermondsey, died at 54 years of age of “bowel complaint and debility hastened by want of sufficient nourishment, no application having been made to the parish authorities.” A boy of two months, at Somers Town, was “found dead in bed, suffocated from inhaling impure air.” A woman of 52 years died from “vomiting blood, caused by excitement.” Inquests were held on the above three cases. A man of 36 years died “suddenly after illness, probably from intemperance,” but the cause of death is not attested either by coroner or medical man.

The mean reading of the barometer was above 30 in. on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The mean of the week was 29.978. The thermometer was highest on Thursday, when it reached 74°.9; the mean of the same day was 64°.3. The mean of the week was 60°.3. On Thursday the mean temperature was higher than the average of the same day in 7 years, by 7°.4, though it was below it on the first two days of the week. The mean of the week exceeded the average by 1.3.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, June 2nd, 1849.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.		The sky was principally free from cloud at 11h. a.m., and about one-third covered at 9h. p.m. Cirri and fleecy clouds.
MON.	Negative Electricity with strong tension, was exhibited on Monday during heavy rain. Positive, with moderate tension was shewn on Friday evening; and positive, with strong tension throughout Saturday. None has been exhibited at other times throughout the week.	The sky was principally overcast throughout the day. Cirrostratus and scud. Heavy rain was falling from 3h. a.m., with slight exceptions, till nearly midnight; the amount which fell within the day was 1.6 inches.
TUES.		The sky was overcast at 9h. a.m.; about three-fourths covered at noon; one-half covered at 3h. p.m., and cloudless at 9 p.m. Cumuli, cirrostrati, and scud.
WED.		The sky was cloudless at 9h. a.m., about one-half covered at noon; three-fourths at 3h. p.m. and at 9h. p.m. Cirrostrati and scud.
THURS.		The sky was overcast till about 3h. p.m., when the clouds became broken, and at 9h. p.m. the sky was about one-half covered; cirrostratus and scud.
FRID.		The sky was about two-thirds covered by cloud at 9h. a.m.; overcast at noon and 3h. p.m., and nearly cloudless at 9h. p.m. Cirrostratus and scud.
SAT.		The sky was for the most part covered by cloud at 9h. a.m.; overcast at noon and 3h. p.m. Variable throughout the remainder of the day. Cumuli, fleecy clouds, cirrostrati, and scud.

The height of the cistern of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the ocean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's Flint glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part 1, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

• In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and - "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 62.1, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 60.5; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 62.7 and 59.5 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE present Return of 971 deaths, exhibits an increase of nearly 80 on each of the two preceding weeks, and also a small increase of 8 on the average of five Springs. The mortality from diseases of the respiratory organs continues to decrease; for the numbers in this class, in the last three weeks, were successively 139, 127, and 102, while the average is 131. The increase is principally in the zymotic or epidemic class of diseases; for whereas the average is 198, the deaths in this group, in the same three weeks were successively 233, 209, and 251. The deaths in the last week from diarrhœa and dysentery were 25, or 11 above the average, but are not more numerous than in the same week of 1848; those from cholera, in two preceding weeks, were respectively 5 and 9, but in last week were 22, though the weekly average in former years was only one. Hooping cough shows an excess on the average of 22, the number in this Return being 58. The deaths from scarlatina were 40, or 8 more than the average; those from typhus 38, or 4 less than the average. In the West London Workhouse, a man of 36 years, died of "low fever accompanied with diarrhœa, apparently produced by extreme destitution." Another man of the same age, died of "delirium tremens, brought on by excessive drinking." In University College Hospital, the death of a juggler, 22 years of age, occurred, according to the return, from "tremendous pericarditis, caused by passing an iron sword down the œsophagus and thence to the pericardium, after exhibition." Inquests were held on the above three cases.

The mean reading of the barometer was above 30 in. on Sunday and Wednesday; the mean reading of the week was 29.908. The temperature was high in the early part of the week, especially on Tuesday, when the mean was 68°6, and higher than the average of the same day in seven previous years by 9°1. The mean of the week was 59°7.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, June 9th, 1849.

Two are Cases in which Inquests were held; the remainder are certified by Medical Attendants:—

ST. GEORGE, HANOVER-SQUARE; Belgrave.
M. 10, "cholera; typhoid fever, (10 days)."

Note.—The above was grandson of the woman whose death from cholera, which occurred in the same house, was reported last week.

WESTMINSTER; St. John the Evangelist.
F. 11 weeks, "mesenteric disease, (several weeks;) cholera infantum, (4 days)."
ISLINGTON; West.
M. 60, "cholera (15½ hours)."

HACKNEY; Hackney.
The two following cases occurred in the German Hospital, Dalston:—
M. 16, "cholera Asiatica (14 hours)."
M. 6, "cholera Asiatica, (10 hours)."

Mr. Steib, the Registrar, states, that "they were natives of Switzerland, and had come from Germany with a view of emigrating to New York. The disease, which appeared in its worst form, seemed to be produced principally by drinking large quantities of sea-water, and living in a ship over crowded by passengers."

STRAND; St. Mary-le-Strand.
M. 37, "English cholera, (50 hours)."

HOLBORN; St. Andrew, Eastern.
At 22, Brook-street, a boot-maker, 45, "cholera morbus, (24 hours)."
At Holborn Union, M. 32, "ague (2 months); Asiatic cholera (14 hours)."
At the same Union, M. 53, "general dropsy (3 months); Asiatic cholera, (18 hours); empyema, (24 hours)."

ST. LUKE; Finsbury.
At 6, Wilson-street, wife of a gentleman, 23, "cholera (10 hours)."

WEST LONDON; South.
At 43, Primrose-hill, F. 42, "lumbago (4 days); cholera, (13 hours)."
—; North.
At Union House, West-street, F. 22, "cholera morbus,"
At 58, Skinner-street, F. 42, "cholera, (19 hours)."

WHITECHAPEL; Whitechapel North.

At New-court, George-yard, son of a labourer, 8, "malignant cholera (5 days); consecutive fever (2 days)."

—; Whitechapel Church.

At London Hospital, from Bethnal-green, M. 32, "Asiatic cholera, (20 hours)."
—; Aldgate.

A sailor, 29, "natural death suddenly from cholera (12 hours).—Inquest.

Mr. Harris, the Registrar, states that "the deceased returned from a voyage a few days before death, having encountered severe weather, and been hard worked at the pump. On the day before death, which occurred in St Katherine's Docks, he had been drunk at Plymouth."

BERMONDSEY; St. James.
F. 13, "cholera Asiatica, (18 hours)."
M. 4, cholera Asiatica, (12 hours)."

Son of a corn porter, 11, natural death, "Asiatic cholera (11 hours).—Inquest.

Mr. Martin, the Registrar, states that "the boy died of cholera, and because the medical attendant, amidst other remedies, ordered the free exhibition of cold water, the child's uncle demanded an inquest, which was held this day. The case occurred in a house over-hanging the filthy and disgusting tidal ditch. Other cases have occurred on the same spot, two of which have proved fatal this day, but are not yet registered. The Jury expressed in no measured terms their opinion of the Commissioners, who having recently had the opportunity of purchasing the tidal ditch, and the power of closing up the present large open drain, refused to do so from a trifling pecuniary consideration, leaving the thousands of persons who reside upon its banks to suffer from the pestiferous effluvia constantly arising therefrom."

NEWINGTON; St. Mary,
At 45, St. George's-road, gentleman, 67, cholera, (10 hours)."
CAMBERWELL; Camberwell.
At George-street, a beer-seller, 41, "cholera (30 hours); asphyxia."—p.m.
GREENWICH; Greenwich West.
F. 29, "English cholera, (a fortnight); cholera."

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	A few light clouds prevailed occasionally during the morning, otherwise the sky was clear throughout the day.
MON.	Positive, and tension strong, till 3h. p.m. At 9h. p.m., nothing was shewn.	Three-fourths of the sky were covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud, until 9h. p.m., and overcast afterwards.
TUES.	Positive, and tension strong till 2h. 30m. p.m.; from 1h. 30m. till 2h. 30m. p.m. frequent sparks and galvanic currents were shewn. Nothing was shewn afterwards.	The sky was cloudless till near noon; the amount of cloud was variable till 5h. p.m., and overcast from this time till midnight; cumuli, cirrostratus, and scud. Thunder was heard chiefly in the W.N.W. from 1h. 30m., till 2h. 30m. p.m., at short intervals; some large drops of rain also occasionally fell, and a slight shower fell at 8h. p.m.
WED.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was covered throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain fell with hut slight intermissions from 2h. 50m. p.m., till 8h. p.m.
THURS.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was generally covered till 2h. 30m. p.m., clear until 5h. p.m., and overcast afterwards; cumulostrati, cirrostratus, and scud.
FRID.	Positive, and tension variable till 3h. p.m. Nothing was shewn afterwards.	At 9h. a.m. one-half of the sky was covered, and, until noon, the amount of cloud was very variable; during the remainder of the day, with slight exceptions, the sky was overcast; cumulostratus, fleecy clouds and scud.
SAT.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	Cirrostratus and light clouds of various modifications, generally covering one-third portion of the sky, prevailed until 5h. p.m.; cloudless afterwards.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 63·6, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 57·4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 64·7 and 56·4 respectively.

* The thermometer exposed to the full rays of the sun, has been out of order since June 5.

Weekly Average derived from Deaths of 1844-5-6-7-8, and corrected for increase of Population	Males	494	Deaths registered in the Week	Males	513	Births registered in the Week	Males	720
	Females	469		Females	399		Females	723
	Total	963		Total..	912		Total..	1443

* The age of a Female, whose death is ascribed to Privation, is not stated.

THE mortality of the Metropolitan Districts, which in the previous week was rather above the average, has fallen last week to 912 deaths, or 51 less than the estimate founded on the weekly mortality of former Springs. Taking four principal groups of fatal causes, namely, the tubercular, diseases of the nervous system, of the heart, and of the respiratory organs, all show a decrease on the average; especially the last, in which the deaths were 88, though the average is 131. The epidemic class alone (numbering 251 deaths) shows an excess which is considerable and amounts to 53; but of the twenty-one diseases, of which it consists, only hooping-cough, diarrhoea, and cholera, are conspicuously fatal in this return. Hooping-cough numbers 45, against an average of 36. The average of diarrhoea and dysentery is 14; but in the last three weeks, the numbers have been respectively 19, 25, and 38, showing a gradual increase. Cholera, which in five former Springs averaged one death weekly, was fatal in the last three weeks to 9, 22, and 42 persons, showing that the epidemic makes some progress. Of the 42, 30 died on the south side of the River. Two men died from contact with diseased horses. One case, that of a man 48 years of age, is described as "inflamed finger (10 days), erysipelas of head and face (3 days)," caused, as the Registrar was informed, by a glandered horse. Another man, aged 44 years, died of "farcy, caught from attending a farcied horse which was shot." This person had been ill four months. Three fatal cases of privation are thus recorded:—a man of 48 years in Christ-church, St. Saviour's, "starvation, diarrhoea (3 days)." The case is certified by a medical man. A woman, 67 years of age, on whom an inquest was held, "was found dead, apparently from want," in Ratcliff; and according to the Coroner's return, the death of another woman, age unknown, in Goodman's-fields, was accelerated by "exhaustion from cold and privation."

The mean reading of the barometer * was above 30 in. on Thursday; the mean of the week was 29.779 in. The temperature rose towards the end of the week, but throughout was less than the average. The highest reading of the thermometer occurred on Saturday, when it was 69°.6; the mean of that day was 57°.6; the mean of the week was 53°.5, lower than that of the previous fortnight by more than 6°. On Tuesday the mean temperature was less than the average of the same day in 7 years by 10°.7; the mean of the week was less than the average by 7°.1.

* For fluctuation of the barometer, see a Note, page 4th.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, June 16th, 1849.

Four are Cases in which Inquests were held; the remainder are certified by Medical Attendants:—

WESTMINSTER; St. Margaret.

M. 51, malignant Asiatic cholera, (24 hours.)"

MARYLEBONE; All Souls.

On 9th June, at 4, Ogle-square, lithographic printer, 21, "peritonitis, (12 days); diarrhoea cholericæ, (3 days)." Unwholesome locality was the predisposing cause.

ST. PANCRAS; Tottenham.

M. 52, "cholera Asiatica, (23 hours.)"

Camden Town.

F. 76, "English cholera (about 2 days)."

ISLINGTON; West.

At No. 60, Gibson-square, widow of a colonel, 53, "cholera (48 hours.)"

The Medical Attendant states, that "there is a foul cupboard under the stairs of the house in which she lived."

Mr. J. Watts, the Registrar, adds, that "deceased occupied a house, situated in one of the open squares. The attention of the family was directed immediately after the death to offensive effluvia proceeding from the kitchen stairs, which they traced to the unused closet or cupboard mentioned above. In last Weekly Return was reported a death which occurred suddenly in the same house, of a gentleman, aged 60, from cholera, after 15½ hours' illness, whose sleeping-room was partly over this cupboard. Both parties had been previously in excellent health."

HOLBORN; St. Andrew, Eastern.

At Holborn Union, M. 68, "Asiatic cholera, (25 hours after attack.)"

EAST LONDON; Cripplegate.

At 5, Glovershall-court, M. 3, "cholera, (5 days)."

WEST LONDON; South.

At 6, Union-court, F. 32, "cholera, (32 hours.)"

WHITECHAPEL; Whitechapel North.

The two following cases are those of labouring men who died in New-court, George-yard:—

M. 32, "malignant cholera, (11 hours.)"

M. 51, "malignant cholera, (22 hours.)"

ST. GEORGE-IN-THE-EAST; St. Paul.

On 15th May, at 6, Kinder-street, M. 34, "natural death, sudden, from cholera, (5 hours.)—Inquest."

STEPNEY; Ratcliff.

M. 50, "sudden death from Asiatic cholera, (9 hours.)"—Inquest.

ST. OLAVE; St. Olave.

On 10th June, at 8, Melior-street, butcher, 25, "cholera Asiatica, (10 hours.)"

At 1, Vine-yard, a tortoiseshell-worker, M. 33, "Asiatic cholera, (44 hours.)"

At 26, Magdalen-court, wife of a labourer, 30, "cholera (14 hours.)"

St. John.

M. 50, "cholera, (24 hours); under treatment in the Workhouse, 7 hours."

M. 17, "cholera Asiatica, (24 hours.)"

F. 7, "cholera Asiatica, (12 hours.)"

BERMONDSEY; Leather Market.

M. 47, "Asiatic cholera (13 hours.)"

St. Mary.

At Mellick-place, F. 25, "Asiatic cholera (24 hours.)"

St. James.

M. 17, "Asiatic cholera (14 hours.)"

M. 22, "Asiatic cholera (16 hours.)"

M. 5, "pertussis (3 weeks); cholera Asiatica (30 hours.)"

M. 25, "Asiatic cholera (18 hours.)"

M. 22, "Asiatic cholera (120 hours); fever (24 hours.)"

F. 39, "Asiatic cholera (4 days); premature labour (1 day.)"

F. 16, "Asiatic cholera (18 hours.)"

F. 11, "malignant cholera (23 hours.)"

F. 45, "Asiatic cholera (15 hours.)"

Mr. Martin, the Registrar states, "that all the 9 cases of cholera reported this week occurred on the banks of the disgusting tidal ditch mentioned in last week's report. Seven of them occurred within 50 yards of each other. This ditch, formerly used as a mill stream, is now the receptacle of all kinds of filth. Putrid fish in large quantities is frequently thrown in; many of the poor drink the water and use it for culinary purposes."

ST. GEORGE THE MARTYR; Kent Road.

F. 10 months, "English cholera, convulsions."

NEWINGTON; Walworth.

On June 9th, at 7, Caneel-street, a printer, 49, "malignant cholera (12 hours.)"

LAMBETH; Lambeth Church (2nd part.)

M. 35, shoemaker, "cholera virulent (13 hours.)"

Brixton.

In Brixton Gaol, a M. convict, 41, "natural death; malignant cholera (19 hours.)"—Inquest.

ROTHERHITHE; Rotlierhithé.

F. 32, "cholera (15 hours.)"

GREENWICH; St. Paul's, Deptford.

M. 72, "cholera biliosa (4 days.)"

Woolwich Arsenal.

In United Hospital Ship, Woolwich, M. 16, a convict, "Asiatic cholera (8 hours.)"—Inquest.

In same Hospital, M. 32, a convict, "English cholera (6 days.)"—Inquest.

Greenwich, West.

In Dreadnought Hospital, M. 38, "cholera (16 hours.)"

In same Hospital, M. 32, "cholera (12 hours.)"

M. 31, "cholera (24 hours.)"

M. 45, "cholera (20 hours.)"

F. 4, "cholera (15 hours.)"

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 9h. p.m., and generally clear afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
MON.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 8h. p.m., and cloudless afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
TUES.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cumulostrati, cirrostrati, and scud; light rain fell occasionally during the evening.
WED.	Positive, and tension strong at 9h. p.m. Nothing was shewn at other examinations.	One-half of the sky was generally covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud, till 8h. p.m., and clear afterwards.
THURS.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	Some portions of cumuli, and light clouds prevailed near noon, and at 9h. p.m., otherwise the sky was cloudless throughout the day.
FRID.	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	The clouds were slightly broken near noon; with this exception the sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
SAT.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was generally overcast till 3h. p.m. The amount of cloud was variable during the remainder of the day, consisting of cumuli, cumulostrati, cirrostratus, and scud.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 56'9, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 53'4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 56'0 and 50'5 respectively.

The Thermometer exposed to the full rays of the sun, was in the hands of the maker for repair during the week.

The reading of the Barometer increased from 29'584 in. at the beginning of the week to 30'049 in. on Thursday at 9h. a.m.; it then decreased to 29'650 in. on Saturday evening about 6h. p.m., after which it increased till midnight.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE total deaths registered in the week were 985, and exhibit an excess, but not more than 22 above the average. The increase, as in the previous week, arises almost exclusively from epidemic diseases, for the deaths in this class were in the last three weeks 251, 251, 277, whilst the average does not exceed 198. Hooping cough and cholera are alone predominant on the list; the former having been fatal to 55 children, more than the average by 19; and the latter to 49 persons at all ages. Of these 49 deaths from cholera, 11 occurred under 15 years of age, 32 between that age and 60, and 6 at 60 years and upwards. They principally occurred in the South and Eastern Districts. The progress of mortality from this disease during the last four weeks is marked by the following numbers:—9, 22, 42, 49. The mortality from diarrhoea has rather decreased; for the deaths from it, which in the previous week were 36, in the last week were only 17, whilst the average is 12. All other fatal causes, which make the largest contributions to the weekly mortality, now exhibit the usual amount, or fall considerably under it. The deaths from phthisis have been for a long period less than the average; last week they were 127 or 18 under the estimated number. A man of 58 years died, according to the return of the medical attendant of "general decay, probably accelerated by voluntary abstinence, after an illness of ten days." Two deaths from destitution occurred in Islington Workhouse. In Goswell-street Sub-district, a lady died at the extreme age of 103 years, within two hours after having taken a dose of laudanum, which had been prescribed by a druggist.

The mean reading of the barometer at Greenwich, was 29.890 in. for the week; the mean daily reading was above 30 in. on Wednesday. The mean daily temperature rose from 54°.9 on Sunday to 67°.1 on Saturday, on which day it was highest. The highest reading also occurred on that day, when it was 78°.6 in the shade, and 106°.8 in the sun. The mean temperature of Saturday was 6°.8 above the average of the same day in 7 years, though the temperature of the whole week was rather less than the average.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, June 23d, 1849.

Four are Cases in which Inquests were held; the remainder are all certified by Medical Attendants, except two:—

St. George.
On 17th inst. at 3, Wyndham-road, daughter of a silversmith, 3, "English cholera (3 days.)"
ROTHERHITHE; Rotherhithe.
F. 49, "Asiatic cholera (30 hours.)"
GREENWICH; Greenwich, West.
M. 32, "Asiatic cholera (1 day.)"
Mr. Richardson, the Registrar, states that "deceased was a steward of a foreign steam boat, and died off Greenwich while being conveyed in a boat to the Dreadnought Hospital ship."

NOTE.—Mr. J. Leonard, Registrar for the Sub-district of Charing-cross, states that "during last week diarrhoea became suddenly prevalent in his medical district (St. Martin-in-the-Fields.) On Sunday morning a decided case of cholera presented itself, very bad, but at present with prospect of recovery. The cases are easily managed if taken in time. Two of the severest, one at high water mark of the river, and the other in Of-alley, occurred within 24 hours after a state of intemperance. On inquiry it appears that a large proportion of the out-patients of Charing-cross Hospital are affected with diarrhoea."

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Nothing was shewn at any examination.	The sky was generally covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud till near noon, and generally clear afterwards.
MON.	Positive, and tension weak at 9h. p.m.; nothing was shewn at any other examination.	One-third portion of the sky was covered with cumuli and light clouds.
TUES.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 7h. p.m., and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
WED.	Positive, and tension moderate, between noon and 3h. p.m.; nothing was shewn at other examinations.	A few light cirri and fleecy clouds prevailed until 8h. p.m., and from this time till midnight the sky was overcast.
THURS.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was almost wholly covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, cirrostratus, and scud throughout the day.
FRID.	Nothing was shewn till near noon; positive, and tension variable during the remainder of the day.	The amount of cloud was variable till noon, and cloudless afterwards; cumuli, cirri, and scud.
SAT.	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	The sky was generally cloudless throughout the day.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 62.6, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 60.5; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 64.4 and 58.9 respectively.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

The 1217 deaths registered in the week exhibit an excess of 254 above the weekly average of the quarter, which ends on June the 30th; but this unusual result is due only in part to an increased rate of mortality. The registration of a considerable portion of those deaths on which inquests are held, though they occurred at an earlier period, is not completed till the end of the quarter; a fact, by which is explained the accumulation of deaths observed in the present return, from fractures, hanging, drowning, poison, burns, and some vaguely described as "natural," or "from the visitation of God." The number now returned by Coroners, as caused by violence is upwards of 80, though the weekly average is only 29; those enumerated in the table as "sudden deaths," are 46, though the average does not exceed 11; an excess, for the same reason, is found under "apoplexy," the cases returned being 42, while the average is 24. But the mortality from diseases of a tubercular nature, and from those of the organs of circulation, differs little from the average; that from diseases of the respiratory organs falls considerably under it. In the zymotic or epidemic class the increase is remarkable; here, the deaths which in the two previous weeks were respectively 251, 277, were last week 349, whilst the average is 198. The fatal causes in this group, which attract notice, are hooping-cough, from which there were 53 deaths (the average being 36); diarrhoea, from which there were 30, whilst the average is 12; and cholera, from which 124 deaths are enumerated. The recent progress of this disease is shown by the weekly returns; for in four previous weeks the fatal cases were respectively, 9, 22, 42, and 49. Last week it was fatal to 76 males and 48 females, of whom only five were under five years of age, 21 between that age and fifteen years, 88 at fifteen and under sixty, and 10 at sixty and upwards. Few deaths from it occurred in the North Districts. Mr. Western, the Registrar of St. James, Clerkenwell, reports that a man died from "fever" after an illness of 6 days. He had lain on the floor of a miserable hovel six feet square, and within a few feet of nuisance, which accumulated and overflowed in the court. Two cases are ascribed to intemperance, two to privation, and a young man of 18 years died in Pancras of "phthisis," while left in a destitute condition by his father, who had deserted him. A woman died in the City-road Sub-district at the advanced age of 100 years.

The mean height of the barometer during the week was 29.870 in. The mean temperature of the week was rather higher than the average of seven years, though under it during the last three days. It was about 5° higher than the average on Tuesday and Wednesday; and on the former day the highest in the shade was 75°6, in the sun 100°7. The mean temperature of the week was 60°2.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, June 30th, 1849.

Thirty-two are Cases in which Inquests were held; the remainder are all certified by Medical Attendants, except one:—

KENSINGTON; St. John.

At 27, St. Petersburgh-place, Paddington, a solicitor, 45, "cholera (30 hours)."

WESTMINSTER; St. John.

The 10 following cases are those of prisoners in the Millbank Prison:—

- M. 17, "Asiatic cholera (2 hours)."—Inquest.
- M. 39, "natural from Asiatic cholera, (18 hours)."—p.m., Inquest.
- M. 14, "natural from Asiatic cholera, (10 hours)."—p.m., Inquest.
- M. 30, "natural from Asiatic cholera, (2 days)."—Inquest.
- M. 34, "natural from Asiatic cholera, (12 hours)."—p.m., Inquest.
- M. 34, "natural from Asiatic cholera, (13 hours)."—p.m., Inquest.
- M. 52, "natural from Asiatic cholera, (9 hours)."—p.m., Inquest. Deceased was subject to occasional attacks of diarrhoea previously.
- M. 38, "natural from Asiatic cholera (about 9 hours); diarrhoea a few days previous."—Inquest.
- M. 43, "natural from Asiatic cholera (8 hours); diarrhoea a few days previous."—Inquest.
- M. 28, "natural from Asiatic cholera, (10 days); diarrhoea a few days previous."—Inquest.

WESTMINSTER; St. Margaret.

- M. 26, "spasmodic cholera (11 hours)."
- At 7, Park-place, a warehouse agent, 26, "Asiatic cholera, (11 hours)."—p.m., Inquest.
- In Westminster Hospital, F. 59, "cholera, (24 hours)."—p.m.

MARYLEBONE; St. Mary.

At Croydon-street, a plasterer, 45, "Asiatic cholera (3½ days)."

ST. PANCRAS; Tottenham.

In University College Hospital, F. 30, "English cholera, from want of common necessities, and exposure to wet and cold—ill 2 days and had not applied for parish aid."—Inquest.

Gray's Inn-lane.

- M. 55, "Asiatic cholera (12 hours)."
- Mr. Worrell, the Registrar, states, that "the two medical gentlemen who were employed by the parish of St. Pancras in the cholera cases at Tooting, attended in this case, and they stated that they had never seen so decided a case of Asiatic cholera. The house in which the case occurred is a good and perfectly wholesome house, and the deceased was a person in good circumstances."

Camden Town.

In the Workhouse, F. 28, "spasmodic cholera,"

ISLINGTON; West.

- At No. 6, Lower Islington-terrace, messenger at an Insurance Office, 42, "diarrhoea, (12 days); cholera maligna Asiatica (16 hours)."
- At No. 11, Upper Southampton-street, a compositor, 50, "cholera, (38 hours); collapse, 8 hours before death."
- In the Workhouse, a widow, 54, "paralysis, (2 years); cholera Anglica, (4 days)."

STRAND; St. Mary.

- F. 53, "Asiatic cholera, (12 hours)."—p.m., Inquest.
- Mr. Lovett, the Registrar, states, that "the Coroner has since communicated that the cause of death was principally induced by generally unclean habits, a very foul state of privy, and of the drains, at No. 2, Queen's-court, in the parish of St. Paul, Covent-garden."

HOLBORN; St. Andrew Eastern.

At Holborn Union, M. 50, "diarrhoea (40 hours); Asiatic cholera (18 hours)"

CLERKENWELL; Pentonville.

At 12, Clermont-place, widow of a merchant, 63, "malignant cholera (20 hours)."

St. James.

M. 49, "English cholera, bordering on Asiatic, (24 hours)."

ST. LUKE; City-road.

- M. 6, "cholera, (3 days)."
- F. 24, "natural death, sudden, from cholera, (10 hours)."—Inquest.

WEST LONDON; South.

- At 21, Harp-alley, M. 35, "Asiatic cholera (20 hours)."
- At 7, Bride-lane, M. 40, "malignant cholera, (20 hours)."
- At 7, Gunpowder-alley, M. 2, "cholera, (3 days)."
- At 19, Primrose-hill, M. 57, "cholera maligna, (9 hours)."
- At 11, Bell's-buildings, M. 73, "cholera."
- At 22, Poppin's-court, M. 59, "diarrhoea (26 hours); cholera maligna, (15 hours)."
- At 19, Gough-square, M. 28, "Asiatic cholera (12 hours)."
- At 152, Fleet-street, M. 58, "cholera, (11 hours)."
- At 46, Salisbury-square, M. 50, "cholera, (26 hours)."

Mr. Castleden, the Registrar, states that "the above three persons were the daughter and two sons of a retired grocer, who rents a field at Battersea, within 100 yards of the river. This field he lets out for horse-racing and other fair amusements. In it he also has a small canvass tent in which he often sleeps—he did so on Sunday night with four of his children, the three deceased and another in one bed. On Monday night he left with his daughter for his residence, 7, John's-terrace, Stepney, which he reached about 11 o'clock. Between five and six on the Tuesday morning the daughter was taken seriously ill with cholera, and a messenger came from Battersea with information that two of his sons were also attacked with the same disease. After his sons were brought home the eldest lived an hour and the youngest an hour and a half. The other child at present remains well. Sleeping in the tent seems to have been the predisposing cause."

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Positive, and tension moderate, at 11h. a.m.. Nothing was shewn at any other examination.	The sky was cloudless throughout the day.
MON.	Negative and active between 2h. and 2h. 30m. p.m., frequent sparks and galvanic currents were shewn. Positive, and tension weak at 9h. p.m.; at other times during the day nothing was shewn.	The sky was generally overcast till 9h. p.m., and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards; cirrostratus and seud. A heavy shower of rain fell at 2h. p.m.
TUES.	Nothing was shewn at noon, positive and tension variable at other examinations.	The sky was occasionally one-half, and at other times three-fourths covered with cumuli, cirrostratus and seud throughout the day.
WED.	Positive and tension variable throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till near noon, one-half covered till 5h. p.m., and clear afterwards; cumuli, cirrostratus and seud.
THURS.	Positive and tension strong at noon; nothing was shewn at any other examination.	The sky, with slight exceptions was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and seud.
FRID.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and seud; rain fell occasionally from 8h. p.m. till midnight.
SAT.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was generally covered with cirrostratus and seud until 10h. p.m., and clear afterwards. Rain fell between 4h. and 6h. a.m.

The height of the elctern of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sca. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's final glass standard barometer. The observatoos are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part 1, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnough Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 63.4, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 60.9; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 64.3 and 58.9 respectively.

* The ages of two persons, whose deaths are ascribed to cholera, were not stated.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

The number of deaths registered in the week was 1,070; the weekly average for the Summer Quarter (which commences with the present month) of five previous years, is 1,008; this return, therefore, shows an excess of 62. The whole mortality is also rather high, as compared with the numbers returned from week to week, during the last two months. There is an obvious increase in deaths caused by zymotic or epidemic diseases, with a decrease, though not to an equal extent, in those produced by affections of the respiratory organs. In the former class during the last three weeks, the deaths have been progressively 277, 349, and 393; in the latter the numbers in the same weeks were respectively 119, 105, and 87. Hooping-cough numbers 47, or double the usual amount of fatal cases. Diarrhœa increases a little; but the deaths from it which last week were 46, have not reached the average of the season, which is 76; for in previous years, chiefly in a more advanced part of the quarter, this complaint has carried off many children of tender age. In the corresponding week of 1846, the deaths from diarrhœa were 70. Two cases are reported of children who died, one of diarrhœa, another of hydrocephalus, at No. 3, Linney-court, Museum-street, where the back of the house has no windows, and the smell from drains and other nuisance in front is extremely offensive. The average at this season from cholera is only 8; its recent progress is shown by the deaths in the last six weeks, which were successively 9, 22, 42, 49, 124, and in last week 152, namely, 94 of males and 58 of females. Of the 152 victims of this disease, 19 were under 5 years of age, 30 at 5 and under 15 years of age, 88 between 15 and 60 years, and 13 at 60 and upwards. The ages of two are not returned. It is worthy of observation, that not more than 14 deaths from cholera last week occurred in the West and Northern Districts, though the population which they comprise is about a third of the whole. On the south side of the Thames there were 93, and in this region the districts of Rotherhithe, Lambeth, and Bermondsey are fatally distinguished. Other epidemics differ, at present, not much from the average. A young man died of "want" in Camden-town, and an infant of "exposure to the night air, and purpura hæmorrhagica" in the Borough-road Sub-district. A man of 48 died of "paralysis from working in a lead factory, after an illness of 13 weeks." Mr. Butterfield, the Registrar of Islington East, has recorded what he describes as "a curious fact," but without stating his authority, that women employed in this manufacture last much longer than men.

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.799. On Saturday, when the temperature was highest, the thermometer reached 82°.1 in the shade, and 103°.5 in the sun. The mean temperature, which for the week was 62°.7, was higher than the average on five days, and on Saturday exceeded the average by 9°.2.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, July 7th, 1849.

Nineteen are Cases in which Inquests were held; the remainder are all certified by Medical Attendants, except one:—

KENSINGTON; Fulham.

F. 5, "cholera, (12 hours.)"

ST. GEORGE, HANOVER-SQUARE; May Fair.

F. 23, "cholera (13 hours.)"

WESTMINSTER; St. John the Evangelist.

On 30th June, at 9, Little Tufton-street, an oil-man's cellarman, 28 "cholera, (12 hours.)"

On 2nd July, at 6, Barton-street, a servant, M. 51, "Asiatic cholera, (24 hours); collapse, (about 15 hours); visited by medical attendant 12½ hours before death."

F. 56, "spasmodic asthma, (4 years); cholera biliosa, (18 hours.)"

St. Margaret.

At Hyde Park Barracks, a soldier, 29, "spasmodic cholera (8½ hours.)"

ST. JAMES, WESTMINSTER; Golden-square.

At 10, Cross-street, Carnaby-street, F. 33, "Asiatic cholera, accelerated by bad drainage (14 hours.)"—Inquest.

Mr. Churchman, the Registrar, states, that "deceased was in good health previous to the attack. A full cesspool, which communicates with the drain, became overcharged, and was opened for the purpose of being cleansed at the time deceased was attacked, which circumstance is supposed to have accelerated her death. Her husband, a porter, is now lying in the hospital, labouring under the same disease, and in a hopeless state."

MARYLEBONE; The Rectory.

F. 59, "cholera, (4 days.)"

Christchurch.

M. 28, "Asiatic cholera (10 hours.)"

St. John's.

On 30th June, at 11, Portland-terrace, St. John's Wood, M. 60, "cholera maligna (3 days.)"

Mr. Bachhoffner, the Registrar, states, that "the deceased, according to his medical attendant, caught the infection at his house on Ludgate-hill, in consequence of impure air, which issued from a public privy at the back of the premises. It is stated that four persons have since died there from the same cause."

ST. PANCRAS; Camden Town.

In Fever Hospital, King's Cross, widow, a charwoman, 43, "cholera, (27 hours.)"—p.m. She was attacked with cholera in Cockpit-court, Fleet-street, and removed by the West London Union to the Fever Hospital, King's Cross, where she died in 10 hours after admission.

ISLINGTON; West.

At 17, Bath-place, Caledonian-road, a bookbinder, 20, "cholera, (24 hours.)"

East.

At 5, Angler's-gardens, a printer, 45, "cholera, (36 hours); delirium tremens, (48 hours.)"

Mr. Butterfield, the Registrar, states that "the neighbourhood where the above case occurred is very badly drained, and densely inhabited."

HACKNEY; Hackney West.

M. 47, "cholera, (16 hours.)"

HOLBORN; St. Andrew Eastern.

The three following cases occurred in the Holborn Union:—

F. 36, "Asiatic cholera (30 hours.)"

F. 6, "Asiatic cholera, (45 hours.)"

F. 16, "Asiatic cholera, (14 hours.)"

Saffron Hill.

M. 17, "Asiatic cholera, (24 hours); consecutive fever, (3 days.)" Deceased had just arrived from Sheffield, was very tall for his age, and of weakly constitution; the house at which he was staying was well drained and ventilated, and very clean.

CLERKENWELL; Goswell-street.

M. 22, "cholera, (14 hours.)"

ST. LUKE; Whitecross Street.

M. 2, "cholera (32 hours.)"

EAST LONDON; St. Botolph.

At 171, Bishopsgate-street Without, a mariner, 19, "cholera (5 days), typhus fever."

Mr. Spencer, the Registrar, states that "he had sailed from London to Newcastle, and other northern parts, and arrived at the platform Rotherhithe on June 30th from Leith. He had been suffering from diarrhœa before he arrived at his mother's house, and was suddenly seized on the 1st inst. with violent vomiting and cramps, which continued till his death. The house is large and well ventilated, and other inmates are in good health."

WEST LONDON; South.

At 15, Little New-street, M. 59, "cholera Asiatica (30 hours.)"

At 42, New Bridge-street, M. 60, "cholera."

At 164, Fleet-street, M. 39, "fever (10 days), cholera (2 days.)"

At 8, Parsons-court, F. 48, "cholera."

At 84, Farringdon-street, F. 53, "Asiatic cholera."

At 20, Plum-tree-court, F. 4, "Asiatic cholera (18 hours.)"

At Gough-square, F. 38, "consumption, cholera (4 days.)"

North.

The nine following cases occurred at St. Bartholomew's Hospital:—

From 3, Ashton-court, Whitefriars, son of a printer, 11, "cholera (18½ hours.)"

From 20, Plum-tree court, Shoe-lane, a carpenter, 62, "cholera (21 hours.)"

From Hanging-sword-alley, Whitefriars, a commercial clerk, 68, "cholera (12 hours.)"

 At 105, Bermondsey-street, M. 52, "cholera Asiatica, (36 hours.)"
 At 1, Russell-street, M. 30, "Asiatic cholera."

St. James.

F. 6, "Asiatic cholera, (7 hours.)"
 F. 31, "Asiatic cholera (75 hours.)"

These were the deaths of mother and daughter. The medical attendant states that their residence is surrounded by ditches from which the inhabitants obtain water for use.

M. 43, "Asiatic cholera, (24 hours.)"
 M. 65, "Asiatic cholera, (16 hours.)"
 F. 13, "Asiatic cholera, (25 hours.)"

"These three cases occurred in houses near the tidal ditch previously reported, which becomes more offensive daily. The poor people on its banks are in a state of fear and excitement, which has a tendency to aid the development of the disease."

M. 47, "Asiatic cholera, (9 hours.)"

F. 61, "Asiatic cholera, (8 hours); no medical attendant."

Mr. C. Martin, the Registrar, states, that "according to the medical attendant, a filthy open sewer runs within six feet of the back of deceased's residence, into which four privies are emptied, but which is flushed, as he was told by the friends, twice a-week."

ST. GEORGE, SOUTHWARK; Kent Road.

M. 52, "Asiatic cholera (14½ hours.)"
 M. 9, "Asiatic cholera, (12 hours.)"

Borough Road.

LAMBETH; Waterloo (1st part.)

In Waterloo Road, son of a cabinet maker, 15, "Asiatic cholera, (9 hours.)"

The house in which the above case occurred is well ventilated, and there is no defect in the drainage, and deceased was in previous good health. The 3 following cases occurred in Mitre Place, Broadwall, near the ditch which divides the two parishes. The children had partaken of tainted meat, and their food was generally of the most indifferent nature.

Son of a labourer, 7, "Asiatic cholera, (20 hours.)"

Son of a labourer, (age not stated) "Asiatic cholera, (4 days.)"

Daughter of a labourer, 10, "Asiatic cholera, (28 hours.)"

At Sidwell Place, Broadwall, (the next Court to Mitre Place) wife of a labourer, 29, "Asiatic cholera, (24 hours.)"

Although the houses are new, they are subject to similar influences of locality, and are densely crowded. A child has been removed to the workhouse, which has since died.

Waterloo, (2nd part.)

At 70, St. James Street, F. 43, "cholera, (6 days.)"

Mr. Daws, the Registrar states that "There are water-closets in the vicinity where the above case occurred which are very offensive. A ditch was filled up some time back, and notices have lately been served respecting the other nuisance."

LAMBETH; Lambeth Church, (1st part.)

M. 43, "malignant cholera, (9 hours.)"
 M. 8, "cholera Asiatica, (32 hours.)"

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.		The sky was cloudless till 8h. 30m. p.m., and overcast with cirrostratus and scud afterwards.
MON.		The sky was generally one-half covered with cirrostratus and scud throughout the day.
TUES.	Positive and tension moderate. On July 5d. 9h. a.m., and on 6d. 3h. p.m., these were the only times electricity was shewn during the week.	The sky was overcast till 1h. p.m., and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards; cumuli, cumulostrati, cirrostratus and scud. Strong wind from 4h. a.m. till 3h. p.m., blowing with occasional gusts of 6 lbs. pressure on the square foot.
WED.		The sky was overcast till 3h. p.m. and generally one-half covered afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
THURS.		One-half of the sky was covered with cumuli, cirrostratus and scud, throughout the day.
FRID.		The sky was generally cloudless throughout the day.
SAT.		The sky was cloudless throughout the day.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's first glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The mean of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part 1, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here, opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 63'7, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 68'2; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 66'1 and 59'4 respectively.

July 4, Whewell's Anemometer was sent for repair.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 30'028in. at the beginning of the week to 29'559in. on Wednesday evening; it then increased to 29'960in. on Friday evening, and gradually decreased during the remainder of the week.

* The age of a person, who died suddenly, is not stated.

The present return exhibits a serious increase in the mortality of London. The deaths, which in the previous week were 1070, have in the last mounted to 1369, and give an excess above the average of 361. This unfavourable result is produced by cholera and diarrhoea. The deaths from cholera were 339—more than double the mortality of the preceding week; those from diarrhoea and dysentery, which in the former week were 54, have rapidly increased to 100, which is more than in any corresponding week of five previous years. The total in the week from the three diseases is, therefore, 439, and makes an excess of 347 on the average of former years. The mortality from all other zymotic or epidemic diseases is 191, the average being 210; that from all sporadic diseases is 686, the average being 670. The progress of cholera in London is traced in the returns of the last six weeks, in which the numbers were successively 22, 42, 49, 124, 152, and 339; the progress of diarrhoea and dysentery in the same periods is shewn as follows:—25, 38, 19, 33, 54 and 100. During these six weeks cholera was fatal to 425 males, and 303 females, of whom 387 died on the South side of the River, only 101 in the West and Northern Districts. Considerably more than one-half of deaths from diarrhoea last week occurred under two years of age; whereas of the 339 deaths from cholera, 192 occurred between the ages of 15 and 60. Last week 49 persons died of cholera in the district of Lambeth, 37 in Rotherhithe, and 23 in Bermondsey; but the epidemic now increases generally over the metropolitan districts. Hooping cough, pneumonia, and phthisis are at present fatal to more than the usual number; the second, as well as the first, almost entirely to young persons. Typhus, measles, scarlatina, and small pox are about the average, or fall considerably under it. Two men died of intemperance.

The barometer has been high during the week. It reached 30.252 in. on Wednesday, and the daily mean was above 30 in. throughout the week, with the exception of Sunday. The mean of the week was 30.129 in. The temperature of the air was highest on Sunday, when it reached 84°.1 in the shade, and 109° in the sun at Greenwich. The mean of the week was 66°.8, considerably higher than in previous weeks. It was throughout higher than the average of the same week in seven years, and the mean on Sunday exceeded the average by 9°.5.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, July 14th, 1849.

Twenty-one are Cases in which Inquests were held; the remainder are all certified by Medical Attendants:—

KENSINGTON; St. Paul's, Hammersmith.

F. 67, "Asiatic cholera (26 hours.)"

F. 66, "Asiatic cholera (30 hours.)"

F. 60, "Asiatic cholera (10 hours.)"

Mr. E. Joseph, the Registrar states that "the 9 cases of death from Asiatic cholera, now reported occurred in the St. Marylebone Workhouse; 7 of the deceased were seized in one ward of the establishment, and the other 2 were brought from out of doors. Directly adjoining the ward in question a water-closet had been disused for some time and boarded up, but the drains leading therefrom had not been closed, (which has however since been done). This portion of the workhouse is situated in Northumberland Street, New Road, the drains of which are in a very defective and unwholesome state, and have been made the subject of complaint by the parish authorities to the Commissioners of Sewers. Indeed it is worthy of remark that the only death from cholera in the district up to last week occurred in this street, and within a door or two of the workhouse. The parties whose deaths are now registered were all aged women, the youngest being 60, and the oldest 88 years of age, and had been for some time subject to the ordinary ailments of the aged. No cholera has hitherto appeared in any other part of the establishment."

ST. PANCRAS; Somers' Town.

At 26, Southampton-place, New-road, banker's clerk, 32, "cholera Asiatica, (3 days.)"

Mr. Matthews, the Registrar states that "deceased resided at 39, Liverpool-street, King's-cross, where the attack commenced, but died at the residence of his brother-in-law as above. The drainage and ventilation are good."

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.		The sky was cloudless throughout the day.
MON.		Cumulostratus and haze were occasionally prevalent before noon; during the remainder of the day the sky was cloudless.
TUES.	No Electricity has been shewn during the week.	A few light clouds prevailed between noon and 3h. p.m.; cloudless at other times.
WED.		The sky was generally cloudless throughout the day.
THURS.		The sky was generally cloudless throughout the day.
FRID.		Cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud covered about three-fourths of the sky till 3h. p.m., and the sky was cloudless afterwards.
SAT.		The sky was covered with cirrostratus till 8h. a.m.; the amount of cloud was variable till 3h. p.m., cloudless till 9h. 30m. p.m., and overcast afterwards.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midlight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 68.0, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 61.4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 70.3 and 58.6 respectively.

Whewell's Anemometer was returned from the maker after repair, on July 11.

The reading of the barometer increased gradually from 29.84in. at the beginning of the week to 30.25in. on July 11, and then decreased gradually to 30.025in. at the end of the week.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE Return for last week records the further progress of the prevailing disease. The deaths from all causes, which in the two previous weeks were 1070 and 1369, rose in the last to 1741; a number which exceeds the average of the season by 733. In the two previous weeks the deaths caused by cholera were 152 and 339; but in the last they have reached 678, whilst the weekly average is only 8. Of the 678 persons who have sunk under the epidemic, 355 were males and 323 females, a more equal distribution than in previous weeks: the rate of increase is apparent in the fact that in each of the last two weeks, the mortality from cholera has been about double that of the week immediately preceding. The mortality from diarrhoea and dysentery also increases, the deaths in three weeks having been 54, 100, and 146; while the weekly average of this season is not more than 84. The whole mortality from the three diseases, in last week, is therefore 824, and gives an excess on the average of 732, which almost exactly coincides with the excess of mortality from all causes as stated above. The diarrhoea was fatal in a large proportion of cases, to children under two years of age. The increase of cholera is observed in each of the five Metropolitan Divisions except the Northern, which comprises Marylebone, Pancras, Islington, Hackney, and Hampstead; where the deaths in the week were only 7. But it is chiefly remarkable on the south side of the river, where the deaths from the epidemic in the last three weeks were successively 93, 192, and 443. In Newington they were 53; in St. George, Southwark, 51; in Bermondsey, 64; in Lambeth, 106. In Rotherhithe the deaths were 37, the same as in the previous week. Typhus continues near the average; hooping-cough above, scarlatina and small-pox considerably under it. Two persons died of privation; three of intemperance.

The mean reading of the barometer in the week was 29.692, and lower than in the previous week. The mean temperature was lower than the average, except on Monday and Tuesday. The highest occurred on the former day, and was 83°.6. The mean of the week was 60°.5, less by 6° than in the previous week.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till near noon, and cloudless during the remainder of the day. Cirrostratus and scud. A slight shower of rain fell at 9h. a.m.
MON.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till near 9h. a.m., and generally about one-half covered during the remainder of the day; cumuli, cirrostratus, and scud.
TUES.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	With slight exceptions the sky was covered with cirrostratus and scud throughout the day. Rain fell in frequent showers during the afternoon.
WED.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 4h. p.m., and the amount of cloud was variable during the remainder of the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling from 2h. 30m. till 4h. p.m.
THURS.	Negative and active during the afternoon: frequent sparks and galvanic currents were shewn.	The sky was generally covered with cumuli, cirrostratus, and scud; from 4h. till 4h. 19m. p.m. frequent flashes of lightning were seen in the N.W., followed by thunder at intervals of from 2 to 5 seconds, accompanied by heavy rain.
FRID.	Negative and active from 0h. 30m. p.m. till 2h. p.m.; sparks and galvanic currents were shewn. Positive, and tension moderate at 9h. p.m.	The sky was for the most part overcast throughout the day; cumuli, cirrostratus, and scud. Between 4h. and 6h. p.m. occasional flashes of lightning were seen, and thunder was frequently heard; rain fell in slight showers.
SAT.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	Cirrostratus and fragments of scud covered the sky throughout the day.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight, and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average. The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Dreadnought Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 61.3, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 57.9; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 64.8 and 57.2 respectively.

On Wednesday, the instruments were removed from the Dreadnought, in consequence of the ship's going to Woolwich Dockyard for repair.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 30.025 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.401 in. on the morning of the 20th, and then increased to 29.842 in. by the end of the week.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, July 14th, 1849.

Twenty-five are Cases in which Inquests were held; the remainder are nearly all certified by Medical Attendants:—

Near River Lea, wife of a bricklayer, 68, "cholera, preceded by diarrhoea for (7 hours.)"

Mr. Dunstan, the Registrar, states that "a subject connected with the localities in which most of the cholera cases in this parish have taken place, is the water used by the inhabitants. There not being any water supplied to those houses, the inmates are compelled to fetch their water from the River Lea, just at the mouth of the Bromley Canal, otherwise called the Limehouse Cut, on the sides of which are numerous factories, or chemical works, which pour off their waste liquors, &c., into the waters of the Canal; the Canal is also a receptacle for dead dogs, cats, and other small animals, frequently seen floating on the discoloured waters; on every occasion of opening the locks at the Bromley end, there is a rush of the floating scum into the Lea, where already float large quantities of similar impurities which have descended the river, but are kept back at this point by a mill-head. It is here, in this conflux, or rather concentration of liquid filth that the poor of the neighbourhood dip their pails or tubs for their daily supplies, whilst those who are not so fortunate as to dip for themselves, are supplied from the same source by persons who vend it through the streets."

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

AGAIN, the Return indicates an increase on the excessive mortality of the previous week. The deaths from all causes, which in three previous weeks were respectively 1070, 1369, and 1741, rose in the last to 1931, a number which is almost double the weekly average, and exceeds that of the previous week by nearly 200. To compare these results with the deaths from all causes in four weeks, when influenza was unusually prevalent in the last quarter of 1847, it may be stated that the mortality at that time increased in the following numbers: 1086, 1677, 2454, 2416, and in the fifth week continued to decline. The deaths from cholera, which in three previous weeks were 152, 339, 678, rose in the last to 783, a rate of increase which it will be observed is not so great as in the first weeks of the outbreak. But the deaths from diarrhoea (fatal in a great majority of cases to children), and dysentery, which in three previous weeks were 54, 100, and 146, increased in the last to 238, shewing a more rapid increase recently than the mortality from the more malignant form of the disease. In the corresponding week of 1848, the deaths from diarrhoea and dysentery amounted to 187, a mortality which is almost as considerable as the return of last week. The total deaths from the three diseases in the present Return were therefore 1021, whilst the weekly average of the season is only 92, a result, when compared with the excess of mortality from all causes, which shows that the aggregate deaths from other diseases do not vary much from the usual amount. Small pox, scarlatina, and typhus, however, are now under the average, especially the first two of these zymotics; measles and whooping-cough have fallen to the average. Cholera was fatal last week to 382 males and 401 females; previous returns showed a majority on the other side. The districts on the south side of the river still form the field on which the disease is most active. The deaths from it, which in this region were in three previous weeks, 93, 192, 443, rose last week to 514. There is a slight decrease in the eastern districts. In the western and northern, comprising Kensington, Chelsea, St. George (Hanover-square), Westminster, St. Martin-in-the-Fields, St. James, Marylebone, Pancras, Islington, Hackney, and Hampstead, the deaths were only 68 against 53 in the preceding week. The districts which show the greatest mortality are Bermondsey, where 64 deaths occurred last week, Newington, where there were 66, St. George (Southwark), where there were 70, and Lambeth, where there were 111.

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.598. The temperature was generally below the average during the week. The mean was 58°·9.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Nothing was shewn at any examination.	The amount of cloud was variable till near noon and the sky was overcast during the remainder of the day; cumuli, cirrostratus, and scud.
MON.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 5h. p.m., and generally clear afterwards. Cirrostratus and scud. Frequent and heavy showers of rain fell during the day.
TUES.	Positive, and then suddenly changed to negative, with strong tension during the time rain was falling.	The sky was covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, cirrostratus and scud till noon, and the amount of cloud was very variable during the remainder of the day.
WED.	Negative, with strong tension during the time rain was falling.	The sky was generally about three-fourths covered with cumuli and scud throughout the day; frequent and heavy showers of rain fell.
THURS.	From 1h. till 3h. 30m. p.m. strongly positive, and at other times strongly negative, with frequent constant volleys of sparks and galvanic currents.	The sky was, with slight exceptions, covered with cumuli, cirrostrati and scud till 6h. p.m., and about one half covered afterwards. From 1h. till 4h. p.m., a violent thunder storm occurred, chiefly situated to the N., the flashes of lightning were vivid and in quick succession, followed by loud thunder at intervals of 15 to 20 seconds generally. Rain was falling heavily during the storm.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, July 28th, 1849.

The following is a List of all the Cases of Cholera returned in the Week. It contains the sex (M. or F.), age, profession or occupation, duration of case, and the residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are nearly all certified by qualified Medical Practitioners. Their attention is called to the utility of mentioning whenever it occurs—the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used:—Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for Widow; cho., for cholera. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns are omitted in this list.

Mr. Simpson, the Registrar and Surgeon, states "that cholera and diarrhoea have been very prevalent within the last fortnight in the neighbourhood of Church-lane, (known as the Rookery) and the courts adjoining;—particularly in Kennedy's-court, in which there is a nest of 7 houses (crowded and dirty) with only one privy, and the drainage defective. There have been already in this court 7 cases of cholera and diarrhoea, 3 of which have occurred in the court, and 3 in the workhouse to which the persons were removed.—The Parochial authorities have had the privy emptied, and the drain cleared with water-pipes, and use their most vigorous efforts not only for the removal of all pauper cholera patients to the Workhouse, but also all hurtful causes.—The occupants have complained sadly for some time, of the stench arising from this drain, which frequently overflowed the pavement," and Mr. Simpson "thinks from the visiting of this neighbourhood last February, he caught typhus fever.—The locality is both confined and unhealthy, from the dirty habits of the Irish who frequent it, and the drainage of the houses and the ventilation of the sleeping rooms very imperfect."

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

It is unsatisfactory to observe that the constant increase of mortality, which commenced in the second week of July, was maintained in the week ending Saturday last. The deaths from all diseases in last week were 1967, a mortality nearly double the weekly average of the season, which is 1008. The progress of the total mortality is shown by the following numbers returned in the last four weeks:—1369, 1741, 1931, and 1967. The deaths from cholera which in six previous weeks were 49, 124, 152, 339, 678, 783, increased in the last to 926. A feature worthy of notice in the present return, is the fact that while the mortality caused by cholera has increased, there has been simultaneously a decrease in the deaths attributed to diarrhoea; for whereas the deaths from this disease (including dysentery) were in four previous weeks 54, 100, 146, 238, in the last week they declined to 198, an amount which is nearly the same as in the corresponding week of the summer of 1846, and little more than that of the same week of 1848. It is shown, therefore, that the total mortality from diarrhoea, dysentery, and cholera, amounts in this return to 1124, while the average is only 92. Consequently the excess from the three epidemics exceeds in some degree the increase above the average of the mortality from all causes, which is owing partly to the circumstance that the deaths from fractures, burns, and other injury, registered in the week, were unusually few. Other epidemics besides those mentioned are under the average, with the exception of hooping-cough, which a little exceeds it. The mortality from cholera still predominates on the south side of the River; the deaths there, which in the preceding week were 514, rose in the last to 621. On the north side of the Thames, the deaths in the western districts were 58, showing an increase; in the northern 27, or nearly the same as in the former week; in the eastern 127, a slight increase; and in the central, which include St. Giles and St. George, Strand, Holborn, Clerkenwell, St. Luke, East London, West London, and City, there is a small decrease, the number being 93, though in the previous return there were 97 deaths. The greatest number in any district on the north side of the River is in West London, namely 32. Of the southern districts, there were 67 in Bermondsey, 86 in Newington, 112 in St. George, Southwark, and 143 in Lambeth. The deaths in Rotherhithe are now comparatively few. The death of a man of 40 years in Brompton was caused by erysipelas of both legs, of putrid character, (after 5 days' illness,) caught from sleeping with a child who suffered from the disease.

The daily mean of the barometer was highest on Thursday, when it was 29.965. The mean of the week was 29.793. The temperature was under the average of the corresponding days of 7 years, on every day except Thursday. The highest in the shade was on Thursday, namely 74°·5. The mean temperature of the week was 59°·5.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The means of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part 1, 1848.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively, that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, in the 7 years ending December, 1847.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Devonshire, Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 59°4, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 59°0; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 62°2 and 57°4 respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29°60in. at the beginning of the week to 29°52in. on July 30th, it then increased to 30°02in. by Aug. 2, and decreased to 29°82in. at the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, Aug. 4th, 1849.

The following is a List of all the Cases of Cholera returned in the Week. It contains the sex (M. or F.), age, profession or occupation, duration of case, and the residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are nearly all certified by qualified Medical Practitioners. Their attention is called to the utility of mentioning whenever it occurs—the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used:—Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for Widow; cho., for choiera. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns are omitted in this list.

KENSINGTON; St. John, Paddington.

M. 5 months, son of ironmonger, cho. (40 hours) at 34, Titchborne-street.

St. Mary, Paddington.

M. 8 months, son of bookbinder, cho., (30 hours), at 37, Pickering-place, Bayswater.

Kensington Town.

M. 1, son of tile maker, cho. (42 hours) at the Potteries, Kensington.

Mr. Gorham, the Registrar, states "that this death was attributed by the medical attendant to the malarial arising from a pond of stagnant water, called 'the Ocean,' a receptacle for dead animals and filth of all descriptions, and into which the adjacent piggeries and privies have been drained for the last 20 years. This enormous cesspool has recently become more dangerous to health, in consequence of the erection of the St. James' National Schools on that side where there is the greatest accumulation of the foul drainage. Several cases of dysentery and diarrhoea have occurred in the neighbourhood. The attention of the Commissioners of Sewers has been frequently directed to this abominable nuisance, but hitherto without any benefit."

- *F. 5, Da. of labourer, (deceased), cho. (2 days) at 3, Church-lane.
 *F. 43, W. of tailor, cho. (10 hours) at 28, Church-lane.

*Mr. Simpson, the Registrar, states that "the two deceased were buried by the Parish before being registered. The number of deaths, from all causes, in his district, continues to increase, being in the present week more than double that of the corresponding week of last year; and he attributes a great portion of the mortality to cholera and diarrhoea, principally in Church-lane, and the immediate neighbourhood—6 deaths from cholera having occurred in Church-lane, (independently of those removed to the Workhouse), and another death from the same disease in Kennedy's-court. At 85, Dudley-street, (formerly Monmouth-street,) a shoemaker, died on the 1st instant of cholera (15 hours) in a cellar, without a window, and the person who registered the death, and lodged in the same house as the deceased, stated that the privy was situated in a cellar, quite full, and contained other filth, and the effluvia arising from it was so offensive that the lodgers had not been able to use it for some time, and she hoped now something would be done to get rid of the nuisance, as she considered it highly prejudicial to the health of those living in the house and neighbourhood. She added, the cellars of the two adjoining houses are in the same condition, and that in the next house, No. 84, two persons were then dangerously ill with cholera, which Mr. Simpson ascertained to be the fact. These three houses belong to the same landlord, and a gentleman from the Board of Health has enquired into the subject from Mr. Simpson's representation."

St. George, Bloomsbury.

- M. 1½, infantile cho. and hydrocephalus.

STRAND; St. Clement Dances.

- F. 33, W. of printer, cho. (12 hours) no premonitory symptoms, at 11, Birch's-pl.
 The five following cases occurred at KING'S COLLEGE HOSPITAL:—
 M. 31, bridle-cutter, cho. (12 hours) from 75, Brandon-street, Walworth.

Mr. Jones, the Registrar, states "that deceased left Walworth in the morning early, and was attacked during the day—dying in the Hospital at 8½ p.m. He was told that his wife, whom he left well at Walworth in the morning, died there, also of cholera, at ¼ to 8, p.m.—half an hour before the husband."

- F. 50, W. of brass finisher, cho. (16 hours) from 58, Drury-lane.

F. 49, W. of policeman, cho. state of collapse, (20 hours) from Duke's-court, Drury-lane. The Registrar observes that deceased had been to Greenwich two days previous to nurse her son affected with cholera.

- F. 45, nurse at the hospital, cho. diarrhoea (2 days), collapse (10 hours).

- F. 28, W. of labourer, a nurse at the hospital, cho. (37 hours).

The Registrar states that "the above were 2 nurses in the cholera wards of King's College Hospital, after being in attendance during 2 days and nights on the sick. They were sent to bed at 11 o'clock, p.m. on the 30th July, within 2 hours of which time they were both attacked. The first died at 9 o'clock a.m. on July 31st, and the second at 3½ o'clock, a.m. on the 1st August."

Mr. Elliott, the Registrar, states that "in reference to the 10 deaths from cholera which occurred in the Workhouse, as in previous weeks, nearly all were cases taken into the House after the disease had made such inroad upon the patients, as to set medical skill at defiance, whilst upon the inmates themselves, (although several have been attacked) its effects have been comparatively trifling, not more than two or three having died of cholera during the prevalence of the epidemic. But the Guardians caused handbills to be circulated through the Parish containing directions to the "Poor Inhabitants," where they may obtain Medical Aid, with instructions on the best means for the prevention of disease, concluding in the following terms:—

"In case of any Poor Wayfarers or Friendless Persons being attacked with cholera, they will be immediately taken in, if brought to the Workhouse."

Hence the increase in the number of deaths in this Establishment.

The arrangements which the Guardians have made in the Workhouse for the reception of persons brought in with cholera, are admirable, as well as the exertions of the Medical Officers, Mr. Evans, and his Assistant Mr. Eales; the latter gentleman frequently staying by the bedside of the patients, and persevering after all hope seems fled.

Mr. C. Mears, the Registrar, states, that "during the week there has been a great increase in the deaths from cholera. About half the cases have occurred in the vicinity of Broadwall, Eaton-street, Whitehorse-street, Wootton-street, &c.—places more or less subject to effluvia from bad drainage: the other half have occurred in all parts of the district, without any apparent exciting cause, beyond, perhaps, crowded rooms, and, and, probably, indifferent food. The total deaths are six times the average."

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE deaths in London during the week ending Saturday, August 11th, were 1909. The mortality is somewhat less than it was in the previous week. The deaths from all causes in the six last weeks were 1070, 1369, 1741, 1931, 1967, and 1909; of which 393, 630, 1002, 1173, 1308, and 1185, were by diseases of the zymotic class. Small-pox, scarlatina, and whooping-cough are comparatively quiescent; typhus is more fatal than it was. The excess of 901 deaths over the average is due to diarrhoea and cholera, which were fatal to 173 and 823 persons. The deaths from cholera during the six last weeks were 152, 339, 678, 783, 926, and 823. The decrease is gratifying; but it is right to observe that the improvement is chiefly confined to West London, Poplar, St. George Southwark, Newington, Camberwell, and Lambeth. The deaths from cholera in the two last weeks were 29 and 48 in Wandsworth; 9 and 21 in Paneras; 4 and 14 in Islington; 3 and 10 in London City; 16 and 35 in Bethnal Green; 15 and 35 in St. Giles. The deaths from all causes on the north side the Thames (1118) were 89 more than the deaths (1029) of the previous week. The parishes which have not yet been visited must be on their guard. Those in which the epidemic has partially subsided should redouble their precautions. The epidemic of 1832 broke out in three successive eruptions; the first commencing in February, was at its maximum in April and subsided; the second rose rapidly from June to July, and sunk again down to the second week of August; its course was very much like that pursued by the present epidemic. The deaths returned by the parish clerks in the three weeks from July 17 to August 7, in 1832, were 968, 793, 661; which, allowing for the defects in their returns and for increase of population, are equivalent to 2323, 1903, 1586, or 5812 deaths in 18+9, when the deaths registered in the corresponding weeks were 1931, 1967, 1909, or 5807 in the three weeks July 21 to August 11. A third eruption in 1832 broke out at the end of August, and extended to the first weeks of September; a fourth in 1833.

It is satisfactory to find that the deaths of 819 out of the 823 persons who died last week of cholera are certified. They were seen by qualified medical attendants. But it is to be feared that the advice was not obtained in time. The accounts of the sudden stoppage of the epidemic by prompt medical treatment, and the house-to-house visitation, are perhaps over-coloured. But a mortality as high now as in 1832 should not take place: it may be prevented by improvements in the treatment, by arresting the premonitory symptoms, by still earlier attention to the general health. Medical men are called when the people are dying; but it is then too late. If the families of the middle and higher classes were seen at intervals during the epidemic by their medical attendants, and a corps of medical officers employed by the Guardians to visit the poor at short intervals, the present epidemic might very probably be cut short, and a third eruption be averted. The precise locality in which almost every victim of cholera lived is given in the present return under each district; would it not be practicable for the authorities to have all these and the neighbouring localities inspected? If this were done, and proper precautions taken, the tragedies of Albion-terrace, Wandsworth-road, where seventeen persons died in two weeks in ten houses could scarcely recur. The particulars of the seventeen deaths will be found in the notes under Wandsworth and Clapham. Another case appears this week in the note under Hampstead. In the house, No. 6, Albion-terrace, five deaths had been registered—a Wesleyan Minister's wife, aged 59; his mother, 80; a widow, 49; and two old servants. This is all we learn from the Clapham Registrar. The Registrar of Hampstead adds, that during the week, an aged man came with a friend to Hampstead for change of air,—breakfasted, dined, went to London to transact business at the Bank of England, and after his return seemed "pretty well." At six o'clock the next morning he felt ill, and had medical advice, but died in eight hours. This old minister was apparently the last of his family, for he had seen his mother, wife, and servants die before him in Albion-terrace, and could not fly from the poison which he carried in his breast. Such scenes of desolation could scarcely happen without great negligence on the part of the people themselves and on the part of the authorities.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Positive, and tension weak at 9h. p.m.	A few light clouds prevailed at 9h. a.m., otherwise the sky was mostly free from cloud throughout the day.
MON.	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	The sky was generally one-half covered with cumulostrati, fleecy clouds, and scud till 8h. p.m., and cloudless afterwards.
TUES.	Positive, and tension strong till 3h. p.m.	The sky was one-half covered till 9h. a.m., overcast till noon, and three-fourths covered during the remainder of the day; cirrostratus, fleecy clouds, and scud. Frequent flashes of lightning were seen during the evening, and till midnight.
WED.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The amount of cloud was variable till noon; from this time till 5h. p.m. about one-half of the sky was covered, and generally clear afterwards; cirrostratus and scud. Heavy rain fell at 1h. a.m., and flashes of lightning were very frequent.
THURS.	Positive, with weak tension at frequent examinations.	The sky was generally covered with cirrostratus and scud throughout the day.
FRID.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	Three-fourths of the sky were covered with cirrostratus, fleecy clouds, and scud throughout the day.
SAT.	Positive, and tension weak.	The sky was cloudless till 4h. p.m., and with slight exceptions, overcast afterwards; cirrostratus and scud. Frequent flashes of lightning were seen from 9h. p.m. till midnight, and a heavy shower of rain fell at 11h. p.m.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The amount of clouds is estimated by considering a clear sky to be represented by 0, a cloudy sky by 10; and when partially cloudy by estimating the number of tenths of the whole sky covered with cloud. The observations are taken every two hours, day and night.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. a.m., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively, that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whevel's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. a.m. and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature for 25 years is furnished by Mr. Henry, Assistant at the Royal Observatory, from the observations made at his residence in the neighbourhood of Greenwich Park.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The temperature of the water of the Thames is ascertained by the use of a self-registering thermometer, suspended from the side of the Iphigenia Chotera Hospital Ship, at the depth of about 2 feet below the surface. The readings of this instrument are registered under the superintendence of Lieutenant Sanders, R.N., Superintendent of the Dreadnought.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the malinast of the Devonshire Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 65.4; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 65.3; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 69.4 and 66.2 respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.92in. at the beginning of the week to 29.78in. on the 5th; it then increased to 29.95in. on the 7th; decreased 29.55in. on the 9th; increased to 29.75in. on the 11th, and decreased to 29.62in. by the end of the week.

The following is a List of all the Cases of Cholera returned in the Week. It contains the sex (M. or F.), age, profession or occupation, duration of case, and the residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are nearly all certified by qualified Medical Practitioners. Their attention is called to the utility of mentioning whenever it occurs—the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used:—Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for Widow; cho., for cholera. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns are omitted in this list.

The following Remarks are by the Registrars of the respective Districts named, and refer to Cases which will be found at their proper place in the List.

ST. PANCRA8; Camden Town.

Mr. Holl, the Registrar, says "Paradise Place (a sad misnomer) is an open ground of about 60 by 80 yards square, round which four or five-and-twenty dwellings, if they may be so called, are erected. In the centre is a common Privy for the general accommodation; about, are heaps of decayed oyster shells, offal of every description, putrid vegetables, and piles of dung, making a most disgusting scene. All the water is obtained from an old pump which affords but a small supply, so the inhabitants of this place are sadly in want of that most necessary article. The house in which the death occurred is filthy in the extreme; it consists of 4 rooms, one of the lower ones being applied to the purpose of a stable in which a horse and dog are kept, and the other one is a receptacle for decayed vegetables and fish. This description, I am sorry to say, will apply to more than one house in this and the adjoining courts."

ST. GILES; North.

Mr. Simpson, the Registrar, states, that "the number of deaths this week from cholera and diarrhoea in Church-lane and the district have increased, and that most of them have been buried in St. Giles, without certificates. He adds, that in visiting the cholera patients on Tuesday last in Church-lane, in company with Dr. Lightfoot, he found Margaret Conolly in a state of collapse, lying on a mattress on the floor placed at the doorway of the room in which she lived, and that the stench from the privy in the yard opposite where she was placed was almost insupportable. The poor dying creature had about 50 or 60 people crowded around her, and though she had been visited some hours previously by one of the medical staff of the parish, no medical aid had been given her because her husband objected to her removal to the workhouse. The above gentlemen prescribed, but she died 7 hours after the attack; a child of the deceased, 2 years old, died 2 days afterwards of cholera, when the husband with his infant 3 weeks old, and the mother-in-law, immediately left the neighbourhood, since which the two latter have been attacked, so Mr. Simpson was informed."

BETHNAL GREEN; Sub-district, Hackney Road.

Mr. Murray, the Registrar, says, "I have to remark on the accompanying report, that 12 out of the 13 cases of cholera therein contained, occurred within about 400 yards of each other, the intervening space consisting of narrow streets and courts. There is an imperfect circulation of fresh air, the population is densely packed together, a family generally occupying only a single room, and there is little beyond surface drainage to take off the waste water. At No. 10, Turville-street, 3 deaths have occurred within a week."

BETHNAL GREEN; Town, Sub-district.

Mr. Gregory, the Registrar, says, "the six cases of cholera in Church-street occurred, as you will perceive by the numbers of the houses, within a very short distance from each other, (besides one last week, as returned, at No. 158, who died 3rd August.) The first, that of a tripe dresser, or boiler, the neighbours complained of the effluvia arising therefrom. I am informed also that a very large cesspool was opened in the yard of the house adjoining, being No. 155, on or before Thursday the 26th ultimo, the day we had a very heavy storm of rain and thunder. It was kept open for several days, and caused a very bad smell to arise, which was severely felt on the Sunday following, but it is now covered over. The houses in Church-street are large and densely populated, the drainage had, having only cesspools. The father of the child No. 461, had died of cholera, in Collingwood-street, Hackney-road district. The wife removed to her mother's with the child, where it was taken ill and died, and the great-grandmother attended to and laid out the child, went home, was taken ill the same night, and died 2 days after. No. 466, and his wife lived in Hope-town, Church district, the wife died there of cholera, and there being no convenience for the husband, he removed to a coffee shop in Church-street, opposite to where the others died; was attacked with cholera and died also. Nos. 469 and 470, are father and son, who died in the house of the before-mentioned tripe dresser. There is no common sewer up Bethnal Green-road or Church-street, although it is the main road from Shoreditch."

BERMONDSEY; St. James.

Mr. Martin, the Registrar, states, that "two of the cases are sisters; the father had just recovered from cholera and gone to work; this day the mother was attacked, is now in collapse, lying in a room not eight feet square, in a cottage containing two rooms, the bodies of her children in coffins close to her bed. This cottage forms one of a group situate in Bird's-gardens, a locality principally inhabited by the lower order of Irish, where numbers of pigs have been kept until the last 4 days, with no drainage and no water laid on, one pump in the garden from which land-water is drawn highly contaminated by the surface drainage from the several pigstyes and privies, (which are always emptied into the gardens); in an opposite house a child is dying of cholera; diarrhoea abounds. I had 7 cases in one house this week."

LAMBETH; Waterloo, (1st Part.)

Mr. Mears, the Registrar, says, that "the deaths from cholera, though still numerous, have been less than half the number of the preceding week, the Nos. being 34 and 15. As before, full half the deaths have occurred in the locality of the boundary sewer. As an additional proof of the influence of the effluvia from that source on animal life, I have ascertained that a cowkeeper, whose premises are close to the boundary ditch in Little Duke-street, and whose wife died on the fourth, has, during his residence there, lost several valuable cows by death. The death at No. 12, Windmill-row, was the wife of a carpenter; she had only been confined 17 days, and 3 or 4 days after delivery she was, through poverty, obliged to stand at the wash tub. Cholera and death ensued."

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

It is one of the characters of epidemic diseases, that in some years their fatality is inconsiderable, in other years excessive. Since 1832 and 1833, cases of cholera have appeared in the Tables,—but the deaths in the second week of August during the past five years have fluctuated from one to twenty-three. In the week ending Saturday, August 18th, the deaths in London were 2230; of which 1230 were by cholera, 188 by diarrhœa. The deaths from all causes in the last seven weeks were 1070, 1369, 1741, 1931, 1967, 1909, and 2230; the deaths from cholera, 152, 339, 678, 783, 926, 823, and 1230. The deaths from cholera exceed those in the previous week by 407; but in that week the mortality declined. The population is about 2 million 206 thousand; so that nearly one in 1000 of the inhabitants now die weekly. The deaths from all diseases, except cholera, are 1000, which is the average number of the season; and 539 were at ages under 15, 256 at the ages 15—60, 203 at the age of 60 and upwards. Of the 1230 persons who died from cholera, 318 were under the age of 15; 721 were 15—60, and 191 were 60 and upwards: it carries off an excessive proportion of people in the prime of life. 597 males, and 633 females died of the disease last week; at an earlier period of the epidemic, the deaths of males exceeded those of females. Of 6194 persons who have died of cholera in London since September, 1848, 3524 died on the south side of the Thames. It has now crossed the river. The mortality last week increased in the districts of St. George Southwark, Newington, and Lambeth: it broke out with extraordinary violence in Greenwich; and on the north side of the Thames in Stepney, Shoreditch, and Bethnal Green, 55, 98 and 125 deaths were registered. The deaths from cholera in the last two weeks were 35 and 125 in Bethnal Green, 21 and 98 in Shoreditch, 24 and 55 in Stepney, 42 and 76 in the districts of the East, West, and City of London, comprehending the jurisdiction of the city properly so called, 7 and 24 in Marylebone, 17 and 34 in Westminster District, 5 and 20 in Chelsea.

This excessive mortality must be viewed with great regret. Looking to the authentic reports of the effects of general sanitary measures, and of efficient medical relief placed within the reach, or carried to the homes of the people, it is quite evident that the measures now in operation are unequal to the emergency. The classes which have the greatest claim for public succour are not idle habitual paupers, but the hard working artizan: yet it is stated that in some parishes the arrangements are such that medical relief is not procurable directly from the district medical officers, who are, to the utmost extent of their powers, discharging their painful duties with praiseworthy diligence and humanity. In a disease which so often attacks in the night, and is fatal in twenty-four hours, the poor have to procure orders before they can be treated. Unless some change be made in these simple administrative arrangements, the mortality from cholera may be higher than it has yet been in London.

To render all the assistance which the registration system can afford for the discovery and removal of the causes of cholera, the Registrars were last week requested to state in each case—"whether the house or street in which the death occurred was close, ill cleansed, over crowded, or otherwise unfavourable to health." The results will be found in the notes, which shew, besides, the sex, age, profession, duration of disease, date and place of death—in every fatal case of cholera and of diarrhœa registered during the week.

The following Remarks are by the Registrars of the respective Districts named, and refer to Cases which will be found at their proper place in the List.

ST. MARTIN-IN-THE-FIELDS; Charing Cross.

Mr. Leonard, Registrar and District Surgeon, states, that "the cases of diarrhœa running into cholera increase rapidly in my district, but as long as the white or serous hæmorrhage from the bowels has not reduced the vital power so as to produce coldness of surface, anxiety of countenance, and failure of pulse, the following practice has been of service in 114 out of 120 cases. On first application a grown up person has had administered a draught composed of Powder of Opium 2 grains, Sulphuric Ether 20 drops, and Strong Peppermint Water an ounce and half, mixed, and in an hour afterwards the following styptic mixture—"A table-spoonful after each liquid motion," or if less urgent "every four hours."

* Mixture of Precipitated Carbonate of Iron, 3 ounces; Powder of Opium, 2 grains;
Mucilage, 3 ounces;
Peppermint Water, 2 ounces; mixed.

Having used at first Dr. Saunders' formula with the Rubigo Ferri, I stated to Mr. Linder, the Chemist, 104, Strand, that I thought it would have a more certain effect if more fully levigated; he suggested the use of the precipitate, which is thus prepared,—

* Sulphate of Iron, 3 ounces } Dissolve each in any quantity of water, and mix.
Carbonate of Soda, 25 drachms }

Allow the precipitate to fall; pour off the supernatant solution of Sulphate of Soda, wash the precipitate with two fresh waters, and allow the precipitate, thus formed, to be suspended in 30 ounces of water for "The Mixture." After checking the serous hæmorrhage, other treatment, well known to the profession, is required to restore tone.

ST. GILES; North.

Mr. Simpson, the Registrar, states, that "the deaths from cholera and diarrhœa (ending Saturday last), in Church-lane and its immediate neighbourhood have continued to increase, independent of the mortality from cases removed out of his district into the Workhouse. A case appeared in last week's report of the deaths from cholera, of Margaret Conolly and her child, living at 21, Church-lane. The husband, becoming alarmed, removed with his family, consisting of an infant 3 weeks old, his mother, and father-in-law, to 4, Lloyd's-court, where the three latter were immediately attacked with cholera and died, making 5 deaths registered in a family of six. Another painful case appears this week in Church-lane; in the house No. 7, three deaths have been registered in one family, a shoemaker of the name of Johnson, his daughter aged 14, a son 16, and another daughter 23, the latter of whom was to have been married on the day she died. Next to this house, No. 8, are two deaths from cholera of persons by the name of Madden, a mother aged 38 years and her infant 8 months. At 24, Tower-street, a female of the name of Read and her three children were attacked by this epidemic, two of them are dead, and the wife's death is hourly expected. The husband, Richard Read, a lodger, states, there has been a most offensive smell for some time in the house, that the Landlord last week opened the drain which receives the contents of the privy and stirred up the mass, when they were all four immediately taken ill; previously to this there was no illness in the house, or cholera in the street."

WEST LONDON; South.

Mr. Nason, Registrar, particularly calls the attention to Bride-lane and the surrounding districts. Mr. Nason's opinion is, "that disease arises from a new sewer made in Bride-lane, which is affected from the tide, arising from the Fleet-ditch which runs into Bridge-street, and at high-water appears to throw out the noxious gases generated therein."

BETHNAL GREEN; Hackney Road.

Mr. Murray, the Registrar, says "The fatal nature of the calamitous visitation which has afflicted only a very limited, though densely peopled portion of my district, seems to point at human agency in the production of the said catastrophe. These deaths have chiefly happened in a space of about 400 yards by 150, and are much below the truth, because numerous patients have been taken in various conveyances to the Bonner's Hall Workhouse, and the result will doubtless appear in future returns. The dense nature of the population, the imperfect drainage, and the irregular habits of at least a part of the people, have been often described. On inquiry, it appears that in portions of this part of the district, as in Turville-street, there is a sewer and a communication from the privies thereto, but no drainage for the waste water, which is uniformly thrown into the street. Be this as it may, there is still the fact, that few deaths have occurred beyond the specified area, and there must be some adequate cause for so singular a phenomenon. The 12th, 13th, and 14th of this month, will long be remembered in this neighbourhood; the outbreak of this fatal disease being without any adequate preparation; surgeons wanted in many places at once; the hurried passing and repassing of messengers, and the wailing of relatives, filled the streets with confusion and woe, and impressed on all a deep sense of an awful calamity."

CLERKENWELL; Pentonville.

Mr. Pyne, the Registrar, says, "Mr. Butler the medical gentleman informs me, that in the house, 8, Union-square, 4 cases of cholera have occurred; 2 have died, 2 recovered, and 2 after leaving the house had cholera, 1 died, 1 recovered; the water-closet communicates with the house. In the next house 2 cases of cholera have occurred, 1 dead, 1 recovered; 2 houses further off a case of cholera fatal in 7½ hours. A large cesspool is said to be in the centre of the court with an open drain and no trap to it; the water the people drink comes within one yard of the cesspool. The water-closets are full, having a drain to carry off the overflowing into the above-mentioned cesspool. In the whole of this division of Pentonville there is no sewer, and large houses with 20 to 30 inhabitants have only a small barrel drain to carry off the soil and other refuse; he has likewise been all hours in this court, the smell from the drain and water-closets is intolerable, especially at night, and almost every inhabitant of that court, and the courts immediately behind it, have had cholera or diarrhœa."

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Nothing was shewn at any examination.	A few light clouds prevailed occasionally, but the sky was for the most part clear throughout the day.
MON.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	Three-fourths of the sky were covered till noon, one-half covered till 6h. p.m. and clear afterwards; cumuli, cirrostratus and scud. Showers of rain fell during the evening.
TUES.	Positive, with very weak tension at 9h. p.m.	The sky was overcast till noon, and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards; cumuli, cirrostratus, fleecy clouds, and scud; a shower of rain fell at 1h. p.m.
WED.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was generally covered till 3h. p.m. and clear afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
THURS.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was covered till 5h. p.m. and cloudless afterwards; cirrostratus and scud; rain was falling from 2h. 30m. till 3h. p.m.
FRID.	Negative, with strong tension at noon, and Positive, with strong tension at 9h. p.m.	Three-fourths of the sky were covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, cirrostratus, and scud throughout the day. A shower of rain fell at noon.
SAT.	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	Three-fourths of the sky were covered till 3h. p.m. and generally clear afterwards; cumuli, cirrostratus and scud. Frequent flashes of lightning were seen during the evening.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's first glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., &c. The means of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part I, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively, that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, in the 7 years ending December, 1847.

In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower;" than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Devonshire Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 61.2, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 57.6; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 63.1 and 56.6 respectively.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.69in. at the beginning of the week to 29.40in. at 3h. p.m. on the 13th; it then increased to 29.79in. on the 15th, and decreased to 29.61in. on the 16th, and increased to 29.91in. at the end of the week.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA and DIARRHOEA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, Aug. 18th, 1849.

The following is a List of all the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhoea returned in the Week. It contains the sex (M. or F.), age, profession or occupation, duration of case, date of death, and the residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are nearly all certified by qualified Medical Practitioners. Their attention is called to the utility of mentioning whenever it occurs—the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used:—Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for Widow; cho., for cholera. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns are omitted in this list.

1—KENSINGTON; Paddington, St. John.

M. 2 months, Son of servant, diarrhoea, convulsions, 5 days, 12 Aug. 52, Market street.

F. 16, Da. of the above, cho. 12 hours, 16 Aug. Camera cottage, Camera street.

F. 50, W. of the above, cho. 32 hours, 17 Aug. the WORKHOUSE, CHELSEA. The man, aged 49, his wife and one child, have fallen victims to cholera. The wife was a notorious drunkard, and her family were living surrounded by dirt and filth of every description. The cesspool in the yard was overflowing, and emitting deleterious smells, and the drain in front was broken in, and the refuse of the house thrown into it. Both within and without were in a poisonous condition. Another son (removed to the workhouse) has recovered from the stage of collapse, but is still in a dangerous state; and, I learn to-day, that the remaining daughter is very ill. N.B. The death, No. 251, in the usual return, is also a son of the above man, and died at the same house on the 13th inst.

10—North East.

F. 75, Wid. of ship builder, cho. 14 hours, 15 Aug. 38, North street.

M. 66, domestic servant (retired), cho. 24 hours, 17 Aug. 27, Henry street.

F. 6 weeks, Da. of tailor, diarrhoea, 4 days, 9, Pollen street. Small narrow street, not known to be peculiarly unfavorable to health.

12—May Fair.

M. 36, master carpenter and builder, diarrhoea. 1 week, cho. in a state of collapse, 6 hours, 15 Aug. 102 a, Mount street. This house is well situated, about 3 doors from the Mount street workhouse.

The 4 following cases occurred in MOUNT STREET WORKHOUSE:—

M. unknown, cho. inquest, 28 June. Found in a state of collapse in Hyde park, and died in 22 hours.

M. about 45, unknown, cho. 3 July. Found in a state of collapse in Globe yard, South Molton street, and died in 10½ hours afterwards.—p.m. Inquest.

M. 68, coachman, diarrhoea, 14 Aug.

M. 52, labourer, diarrhoea, 16 Aug.

The Mount street Workhouse is supposed to be well ordered and in no way unfavourable to catch.

13—Belgrave.

M. 11 months, child of cow keeper, teething, diarrhoea 14 days, convulsions, 11 Aug. 2, Pembroke mews, Grosvenor place.

F. 20 days, child of a peer, diarrhoea, aggravated by the prevailing epidemic, 15 Aug. 2, Grosvenor-crescent.

F. 45, W. of soldier, had diarrhoea 2 weeks ago, cho. 12 hours, 16 Aug. 1, Allington street. The husband of deceased stated, that the smells in this house were very bad; the landlord, to add to the evils, had emptied a cesspool into a hole in the yard. A patient died of cholera a short time since in same house, and one is now slowly recovering.

M. 10, fruit seller, son of hawker of coal and coke, cho. 3 days, typhus, 16 Aug. 8, Robert street, Pimlico.

F. 29, governess in a school, cho. 25½ hours, p.m. 17 Aug. ST. GEORGE'S HOSPITAL. This patient came up to town on Monday 13, from Colchill, near Amersham, Bucks (being governess in a parochial school) to a friend's house, No. 78, Paradise-street, Rotherhithe; she entered the hospital on Wednesday 15th, for disease of the knee, had some leeches applied on Thursday 16th, was taken with sickness, and died next day 17th (Friday) of cholera; she was of delicate health. I was informed, her sister, a person of robust health, was also taken ill; both had partaken of fish on Tuesday evening, the 14th.

N.B.—The greatest evils that have come under my own observation are the pumping of the contents of cesspools into the sewers, and thereby stinking a whole district, and the unvaulted main sewers, which are constantly the adjuvants at all seasons to fevers, &c. besides frequent accidents by children and grown persons falling in.—H. P. Jordan, Registrar.

14—WESTMINSTER; St. John.

F. 33, spinster, cho. 2 days, 11 Aug. 32, Hyde-place, Vincent square.

107—LAMBETH; Waterloo Road, (1st Part.)

- F. 4, Da. of shoe maker, cho. 13 hours, collapse 9 hours, 11 Aug. 36, Windmill row. Row ill cleansed and over crowded; filthy in the extreme.
- M. 6, Son of builder, cho. 19 hours, collapse 10 hours, 12 Aug. 37, Wootton street. Street badly drained.
- M. 20, labourer, cho. 14 hours, collapse 5 hours, 12 Aug. 24, Eaton street. The house is the corner of Windmill row. Before described.
- M. 84, artist, cho. 24 hours, 14 Aug. 20, Brad street. The end of Brad street where this death took place is ill cleansed, and frequently one mass of mud and water.
- M. 76, bit maker, diarrhoea, 12 Aug. 9, John street, Cornwall road.
- M. 29, labourer, cho. 50½ hours, collapse 14 hours, 13 Aug. 12, Little Windmill street. This street is at the back of Windmill row, and is equally filthy and dirty. They are both chiefly inhabited by Irish families and vendors of decayed fruit, fried fish, or vegetables, the effluvia from which affects the whole locality.
- M. 24, shoe maker, cho. 36 hours, collapse 12 hours, 13 Aug. 11, Windmill row. Before described.
- F. 1, Da. of carman, cho. 40 hours, 14 Aug. 30, Cornwall road.
- M. 30, deal porter, cho. 14 Aug. 19, John street, Cornwall road.
- F. 60, Wid. of baker, cho. 4 days, 15 Aug. 7, Roupell street. There have been several deaths from cho. in Roupell street, though the houses are all clean and inhabited by respectable families.
- F. 31, W. of labourer, cho. 4 days, fever 1 day, 15 Aug. 3, Victoria place, Broadwalk. This place is comprised of 10 or 12 houses built a few years ago, over and close to the sewer which forms the boundary at the back of Broadwalk, into which the houses are drained. They are overcrowded, every room containing a family.
- M. 26, deal porter, cho. 17½ hours, collapse 12 hours, 14 Aug. 12, Little Windmill street. Before described. See above, M. 29.
- F. 20, single woman, cho. 7 days, typhus, 15 Aug. 5, New street.
- M. 3, Son of smith, scarlatina 4 days, cho. 4 days, 16 Aug. 5, New street.
- The last 2 deaths occurred in one house, and there have been several deaths from cho. lately in New street; the street is narrow and densely populated. The houses are inhabited chiefly by mechanics.
- M. 1, Son of carpenter, dentition 3 weeks, diarrhoea, 16 Aug. 49, Commercial rd.
- M. 5, Son of journeyman cooper, cho. 5 hours, 16 Aug. 36, New street. Before described.
- M. 27, journeyman tailor, cho., 16 Aug. 9, Salutation place, Cornwall road. The houses in Salutation place have no opening at the back; the rooms are small and close, ill cleansed, and over crowded.

108—Waterloo (2nd Part.)

- M. 1, Son of journeyman baker, diarrhoea 2 days, cho. 10 Aug. 21, Lambeth square. Lambeth square very clean and well drained; doctors, however, think it unhealthy from want of a draught of air through it.
- F. 4, Da. of labourer, cho. 8 hours, 13 Aug. 15, Harriet street. Ill cleansed, over crowded street.
- F. 2, Da. of labourer, cho. 48 hours, 11 Aug. 1, Granby place. Narrow street, ill cleansed, over crowded.
- M. 32, labourer, cho. 9 hours, 13 Aug. 37, Frances street, Westminster road. Filled with Irish, of very dirty habits, very much crowded.
- F. 27, W. of master baker, cho. 10 hours, 13 Aug. 80, Lower Marsh. Slaughter houses complained of.
- M. 37, equestrian, cho. 24 hours, 11 Aug. 12, Lambeth square. Before described.
- M. 3, Son of labourer, cho. 13 hours, 14 Aug. 23, Frances street, Westminster road. Before described.
- M. 31, policeman, cho. 16 hours, 13 Aug. 2, Thomas place, Gibson street. Narrow, confined, and over crowded.
- M. 8, Son of journeyman carpenter, cho. 21 hours, 13 Aug. 35, Gloucester street. A narrow, crowded street.
- M. 55, labourer, cho. and debility 5 days, 13 Aug. 6, William street.
- F. 8 months, Da. of labourer, diarrhoea, 10 days, 11 Aug. 20, Charles street. Over-crowded; drainage bad.
- M. 1, Son of commercial clerk, cho. 8 hours, 14 Aug. 26, Howley place.
- F. 27, unknown, cho. several hours, Aug. 14, 9, Griffin street.
- F. 5, Da. of labouring engineer, cho. 12 hours, 15 Aug. 33, Thomas street.
- F. 1, Da. of coach painter, cho. recovered, 4 days, dentition, convulsions, effusion on the brain, 8 days, 16 Aug. 22, Gloucester street. A narrow, crowded street.
- F. 23, wife of coal heaver, cho. 3 days, childbirth, consecutive fever, 7 days, 15 Aug. 17, James street. Bad drainage, ditches, and slaughter-houses. This street has very much suffered from cholera. A previous informant stated a neighbour kept pigs; noticing one day a more offensive smell than usual, they discovered that a pig had been buried, and part of the stinking carcase protruded from the earth.
- * F. 12, Son of chairmaker, cho. 9 hours, 14 Aug. 17, Gloucester street. A narrow, crowded street.
- M. 47, painter and glazier, cho. about 11 hours, 15 Aug. 8, James street. Before described.
- F. 23, wife of shoemaker, cho. 20 hours, 16 Aug. 48, York street. A good airy street; no complaints of drainage. This was a relapse from diarrhoea.

F. 8 months, Da. of carman, infantile diarrhoea, 16 Aug. 1, Isabella street.
F. 33, Wid. of equestrian, cho. 60 hours, 16 Aug. 12, Lambeth square. Before described. See same house above, M. 37.
F. 3, Da. of shoemaker, diarrhoea, convulsions, 18 Aug. 21, Jurston street. This street was noted for cholera last year; it has not hitherto suffered much; it is an extremely dirty place, badly drained, and crowded with the lowest orders; a long, open sewer runs close to it.
F. 3, Da. of black lead maker, cho. debility, 5 days, 16 Aug. 3, Harriet street. Before described.
M. 17, compositor, cho. 18 Aug. 20, Lower Ann street.

109—Lambeth Church. (1st Part.)

M. 56, formerly in the grenadier guards, cho. 4 days, 11 Aug. 4, Stangate.
M. 33, coachmaker, cho. 9 hours, 18 Aug. 19, Glasshouse street, Vauxhall. Ill cleansed and badly drained—over crowded.
M. 49, tailor, cho. 13 hours, 17 Aug. 10, Mason street.
F. 43, W. of jeweller, cho. 6 hours, 13 Aug. 18, North street. An open street, houses decent and well drained, and not over crowded with inhabitants.
F. 6, Da. of labourer, cho. 3 days, 12 Aug. 4, Vauxhall terrace, Vauxhall walk.
F. 77, Wid. of labourer, diarrhoea, 7 days, 15 Aug. 6, Gloucester street, Vauxhall walk. A neighbourhood abounding in nuisances, badly drained, and densely populated.
F. 63, Wid. of custom house officer, cho. 12 hours, 8 Aug. 9, China terrace, Kennington road, not certified. This is an airy situation, the houses large and respectably inhabited.
F. 4 months, Da. of coffee house keeper, diarrhoea, 3 days, 12 Aug. 29, Royal street.
F. 70, W. of shoemaker, cho. 60 hours, 15 Aug. 33, Paris street, Palace New road.
F. 21, single woman, domestic servant, cho. 36 hours, 15 Aug. 22, Royal street.
F. 50, W. of iron founder, diarrhoea, 17 days, 15 Aug. 37, South-street. Neighbourhood crowded, close, and otherwise unfavourable to health.
F. 5 months, Da. of tailor, diarrhoea, 1 month, 16 Aug. 15, Allen street. House airy and not over crowded.
M. 51, ostler, cho. 32 hours, 17 Aug. 3, Noah's Ark court, Stangate.

110—Lambeth Church, (2nd Part.)

M. 19, (unknown) cho., consecutive fever, 1 week, 4, William street.
M. 48, hat case maker, cho. 13 hours, 11, Smith's place, Devonshire street. This place, I am informed, is in a very bad state for want of proper drainage. It is a very confined place. There have been several fatal cases there.
M. 44, painter, cho. 36 hours, 27, Saunderson's street.
F. 28, W. of engineer, cho. 5 days, 39, Bird street. Close. At the back of the house, on one side of this street, there is an open sewer, which is very offensive, and no doubt dangerous.
F. 8, Da. of painter, cho. fever 8 days, 29, Tyer's street.
M. 47, moulder at an engineer's (Maulsley's), cho. 24 hours, 75, Wickham street. This street is in a very bad condition in every respect, no drainage, badly ventilated, and crowded. In winter the roadway is impassable to foot passengers, there being accumulated a quantity of mud and stagnant water, quite green. I tried with a walking stick, and I think there was full 10 inches in depth in many places. The inhabitants are obliged to form a gutter to prevent the surplus water from running into the lower rooms of their houses, which are below the crown of the road. Cholera has here been very fatal, there having been 19 fatal cases since the 14th July; and previous to the present Epidemic scarlet fever was very prevalent there.
F. 14, Da. of fish dealer, cho. followed by typhoid fever, 1 week, 70, New street, Prince's road.
M. 45, actuary at the Mitre assurance office, cho. 3 days, 1, Ebenezer place, Kennington lane. This place contains about 6 houses all in good repair, well drained and ventilated, and inhabited by very respectable families.
F. 7 weeks, Da. of single woman, convulsions with diarrhoea 2 days, 11, John street. House in bad repair, and dirty.
F. 24, Spinster, diarrhoea 6 hours, cho. 12 hours, 15, Chester street.
M. 4, Son of bonnet shape maker, cho. 18 hours, 4, Globe court, Regent street. A narrow, badly ventilated court, running between Regent street, and King street. 2 rooms houses, and very confined.
F. 39, cho. 3 days, 114, Tyer's street. The back of this house abuts upon Wickham street, where so many fatal cases have occurred.
F. 52, W. of lamp lighter, cho. 2 days, 126, Vauxhall walk. This is a 6-roomed house let out in tenements—in a bad condition—immediately opposite the Gas works.
M. 1, Son of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 28, George street, Vauxhall.
M. 48, confectioner, cho. 16 hours, 91, East street.
F. 40, W. of shoe maker, cho. 10 hours, 7, Saunderson's street.
F. 47, W. of seaman, cho. 3 days, 32, Walnut tree place. I would generally remark that in the 4 last mentioned streets, the houses are in a bad state, small, badly drained, and crowded, there are in most of them two families, in many, three and four families, and being of the poorer class, they subsist chiefly upon cheap fish and vegetables, the majority, I believe, rarely being in a condition to afford animal food. Walnut tree place has no thoroughfare, but is in a more cleanly condition than the others.

The following 14 cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE:—

F. 28, single woman, cho.
F. 50, unknown, cho.
F. 37, W. of tallow chandler, cho.
F. 68, W. of gunsmith, cho.

114—Norwood. No cholera.

115—CAMBERWELL; Camberwell.

F. 4, child of labourer, cho. 3 days, 7, Verandah place, Church street. Ill cleansed and over crowded, let out as lodging houses.
M. 10 months, child of labourer, cho. 20 hours, 7, James street. Small houses, but open and ill cleansed, an uncovered common sewer close by, of which the inhabitants complain very much.
F. 19, Da. of tailor, cho. 11 hours, 8, Church street. The back part of the house close to Verandah place, above described.
F. 2, child of labourer, cho. 6 hours, 1, Mary Ann place, South street. Small houses, but not over crowded, lie low and badly drained.
M. 4, child of labourer, cho. 15 hours, 1, Mary Ann place, South street.
F. 8, child of labourer, cho. 15 hours, 1, Mary Ann place, South street.
F. 52, Wid. of solicitor, cho. 22 hours, 1, Verandah place, Church street.
F. 5, child of labourer, cho. 24 hours, 6, Verandah place, Church street.
M. 10, child of gardener, cho. 12 hours, 2, Mary Ann place, South street.
F. 52, W. of labourer, cho. 50 hours, 5, Verandah place, Church street.

F. 64, W. of shipwright, cho. 12 hours, 1, Leopard's court.
F. 79, W. of blacking maker, cho. 48 hours, 29, Gillam's court. The houses in this court are badly supplied with water.
F. 37, W. of mast maker, cho. 14 hours, Jennings's cottages.
M. 44, master mariner, diarrhoea 5 days, cho. 8 hours, died on board the ship Prince Regent, in the Commercial dock.

The 2 following cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE:—

F. 60, Wid. diarrhoea 2 days, cho. 24 hours.
F. 75, Wid. cho. 28 hours.

120—GREENWICH; St. Paul, Deptford.

F. 23, W. of the captain of a Norwegian vessel, lying in the Thames, called the "Betty," cho. 24 hours, 10 Aug. on board the said vessel, at Deptford.
M. 7, Son of labourer, cho. 23 hours, 11 Aug. 18, Torr's terrace, Lower Deptford road, near the boundary line dividing Rotherhithe from Deptford. Deceased's brother, aged 12 years, died of cholera in the same house, 10 hours after he was attacked, on the 8th August. A death from cholera at No. 3, and a death from cholera at No. 12 in the same terrace, have lately been registered.

M. 24, labourer, employed by market gardener, cho. 64 hours, 13 Aug. 1, Effingham place.

M. 3 months, Son of journeyman tailor, cho. 3½ days, 12 Aug. 3, Crossfield lane.

F. 25, W. of journeyman boiler maker, cho. 25 hours, 12 Aug. 8, Flood street.

F. 49, W. of labourer, cho. 12½ hours, 13 Aug. 8, Finsbury. These places are adjacent, and in a low and unhealthy situation.

M. 62, gentleman, cho. 12 hours, 13 Aug. Midway place. Near Torr's terrace, where the Son of labourer above died.

F. 74, Wid. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 11 Aug. 11, Creek street. Two deaths from cholera, at No. 2 in this street, have lately been registered. This place is in a low and unhealthy situation.

M. 9 months, Son of master butcher, diarrhoea, 6 weeks, 8 Aug. High street.

F. 28, single woman, lived with her father, a journeyman tailor, cho. 12 hours, 16 Aug. 50, Church street. Deceased's sister, a servant, came home suffering from cholera, a death from cholera having taken place in the family she lived with, in Greenwich. The sister is still alive, but labouring under congestive fever.

M. 39, labourer, employed by dealer in marine stores, cho. 48 hours, 15 Aug. Church street.

F. 35, W. of journeyman baker, cho. 13 hours, 16 Aug. 4, Kender grove, Kender street, Hatcham.

121—St. Nicholas, Deptford.

M. 15, Son of gardener, cho. 15 hours, 12 Aug. Collier street. The habits of the parents of this person are very dirty.

M. 72, Wid., diarrhoea, 20 hours, 13 Aug. The Green.

M. 1, Son of boiler maker, diarrhoea 14 days, 14 Aug. Butcher row. Some portion of this street is in a most filthy state.

F. 7 months, Da. of baker, diarrhoea 1 week, 18 Aug. Church street.

F. 10, Da. of cooper, cho. 18 Aug. Collier street. Some portion of this street is very bad. These people only removed from London on Wednesday week, and the child was taken ill the next day.

122—Woolwich Arsenal.

F. 74, Wid. of captain, diarrhoea 5 days, Woolwich common. Very open and healthy.

F. 54, W. of pensioner, cho. 19 hours, 152, Powis street. A clean and open neighbourhood. She was ill 7 hours before sending for a medical attendant; was in the habit of going out clearing, and her daughter states, had no fear of disease at any time. After the death of the wife of the Relieving Officer, reported last week, she was called in to wash and clean up; this being accomplished, she returned home, was taken bad and died.

M. 1, Son of stoker, diarrhoea 12 days, pneumonia 3 days, 23, Hog lane, leading from High street to the River Thames, and kept pretty clean latterly.

F. 63, W. of pensioner, cho. 11 hours, 7, Warren lane. This lane runs from High street to the River Thames, and till within the last week or ten days has been a filthy, dirty place. The house is one of the lodging houses occupied generally by the lowest class of tramps, on passing through from one place to another. This person had but recently arrived from Gravesend.

F. 36, W. of merchant's clerk, disease of heart, cho. 8 hours, 11, Buresford street. A new and wide, open street, very cleanly. This person had come down only a few days since from London on a visit to her sister, with whose children she was out the day before her death on the barrack field witnessing the military exercises. The medical attendant states she had recovered from the effects of cholera; then syncope took place, and produced immediate death. She had been suffering from disease of the heart.

F. 44, W. of whitesmith, cho. 23 hours, 4, Meeting House lane. This lane is swept and cleansed daily. The house is occupied only by their own family. This person appears to have taken alarm at the death of a neighbour, a short time since, from cholera, and her medical attendant informs me her death may be principally attributed to fright.

M. 15, apprentice to shoemaker, (an orphan,) cho. 14 hours, 106, High street. He was not a strong lad, but was well and made hearty meals previous to his being attacked. In the immediate neighbourhood of this house there is a slaughter house and a tallow melter's, both of which are complained of, especially the former, and more particularly when the cesspool of filth is being cleared out.

123—Woolwich Dockyard.

F. 1, Da. of quarter master serjeant royal artillery, diarrhoea 3 days, convulsions 1 day, 12 Aug. in No. 140 barrack room, used as a staff serjeant's quarters in the royal artillery barracks, Woolwich.

M. 64, waterman, cho. 16½ hours, 15 Aug. Little Benet street. Defective drainage.

F. 45, Wid. of tailor, cho. 24 hours, 16 Aug. Spring gardens. Defective drainage.

F. 40, Wid. cho. 20 hours, 16 Aug. East lane.

F. 9, Da. of shoemaker, cho. 4 days, 17 Aug. Mahery's court. The informant stated that, a few nights since, himself and family were awoke by a dreadful stench, which upon enquiry was found to proceed from the emptying of a privy adjoining his house, the soil of which was 6 or 7 feet deep, and instead of its being carried from the neighbourhood, a hole was dug close by, where the soil was deposited. The informant found that the deceased had inhaled the effluvia: she was seized with head ache and sickness, with pain in bowels. Informant suspected that the family was attacked with cholera, administered brandy—medical aid was procured next day, but the child died on 4th day. Other branches of the family still survive the attack. Mahery's court itself, is a very dirty place.

F. 6, Da. of grocer in London, cho. 4 days, typhus fever, 17 Aug. 2, Lower Park street.

In the Sub-District of Saint Paul in St. George in the East, a woman was reported to have died at the advanced age of 104 years. The Registrar states that "the deceased was the mother of 18 children, and had been married 3 times; was a stout robust woman, and had enjoyed good health up to a few days of her death, retaining all her faculties."

* At "Causes not specified," there were two whose ages are unknown.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN the week ending Saturday August 25th, the deaths in London were 2456; of which 1272 were by cholera, 240 by diarrhoea. The deaths from all causes in each of the last seven weeks were 1070, 1369, 1741, 1931, 1967, 1909, 2229, 2456; the deaths from cholera 152, 339, 678, 783, 926, 823, 1229, and 1272. Although the number of deaths last week is greater than any number yet recorded, it is gratifying to learn that active measures are now in actual operation, or commencing in every district, to combat the great epidemic which has already destroyed 7466 lives in London. The mortality stands in favourable contrast to that which has been felt in other cities—where the visitation has recalled the ravages of the middle ages. But if the general sanitary state and arrangements are superior to those of the other civilized countries of Europe—it is quite certain, that while the present epidemic has excited some talk and terror, the efforts which have hitherto been employed to combat it look feeble and insignificant when contrasted with the vast means and agency which are brought to bear by the nation in other fields for the protection of life and property.

The energy with which parts of our institutions work, makes the defects of the rest more evident. On August 9th last, a man was murdered in Bermondsey, and before his death, reported by the coroner, will appear in these returns, one—and it is probable both the persons charged with the murder will be in custody. Steam ships, the electric telegraph, the heads of the police, and professional agents, specially chosen, were all employed to arrest the destroyers of this life; the columns of the newspapers were filled with the details of the death. On the same day a stock-broker died at No. 12, Albion-terrace, Wandsworth-road; a widow lady, and an old domestic servant at No. 6; in the five preceding days in the same terrace the daughter of a grocer, a child of 5 years of age, had died at No. 1; the widow of a coach proprietor, and a commercial clerk, at No. 2; a gentleman's widow at No. 3; a surgeon's daughter at No. 4; a spinster of 41 at No. 5; the wife of a dissenting minister, his mother, a widow lady, and a servant at No. 6; a young woman of 21 at No. 10; a gentleman at No. 12, where the stock-broker died; a commercial clerk and a young woman of 19 at No. 13, where a young woman also died on July 28th; a gentleman's wife at No. 14, who had seen her daughter die there the day before. The nineteen persons died of cholera, many of the inhabitants of the terrace were dispersed; and the deaths of several have been registered elsewhere. "It appears," says the Registrar, Mr. Frost, "that at No. 13, (inhabited by Mr. Biddle,) where the first death occurred, and where two deaths were afterwards registered, the refuse of the house had been allowed to accumulate in one of the vaults (which is a very large one) for about two years, and when removed last week, the stench was almost intolerable, there being about two feet of wet soil covered with maggots. The drains also had burst, overflowed into the tank, and impregnated the water with which the houses were supplied. On the back ground, in the distance, was an open ditch, into which nearly the whole of the soil of Clapham runs." As turpentine to flames, so is the exhalation of such cellars, tanks, and sewers, to cholera; it broke out, it diffused itself rapidly, it attacked many, and nineteen inhabitants, after some hours of suffering, sickness, and spasms, expired.

The effects of decomposing refuse and water on health were well known—their fatal subsidies to cholera had been heard of every day; yet no steps had been taken for their removal from Albion Terrace in July—no medical police had interfered to disturb the contents of Mr. Biddle's cellar—and now the nineteen masters, servants, parents, children rest in their graves, it appears to be taken for granted that blame attaches to nobody—to nothing—not to the householders themselves—to the Guardians of the district—to the institutions of the country! Such mean inanimate instruments of death can be invested with no dramatic interest; but fixing our eyes on the victims, it is well worth considering whether substantially it is not as much a part of the sound policy of the country that lives like those in Albion Terrace should be saved, as that the murderers of the man in Bermondsey should be hanged.

The revelations of the state of their districts in the Registrars' notes of this and last week prove that it will be no easy task—not to stay the plague of cholera, for it will subside—but to remove the evils which make cholera and all epidemics fatal. The vast task of the physical amelioration of the population demands the energies of the best men in Her Majesty's dominions. When, in the country from which Asiatic cholera came, our armies seemed for a moment worsted, and the empire threatened, the great captain of the age is reported to have addressed to another the memorable words,—“If you do not go I must.” That enemy was distant. We have one very near, in our streets, of which cholera, a servile minister, has destroyed already 7466 lives in London, and thousands more in the rest of the kingdom. Who will go out against this enemy? Is it too powerful or too feeble for the arm of the greatest? Will no glory crown its conquest? Is the country insensible to its magnitude? Will not all the national strength and resources be put forth to improve the hygienic condition of the people, and to rid England of the causes of the fatality of epidemics? This may yet be done by the Government, if aided by the force of facts, and of enlightened public opinion.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Positive, and tension moderate at 9h. p.m.	The sky was one-half covered till noon, and generally clear during the remainder of the day; cirrostratus, fleecy clouds, and scud.
MON.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud; frequent flashes of lightning were seen during the evening.
TUES.	Positive, and tension strong at 3h. p.m.	The clouds were slightly broken between 11h. a.m. and noon, otherwise the sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
WED.	Positive, and tension moderate at 9h. p.m.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
THURS.	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
FRID.	Positive, and tension variable between noon and 3h. p.m.	The sky was occasionally one-half, and at other times one-fourth part covered with cumuli, cirri, and light fragments of scud till 8h. p.m. and overcast afterwards. Light rain was falling from 6h. 30m. till 7h. 40m. a.m.
SAT.	Occasionally positive throughout the day.	The sky was mostly covered by cloud throughout the day, at times however, less than one-half was covered, and other times it was overcast.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m. The means of the values observed at these times are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections, deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part I, 1846.

The results for temperature of the air include those deduced from the maximum and minimum temperatures as determined by self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively, that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, in the 7 years ending December, 1847.

In reading the 10th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Devonshire Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 61°1, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 62°2; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 64°6 and 60°7 respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29°91 in. at the beginning of the week to 30°72 in. on the 21st, decreased to 29°96 in. on the 25th, and increased to 29°98 in. by the end of the week. The reading exceeded 30 in. from early in the morning of the 19th, till noon on the 25th; the changes of reading during the week have been small. The air has frequently been in a calm state.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA AND DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, Aug. 25th, 1849.

The following is a List of all the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa returned in the Week. It contains the sex (M. or F.), age, profession or occupation, duration of case, date of death, and the residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are nearly all certified by qualified Medical Practitioners. Their attention is called to the utility of mentioning whenever it occurs—the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used:—Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for Widow; cho., for cholera. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns are omitted in this list.

1.—KENSINGTON; Paddington, St. John.

M. 84, coachman, diarrhœa 4 days, 17 Aug. 11, Star street.
F. 3, Da. of labourer, diarrhœa 14 days, 20 Aug. 40, Bridge row.
F. 23, servant, cho. 20 Aug. 75, Cambridge terrace.
M. 62, gardener, cho. 3 days, 22 Aug. 9, Chapel side.
M. 1, Son of plasterer, diarrhœa 4 weeks, 21 Aug. 10, Eastbourne Mews.
F. 65, independent, cho. 22½ hours, 25 Aug. 70, Star street.
F. 1, Da. of carpenter, diarrhœa 10 days, 22 Aug. 4, Bark place. This Sub-district is generally healthy.

2.—Paddington, St. Mary.

F. 7 months, Da. of carpenter and joiner, diarrhœa 5 weeks, under treatment 5 days, 18 Aug. 15, Woodfield road, West. The houses in this street have been built but a very few years, but situated near the Junction canal.
F. 37, W. of omnibus coachman, cho. 5½ days, 19 Aug. 7 Church place. The street is near to the dust hill wharves.
M. 50, horse keeper, diarrhœa, cho. 6 days, 21 Aug. 4, Gloucester cottages. A small paved court, unfavourable to health, ill drained, leading out of a narrow passage, also ill drained, and in other respects bad.
F. 3, Da. of painter, cho. 3 days, 21 Aug. 2, Church place. The street is near to the dust hill wharves; drainage bad.

3.—Fulham.

F. 26, W. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, Parson's green lane. One of a row of dirty ill drained and over crowded cottages.
M. 1, Son of labourer, diarrhœa, convulsions 3 days, 5, Willow place. The medical attendant considers that this child's death was attributable to his eating unripe food.
F. 9 months, Da. of labourer, diarrhœa, convulsions, High street. House moderately clean; cesspools emptied about 2 weeks back.
M. 30, labourer, cho. 16 hours, Buckett's alley. A number of small and close cottages.
M. 1, Son of labourer, diarrhœa 2 weeks, pneumonia 1 week, Carpenter's row, Valham green. House very full of inmates, no back yard. The corner house of a row of very filthy cottages.
F. 42, W. of parish officer, premonitory diarrhœa 1 day, cho. 4 days, Sand's End. Situation subject to be inundated by the tide, not the house, but the locality.

4.—Hammersmith, St. Paul.

M. 60, driver of a horse and cart, cho. 8 days, exhaustion 2½ days, 17 Aug. 2, Margaret's row, Brook Green. An open, airy locality; as a labourer, in comfortable circumstances. A man of sober and temperate habits—obstinately refused medical attendance for several days.
F. 6 weeks, Da. of labourer, diarrhœa, 19 Aug. 47, Clifton street, Shepherd's bush. An open situation. Perhaps the locality may be called low and flat, but free from stagnant water or ditches. Weakly from birth.
M. 63, gentleman, diarrhœa 5 days, cho. 16 hours, 25 Aug. Allion lodge, Brook Green. Situation perfectly unexceptionable. Regular and temperate in his habits, retiring from business. All the symptoms of malignant cholera appeared at once, about 2 hours after having been visited by his medical attendant for simple diarrhœa, when his case did not present any particular feature. His appearance when in health, however, indicated obstructed circulation about the heart, and tubercular disease.

5.—Hammersmith, St. Peter.

M. 5, Son of labourer, cho. 10 hours, High Bridge.
F. 11 months, Da. of labourer, diarrhœa, 3 weeks, 4, New street. The neighbourhood in which these deaths have occurred is traversed by a creek from the Thames, the bed of which is covered by a thick layer of most filthy mud, emitting sickening effluvia in warm weather upon every recession of the tide. The houses are mostly inhabited by several families, very dirty and ill ventilated.

6.—Kensington Town.

F. 42, W. of labourer, cho. 10 hours, Potteries. In every respect unhealthy. The medical attendant states "this is the third case of cholera in the Potteries within the last 3 weeks. 98 cases of fever, dysentery, and diarrhœa have been under care during the same period."
M. 7, Son of shoemaker, diarrhœa 1 month, Potteries.
F. 34, W. of master greengrocer, cho. 24 hours, Victoria grove. Healthy.

7.—Brompton.

The two following cases occurred at COWPER HOUSE:—
M. 65, clerk in holy orders, cho. 9 hours, 22 Aug. Cowper house is a private attic asylum; the situation is healthy.
M. 63, agriculturist, cho. 8 hours, 23 Aug. The medical attendant states that 3 of the inmates were attacked by cholera. Two recovered and two died. The cases which terminated fatally were unattended by purging.

8.—CHELSEA; Chelsea, South.

F. 45, W. of waterman, cho. 28 hours, exhaustion, 19 Aug. 17, Manor street.
F. 56, W. of waiter, cho. 14 hours, 18 Aug. 31 Lawrence street.
F. under 1, Da. of a single woman, diarrhœa, 4 days, 18 Aug. 31, Queen's court.
F. 2, Da. of labourer, cho. 36 hours, convalescent therefrom, but relapsed from the open atmosphere of the court, 3 days, 19 Aug. 19, Winks' buildings. Very close—cul de sac.
F. 14, Da. of costermonger, diarrhœa 6 days, cho. 19 Aug. 8, Dove court, close—cul de sac.
F. 52, labourer, cho. 16 hours, 20 Aug. 9, Jubilee court. Close.

M. 28, brickmaker, cho. 3 days, 24 Aug. Balls' Pond, Islington. Deceased taken ill in the brick fields while pursuing his avocation.

29—Somers Town.

Drainage good, but I think it would be beneficial if the streets were often cleansed by the scavengers in the 3 following cases:—

M. 63, gentleman, cho. 15 hours, 20 Aug. 125, Upper Seymour street.

F. 5 months, Da. of tailor, diarrhoea 4 days, 18 Aug. 32, Hampden street.

F. 57, W. of labourer, cho. 21 hours, 21 Aug. 37, Drummond crescent. Neighbourhood thickly populated.

No complaint as to drainage, &c. in the 7 following cases:—

F. 63, W. of foreman at glass cutter's, cho. 3 days, 20 Aug. 23, Melton street.

F. 33, W. of navigator, diarrhoea 5 weeks, parturition 5 hours, 19 Aug. 14 Sid street.

F. 59, Spinster, diarrhoea, 2 days, 17, Stanhope street, Hampstead road.

M. 26, fireman to London and North-Western Railway Company, cho. 13 hours, 7, Railway Cottages, Chalk Farm Fields.

32—; Kentish Town.

M. 40, merchant, cho. 4 days, 17 Aug. 4, Highfield villas, Maiden lane.

F. 36, W. of fishmonger, cho. 36 hours, 20 Aug. 22, Holmes terrace.

F. 63, W. of coal meter, cho. 22 hours, 24 Aug. 22, Holmes terrace.

33—ISLINGTON; Islington, West.

F. 5, Da. of captain, R.N., cho. 6 hours, collapse, 4 hours, 20 Aug. 26, Edward terrace, Caledonian road. The situation and drainage good; the deceased child had arrived from Plymouth the previous day in excellent health.

F. 41, W. of ironmonger, cho. 14 hours, 20 Aug. Carter's cottage, Paradise court, Holloway. The house is situated in a very confined court, darkened by a high wall immediately before the house; was cook to the following gentleman, aged 81, who died of diarrhoea on 18th instant.

M. 81, gentleman, diarrhoea, 3 days, 18 Aug. 31, Paradise terrace, Holloway. Desirably situated on a lofty terrace; his cook, who lived in a cottage at the bottom of his garden, died on 20th instant, of Asiatic cholera, 14 hours.

F. 73, W. of independent gentleman, cholerae diarrhoea, 9 hours, paralysis, 12 months, 19 Aug. 13, Denmark street. Nothing objectionable.

F. 42, schoolmistress, Wid. of linendraper, neglected diarrhoea, 5 days, cho. 36 hours, 20 Aug. 15, Lowther cottages, Holloway. Desirable premises and very open.

M. 41, tobacconist and stationer, cho. 2 days, 18 Aug. 49, Caroline place, Caledonian road. Nothing objectionable; a good fall as to drainage.

M. 7 months, Son of coachman, diarrhoea, 7 days, from dentition, after slight pneumonia, 24 hours, hydrocephalus, 3 days, 20 Aug. 1, John street, Upper Holloway. Healthy spot.

M. 58, surveyor, cho. 20 hours, 21 Aug. 22, Belitha terrace, Barnsbury park. Situation most desirable. Was seized with cramp in the extremities at 3 in the morning, which never left him; had attended to his business the day before as usual, but had suffered much from exposure to the sun a day or two back.

M. 26, cheesemonger, malignant diarrhoea, commonly called cholera, 5 hours, 23 Aug. 8, Middle Copenhagen street. Nothing stated about premises as objectionable. Was attending to his business the previous evening, and was taken ill at 4 next morning.

M. 37, moulder, diarrhoea, 1 week, hectic fever, 3 months, 24 Aug. 38, Sidney street, Maiden lane. Situation and premises unobjectionable. Deceased had never recovered his strength after a fall of a piece of timber upon him some months since.

The cases of cholera and diarrhoea in this district, which stands high, seem to have no bearing or connection with the drainage or residence of the parties attacked.

F. 83, independent single lady, diarrhoea, 1 day, 21 Aug. 10, Claremont row, Barnsbury road. Desirably situated.

F. 5 months, Da. of butcher, diarrhoea, 13 days, 23 Aug. 15, Charlotte street, Caledonian road. Situation excellent. The child was brought to London from Hertfordshire for advice, having a hare lip and deficient palate, and unable from birth to take breast milk.

F. 57, formerly a governess, cho. 12 hours, 17 Aug. WORKHOUSE, Islington. The premises are commodious, airy, and well situated. An out-door nurse, and was sent from the Workhouse to attend upon a person who since died of cholera.

34—Islington, East.

M. 58, journeyman gas engineer, diarrhoea, 3 days cho. 2 days, 5, Porter's place, Holloway. An habitual hard drinker.

The two following are from the same house:—

M. 8 months, Son of labourer, cho. infantum 3 days, low fever 3 days, 5, Cross-street, Ball's Pond. Father died in same house on the 17th instant of cho.; a brother, 15th, of cho.; and another brother, 14th, of measles and pneumonia.

M. 55, pianoforte maker, cho. 10 hours, 16, Albion terrace, New North-road. Had heard the day before of the deaths of two friends from cholera, which gave him mental uneasiness.

F. 1, Da. of cab driver, diarrhoea, 7 days, 1, Cox's court, City-road. A confined place at the back of a fishmonger's.

M. 2, Son of commercial clerk, dentition, convulsions, diarrhoea, 3, Mott's lane, Ball's Pond.

M. 2, Son of labourer, exhaustion from diarrhoea, 32 hours, 10, New Norfolk street.

F. 61, Wid. of painter and glazier, cho. 14 hours, 2, New Norfolk street. A nurse; she had been attending some relatives attacked with cholera in Rotherhithe, and was labouring under much excitement.

M. 58, independent gentleman, cho. inquest, 12, Garden place. Found dead—"collapse—diarrhoea," as certified by a medical gentleman called in accidentally after death.

M. 49, cattle dealer, diarrhoea 6 days, cho. 3 days, 30, Shepperton Cottages.

M. 1, son of licensed hawk, cho. sudden, inquest, 2, Gifford's place.—From the evidence it appeared, that this child died either of diarrhoea or cholera, without medical assistance, owing to the enormous labour devolving upon the district medical officer, and the ignorance of the parents in not applying for assistance to some other qualified attendant.

Mr. Butterfield, the Registrar, states, "I have ascertained from the Senior Medical Officer of the parish, that several cholera patients have been this week removed to the Free Hospital, Gray's Inn lane, and that some of the cases have terminated fatally. I have learned from the sextoness, 'the total number of deaths this week from all causes, almost reaches the largest number registered during the influenza of 1847—8.'"

35—HACKNEY; Hackney.

M. 38, baker, cho. GERMAN HOSPITAL, Dalston.

41—St. Giles, North.

M. 7, Son of labourer, diarrhoea 6 days, 18 Aug. 11, Little White Lion street.

F. 45, W. of carpenter, cho., not certified, 5 Aug. 84, Dudley street. This is the third death in the house, which is over-crowded, ill-cleansed, and badly ventilated.

M. 9, Son of costermonger, cho. 4 days, 21 Aug. 17, Church lane.

M. 5, Son of costermonger, diarrhoea 2 days, fever 5 days, 21 Aug. 22, Church lane.

*M. 84, sweep, diarrhoea 13 hours, 18 Aug. 2, Burnett's buildings.

F. 28, W. of costermonger, cho. 2 days, not certified, 23 Aug. 22, Church lane. Died 2 days after her son. Certificate of the time of death refused by the medical man, who attended from St. Giles's Workhouse.

F. 1, Da. of labourer, cho. 15 hours, not certified, 24 Aug. 19, Dudley street.

M. 35, porter, cho. 2 days, 23 Aug. 28, Tower street.

M. 7 months, Son of French polisher, diarrhoea, 18 Aug. 4, Great White Lion street.

Mr. Simpson, the Registrar and Surgeon, observes that "this week's Return of Deaths from Cholera and Diarrhoea, in Church lane, is imperfect, in consequence of some of the medical staff of St. Giles's Workhouse refusing to give, when applied for, Certificates of the cause of death. The Clergy also have failed to give the prescribed notice of burial.

"It is a remarkable fact that no deaths have occurred in the North District of St. Giles during the past week from any other causes than Cholera and Diarrhoea, and the total number from those causes exceeds the number of deaths for the corresponding week of last year. A considerable portion of the inhabitants of Church lane have left their dwellings, which will, in some measure, account for the decrease in the number of Cholera cases the last few days.

42—St. George, Bloomsbury.

F. 18, Da. of warehouseman, cho. 54 hours, 61, Guildford street. The Surgeon who attended this case, stated in writing that it was "imported." The mother and her three daughters had resided at Margate for some weeks. On Monday the 13th, the mother was seized with Asiatic Cholera at 18, Upper Marine Terrace, and died in 22 hours; on the same day a gentleman in the same house died of cholera in 12 hours. The three daughters returned to Guildford street on the 14th, and on the 16th the two youngest were attacked with cholera; the eldest of the two is likely to recover.

M. 5, Son of coachman, cho. fever of a typhoid character, 7 days, 4, Colonnade mews. At 4, Colonnade mews, Russell square, there is a gully grating to the sewer opposite the stable, which, the inmates say, emits at times a stench almost intolerable, and frequently becomes choked.

M. 59, tailor, diarrhoea, 10 days, suppression of urine, 3 days, 13, Little Guildford street. The drainage stated to be very bad; much stench in the house in damp weather. Privy in small yard directly under the sitting room window—drains from cesspool into the sewer.

43—STRAND; St. Clement Danes.

M. 66, master grocer, diarrhoea 12 hours, cho. 40 hours, 20 Aug. 175, Strand. Had been attending the funeral of some relatives who died of cho. in the country, and was attacked almost as soon as he got home.

F. 18, Spinster, domestic servant, cho. 7 hours, 22 Aug. 243 $\frac{1}{2}$, Strand. 243 $\frac{1}{2}$, Strand, is up a close court, near Temple bar on the north side of the Strand; was attacked a few hours after, F. 36, resident in the same house.

The backs of the 3 houses in which the 3 following cases occurred nearly meet, the smells from stables and cow sheds is horrible. Costermongers go down these narrow dark lanes near the river and throw about stinking fish, decayed vegetables, and all kinds of refuse. There is a drain in front of 4, Milford lane, which is kept covered in by the neighbours, the stench from which is almost intolerable:—

F. 60, W. of labourer, cho. 14 hours, 24 Aug. 37, Arundel street.

F. 49, W. of journeyman engineer, cho. 24 hours, 23 Aug. 10, Milford lane.

F. 74, W. of journeyman lamp wick maker, diarrhoea 3 days, cho. 24 hours, 22 Aug. 4, Milford lane.

F. 36, Wid. of journeyman painter and glazier, cho. 3 days, 25 Aug. 243 $\frac{1}{2}$, Strand. This is a person referred to in note to F. 18. Her means were very limited, and I am afraid she wanted common necessities.

The 4 following cases occurred at KING'S COLLEGE HOSPITAL:—

F. 38, Spinster, charwoman, cho. 7 hours, 20 Aug. 1, Grange court. Court densely populated, opening into Clement's lane, nearly opposite Enon chapel. A filthy low neighbourhood.

F. 63, Wid. charwoman, diarrhoea 2 days, cho. 12 hours, 20 Aug. 16, Farnham place. Description of neighbourhood was not obtained.

M. 26, labourer, cho. 2 weeks, fever 10 days, epilepsy 3 hours, 20 Aug. 6, Queen's place, Great Queen street. A close court, not otherwise unwholesome, respectfully tenanted.

M. 25, journeyman picture frame maker, cho. 12 hours, 25 Aug. George yard, Drury lane. Close by a burial ground raised 9 or 10 feet above the neighbouring ground level by the interments.

44—St. Mary le Strand.

M. 31, porter, cho. 10 hours, 12, Drury court, Strand.

M. 26, painter, cho. 17 hours, 26, Newcastle street, St. Clement Danes.

F. 3 months, Da. of baker, diarrhoea 6 days, convulsions, 321, Strand.

F. 68, Spinster, diarrhoea, consecutive fever, 5, Bridge's street, St. Paul, Covent garden.

45—St. Anne, Soho.

Mr. Murray, the Registrar observes "from the Registration of the last fortnight, I find that 99 out of 107 fatal cases of cholera and diarrhoea have occurred in a space occupying less than a tenth of my district. How is it that these diseases thus observe strict geographical boundaries? To describe this portion of my district seems to answer the question. It is almost wholly without sewers, all fluids, whether animal secretions or the waste of culinary or ablutatory processes, being carried off by surface drainage; it has no proper circulation of fresh air, three-fourths of the people are exorbitantly packed together, and, from necessity as well as habit, no sufficient cleanliness of person or of habitation is generally observed. Moreover, the cholera district is precisely the fever district of past times.

"The physical and moral evils resulting from this sad state of things are now in the course of development, and are fraught with injury to the survivors as well as the sufferers."

90—Mile End Old Town, Upper.

F. 39, W. of combmaker, diarrhoea, 3 days, cho. 24 hours, 14, New street. This is a very bad street, and it is a singular feature that nearly all the houses on one side of the street have been visited with the Epidemic, whilst, I understand, on the other side there has not been one case. I am told that on the side where the disease has been raging, there was formerly a black ditch, and at the back of the houses there is a large pickling warehouse, which is a great nuisance to the houses; however, by the great attention of the Surgeons, who have been most indefatigable, I am happy to say that this street has now nearly recovered from the scourge.
F. 1, Da. of chairmaker, cho. 5 hours, 13, New street. As above.
M. 40, sugar baker, cho. 24 hours, 14, New street. As above.

M. 6, Son of journeyman carpenter, cho. 10½ hours, 22 Aug. 3, Portland street.
F. 60, W. of journeyman shoemaker, very impaired constitution, by frequent illnesses, diarrhoea, 7 days, 22 Aug. 14, Webb street. A dirty street, with a sewer at the back of the house; people very poor and house crowded.
F. 10 months, Da. of journeyman printer, cho. 5 days, 18 Aug. 4, Nursery row, Locksfields.

F. 74, Wid. cho. 12 hours, 22 Aug. WORKHOUSE. Inmate.

106—Trinity.

F. 2, Da. of landing waiter, cho. 10 hours, 18 Aug. 58, Brunswick street.
M. 1, Son of labourer, cho. 30 hours, 19 Aug. 9, Bull's head court, Kent street. A close ill-drained dirty court.
The 3 following cases occurred in Royal Tent court, an ill-cleansed, over-crowded court, principally occupied by low Irish:—
M. 30, labourer, cho. 40 hours, 19 Aug. No. 6.

M. 25, labourer, cho. 3 days, typhus fever, 19 Aug. No. 4.

M. 54, labourer, cho. 24 hours, 21 Aug. No. 9.

F. 37, W. of hatter, cho. 10 hours, 18 Aug. 10 John's place, Lock's fields. An open sewer in the front of the house.

F. 24, W. of licensed victualler, cho. 10 hours, 20 Aug. 185, Kent street, Southwark.

The 3 following cases occurred in Poplar row, a close, dirty court:—

F. 6 months, Da. of labourer, cho. 2 weeks, acute meningitis, 20 Aug. No. 4.
M. 7, Son of fellmonger, cho. 2 days, consecutive fever, 5 days, 18 Aug. No. 11.
F. 36, W. of fellmonger, mother of the above, cho. 2 days, consecutive fever, 4 days, 19 Aug. No. 11.

F. 36, Wid. of commercial clerk, cho. 17 Aug. 177, Great Dover road.

F. 34, W. of carpenter, cho. 19 Aug. 5, Eltham place, Kent street.

F. 73, Wid. of wine porter, cho. typhoid fever 6 days, 18 Aug. 2, Harmer's buildings, Ayliffe street. A narrow court close to an open sewer, a foul drain passes under the house.

F. 27, W. of tailor, jaundice, 6 days, cho. 48 hours, 20 Aug. 17, Trinity terrace.

F. 44, W. of cheesemonger, cho. 12 hours, 21 Aug. 16, Deverell street.

F. 13, Da. of porter, cho. 16 hours, 21 Aug. 9, Adam street, New Kent road.

At the house adjoining a pig sty is erected against the kitchen of this house; the wall is but 4 inches thick, and the soil drains through the brickwork causing a most intolerable stench.

M. 3, Son of labourer, cho. 13 hours, 20 Aug. 34, Tiverton street.

F. 56, Wid. of labourer, cho. 3 days, fever, 6 days, 22 Aug. 1, Inman's buildings, Thomas street. A close court, the houses generally very damp.

M. 4 months, Son of farrier, diarrhoea, 6 days, 19 Aug. 1, Flying horse yard, Blackman street.

F. 3, Da. of tanner, cho. 16 hours, 21 Aug. 265, Kent street, Southwark.

F. 3, Da. of sample collector, cho. 19 hours, convulsions, 24 Aug. 15, Harper street. The medical informant adds, "I believe this death to have been caused by the stench arising from the emptying a privy."

107—LAMBETH; Waterloo Road, (1st Part.)

M. 37, journeyman printer, cho. 3 days, 17 Aug. 30, Thomas street. Thomas street is a clean and tolerably open street. I have heard no complaint of the drainage.

M. 50, coal porter, cho. 2 days, 19 Aug. 7, Cornwall place. Cornwall place contains upwards of 30 houses of two rooms each, let to labouring men, mostly with families. They open in front with small gardens; they are close at the back; the place is in a valley, surrounded by lofty houses.

M. 70, journeyman printer, diarrhoea and cho. 3 days, 19 Aug. 4, Duke street.

F. 22, single woman, diarrhoea, 3 days, cho. 11 hours, 19 Aug. Cornwall road. This female, one of the class called "unfortunate," I was informed had been taking medicine for some other complaint, and had neglected to inform the medical man that it operated excessively until after diarrhoea had set in. Cholera followed.

F. 49, Wid. of bricklayer, cho. 3 days, 19 Aug. 3, Isabella place, Broadwalk. Isabella place is of all others the most filthy in my district; the entrance to it is not more than 4 feet wide; there are 6 or 8 dilapidated houses in it of two rooms each, all front, no air through them, each room containing a family. There is a recess on the left which is the receptacle of all manner of filth, dust, decayed vegetables, fish, guts, &c. The stench is intolerable at all times. The parish inspector has frequently had the dirt removed, but nothing can be done to purify such a den.

F. 54, W. of journeyman smith, collapse, 12 hours, cho. 18 hours, 15 Aug. 4, Sea Lion place, Wootton street. I am informed the drainage of Sea Lion place is very defective, and that very offensive smells arise in the houses.

M. 38, journeyman smith, cho. 30 hours, 19 Aug. Little Windmill street. This street has been before alluded to as dirty, and unfavourable to health; several cases of cholera have occurred in it. The man whose death is now recorded was an inveterate drinker. He has left a wife and 3 or 4 children.

F. 29, W. of bookseller, cho. 14 hours, 19 Aug. 5, Morpeth place, Waterloo road.

Houses close, dark, and badly ventilated.

M. 58, coal porter, diarrhoea, 5 days, collapse, 6 hours, 19 Aug. 2, Peer's cooerage, Cornwall road.

F. 23, single woman, cho. 18 hours, 20 Aug. 16, Cornwall road.

F. 65, Wid. of a gentleman, cho. 20 hours, 21 Aug. 154, Waterloo road. The house is airy and clean, the occupier is a surgeon, son of the deceased.

M. 27, cheesemonger, cho. 12 hours, 22 Aug. 66, New cut. The deceased, a tradesman of respectability, had been to the Zoological gardens the night before in good health, returned home and was taken ill immediately, surviving only 12 hours.

M. 70, gardener, diarrhoea, 5 days, cho. 48 hours, 23 Aug. 7, Windmill street. Houses over crowded, street ill cleansed.

F. 83, Wid. of mariner, diarrhoea, 6 days, 20 Aug. 10, John street, Waterloo road.

F. 60, Wid. cho. 21 hours, 23 Aug. 16, Cornwall road. This female attended on a younger one, who died in the same house on the 20th. She subsequently washed the deceased female's things, and was immediately after taken ill.

M. 10, Son of carpenter, diarrhoea, cho. 24 Aug. 49, Commercial road.

F. 52, W. of lighterman, cho. 16 hours, 23 Aug. 14, Whitehorse street. Whitehorse street has been before alluded to as unfavourable to health.

M. 56, journeyman barge builder, cho. 33 hours, 25 Aug. 3, Thomas cottages.

M. 28, bargeman, cho. 12 hours, 22 Aug. on board a barge, Hawes' wharf, Commercial road. He was stated to be a steady, sober young man.

F. 31, W. of warehousman, cho. 14 hours, 25 Aug. 2, Curtis' hatch. The house is close to the boundary ditch so often named.

108—Waterloo (2nd Part.)

M. 37, boiler maker, cho. 17 hours, 36, Thomas street, Gibson street. Close street.

M. 38, engineer, cho. 16 hours, 6, Gibson street. An airy street.

F. 30, W. of labourer, cho. 34, Charles street, Oakley street. A dirty street, over-crowded. Bad drainage.

M. 10, Son of labourer, cho. 9 hours, 35, Frances st., Westminster road. Densely crowded with Irish, of dirty intemperate habits—a long open sewer runs parallel to it. Pigs, ducks, &c. kept in the vicinity. Numerous have been the attacks of cholera in this street, 9 of which were fatal.

M. 21, labourer, cho. 12 hours, 15, Frances street. As above.

M. 5, Son of weaver, cho. about 20 hours, 55, Oakley street.

F. 7, Da. of labourer, cho. 17 hours, 1, Charlotte street, Waterloo road. A close street.

F. 6 months, Da. of assistant draper, diarrhoea, 12 days, cho. infantum, 12 hours, 13, Manner's street, York road.

F. 29, W. of smith, cho. 10 hours, pregnancy, 8, Agnes street.

M. 53, labourer, cho. 16 hours, 16, Canterbury street, York road. The house well drained—in a good, clean street.

F. 30, (unknown) cho. 3 days, 80, Granby street, Waterloo road.

109—Lambeth Church, (1st Part.)

F. 69, W. of journeyman carpenter, cho. 75 hours, 19 Aug. at 16, Vauxhall row.

Ill-cleansed neighbourhood—crowded, and in the immediate vicinity of the Lambeth Gas Works, and the Potteries.

F. 40, W. of gentleman, cho. 27 hours, 18 Aug. 27, Royal street.
 F. 27, W. of master iron founder, cho. 36 hours, congestion, with want of power, 7 days, 19 Aug. 14, Allen street, Hercules buildings.
 F. 29, W. of master comb maker, cho. 6 days, 17 Aug. 25, Westminster bridge road.
 F. 63, Wid. of brewer, cho. 21 hours, 21 Aug. 7, Berkeley street, Lambeth walk.
 F. 6 weeks, Da. of tailor, diarrhoea, 9 days, 23 Aug. 15, Lower Fore street, Lambeth.
 F. 25, single woman, domestic servant, cho. 20 hours, 23 Aug. 2, Mount gardens.
 F. 9, Da. of journeyman carpenter, cho. 13 hours, 23 Aug. 8, Upper Marsh.
 Crowded neighbourhood—ill-cleaned, and badly drained.
 F. 3 weeks, Da. of surgeon, infantine diarrhoea, 3 days, 23 Aug. 9, Noah's Ark court, Stangate.
 M. 2, Son of potter, workman, cho. 3 days, 23 Aug. 3, Granby's buildings, Vauxhall walk. An unhealthy neighbourhood, ill-cleaned and drained, and surrounded by Bone Crushers, Potteries, Soap Makers, and other offensive establishments.
 F. 43, W. of lighterman, diarrhoea, 6 weeks, 24 Aug. 11, Glasshouse street, Vauxhall walk.

110—Lambeth Church, 2nd Part.

M. 14 months, son of brickmaker, cho. 3 weeks, relapse 3 days, 54, New street, Lambeth. Cholera has broken out in this street very badly.
 F. 43, W. of potter, cho. 10 hours, 41, King street. All in a bad condition.
 F. 3, Da. of carpenter, diarrhoea, with putrid fever, 27 hours, 70, New street. This house is very clean, having been thoroughly painted and lime-washed about two months since. The father cannot account for the attack. The children were in good health previously. The street generally is very bad, both as regards drainage and cleanliness.
 M. 12, Son of carpenter, cho. 24 hours, 70, New street.
 M. 16, son of furrier, diarrhoea 12 hours, cho. 32 hours, 65, New street.
 F. 64, Wid. of coach wheelwright, cho. 4 days, 1, New street, Princes road.
 F. 77, W. of general dealer, cho. 13 hours, 112, Park street. This street crosses New street.
 M. 9, Son of marine store dealer, cho. 10 hours, 23, Park street.
 F. 25, Spinster, secondary fever, cho. 21, Pleasant place. In front of this row of houses is an open sewer, very offensive.
 M. 37, carpenter, consecutive fever 11 days, cho. 15, Chester street.
 M. 22, coal porter, cho. 16 hours, 1, Spring garden walk, Vauxhall.
 F. 58, Spinster, congestive fever, with cholera, 12 hours, 73, Devonshire street.
 F. 4, Da. of hair dresser, cho. 3 days, congestion of brain, with subsequent effusion, 5 days, 157, Princes road. A small and confused house.
 F. 4, Da. of railway porter, scarlatina 14 days, cho. 2 days, 36, Wickham street. There is another death in this house, certified as "typhus fever."
 F. 43, Spinster, cho. 71 hours, 6, Clarence place, Vauxhall street. This place runs into New street.
 F. 60, W. of labourer, synochus 3 weeks, cho. 2 days, 14, Thomas place, Princes road. Close and confined; bad ventilation.
 F. 43, W. of general dealer, cho. 24 hours, 8, New street. At the back of this house, belonging to a neighbour, are some pigs, the effluvia arising from which is, at times, very bad; the back parlour window was open when I called, and the stench created an instantaneous feeling of nausea. The family complain much of it.
 F. 3, Da. of law stationer, cho. 10 hours, 9, Globe court, Regent street.
 M. 6, Son of law-stationer, cho. and consecutive fever, 6 days, 9, Globe court, Regent street.

- F. 35, Wid. of labourer, cho. Church street. Her husband died of cholera, (last week's return), on the 15th Aug. in the same house.
- F. 65, W. of journeyman stonemason, cho. 2 days, 3, Laurie grove, New cross.
- F. 65, W. of master carpenter and builder, cho. 2 days, 2, Mount pleasant terrace, Lewisham road. Considered the most healthy situation in the parish.
- M. 59, journeyman tailor, cho. 25 hours, 9, Old King street.
- F. 25, Da. of master pork butcher, diarrhoea, 1 week, 1, Black horse place.
- M. 53, master baker and pastrycook, cho. 11 hours, New cross road.
- M. 74, superannuated cooper, from H.M. Victualling yard, cho. 24 hours, 7, Cottage place, Greenfield street. Near an offensive ditch, now being covered over by the owner of the properties adjacent.
- M. 37, labourer, employed as an assistant messenger in H.M. dock yard, cho. 17 hours, 8, Bailey's rents. Was taken ill in H.M. dockyard, after having been up the greater part of the previous night, attending to two of his children suffering from cholera, but who are both likely to recover.
- F. 64, W. of a gunner of H.M. Navy, cho. 48 hours, 19, Giffin street. A dirty street.
- M. 72, formerly a carpenter, cho. 36 hours, Church street.

121—St. Nicholas, Deptford.

- M. 32, sawyer, cho. Grove lane.
- M. 59, shipwright, cho. 3 days, King street. There is little or no drainage in this locality.

122—Woolwich Arsenal.

- F. 26, married woman, recently from Ireland, cho. 36 hours, 50, High street.
- M. 6, Son of travelling cutler, cho. 32 hours, 50, High street. Both of these individuals arrived in the town only a day or two previous to their death. This is a common lodging house; finding two deaths from cholera on the same day, I went over the house for inspection—found it very clean, but too many beds in each room. In one small room I observed 5 beds where 3 would have been too many. The ventilation of the house has recently been completely obstructed by the erection of a very large building for baths, and a public lecture room, which completely chokes up the back premises; the small yard and water closet in a very bad state, but were about to be remedied. Two of the town commissioners visited it the previous day.
- M. 6 months, Son of labourer, diarrhoea, 4 days, 7, Warren lane. A lodging house, but in pretty fair condition.

123—Woolwich Dockyard.

- F. 49, W. of boiler maker, diarrhoea, 3 days, cho. 9 hours, 11, Glenalvon street.
- M. 56, passenger on board the "John and Ann" collier vessel from Sunderland, on a voyage for the recovery of his health, cho. 15 hours, on board the "John and Ann," collier vessel. The only information that could be procured, excepting the Surgeon's certificate, was from Mr. Francis Henry Bannister, of Church hill, Woolwich, undertaker, who removed the body from on board ship for interment.
- M. 25, Son of rigger, H.M. dockyard, Woolwich, cho. 6 hours, 71, Warwick street.
- F. 1, Da. of gunner, Royal Artillery, diarrhoea, 5 days, No. 39, kitchen of officers quarters, Royal Artillery Barracks.
- F. 2, Da. of sergeant of Royal Artillery, diarrhoea, 6 days, No. 4, staff sergeants' quarters, Royal Artillery Barracks.
- M. 4 months, Son of joiner, diarrhoea, 4 days, 1, Albion terrace.

124—East.

- M. 5, Son of master of Thames Church, cho. 8 hours, 18 Aug. 7, Hatcliffe street. Defective drainage.
- F. 28, W. of farm labourer, cho. 6 hours, 19 Aug. Maberly's court. See one death in same court in last return. Filthy place.
- F. 70, W. of sawyer, cho. 20 hours, 21 Aug. 22, Queen's street. Very crowded and poor.
- M. 23, coal porter, cho. 76 hours, 22 Aug. Bachelor's rents, Miles' street. Unwholesome neighbourhood.
- F. 41, W. of hostler, cho. 23 Aug. 13, Leeche's alley. Died while visited.
- F. 42, Wid. of pensioner, cho. 40 hours, 23 Aug. 10 Miles' street. Defective drainage.
- F. 70, Wid., cho. 21 hours, 25 Aug. 2, East lane.
- The 7 following cases occurred in GREENWICH HOSPITAL:—
- M. 77, pensioner, diarrhoea 6 days, cho. 13 hours, 18 Aug.
- M. 73, pensioner, diarrhoea 3 days, cho. 2 days, 19 Aug.
- M. 77, pensioner, vertigo progressive, anasarca sculetas for a long while, diarrhoea 2 days, 20 Aug.
- The 5 following cases occurred in the UNION WORKHOUSE:—
- F. 78, Wid., diarrhoea, 13 Aug.
- M. 17, pot boy, cho. 12 hours, 15 Aug. Brought into the Workhouse under the attack.
- M. 69, carpenter, natural decay, diarrhoea 14 days, 20 Aug.
- F. 87, Wid. of carpenter, natural decay, diarrhoea 7 days, 20 Aug.
- M. 60, commercial clerk, diarrhoea 7 days, 24 Aug.

125—Greenwich West.

- F. 1, Da. of labourer, cho. 2 days, secondary fever 3 days, London court. This is the 5th death in the same house in 6 days.
- M. 39, carpenter, cho. 8 hours, Thames street.
- F. 46, W. of labourer, cho. 24 hours, consecutive fever 6 days, 9, Wood wharf.
- F. 37, Wid. of trunk maker, cho. 20 hours, 7, Coltman street.
- M. 63, labourer, cho. 20 hours, 4, Grove street.
- F. 5, Da. of waterman, cho. and consecutive fever, 5 days, 26, Thames street.
- F. 2, Da. of waterman, cho. and consecutive fever, 5 days, 26, Thames street.
- F. 35, W. of plumber, debility, 6 weeks, cho. 18 hours, 12, Olive place.
- M. 37, waterman, cho. and consecutive fever, 16 days, 31, Bridge street.
- F. 48, Wid. of seaman, cho. 2 days, Billingsgate street.
- M. 29, soldier, cho. 5, Wood wharf.
- F. 29, W. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, Roan street.
- F. 1 month, Da. of smack owner, diarrhoea, 4 weeks, Horseferry road.
- M. 3, Son of waterman, cho. 14 hours, 6, Tranter's cottages.
- M. 12, Son of tailor, cho. 3 days, consecutive fever, 5 days, 3, Union street.
- F. 67, Wid. of waterman, cho. 22 hours, 2, Billingsgate street.

M. 69, baker, cho. 24 hours, 8, Bexley place.

- F. 5, Da. of blacksmith, cho. 10 hours, 18, Bennett street.
- F. 33, W. of cooper, mucro enteritis, diarrhoea, Green lane.
- F. 33, Spinst. cho. 11 hours, 12, Blackheath hill.
- F. 1, Da. of waterman, cho. 52 hours, 1, Blucher's buildings.
- F. 56, W. of waterman, cho. 3 days, consecutive fever, 3 days, 13, Wood wharf.
- F. 58, Wid. of pensioner, cho. 18 hours, 2, Gale's row.
- F. 10, Da. of waterman, diarrhoea, 3 days, congestion of the brain, 7 days, 1, Wood wharf.
- M. 8, Son of shoe maker, cho. 4 days, consecutive fever, 6 days, 2, Thames street.
- F. 0, Da. of single woman, marasmus, diarrhoea, 3, Royal place.
- F. 38, W. of sick attendant, cho. 3 days, 10, Albert place.
- M. 5, Son of shoe maker, cho. 3 days, secondary fever, 3 days, 3, Norris' buildings.
- F. 64, Wid. cho. 3 hours, Church court.
- M. 54, commercial traveller, diarrhoea, 2 years, cho. 16 hours, 15, Greenwich road.
- M. 34, seaman, cho. 24 hours, Devonshire Hospital ship.
- M. 26, seaman, cho. 5 days. As above.
- M. 24, seaman, cho. 20 hours. As above.

126—WANDSWORTH; Wandsworth.

- M. 32, journeyman tailor, cho. 6 days, 21 Aug. 2, Ram square. Locality referred to below.
- M. 57, master innkeeper, diarrhoea, 6 days, cho. 10 hours, 23 Aug. Eagle inn, High street.
- M. 33, master butcher, cho. 24 hours, typhus fever, 10 days, 23 Aug. Bridge fields. A large open sewer within a few yards and nearly opposite.
- M. 2, Son of the above butcher, cho. 13 hours, hydrocephalus, 3 days, 23 Aug. Bridge fields.
- F. 33, Da. of labourer, cho. 14 hours, 24 Aug. Ram lane. This is the seventh fatal case that has occurred in the immediate locality, contiguous to which is the cut or basin which receives a large portion of the town sewerage, and which, being inter-mixed with the refuse from Messrs. Young & Bainbridge's brewery, is constantly emitting gaseous matter, offensive to the whole of that neighbourhood. The Guardians of the parish have caused the owners to be twice summoned before the Police Magistrate, who suggested an appeal to the Commissioners of Sewers to provide for so formidable a nuisance; they came and inspected, last January, but nothing has been done for its effectual abatement.

127—Clapham.

- F. 46, W. of coachman, cho. 24 hours, 17 Aug. Old Town.
- M. 79, gardener, cho. 4 days, 19 Aug. 7, Clifton street, Lark Hall lane.
- M. 28, stationer, cho. 10 days, hemorrhage from bowels, 8 hours, 18 Aug. 2, Pensbury, Wandsworth road. Was first attacked at 7, Albion terrace, Wandsworth road, and removed to 2, Pensbury, nearly opposite.
- M. 18, confectioner's assistant, cho. 29 hours, 19 Aug. 3, Park road. He was brother to the husband of a female registered last week; he came to assist his brother, and was taken ill soon afterwards. No complaint of drains, &c.
- M. 66, bottle merchant, cho. 30 hours, 20 Aug. 13, Bromel's road. Had been subject to diarrhoea for several years past.
- M. 31, coachman, cho. 11 hours, 18 Aug. Acre court, Park road. Had been of consumption and asthma 4 years.
- F. 60, Wid. of mariner, diarrhoea, 14 days, cho. 12 hours, 23 Aug. Bromel's buildings.
- F. 33, W. of commercial traveller, diarrhoea, 3 days, 22 Aug. 17, Union grove, Larkhall lane.
- F. 30, W. of journeyman tinman, cho. 8 hours, 24 Aug. 37, Park place. The inhabitants complain that the drains are very offensive.
- F. 5, Da. of journeyman cordwainer, cho. 8 hours, 24 Aug. White square. There are no traps to the drains, and, at times, the smells are very offensive.

128—WANDSWORTH; Putney.

- F. 2 months, Da. of labourer, cholera some days, cho. 46 hours, 23 Aug. Putney, Lower Common.

129—Streatham.

- M. 16 weeks, Son of journeyman carpenter, diarrhoea, 4 days, Baker's lane, Streatham common. The mother of this child died on the 22 April last in the same neighbourhood of malignant scarlet fever, after 48 hours illness.

130—Battersea.

- M. 25, engineer, fever, 11 days, cho. 8 days, collapse, 20 hours, typhus, 19 Aug. Nine Elms.
- F. 5, Da. of labourer, cho. 10 hours, 21 Aug. 7, Hertford terrace.
- M. 74, gentleman, obstructed bowels, terminating in diarrhoea, 5 days, 22 Aug. Clapham common.
- F. 35, W. of labourer, cho. 24 hours, 24 Aug. 8, New street, Battersea fields.
- The 2 following cases occurred in the UNION WORKHOUSE:—
- M. 8 months, Son of single woman, diarrhoea, fever.
- F. 82, Wid. diarrhoea, 3 days, cho. 14 hours.

131—LEWISHAM; Plumstead.

- F. 31, W. of smith, cho. 6 days, 21 Aug. 1, Mount street, Charlton. The mother of the child whose death was reported last week.

132—Eltham.

- M. 3 months, Son of greengrocer, diarrhoea, High street, Eltham. In the centre of the town, which is considered healthy.
- M. 32, merchant's clerk, cho. 24 hours, upper end of High street, Eltham. Particularly healthy.
- M. 70, coke dealer, debilitated constitution, cho. 5 days, lower end of High street, Eltham. Neither over crowded, or otherwise unfavourable to health.

133—Lee.

- M. 68, gentleman, cho. 16 hours, Lewisham lane.
- F. 7 months, Da. of gardener, diarrhoea, 13, Merton place, Lewisham.
- F. 6, Da. of surveyor's clerk, cho. 8 hours, no medical attendant, Bridge place, Lewisham.

134—Lewisham Village. No cholera.

135—Sydenham. No Cholera.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE deaths registered in London in the week ending September 1st were 2796; of which 1663 were by cholera, 234 by diarrhoea. The mortality exceeds that of any previous week. The greatest number ever registered before in any week since 1840, was 2454 deaths, in the week ending December 4, 1847, when the last epidemic of influenza prevailed. In the cholera epidemic of 1832, the parish clerks, in the old Bills of Mortality, returned 1021 burials for the week ending August 28; which, allowing for the defects in their returns, and for increase of population, are equivalent to 2450 deaths at the present time. The burials after that week in 1832 declined.

The mortality is nearly three times the average of the season, and is sensibly felt all over the metropolis; but the inhabitants of the north and west Districts, and people in the distance, can yet scarcely form a notion of the suffering on the south side the Thames, and since the middle of August, in the east Districts. "The 12th, 13th, and 14th of August," says one of the Registrars of Bethnal Green, "will long be remembered in this neighbourhood, the outbreak of this fatal disease being without any adequate preparation; surgeons were wanted in many places at once; the hurried passing and repassing of messengers, and the wailing of relatives filled the streets with confusion and woe, and impressed on all a deep sense of an awful calamity."

Cholera has already destroyed, in this epidemic, nine thousand one hundred and twenty-nine lives in London.

As it is one of the purposes of the Registration Act to ascertain the "Causes of Death," and of the Weekly Tables not to gratify idle curiosity, but to point these out to the public, the Registrars have been requested to give all the information they can respecting the state of every part of their Districts. This many of them have taken considerable pains to do, and their notes will, it is hoped, be found serviceable to the Guardians and Medical Inspectors, now and at future times. For it is important to bear in mind that Cholera only brings into a strong light the localities, which elaborate calculations in the Annual Reports prove are at all times fatal to the health and life of the inhabitants.

After the perils of this terrible week we seem to see land; but as many thousands of lives may be lost in an epidemic by negligence, so, many thousands may be saved by skill, vigilance, and energy—by more ample supplies of water—by the rapid removal of nuisances from the houses and streets—by the prompt administration of medical appliances and other comforts, by the active co-operation of the Medical Profession, of the Boards of Guardians, of employers, of every householder, of every individual, with the Board of Health, and Health Officers.

The following Remarks on the weather during the month of August 1849, are by MR. GLAISHER.

Till the 12th the air was in very little motion, from the 12th to the 16th it moved rather quickly, and from the 17th it was frequently in a calm state. At the beginning of the month the sky was frequently cloudy, but, at times it was free from clouds; during the latter part of the month, it was nearly always overcast, accompanied with a very hazy atmosphere, at times the haze and mist were so dense as to cause a great gloom. Within the last 7 or 8 days of the month London was not visible from Greenwich Park, it was hidden by a dense fog like mist which hung over the City. After the first few days of the month the temperature ranged high, and towards the end the air was close and oppressive, scarcely any rain fell, the atmosphere was dry, the reading of the barometer at the height of 159 feet ranged from 29.46in., on the 13th to 30.22in., on the 22nd; the temperature of the air varied from 42.4 to 82.5, thus exhibiting a difference of reading within the month of 40.1; on some days at the beginning of the month the difference of temperature on the same day exceeded 30°, the average difference of day and night from the 22nd was 17°. The average value of the several subjects of meteorological research for the past month, for a series of years, are shown in the subjoined month.

From these numbers it appears that the reading of the barometer exceeded the average by 0.063in., and that the water mixed with the air counterbalanced a column of mercury of less than its average height by 0.030in., and therefore, the pressure of dry air exceeds its average value by the sum of these two quantities, viz. by 0.093in., the temperature of the air exceeded the average by 2°.1. The average value from 70 years is 60°.8, the years in which the averages for August have been as high as in this year, are 1778, 1800, 1802, 1807, 1818, 1819, 1826, and 1846. Notwithstanding this high temperature of the air those of evaporation and dew point were below their average value, and consequently there has been less than the average weight of water mixed with the air; the additional weight of water required to saturate a cubic foot of air was 1.8 grains, the average quantity is 1 grain, this implies great dryness; the degree of humidity of the air was 0.727 only, its average value being 0.110 more. No August in this series of years has been so dry; the sky has been more clouded than usual; rain has fallen on 3 days only, and the amount collected is less than $\frac{1}{2}$ an inch; so small a quantity of rain has not fallen in August since the year 1819. The number of days on which rain fell in August 1848 was 29, and the amount collected was 4 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. cs. The amount of Electricity in the atmosphere was small throughout the month.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Positive, and tension moderate at 9h. p.m.	Light clouds were prevalent during the morning and the sky was for the most part covered during the remainder of the day.
MON.	Nothing was shewn at any examination.	The sky was generally covered till noon; from this time till 9h. p.m. the amount of cloud was small, and the sky was overcast afterwards. Cirrostratus, fleecy clouds and scud.
TUES.	Positive, and tension weak at 3h. and 9h. p.m.	Three-fourths of the sky were covered till 3h. p.m. and wholly covered during the remainder of the day; cirrostratus, fleecy clouds, and scud.
WED.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus, scud, and haze.
THURS.	Positive, and tension strong at 3h. and 9h. p.m.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus, scud and haze.
FRID.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 1h. p.m. and the greater portion was cloudless during the remainder of the day; cirrostratus, scud and haze.
SAT.	Positive, and tension weak at 9h. p.m.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; from 8h. p.m. till midnight lightning was seen till 10h. p.m., it was confined to the S. and W.; after this it extended both ways; from 10h. p.m. till near midnight there was a thunder-storm, the lightning was vivid and the thunder was loud, rain was falling between 5h. a.m. and 8h. 30m. a.m., occasionally in the morning, and again during the thunder-storm at night.

The height of the cistern of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's flint glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part I, 1846.

And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from these mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the number exhibited in column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively, that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whewell's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. a.m. and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, in the 7 years ending December, 1847.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower;" than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 64.7, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 64.3; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 64.2 and 63.2 respectively.

The mean direction of the wind during the first four days was N.N.W., and it was afterwards variable, but principally from the East.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, Sept. 1st, 1849.

The following is a List of all the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa returned in the Week. It contains the sex (M. or F.), age, profession or occupation, duration of case, date of death, and the residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are nearly all certified by qualified Medical Practitioners. Their attention is called to the utility of mentioning whenever it occurs—the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used:—Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for Widow; cho., for cholera. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns are omitted in this list.

1.—KENSINGTON; St. John, Paddington.

M. 10 months, Son of groom, diarrhœa 8 days, hydrocephalus 3 days, 24 Aug. 16, Eastbourne Mews. Generally healthy.

F. 2, Da. of coachmaker, cho. 21 hours, 27 Aug. 72, Market street. Small houses in this street thickly inhabited.

F. 73 unknown, diarrhœa 14 days, 26 Aug. 21, Union place. Small houses in this place thickly inhabited.

F. 5, Da. of carpenter, diarrhœa 14 days, 27 Aug. 4, Bark place. Healthy.

F. 42, W. of clothier, diarrhœa 1 month, 29 Aug. 4, Bark place.

F. 42, laundress, diarrhœa and vomiting 12 hours, cholera, collapse 17 hours, 25th Aug. 80, Praed street.

F. 52, W. of bricklayer, cho. 12 hours, 20 Aug. 1, Chapel side.

M. 6 months, Son of gardener, diarrhœa 2 weeks, exhaustion, 30 Aug. 10, Poplar place. Small houses thickly inhabited.

F. 37, independent, hepatic disease, 2 days, cho. 30 Aug. 55, Cambridge street. Healthy.

2.—St. Mary, Paddington.

M. 7 months, Son of patent axletree turner, diarrhœa, which terminated in head symptoms, with convulsions, 26 Aug. 1, Craven place, Kensall road. The drainage bad, and house situated near the canal.

3.—Fulham.

M. 11 months, son of carter, diarrhœa, 3 weeks, 25 Aug. 3, Peterborough row, Parson's green. House ill ventilated, and over-crowded.

F. 5, Da. of labourer, diarrhœa, 14 days, exhaustion, 25 Aug. 2, Willow place. Cottages very dirty and ill-ventilated, the water not fit for domestic purposes.

F. 74, Wid. of coal dealer, cho. 26 hours, 27 Aug. Bridge street. One of a row of over crowded houses.

M. 50, watchman at market gardener's, cho. 10 hours, 27 Aug. Broomhouse cottages. One of a row of gardener's cottages, very near the Thames; deceased was a remarkably fine man, but had been out of employment for some time.

M. 11 months, son of police constable, diarrhœa 3 weeks, 23rd Aug. 33, Rectory place. A row of neat and comfortable cottages.

M. 46, labourer, cho. 20 hours, 31 Aug. 16, Star lane. The whole of this neighbourhood is in a most filthy condition, no drainage, dwellings unhealthy. Typhus and small-pox are often prevalent here. The informant states that the water that is used here is so bad, that it is often discoloured, and that the well is in the immediate vicinity of several cesspools.

M. 3, son of mason's labourer, cho. 15 hours, 31 Aug. 17, Star lane.

4.—Hammersmith, St. Paul's.

M. 37, waiter, cho. 22 hours, 26 Aug. Ship public house, Bridge-road. This man came from London ill, lodged at the public house, and died there; no connexion with Hammersmith.

M. 31, workman at a bleaching factory, cho. 7 hours, 28 Aug. Spring Vale Factory, Blythe lane.

The 4 following cases occurred in Margaret's Row, Brook green:—

F. 12, Da. of labourer, cho. 8 hours, 27 Aug. No. 7.

M. 4, Son of bleacher, cho. 15 hours, 28 Aug. No. 8.

M. 49, gardeur, cho. 36 hours, 28 Aug. No. 7.

F. 44, W. of labourer, cho. 24 hours, 28 Aug. No. 7.

In reference to the cases at Margaret's Row, Brook Green, Mr. Roy, the Registrar, states that "I was, conjointly with another practitioner, in attendance upon them all, and they were characterized by their extreme severity, and from the very commencement of the attack not allowing of a ray of hope as to their recovery, reminding me forcibly of the form of cholera which I have formerly witnessed in India.

"This Margaret's row consists of some 10 or 12 cottages, situated at the West end of Brook green, open in front to the Common, and having neat gardens behind; they are small and crowded, but the inhabitants are comfortable for their position in life. The owner of them lived amongst them in a large and commodious house—his death from cholera was reported last week, after about 15 hours illness—at that time no apparent cause could be given. The first case occurred on Monday last, at No. 7, a gardener, but he had been labouring previously under diarrhœa, but collapse had set in before he was visited, although it was almost immediately. About 3 p.m., a girl about 12 years; here collapse had likewise shown itself at the very commencement, and at about 11 p.m. the mother, who had been in attendance upon these two cases was likewise attacked, and became immediately collapsed. But perhaps the cases at No. 8, which occurred next morning, were still more rapid—father and child. The former worked at a bleaching factory close by, left his house about 6 a.m. in good health, had slept well, neither had been sick or purged, nor any other premonitory symptoms, and in about an hour is seized with all the most malignant symptoms, and at once shows the case as hopeless. The child at home is seized much about the same time, and dies almost as rapidly.

"A minute investigation into the probable cause of all this brings to light, that within 80 yards of these cottages, there is a most foul, filthy, and offensive ditch, containing a large quantity of black putrid matter. It is under the jurisdiction of the Commissioners of Sewers, and they have recently attempted to clean it out, but apparently without any good effect. It is worthy of observation that the direction of the wind on Sunday and Monday was directly over this ditch towards these houses. Complaints have been made as to the water, but although I have examined and tasted it, I do not perceive anything particular; it is without smell, and certainly not pleasant; but none of the occupants of the other houses, although they all use it, has been attacked. There is now one case at No. 7, but I think the woman will recover."

F. 65, Wid. a nurse, cho. 22 hours, 28 Aug. 22, Chapel street. An habitual drunkard; had been in attendance on a man and wife, who died of cholera a few days previously, but was intoxicated throughout, so much so as to be at last turned out of the house.

M. 2, Son of fisherman, cho. 2 days, 27 Aug. Lower Mall. No particular observation as to locality, except that it is close to the river.

F. 3, Da. of tobacconist, cho. 14 hours, 27 Aug. 99, King street. Parents in respectable circumstances; no particular observations as to locality.

5.—Hammersmith, St. Peter.

F. 19, laundress, cho. 12 hours, consecutive fever 3 days, 16 Aug. 12, Trafalgar street. The street in which these deaths occurred, is almost without drainage, the water during three fourths of the year lying 2 or 3 inches deep in the roadway. The houses are inhabited by very poor people, and are dirty, ill ventilated, and badly drained. This is one of the worst localities in this district.

F. 33, laundress, diarrhœa 2 months, cho. spasmodica, 5 days, 19 Aug. 12, Trafalgar street.

F. 2, Da. of laundress, diarrhœa and exhaustion 4 days, 19 Aug. 12, Trafalgar street.

F. 2, Da. of domestic servant, diarrhœa and exhaustion 4 days, 19 Aug. 12, Trafalgar street.

M. 8 months, Son of law stationer, diarrhœa 8 days, 27 Aug. 3, Brunswick cottages. This neighbourhood is unobjectionable. This child had been weakly from birth.

6.—Kensington Town.

M. 28, labourer, cho. 36 hours, 25 Aug. 5, Pembroke place. Over-crowded—four persons living and sleeping in the kitchen the man died in.

F. 29, Wid. of labourer, consecutive fever, 4 days, cho. 48 hours, 1 Sept. 5, Pembroke place. Widow of the man above.

F. 8, Da. of waterman, cho. 12 hours, 24 Aug. Potteries. In every respect unfavourable to health.

F. 13, Da. of a pig-dealer, cho. 19 hours, 26 Aug. Potteries.

M. 46, labourer, cho. 20 hours, 31 Aug. Potteries.

M. 70, publican, diarrhœa, 12 days, cho. 13 hours, 27 Aug. Potteries.

Refused medical aid during the attack of diarrhœa.

F. 74, Wid. of brickmaker, cho. 48 hours, 25 Aug. Potteries.

F. 61, Wid. of porter, diarrhœa, 5 days, cho. 17 hours, 28 Aug. Market court. Court close.

F. 72, W. of labourer, consecutive fever, 3 days, cho. 24 hours, 29 Aug. Uxbridge street. Generally healthy.

F. 17, Da. of coachmaker, deceased, cho. 36 hours, 29 Aug. 30, Newland street. Healthy.

F. 4 weeks, Da. of groom, atrophy from diarrhœa, 29 Aug. 27, Earl's street. Generally healthy.

F. 1, Da. of weaver, diarrhœa, 3 days, cho. 8 hours, 30 Aug. 30, Newland street. Healthy.

F. 74, Spinster (a lady), jaundice, diarrhœa, 29 Aug. Church street. Healthy.

M. 42, plasterer, cho. 24 hours, 31 Aug. 3, High street, Notting hill. Healthy. The deceased had been drinking hard the previous week; refused to have medical advice during severe attack of diarrhœa.

F. 77, Wid. of fishmonger, diarrhœa, 7 days, 29 Aug. 13, New street. Generally healthy.

F. 53, Wid. of soldier, cho. 36 hours, 31 Aug. 3, Trafalgar place. This woman was engaged as nurse to a person who died of cholera on the 25 Aug. It is stated she took home the clothes of deceased, and washed them, and died on the 31 Aug.

F. 50, W. of master stonemason, diarrhœa, with low fever, 29 Aug. Kensal green. Healthy.

7.—Brompton.

F. 75, Wid. of labourer, cho. 30 hours, 29 Aug. 9, New court, New street. New court is occupied by the lower orders, and much crowded. The informant stated, that a privy, common to 4 of the houses, and opposite to No. 9, was in an offensive state. The deceased's stated residence was in Little Ebury street, Ebury square; she was removed, at an early stage of the attack, to her son's abode in New court.

M. 7, Son of gentleman, cho. 12 hours, 1 Sept. 4, Selwood terrace. Situation healthy, very open, and airy.

M. 33, gentleman, monomania, diarrhœa, 6 days, congestion of the lungs, terminating in effusion, 27 Aug. COWPER HOUSE PRIVATE LUNATIC ASYLUM. Situation healthy.

8.—CHELSEA; South Chelsea.

F. 84, Wid. of musician, diarrhœa, 24 hours, 23 Aug. Belle Vue mews.

M. 3, child of turner, cho. 20 hours, 26 Aug. 5, Wellington buildings. Cul de sac.

M. 10, Son of turner, cho. 17 hours, 30 Aug. 8, Wellington buildings.

F. 62, Wid. cho. 21 hours, 29 Aug. 12, Wellington buildings.

M. 7, Son of labourer, cho. 27½ hours, 25 Aug. 7, Winks' buildings.

F. 31, W. of labourer, cho. 22 hours, 28 Aug. 2, Winks' buildings.

M. 31, out pensioner, diarrhœa 3 days, 29 Aug. 2, Winks' buildings.

F. 62, Wid. of butcher, diarrhœa, some days, cho. 12 hours, 25 Aug. 74, George street.

M. 77, shoemaker, diarrhœa, 2 days, coma, 24 hours, 28 Aug. 4, Dove court, Queen's road, east.

F. 7, child of labourer, cho. 15 hours, 29 Aug. 1, Lawrence yard, Queen's road, east.

M. 64, soldier, cho. 9 hours, 25 Aug. Royal Hospital.

F. 52, W. of soldier, diarrhœa, 4 days, 26 Aug. 27, Paradise walk.

F. 57, Widow, cho. 25 hours, 29 Aug. 69, George street.

M. 65, soldier, cho. 28 hours, 29 Aug. Royal Hospital.

M. 75, out pensioner, diarrhœa, 1 week, 1 Sept. Three Crowns, Queen's road, east.

M. 2, atrophy, 3 weeks, had cholera, but was previously wasting.

9.—Chelsea, North-west.

F. 63, Wid. diarrhœa, cho. 10 hours, 27 Aug. 26, Keppel street.

F. 15, Da. of labourer, scrofula, diarrhœa, 10 hours, cho. 6½ hours, 27 Aug. 16, Little College street. A very bad portion of my district.

F. 3, Da. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 29 Aug. 16, Little College street.

M. 51, labourer, cho. 24 hours, 1 Sept. 4, Little College street.

F. 19, domestic servant, cho. 16 hours, 28 Aug. 1, Manor terrace north.

M. 42, master butcher, cho. 1 hour, 28 Aug. 1, Bishop's place.

F. 40, Wid. of gentleman, cho. 13 hours, premonitory diarrhœa, 3 hours, 25 Aug. Thistle house, Little Chelsea.

F. 43, W. of grocer's assistant, cho. 14 hours, 29 Aug. 5, Waterloo terrace.

F. 19, W. of labourer, diarrhœa, 11 hours, cho. 17 hours, 26 Aug. 2, Marlboro' court. A close court.

M. 59, gentleman, diarrhœa slight, 14 days, cho. 5 days, 30 Aug. Hope cottage, Church street.

M. 33, master organ builder, premonitory diarrhœa, 4 hours, cho. 10 hours, 31 Aug. Grove house.

The following 5 cases occurred in ST. GEORGE'S WORKHOUSE.

F. 50, Spinster (servant), cho. no previous diarrhœa, 26 Aug.

F. 52, Wid. choleric diarrhœa, 12 days, fever, 8 days, 24 Aug.

F. 46, unknown, diseased brain, diarrhœa, cho. 18 hours, 26 Aug.

F. 17, servant, diarrhœa, cho. 24 hours, 27 Aug.

M. 26, labourer, cho. convulsions, 29 Aug.

10.—Chelsea, North-east.

M. 33, helper in stable, cho. 7 hours, 24 Aug. 7, Charles Mews. An unpleasant smell, as though from the drains, pervading the house for some days, but no defect found which would account for it, although the house was visited by the Officers of the Board of Health. In clearing the house, or room, after the deaths, some putrid meat was found in such a state of decomposition that none of the stable men would remove it, and a shilling was given to some man to take it away.

M. 2, Son of above, cho. 2 days, 24 Aug. 7, Charles Mews.

M. 3 months, Son of coachmaker, diarrhœa, 26 Aug. Cumberland street.

M. 11 months, Son of labourer, diarrhœa, 8 days, 28 Aug. 6, Terrace court.

Cul de sac.

M. 5 months, Son of journeyman carpenter, mesenteric disease, 2 months, diarrhœa, 3 weeks, 31st Aug. 5, Moore street. Very open but near a cemetery, which is a Catholic one, and not many interments.

11.—ST. GEORGE, HANOVER SQUARE; Hanover square.

F. 5 weeks, Da. of master butcher, diarrhœa, 2 days, 26 Aug. 8, Thomas street. The mother of this child died on the 23d of August, of cholera, at 6, Gilbert street, from which house the child was brought, being affected with diarrhœa.

F. 45, W. of stableman, typhus, 7 days, following cho. 24 hours, 27 Aug. 26, Robert street. Premonitory diarrhoea present; her husband has since been affected with cholera, said to have been poor and out of employment.

M. 39, butler, cho. 3 days, delirium tremens, 28, Aug. 5, Carpenter street Mount street. Habitual diarrhoea. No complaint of want of ventilation.

M. 3 weeks, Son of coachman, diarrhoea hydrocephalus, 29 Aug. 42, Thomas street. Houses in this street are for the most part thickly inhabited.

12 ————— Mayfair. No cholera.

13 ————— Belgrave.

F. 33, W. of servant, cho. 16 hours, 25 Aug. 27, Caroline street.
F. 43, W. of bootmaker, cho. 17 hours, 27 Aug. 2, Eccleston street, East. This person nursed an elderly lady who died of cholera in this district on the 26th July last, and she complained of not having felt well since.

M. 48, coachman, cho. 15 hours, 28 Aug. Edwards's livery yard, Kinnerton street.
F. 65, W. of butler, cho. 17 hours, 27 Aug. 8, Passmore street.

M. 48, servant, cho. 7 days, 29 Aug. 21, Wilton terrace.
M. 35, carpenter, cho. 27 hours, 30 Aug. 8, Buckingham place. This man was at work on a lead flat, at a house in Regent street, near Oxford street, and feeling upset from the smell of a cowyard close by, said he should ask to go into the shop to work; he however went home, was taken ill in the afternoon with cholera, and died the next day.

M. 1, Son of butcher, diarrhoea, 24 hours, convulsions, 30 hours, 31 Aug. 23, Warwick street.

F. 64, Spinster, charwoman, cho. 31 Aug. 2, Ebury gardens.

F. 37, W. of omnibus conductor, diarrhoea, 12 hours, cho. 18 hours, 31 Aug. 23, Westbourne street.

14—WESTMINSTER; St. John.

F. 22, W. of stone Sawyer, cho. 18 hours, 27 Aug. 143, Regent street.

F. 1 month, Da. of tailor, diarrhoea, 4 days, no breast milk from birth, 29 Aug. 96, Regent street.

F. 63, W. of warder, Millbank prison, cho. 4 days, 30 Aug. 181, Regent street.

F. 36, W. of carpenter, diarrhoea, cho. 3 days, 29 Aug. 143, Regent street.

F. 58, Wid. of miller, diarrhoea, 18 hours, cho. 12 hours, 31 Aug. 94, Regent street.

F. 65, W. of carpenter, diarrhoea, 2 days, cho. 12 hours, 28 Aug. 145, Regent street.

F. 73, Wid. of grocer, cho. 36 hours, 25 Aug. 34, Great Tufton street.

M. 3, Son of tinplate worker, cho. with consecutive fever, 3 days, 29 Aug. 34, Great Tufton street.

F. 87, Wid. of upholsterer, old age, diarrhoea, 5 days, 27 Aug. 10, Great Tufton street.

F. 3, Da. of labourer, diarrhoea, 5 days, typhoid fever, 3 days, 24 Aug. 8, John's buildings, St. Ann street.

F. 4, Da. of soldier, cho. 12 hours, 27 Aug. 12, Douglas street.

M. 24, prisoner, formerly agricultural labourer, cho. 16 hours, 28 Aug. MILLBANK PRISON.

F. 31, W. of stonemason, diarrhoea, cho. 36 hours, 29 Aug. 14, Dorset street.

M. 4, Son of labourer, cho. 2 days, 31 Aug. 14, Dorset street.

F. 64, W. of porter, cho. 10 hours, 27 Aug. 14, Market street.

M. 30, gentleman, diarrhoea, 7 days, 29 Aug. 9, North street.

F. 83, W. of hush maker, cho. 22 hours, 29 Aug. 45, Hyde place, Vincent square.

M. 2, Son of servant, diarrhoea, 5 days, 28 Aug. Emery Hill's school, Rochester row.

F. 25, Spinster, cho. 10 hours, 29 Aug. 4, Johnson street.

F. 61, Wid. of smith, cho. 12 hours, 29 Aug. 4, Johnson street.

F. 72, Wid. of labourer, cho. 24 hours, without medical aid, 28 Aug. 13, Great Peter street.

M. 47, general dealer, cho. 12 hours, no premonitory diarrhoea, 31 Aug. 15, Lower Garden street.

F. 7 months, Da. of miller, choleraic diarrhoea, 4 days, 28 Aug. James's court, St. Ann street. This court consists of 4 houses, the situation of which is very low; they are ill-ventilated and exceedingly dirty, being inhabited by abandoned females and travellers of the lowest degree.

F. 7 months, Da. of miller, cho. 3 days, 29 Aug. 3, James court, St. Ann street.

F. 52, Wid. of merchant's clerk, cho. 18 hours, 25 Aug. 1, Douglas street.

M. 2, Son of carpenter, cho. 12 hours, 27 Aug. 9, Douglas street. The mother stated that this child had diarrhoea for nearly a month, but did not apply for relief considering it to be caused by its teeth; and I may add that this case is one of many which have fallen under my notice when cholera has been induced in young children by neglecting the premonitory diarrhoea for a long period before the more urgent symptoms appear, believing it to be beneficial for the child during the period of dentition.

F. 29, W. of engineer, diarrhoea, 24 hours, cho. 12 hours, 28 Aug. 32, Douglas st.

F. 10, Da. of pianoforte maker, diarrhoea 24 hours, 27 Aug. 16, Douglas street.

F. 5, Da. of hackney carriage waterman, cho. 18 hours, 29 Aug. 31, Douglas street.

F. 50, Spinster, diarrhoea, 24 hours, cho. 6 hours, 27 Aug. 12, Douglas street.

F. 61, Wid. of carpenter, cho. 14 hours, 28 Aug. 8, Douglas street.

F. 6, Da. of carpenter, diarrhoea, 24 hours, cho. 9 hours, 30 Aug. 35, Douglas street.

M. 27, labourer, cho. 24 hours, 28 Aug. 15, Douglas street. Of the 14 deaths which occurred in Douglas street, 11 took place on the south, or lower side. The houses consist either of three or four rooms, but are situated so low, that for the most part there is a descent of one or two steps from the foot pavement to the entrance passage. The drainage is extremely defective, and several of the occupants complain of the nuisance from the laundresses throwing their dirty soap-suds into the street, leaving continually black stagnant puddles along the gutter in front of these very houses even in the driest weather.

M. 58, tailor, cho. 13 hours, 30 Aug. 13, Douglas street.

F. 33, W. of brewer's servant, cho. 18 hours, 29 Aug. 16, Douglas street.

M. 37, waterman, cho. 7 hours, 28 Aug. 7, Douglas street.

F. 2, Da. of labourer, diarrhoea 3 days, cho. 2 days, 1 Sept. 12, Douglas street.

M. 9, Son of plumber, cho. 14 hours, 29 Aug. 5, Emery's cottages, Douglas street. Emery's cottages are on the north side of Douglas street. They consist chiefly of rooms on the ground floor, badly drained and ventilated. The privies are situated immediately in front of each, while in those where the two deaths occurred I found the doors, which were swinging to and fro, closely approximating the entrance of the dwellings. The odour was then very offensive, and one of the informants expressed herself in strong terms, saying, she was frequently obliged to burn rag of a night to correct the stench. Two other cases have occurred in this house, who are convalescent, and the occupier complains bitterly of the nuisances arising from the defective drainage.

M. 40, carpenter, diarrhoea, 36 hours, cho. 24 hours, 29 Aug. 3, Emery's cottages.

F. 11, Da. of pianoforte maker, cho. 17 hours, 27 Aug. 2, Providence terrace, Vauxhall bridge road.

F. 45, W. of painter, cho. 29 hours, 28 Aug. 67, Lillington street.

F. 27, W. of labourer, cho. 48 hours, 23 Aug. 1, Gulston's cottages. The cottages in which these five deaths took place are not only confined and ill cleansed, but are situated extremely low, being two or three feet below the paving of the street, by which the court is entered, and all the informants complain of the annoyances they receive from occasional large collections of dung in a yard occupied by a Mr. Harper, upon which offal, bad fish, and vegetables are thrown by the neighbouring costermongers, and allowed to putrify, while from my own knowledge, this place has frequently been the scene of typhus and small-pox.

F. 9, Da. of labourer, cho. 17 hours, 27 Aug. 3, Gulston's cottages.

M. 6, Son of labourer, cho. 20 hours, 28 Aug. 3, Gulston's cottages.

F. 9, Da. of labourer, cho. 14 hours, 27 Aug. 5, Gulston's cottages.

M. 4, Son of labourer, cho. 3 days, 30 Aug. 5, Gulston's cottages.

M. 2, Son of labourer, cho. 26 hours, 28 Aug. 1, Causton cottages. This cottage leads from Gulston's cottages, therefore participates in the same nuisances, but its situation and cleanliness is a little improved.

F. 65, W. of gardener, cho. 16 hours, 26 Aug. 1, Edward street.

M. 54, tailor, cho. 11 hours, 27 Aug. 10, Chapter street.

M. 32, labourer, diarrhoea 16 hours, cho. 8 hours, 28 Aug. 9, Upper Garden street.

M. 7, Son of stone mason, cho. 8 hours, 27 Aug. 14, Dorset street. This house, in which one man has lost all his family, viz., his wife and two children, and another, one child, consists of six rooms, not by any means in a confined situation. It appears cleanly and well supplied with water; but the occupier says there are two gratings in the yard from which stench arises, and the drain which carries off the soil from the privy in the yard runs under the house, but is defective.

M. 8, Son of stone mason, cho. 24 hours, 27 Aug. 14, Dorset street.

18—ST. JAMES, WESTMINSTER; Berwick Street.

F. 55, W. of gunsmith, cho. 24 hours, 26 Aug. Rupert street. Of very intemperate habits, lived in what is called a gallery, over workshops and other out-houses unfavourable to health. One large cesspool in the yard without drainage, with two privies for the use of all the inmates. The landlord assured me that a communication with the sewer in the street should be made next week.

M. 37, tailor, cho. 9½ hours, 29 Aug. 2, Richmond street. Said to be of temperate habits.

M. 51, waiter, cho. 24 hours, 28 Aug. 16, Noel street. No apparent local cause.

19 ————— Golden Square.

F. 8, Da. of shoemaker, cho. 24 hours, fever 3 days, 25 Aug. 4, South row, Golden square. I have visited these premises, and the offensive privy which I reported on the 14 Aug. has been attended to and no longer exists.

M. 39, ironmonger, cho. 14 hours, subject to diarrhoea and bleeding piles, 29 Aug. 7, Canaby street. No local cause assignable.

F. 53, Wid. of porter, cho. 14 hours, suffering many years from diarrhoea, 31 Aug. 33, Little Windmill street. Informant and medical attendant says the stench from the cesspool, drain, and dust-hole is most offensive, and was a powerful incentive to this death.

20 ————— St. James's square.

F. 5, Da. of labourer, cho. 24 hours, fever 5 days, 9, Smith's court, Great Windmill street. Bad locality. I have, by visiting the house, ascertained that neither in this or the adjoining one is there any privy or closet, and that the inmates throw the excrement into the street.

F. 55, Spinster, neglected diarrhoea, 48 hours, cho. 14 hours, 8, Park place, Saint James's street. Healthy locality.

F. 74, Wid. of undertaker, cho. 187a Piccadilly. Healthy locality. "This lady had been ailing for a long period previously."—Informant.

F. 4, Da. of labourer, cho. 6, Angel court, King street. Bad locality. "The houses in Angel court (and particularly where deceased's family live) are very filthy, the rooms small and over-peopled, and the walls and floors saturated with dirt and nastiness."

M. 63, clerk to news-vender, cho. 73, Jermyn street. Healthy locality. "This person had been unwell for a considerable period previous to the present attack."—Informant.

21—MARYLEBONE; All Souls.

F. 73, Wid. of tailor, cho. 24 hours, 22 Aug. 17, Buckingham place. Not an unhealthy locality. She was very infirm, and in a bad state of health.

M. 11 months, Son of mattress maker, cho. 48 hours, 25 Aug. 6, Upper Rathbone place. This may be called a neglected and dirty street, consequently unhealthy to a certain degree; the houses also are far too numerous inhabited.

F. 50, independent, atrophied, 6 months, cho. 10 hours, 26 Aug. 23, Great Portland street. A very open and healthy street. In a delicate state of health.

F. 42, W. of turner, cho. 30 hours, 28 Aug. 22, Union street. A densely populated, dirty, and unhealthy street, occupied exclusively by the poorer classes. Intemperance and uncleanness prevail.

F. 57, W. of milkman, cho. 6 days, 30 Aug. 1, Saville street. I consider this an unhealthy street, it being badly drained, dirty, and densely populated.

The following 6 cases occurred in the MIDDLESEX HOSPITAL:—

M. 5, Son of cabinet maker, cho. 7 hours, 29 Aug. Gresse street, Rathbone place. This lad's father died from cholera on 30 Aug. (the next case.) This is the second death in the week in cholera from Gresse street, which is thickly populated by the poorer classes; rather confined and dirty. This was considered at the hospital as an exceedingly bad case.

M. 27, plasterer, cho. 36 hours, 29 Aug. 26, Endell street, St. Giles's. Too thickly populated, and the habits of its inhabitants too dirty to be healthy.

M. 25, servant, cho. 13 hours, 28 Aug. Edward street, Regent's park.

M. 40, cabinet maker, cho. 12 hours, 30 Aug. Gresse street, Rathbone place. Thickly populated by the poorer classes, rather confined and dirty.

M. 60, a hawker of tea, coffee, &c. for some years, not being strong enough for manual labour, cho. 18 hours, 30 Aug. 4, Eden street, Regent street.

M. 7, son of soldier, cho. 6 hours, 30 Aug. Edward street, Regent's park. On the 29th of Aug. this lad visited an elder brother, "a convalescent cholera patient" in Middlesex Hospital. This is the third case of cholera (during this week) brought to the Hospital from Edward street, Regent's park.

22—Cavendish Square.

26—St. John.

F. 5, Da. of labourer, cho. 8 hours, 25 Aug. 17, Townshend cottages. The privy was full to overflowing for more than a week previous to its being emptied, on which day the child was taken ill.

M. 1, Son of labourer, diarrhoea 3 weeks, 26 Aug. 23, Upper Carlisle street. Small houses, thickly inhabited.

F. 76, Wid. of painter, cho. 12 hours, 25 Aug. 6, Alms houses. State of houses good.

F. 57, W. of a haker, diarrhoea, 25 Aug. 20, Capland street. Small houses, thickly inhabited.

M. 88, formerly a colonel in the army, cho. 12 hours, 27 Aug. Avenue road. State of street good.

F. 41, W. of hawker, diarrhoea, 29 Aug. 23, Nightingale street. Thickly inhabited, principally by the poorer class of Irish, small houses.

M. 68, formerly a milkman, cho. 30 hours, 31 Aug. 70, High street. At the house of a marine store dealer, rags, bones, &c.

27—PANCRA; Tottenham Court.

M. 2, Son of policeman, fever, 4 days, cho. 2 days, 26 Aug. 81, Charlotte street. The water closet in the house has been for a long time out of repair, causing much effluvia.

M. 49, coffee house keeper, cho. 10 hours, 27 Aug. 21, Tottenham court road. Drainage very bad, a slaughter house adjoining, and a tall uelter in the rear.

F. 62, W. of tailor, cho. consequent upon weak health, 20½ hours, 24 Aug. 6, Little Gower place.

F. 45, W. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 29 Aug. 8, Gresse street. This house was over crowded, the drains very bad; three other persons from same place have died during the week at Middlesex Hospital. The landlord does not reside there, but lets out each room to weekly tenants.

F. 88, Wid. of sawyer, diarrhoea, 6 weeks, 25 Aug. 6, Little Gower place.

F. 47, Wid. of Weaver, cho. 10 hours, 29 Aug. 4, Gresse street. Very crowded.

28—Grays Inn Lane.

F. 29, W. of licensed victualler, cho. 15½ hours, 24 Aug. 83, Guildford street. The street is one of the cleanest in my District; another person has also been attacked with the malady.

M. 2, Son of labourer, cho. 10 hours, 25 Aug. 11, Chad's place. The inhabitants of this house sometimes experience had smells from the drains, but only in the summer.

M. 1, Son of solicitor's clerk, diarrhoea, 3 days, 26 Aug. 35, Liverpool street. The house is perfectly clean, and the street is considered one of the healthiest and best drained in the neighbourhood.

M. 53, doctor of divinity, cho. 18 hours, 25 Aug. 39, Argyle square.

F. 19, W. of engineer, cho. 18 hours, 27 Aug. 17, Wood street. The street in which this death occurred is very dirty and crowded, and occasionally the stench from the drains is almost intolerable.

F. 17 weeks, Da. of dentist, diarrhoea, 3 days, 28 Aug. 33, Hastings street. The street is always kept clean.

F. 41, W. of milkman, cho. secondary fever, 3 weeks, 30 Aug. 24, Chichester place. The drainage of this place is the best in my district, and I might venture to say, in the Parish of St. Pancras.

F. 54, Wid. of servant, cho. 32 hours, collapse 24 hours, 31 Aug. 9, Colonnade. The house is neither over crowded nor badly drained, but the informant stated that deceased was very much afraid of the epidemic. A person died next door to it a week ago.

M. 2, Son of grocer, diarrhoea, 3 days, 29 Aug. 49, Britannia street. This is an exceedingly dirty street, very much crowded, and I have every reason to believe badly drained.

M. 42, chimney sweep, diarrhoea, 2 days, cho. 6 hours, 31 Aug. 21, Sidmouth Mews. The informant stated that deceased was very clean in his person, and that there was nothing to complain of either as regards the house or drains.

The 8 following cases occurred in the ROYAL FREE HOSPITAL:—

 F. 51, W. of independent person, debility, 2 weeks, diarrhoea, 12 hours, exhaustion, 2½ days, 23 Aug. Regent House, New North road. Pigs are kept up a yard in the neighbourhood of this house.
 M. 1, Son of tobacconist, cho. 10 hours, 27 Aug. 1, Fort street, Highbury vale. This child came from Lambeth, supposed with cholera, but on viewing the premises I find 4 houses with but 2 privies, the latter communicating but very incompletely with a black open ditch or sewer running across the bottom of the garden. The smell very offensive.
 M. 1, Son of labourer, debility and diarrhoea, 1 month, 27 Aug. 6, Brunswick grove, Hornsey road. A poor neighbourhood.
 F. 38, W. of labourer, cho. 24 hours, 27 Aug. 45, Windsor street. Along the back of this street runs a ditch or drain partially filled up; the privies of some of the houses are warm from the coppers in the washhouses being set next to them; this draws in the smell, which is very offensive at times.
 F. 57, Spinster, independent, cho. 13 hours, 27 Aug. 6, Lower terrace. A lane running up the end of this terrace is closely inhabited, badly drained, and often unhealthy.—Fletcher's place and Duddy's rents.
 M. 3 months, Son of navigator, diarrhoea and convulsions from birth, teething, 26 Aug. 4, Queen's road, Holloway.
 M. 57, hop merchant, premonitory diarrhoea, 12 hours, cho. 13 hours, 22 Aug. 7, Popham terrace. House damp; an open sewer in the neighbourhood.
 F. 41, child bed linen manufacturer, cho. 16 hours, 31 Aug. 11, Popham terrace.
 F. 20, W. of town traveller, cho. 24 hours, 27 Aug. 45, Cross street.
 F. 25, Da. of master baker, cho. 4 days, 29 Aug. 9, Shepperton place, New North road.
 F. 43, W. of labourer, cho. 13 hours, 30 Aug. 2, Elder walk.
 F. 50, Spinster, staymaker, diarrhoea, 7 days, 22 Aug. 2, Cox's court, City road. Death at No. 2 in this court, 30 Aug. diarrhoea, 7 days.

 M. 3 months, Son of baker, diarrhoea, 1 week, 31 Aug. 25, Lower street.
 F. 2, Da. of labourer, cho. 26 hours, congestion of the brain, 31 Aug. 12, Arundel terrace, Ball's pond. Since the 14th Aug. I have registered from this man's family and that of his brother—M. 3, pneu., M. 9, cho. F. 5 months, diarrhoea, M. 32, cho., M. 8 months, cho., M. 2, diarrhoea, and 2 more of the family have died out of my district.
 M. 17, labourer, cho. 10 hours, 31 Aug. The Cottage, Brand street, Holloway, A brother, attacked previously, has recovered under the unremitting attention of his surgeon. From the construction of this house, the informant states that proper ventilation is at present unattainable.
 F. 14, Da. of sawyer, cho. 15 hours, 31 Aug. 10, Rutland place or terrace, Hornsey road. The informant complains of the filthy state of this house, and of the offensive smell from a drain at No. 1.
 Total No. of deaths week ending 25 Aug. 38; of which cho. 12, diarrhoea, 8, other causes, 18. Total No. of deaths week ending 1 Sept. 25; of which cho. 12, diarrhoea, 6, other causes, 7. More Patients have been sent to the Free Hospital, and some cases have terminated fatally.—Registrar.

 F. 11, Da. of labourer, cho. 27 hours, 30 Aug.

41—St. Giles, North.

F. 63, W. of sawyer, decay of nature, diarrhoea, 3 days, 22, Tower street. House close and overcrowded, with an offensive smell from the drains, being at a cats' meat shop.
 M. 5 months, Son of labourer, cho. 3 days, 2, Tobin's court. A narrow, confined court, with little ventilation.
 M. 2, Son of labourer, diarrhoea, 3, New street. There are only 3 or 4 houses, which are overcrowded with poor Irish families, several of whom have been attacked with cholera and diarrhoea. The street being closed at one end by Meux's brewery, prevents a free circulation of air.
 M. 22, bricklayer, cho. 20 hours, 27, Church lane.
 F. 70, Spinster, cho. 31 hours, 14, Phoenix street.
 M. 70, tailor, diarrhoea, 2 days, 27, Little Earl street.
 M. 2, Son of musician, cho. 28 hours, 4, Tower street.
 M. 54, labourer, diarrhoea, not certified, 25, Bainbridge street. This case was buried (without being registered) at Spafields chapel.
 F. 39, W. of fishmonger's porter, cho. 1 day, 35, Great St. Andrew street.
 F. 2, Da. of fishmonger's porter, cho. 22 hours, 35, Great St. Andrew street.
 F. 29, W. of artist's colourman, chronic gastritis, diarrhoea, 24 hours, 14, Alfred place.

Mr. Simpson, the Registrar, remarks that "the deaths in his district have increased from 9 last week to 17 this, ending Saturday, Sept. 1; of which 11 were from cholera and diarrhoea. Although the number of deaths from all causes is more than three times the number in the corresponding week of last year, yet the epidemic in Church lane, St. Giles's, is on the decline, and it is quite certain that it arises from the sanitary efforts which have been employed in cleansing and whitewashing, and the feeding of the poor Irish families who inhabit these miserable lodging houses. In Tower street several fatal cases of cholera have occurred. The houses are densely populated and badly ventilated, and the inhabitants complain bitterly of a sewer, which receives the blood and offal from a butcher's shop in the street, as also the refuse from a tripe shop at the corner of Lumber court. It is constantly emitting the most poisonous exhalations to the whole neighbourhood. At 35, Great St. Andrew street, the wife of a fishmonger's porter died from cholera; the following day a child 2 years old expired, and the nurse who attended on the wife is since dead. The husband was also attacked with cholera, and has been removed to the workhouse. The room the family occupied was always close, with a strong effluvia of stale fish, arising, no doubt, from the drying of sole skins. The houses are densely populated, and the locality is not one of the most healthy, as it adjoins Dudley street and Seven Dials."

42—St. George, Bloomsbury.

M. 30, coachman, diarrhoea, 5 days, cho. 18 hours, 28 Aug. 17, Brunswick mews. This mews is without a current of air passing through it, and generally dirty, and much vegetable and other decayed matter lying about.
 M. 78, shoe maker, cho. 24 hours, collapse 19 hours, 44, Kenton street. The place or tenement in which the deceased resided is through a passage and behind the front house, like many others on the Foundling estate, and similar to one in Marchmont street, where a case of cholera lately occurred.

43—STRAND; St. Clement Danes.

F. 2, Da. of compositor, diarrhoea, 3 days, 25 Aug. 9, Crown court. Crowded, close court, extending from the Strand to Little Shire lane, which is a filthy and low quarter.
 F. 78, Wid. of waterman, diarrhoea, 5 days, 27 Aug. 6, Grange court. Grange court terminates in Clement's lane.

M. 45, theatrical tailor, cho. 30 hours, 27 Aug. Clement's Inn chambers. Situate at the Strand entrance of Clement's lane.

M. 1 month, Son of carman, diarrhoea, 6 days, convulsions, 27 Aug. 27, Stanhope street. In a house annexed to a currier's yard. The stench much complained of in the neighbourhood.

F. 56, W. of porter, cho. 3 days, 29 Aug. 14, Serle street. House and street in every respect healthy. The kitchen in which deceased slept damp and underground, and (as the doctor's certificate states) "needs cleaning out."

F. 37, W. of glass cutter, cho. 17 hours, 30 Aug. 10, Milford lane. The filthy house and district reported on last week. There is a privy on the first floor, and the stench is intolerable.

The 2 following cases occurred in KING'S COLLEGE HOSPITAL:—
M. 41, turner, cho. 17 hours, 30 Aug. 27, Eagle street, Holborn. A densely populated street. (Further particulars unknown to Hospital informant.)

M. 21, labourer, cho. 3 days, 30 Aug. 6, Cromwell place. A low, dirty, crowded court, opening into Little Shire lane, and terminating in a "cul de sac." Drainage had and offensive.

44—St. Mary le Strand.

M. 37, builder, cho. 3½ hours, 28 Aug. 41, Bow street, St. Paul, Covent garden. F. 77, W. of publisher, diarrhoea, 1 week, debility, 26 Aug. 14, Great Russell street, Covent garden.

F. 48, W. of porter, typhus fever, cho. 27 Aug. 1, Francis court. St. Paul, Covent garden.

45—St. Anne, Soho.

F. 34, W. of journeyman bookbinder, cho. 8 hours, 27 Aug. 5, Falconberg court, in a cellar. House close, ill cleansed, over crowded. Irish lodging house.

F. 34, W. of journeyman hootmaker, cho. 26 hours, 28 Aug. 20 Litchfield street. Open street. A female died in same house of cholera on Aug. 19.

M. 1, Son of a porter, chronic diarrhoea, 26 Aug. 10, Meard's court. This court is densely populated.

M. 31, painter, diarrhoea, 5 days, cho. 24 hours, 13 Aug. 95, Dean street. Open street. House let out to lodgers. Man of intemperate habits.

The following 6 cases occurred in houses in open streets:—

F. 61, dress maker, hydrothorax and chronic inflammation of the lungs many years, diarrhoea, 3 weeks, 28 Aug. 40, Dean street.—p.m.

F. 59, needlewoman, cho. 12 hours, 31 Aug. 425, Oxford street.

M. 11 months, Son of cabinet maker, phthisis, 5 months, pneumonia, 10 days, diarrhoea, 5 days, 31 Aug. 23, Wardour street.

M. 2, Son of servant, diarrhoea, 4 days, cho. 36 hours, 1 Sept. 23, Great Chapcl street.

F. 34, Da. of bookbinder, cho. 11 hours, 30 Aug. 10, Great Newport street.

M. 5, Son of bookbinder, cho. 21 hours, 30 Aug. 10, Great Newport street.

M. 8, Son of journeyman tailor, cho. 18 hours, 1 Sept. 8, Princes row. House all let out to lodgers, and close to a slaughter house.

43—47.—HOLBORN; St. George the Martyr and St. Andrew, Western.

F. 38, W. of porter, diarrhoea, typhus, 11 days, 22 Aug. 12, Dean street. House clean, but no back yard.

M. 49, master hatcher, abscesses, 3 months, consecutive fever, 3 days, cho. 2 days, 22 Aug. 39, Red Lion street. Healthy neighbourhood.

M. 2, Son of journeyman cabinet maker, diarrhoea 1 week, cho. 17 hours, 27 Aug. 1, Eagle court, Eagle street. A very close court, without a thoroughfare, consisting of three houses. The drainage is very bad.

F. 43, W. of farmer, cho. 15 hours, 30 Aug. 41, Eagle street, Red Lion square. Airy house, good yard, and well drained.

F. 21, W. of compositor, diarrhoea 1 day, cho. 2 days, 1 Sept. 28, Eagle street, Holborn. As above.

48—St. Andrew, Eastern.

The following 4 deaths occurred in the HOLBORN WORKHOUSE:—
M. 3, Son of Wid. cho. 30 hours, 27 Aug. from 3, Pheasant court, Grays inn lane.

F. 62, W. of picture frame maker, cho. 30 hours, 29 Aug. from Onslow street, Vine street, Hatton garden.

F. 33, Wid. cho. 24 hours, 29 Aug. Inmate.

F. 73, Wid. cho. 30 Aug. Inmate.

F. 55, exhaustion, one previous attack of diarrhoea, phlegmon.

F. 9 months, diarrhoea, 3 weeks, convulsions, 7 days.

49—Saffron Hill.

F. 50, Wid. of shoemaker, cho. 18 hours, 31 Aug. 20, Union court, Saffron hill. I am informed the stench from the privy of this house is sometimes very offensive.

50—CLERKENWELL; Pentonville.

F. 10 weeks, Da. of confectioner, diarrhoea 14 days, 27 Aug. 19, Winchester cottages.

M. 21, labourer, cho. 14 hours, 30 Aug. 2, Field court.

51—Amwell.

M. 64, carpenter, diarrhoea 9 days, congestion of brain 4 days, 46, Penton place. One of the most open and airy streets in the parish.

52—Goswell street.

M. 58, overseer in a printing office, cho. 11 hours, 25 Aug. 10, Myddleton square.

F. 41, W. of printer, diarrhoea, 2 days, cho. 24 hours, 25 Aug. 2, Owen's row.

M. 74, harrister's clerk, cho. 19 hours, 26 Aug. 66, Goswell road.

M. 71, watchmaker, diarrhoea, 1 day, cho. 12 hours, 26 Aug. 149, St. John's street road.

M. 76, watchmaker, cho. 24 hours, 26 Aug. 14, Market street.

F. 70, Da. of printer, diarrhoea, 1 day, cho. 2 days, 29 Aug. 2, Owen's row.

F. 7, Wid. of general dealer, cho. 30 hours, 28 Aug. 6, Spencer place. Her general habits were cleanly; but she was lying on a bed, the head of which was against a wall, saturated with moisture from an adjoining privy or water-closet.

I was informed that this had been the case for a long time, and although complaints had been made to the landlord, nothing had been done to remedy the nuisance, the stench from which was at times intolerable.

53—St. James.

F. 66, Wid. of baker, exhaustion, 2 weeks, coma, 2 days, cho. 26 Aug. 26, King street. Was attacked at Holloway, and brought to King street, where she died.

M. 44, master printer, cho. 16 hours, 25 Aug. 10, Ray street.

F. 86, Wid. diarrhoea and general decay, 26 Aug. inmate of FRENCH HOSPITAL.

F. 27, Spuister, artificial flower maker, cho. 36 hours, 26 Aug. 2, Little Mitchell street. House confined and badly ventilated.

F. 61, W. of journeyman printer, cho. 43 hours, 29 Aug. 10, Mitchell street. No sewer in this street; diarrhoea, unattended for several days.

M. 6, Son of brewer's servant, diarrhoea, 28 Aug. 2, Little Galway street. No sewer in this street; close to the burial ground.

M. 58, coal heaver, cho. 29 hours, 29 Aug. 2, Nelson passage. Confined and dirty houses in a narrow court.

M. 44, master brewer, diarrhoea 9 days, cho. 40 hours, 29 Aug. 47, York street.

M. 49, master painter, diarrhoea uncertain; suppression of urine, 50 hours, 28 Aug. 65, Bath street.

M. 35, journeyman copper-plate maker, cho. 12 hours, 30 Aug. 19, Norman's buildings. This place is very badly drained.

M. 80, labourer, diarrhoea 3 weeks, exhaustion, old age, 28 Aug. 5, York road.

M. 69, journeyman watch maker, cho. 5 days, 30 Aug. 13, Pool terrace.

58—EAST LONDON; St. Botolph.

F. 65, Wid. of watchman, diarrhoea, 3 hours, cho. 22 hours, 25 Aug. Half Moon street, Bishopsgate. The deceased had been very much intoxicated previous to the attack, and was found destitute of bedding and clothing. The house is ill cleansed and unfavourable to health.

M. 4, Son of journeyman silk weaver, diarrhoea, 3 days, cho. 1 day, 24 Aug. 37, Half Moon street, Bishopsgate. The house is very old, crowded and unfavourable to health. Four deaths from cholera took place in this street last week, 3 at No. 38, 1 at No. 35.

F. 52, W. of milkman, diarrhoea, 10 hours, cho. 11 hours, 25 Aug. 81, Sun street, Bishopsgate. She had been attending on her son who came home ill from his master's (Foundry street, Bethnal green) who was then dangerously ill from cholera; the son, in consequence of the mother being attacked, was sent to Bartholomew's Hospital. House drained and cleansed.

M. 21, journeyman carver, diarrhoea, 2 days, cho. 9 hours, 26 Aug. 5, Blyth's buildings, Bishopsgate. House drained and cleansed.

M. 74, labourer, cho. 9 hours, 26 Aug. 5, Seven Step alley, Aldgate. The house is close and unfavourable to health, the room in which the deceased died is about 8 feet by 6, with 6 or 8 persons (adults) living together; the wife was sent to Bartholomew's Hospital and died there; a son also was sent to the same Hospital during the week, and is likely to recover; last week a grandchild died of cholera in the same room.

M. 36, hatter, cho. 12 hours, 26 Aug. 8, Widegate street, Bishopsgate. House recently drained and cleansed, not over crowded.

M. 11, Son of lighterman, (deceased) cho. 9 hours, 27 Aug. 7, Little Somerset street, Aldgate. The house is cleansed and drained. The mother of the deceased died of cholera last week at the same house; an Inquest was held on the body on the 29th.

F. 41, W. of fish dryer, diarrhoea, 5 days, cho. 16 hours, 28 Aug. 13, Baker's buildings, Bishopsgate. The house not overcrowded; there is an open cesspool used for the 2 houses, at times very offensive.

M. 57, egg dealer, cho. 18 hours, 28 Aug. 133, Hounsditch, Aldgate. Drained and cleansed; the deceased had been in ill health previous to the attack.

M. 6, Son of charwoman, diarrhoea, cho. 17 hours, 29 Aug. 16, Seven Step alley, Gravel lane, Aldgate. Close, ill cleansed, and unfavourable to health; a locality in which there have been so many deaths from cholera within the last month, that nothing but a re-modelling or re-building of the houses on this spot can possibly remove the baneful effects of disease, to which the crowded and dirty habits of its inhabitants render them a prey.

M. 49, general dealer, cho. 2 days, 30 Aug. 8, Cook's buildings, Stony lane, Aldgate. House not crowded, drained and cleansed; in previous ill-health.

Mr. Martin, the Registrar, says, "It will be observed, that 6 of the deaths registered this week have occurred on the banks of the disgusting tidal ditch so often reported, now rendered more offensive than ever, from a great length of its narrow part having been covered in; nearly all the refuse from the very poorest houses having accumulated at that part of the ditch near to the new water pipes, and where, under the window of a typhus patient of mine, might have been seen the bodies of 13 dead dogs and cats on one day this week, beside other offensive matter. As district Surgeon, I have, with great respect, but perfect sincerity, warned the authorities of the fearful and tremendous responsibility they are incurring."

With reference to the various streets and dwellings in which deaths from Cholera and Diarrhoea have occurred this week, any observations I could make would be but a repetition of those conveyed in last week's Return; indeed, the whole of this district, with the exception of the leading thoroughfares, may be said to be densely populated; it is truly astonishing oftentimes to find the number of persons who live in the same house.

Of the 14 cases which have occurred in the Workhouse, it will be seen only one was an inmate. Many of the other 13 were persons brought in when the disease had done its worst for them, one did not survive a quarter of an hour after admission, and some only a few hours. I have ascertained, also, that several were persons of very questionable reputation and habits, still, the sudden and great increase this week over the preceding, clearly shows that those localities which have been visited by the epidemic, and where it appears partially to have subsided, are by no means to calculate on security at the present, as will be seen by the following. In the weeks ending August 4th, 11th, 18th, and 25th, the numbers were 48—28—25, and 21. This week I have registered 33, hence the importance of increased watchfulness and increased exertions—and this applies not only to the authorities, but to tradesmen, employers of work-people, and heads of families—who can often impart advice and instruction to their neighbours and dependants with greater effect than official communications produce; and thus, whilst the Guardians of the Poor, and the Medical Officers of the various parishes are endeavouring to fulfil their duties, let those to whom I have referred strengthen their hands and aid their efforts.

M. 48, labourer, cho. 30 Aug. 4, Webb street. Very dirty place, and houses much crowded.

F. 11 months, Da. of twine spinner, cho. 48 hours, 31 Aug. 2, Northampton place. Crowded, ill-cleansed neighbourhood.

M. 39, hawker, cho. 2 days, 28 Aug. 5, Northampton place, North street.
M. 5 months, Son of gilder, cho. 24 hours, 30 Aug. 30, Burdett street, Walworth common. The mother of this child died last week in Harper street, New Kent road, of cholera.

M. 55, green grocer, diarrhoea, several hours, cho. several hours, 29 Aug. 27, East street.

F. 57, spinster, diarrhoea, 1½ day, cho. 10 hours, 29 Aug. 29, Grosvenor park, North.

F. 43, W. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 1 Sept. 2, Tuck's buildings, Grove street.

F. 21, spinster, cho. 12 hours, 30 Aug. 5, Sutherland square.

F. 23, spinster, cho. 15 hours, 1 Sept. 5, Villa place, Walworth common.

F. 26, spinster, cho. 4 days, 30 Aug. 8, Port place, Walworth common.

The following 2 cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE, Walworth:—

F. 66, Wid. of smith, cho. 17 hours, 25 Aug. This person had been nursing a woman who died in Doctor street, Walworth, on the 21st Aug.; was taken ill on the 24th, and sent to the workhouse, where she died on the 25th.

F. supposed about 5 months, unknown, found in the street some time since, and taken to the workhouse, cho. 17 hours, 26 Aug.

106—Trinity.

F. 75, W. of hawker, cho. 29 Aug. 20, Devonshire street.

F. 1, Da. of draper, cho. convulsions, 29 Aug. 36, St. Andrews road. In the rear of this house is an open sewer, a large quantity of decomposing dung, and a dirty pigsty.

M. 10, Son of twine spinner, cho. 12 hours, 29 Aug. 4, Cottage place, Lock's fields.

M. 5, Son of bricklayer, cho. 26 hours, 30 Aug. 3, Little Chatbam place, Lock's fields.

F. 47, W. of law clerk, cho. 30 Aug. 13, St. David street.

M. 37, Brush maker, cho. 20 hours, 28 Aug. 47, George street, Harper street. In this house there is always a most unpleasant smell, I believe arising from a drain: during last summer this mau had three out of his four children die of scarlatina, and now his own life has been sacrificed.

F. 31, W. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 30 Aug. 4, Thomas street, New Kent road.

F. 39, W. of bedstead maker, cho. 12 hours, 1 Sept. 22, Adam street, New Kent road.

F. 46, Wid. of smith, cho. 24 hours, 27 Aug. 9, Paragon row, Locksfields.

107—LAMBETH; Waterloo Road, 1st Part.

F. 22, single woman, diarrhoea, collapse 4 hours, 26 Aug. 66, Commercial road. This young woman had recently come from the country on a visit to her friends. There is no doubt it was a decided case of cho., though the word "cho." is not mentioned in the Certificate, which I enclose. This end of Commercial road is where the sewer empties itself into the Thames by the side of Waterloo bridge.

F. 73, Wid. of watch maker, cho. 18 hours, 25 Aug. 50, Commercial road.

F. 42, W. of glass cutter, diarrhoea 10 days, cho. 1 day, 24 Aug. 41, Queen street.

M. 6, Son of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 26 Aug. 1, Elizabeth place, John street. Place clean but close.

M. 78, gentleman, cho. 13 hours, 26 Aug. 6, Church terrace. This terrace faces the churchyard which is now so often opened for funerals, that effluvia must enter the surrounding houses, though they are otherwise clean and open.

M. 4, Son of journeyman carpenter, cho. 14 hours, 25 Aug. 9, Le Grand place. Le Grand place, where these 4 deaths occurred, is a small place containing 12 houses situated at the back of the Waterloo road; one end is close to the wall of the churchyard, the other runs into a mews at the back of Stamford street; the houses have, I believe, 2 rooms each; they are densely populated; and the entrance from the Waterloo road is the site of nuisances which increase the pestiferous atmosphere breathed by the inhabitants.

M. 8, Son of labourer, cho. 24 Aug. 2, Le Grand place.

M. 6, Son of fisherman, cho. 12 hours, 24 Aug. 4, Le Grand place.

M. 2, Son of general dealer, cho. 20 hours, 25 Aug. 5, Le Grand place.

M. 20, shoe maker, natural death, cho. 11 hours, 25 July, 6, Bat's buildings, Broad wall.—Inquest. Bat's buildings is one of the narrow courts in Broadwall crossing the boundary sewer. The house No. 6 has been the scene of more than one tragedy; a brother of deceased, a youth of 12 or 14, hung himself, by accident it was presumed; a younger sister died of cho. in July; the mother was next taken ill and removed to the Workhouse, where she also died of cho.; the next death was the one now registered. The father, a shoe maker, was in the Hospital during the period of the illness and death of his wife and two children.

M. 50, lighterman, cho. 24 hours, 27 Aug. 14, White Horse street. There have been three deaths from cholera in this house (one not yet registered.) The house is at the best end of the street, but had is the best.

M. 43, journeyman shoe maker, cho. 28 hours, 28 Aug. 4, Mitre place, Broadwall. Several deaths from cholera in Mitre place have been reported in previous weeks.

M. 63, beadle of St. Mary, Lambeth, cho. 22 hours, 28 Aug. 164, Waterloo road. The deceased was the summoning officer for the coroner in Lambeth. He was under medical treatment recently for heart disease. He had a fit the evening before his death, and fell down; he then appeared in a stupor, and remained so, except for a short time, till his death. He had had slight diarrhoea.

M. 56, cooper, cho. 13 hours, 27 Aug. 37, New cut.

F. 1, Da. of journeyman tailor, choleric diarrhoea, 8 days, 23 Aug. 6, Cottage place, Webber street. Place close and unfavourable.

M. 54, journeyman bricklayer, cho. 11 hours, 28 Aug. 29, White Horse street. Close, ill cleansed, over-crowded.

M. 3, Son of journeyman brush maker, cho. 12 hours, 27 Aug. 26, Brad street.

M. 15 days, Son of patten maker, diarrhoea 5 days, 30 Aug. 28, Mitre street.

F. 5, Da. of shoe maker, cho. 13 hours, 31 Aug. 22, Windmill row. A hot bed for epidemics. Pulling down can alone change its character.

M. 11 months, Son of labourer, cho. 3 days, 29 Aug. 2, Legrand place.

M. 55, late in the post office, cho. 30 Aug. 41, Commercial road.

108—Waterloo Road, 2nd Part.

F. 52, Wid. of joiner, serious diarrhoea, not treated, 2 days, cho. 30 hours, 26 Aug. 75, James street, Lower marsh. This street lies in a hollow. Various complaints of drainage, slaughter houses, and ditches.

M. 37, sawyer, cho. 6 hours, 27 Aug. 5, Cranby gardens. The privies in Granby gardens very offensive; the landlord has been summoned to attend to them, but neglects to do so.

F. 37, wife of labourer, cho. 22 hours, 26 Aug. 8, Griffin street. Drainage good. An airy street.

F. 28, W. of tinplate worker, cho. 24 hours, 26 Aug. 33, Agnes street.

F. 38, W. of master bricklayer, cho. 19 hours, 28 Aug. 2, James st., Lower marsh.

M. 3, Son of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 28 Aug. 1, Cottage place, York road.

F. 55, Wid. of labourer, cho. 16 hours, 28 Aug. 13, Hurst street. A crowded, ill cleansed street, with a long open sewer running by the side of it.

F. 27, harmaid, cho. 10 hours, 28 Aug. the New Inn, 97, Bridge road.

F. 62, W. of butcher, diarrhoea 7 days, cho. 24 hours, 28 Aug. 10, Belvidere crescent, Belvidere road.

M. 49, grocer's shopman, cho. 6 hours, 28 Aug. 7, Mount row, West road.

M. 8, Son of tailor, cho. 16 hours, 29 Aug. 14, Apollo buildings. This small spot of Apollo buildings abounds with noxious effluvia. The privies are most offensive, the water scarcely fit to drink; heaps of refuse matter constantly thrown about by the costermongers, hosts of whom reside in this locality. Pigs, horses, rabbits, and all sorts of animals, are kept about here. I am told the fish, vegetables, &c. in which the people deal are at night frequently stench under the bed. There are two cats' meat dealers in Apollo buildings, the stench from which is much complained of. The landlord refuses to cleanse, and tells the inhabitants if they don't like it they can leave it.

F. 43, W. of engineer's clerk, cho. 24 hours, 28 Aug. 54, Waterloo road.

F. 53, W. of master engraver, cho. 29 Aug. 12, Waterloo road.

 M. 26, florist, cho. 6 hours, Lewisham. Supposed to have got affected in Rotherhithe where he went to spend a day with a friend whose house was next to a family where several of them had died, he having witnessed the burning of the clothes which belonged to those deceased.
 F. 37, W. of letter carrier, diarrhoea, 5 days, Rushey green.
 M. 61, labourer, cho. 36 hours, 8, Hanover street.

135—Sydenham.

M. 44, master butcher, cho. 28 hours, Sydenham village. It is said that the deceased had been slightly attacked with diarrhoea. A few weeks before his death, had left off taking his beer as usual, and had taken brandy and water for his beverage. The deceased was a most respectable man, of very abstemious and regular habits. He had a slaughterhouse on the premises, and close to his dwelling-house, and the drainage in the neighbourhood is very defective, otherwise Sydenham is considered a very healthy situation.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE Bills of Mortality were commenced in the reign of Queen Elizabeth; and ever since the year 1603, have been published by authority in London. In this respect the English metropolis stands alone; no Weekly Tables of the causes of the death of every inhabitant are published in the capital of any other European State. Various motives for the measure have been assigned; but the fact of continuous publication from a period anterior to the appearance of newspapers and gazettes, is remarkable and characteristic. It may be fairly referred to the natural inclination of the English people when they are in trouble to know the truth; and to see in figures the precise extent of their losses; although at times the sight might well make the courage of the bravest quail. On the Continent "precautions have been used" in publishing the mortality of cholera in 1849; and the deaths from all causes have not yet been made known. The Parish Clerks of London in the seventeenth century, when the Plague was at its height, counted the deaths and recorded their supposed causes; and the citizen, when the death-cart traversed the streets anxiously studied the Bill, surrounded by its gloomy symbolical border, announcing 8297 deaths in a week out of a population of 600,000. In the hands of Price, Heberden, Willis, Bateman, and other statistes these records have disclosed the laws of mortality, and the causes of the insalubrity of the present cities.

One of their immediate advantages, however, is the evidence which they furnish that the most fatal and threatening plagues go through, with some perturbations, certain prescribed orbits; and after raging for a given number of weeks, disappear. Plague, influenza, and cholera have been vanquished before; and to despair now would be as unreasonable, as it was in the beginning of the year to deny that the cholera epidemic was impending. Those officers who are struggling with the triumphant enemy under every disadvantage will yet be victors; for if they have art, they have also nature on their side.

The mortality in the week ending Saturday, September 8th, declined in the west and east districts of London, and increased slightly in the north and central districts, so that the deaths registered (1741) on the north side the Thames were 19 less than in the previous week. It was otherwise on the south side the River, where the deaths in the week were 1442! The total deaths registered in London were 3183: of males, 1460; females, 1723. The deaths of females exceeded the deaths of males by 263; the reverse of the usual proportions. The deaths from cholera were 2026; numbers decreased in the districts of Shoreditch, Bethnal Green, Whitechapel, Stepney, Westminster; increased in Bermondsey, St. George Southwark, Newington, Lambeth, Wandsworth, Camberwell, and Rotherhithe. The epidemic, which had been partially subdued, broke out again with terrible violence in Lambeth, where 279 persons died of cholera in the week.

Mr. Dawes, one of the Registrars of Lambeth, who has made careful inquiries on the subject, says: "at least half the cases I have registered were allowed to proceed unchecked, until the most alarming and dangerous symptoms had manifested themselves; but lately more circumspection seems to have been used. Nevertheless, the cases are still numerous in which persons seem (from the painless nature of the attack) to be unconscious how highly necessary it is that immediate attention should be paid to it." People are so much accustomed to associate danger exclusively with pain; that the most fatal symptom unaccompanied by pain is neglected. They must, however, be taught to look upon painless diarrhoea with the anxiety that people in the plague looked upon the swellings, called tokens—which were also painless—but with less fear; for the premonitory symptom now seems to be sent not so much to announce death as to give timely warning, and to call attention to that stage of the malady in which medicine can heal.

As medical skill is of most avail at the beginning and end of a fever, as the effect of the engines is most conspicuous at the outbreak and end of a conflagration, and as most energy is demanded when the wreck nears the shore, so it is in an epidemic; which, if it has not been checked at first, may yet be cut short, and combated with effect, as it declines. None of the measures of relief in any district should therefore be discontinued, but be prosecuted with redoubled vigour, until it has been completely subdued; and the districts which have not yet suffered greatly should immediately complete their preparations. For the time is short; the evils of delay irreparable.

DAY	ELECTRICITY	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUN.	Nothing was shewn at any examination.	The sky was generally about one-half covered till 7h. p.m., and overcast afterwards; cumuli and cirrostratus. Frequent flashes of lightning were seen during the evening.
MON.	Positive, and tension variable between 3h. and 9h. p.m.	The sky was cloudless till near noon, and overcast during the remainder of the day; cirrostratus and scud. Flashes of lightning were seen during the evening. Rain was falling heavily from 10h. 30m. till midnight.
TUES.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	The sky was generally covered till 1h. p.m., and one-half covered afterwards; cirrostratus.
WED.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	The sky was covered with thin cirrostratus till 9h. 30m. a.m., and cloudless afterwards.
THURS.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was generally cloudless throughout the day.
FRID.	Nothing was shewn throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 9h. a.m., half covered till noon, and generally clear afterwards; cirrostratus and fragments of loose cloud.
SAT.	Positive, and tension strong between noon and 9h. p.m.	The sky was generally covered with cirrostratus throughout the day.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be consistent with those of the Royal Society's first glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m., noon, 3h. p.m., & 9h. p.m.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values, by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher, from five years' observations ending December 31, 1845.—See Phil. Trans. Part 1, 1846.

And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the number exhibited in column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every midnight and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively, that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whevell's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. a.m. and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, in the 7 years ending December, 1847.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower;" thus the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the Devonshire Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 62.9, and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 60.4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 65.0 and 66.9 respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29.50 in. at the beginning of the week, to 29.97 in. on the 5th; decreased to 29.92 in. on the 6th; increased to 30.05 in. on the 7th; and decreased to 29.95 in. at the end of the week.

FATAL CASES OF CHOLERA AND DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending Saturday, Sept. 8th, 1849.

The following is a List of all the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa returned in the Week. It contains the sex (M. or F.), age, profession or occupation, duration of case, date of death, and the residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are nearly all certified by qualified Medical Practitioners. Their attention is called to the utility of mentioning whenever it occurs—the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used:—Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for Widow; cho., for cholera. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns are omitted in this list.

1.—KENSINGTON; Paddington, St. John.

M. 64, painter, diarrhœa, cho. 1 week, 20 Aug. 5, Sale street. Generally healthy.
F. 60, W. of watchmaker, diarrhœa 4 days, dysentery 12 days, 2 Sept. 25, Queen's road. Generally healthy.

F. 66, servant, chronic hepatitis, cho. 3 Sept. 3, Chester Mews. Generally healthy.
M. 6 months, Son of railway porter, gastro intestinal irritation, cho. 3 days, 4 Sept. 12, London street. Generally healthy.

M. 59, colonel in the army, chronic diarrhœa, 2 years, 4 Sept. 62, Porchester terrace. Generally healthy.

F. 52, W. of servant, diarrhœa 8 days, 4 Sept. 15, Radnor place. Generally healthy.

M. 53, pianoforte maker, cho. 13 hours, 4 Sept. 13, Titchborne street. The grating of the sewer is in front of this house.

M. 74, esquire, cho. 5 days, 2 Sept. 10, Oxford terrace. Healthy.

F. 82, Wid. of publican, diarrhœa, 2 days, 8 Sept. 34, Market street. Small houses in this street, over crowded.

M. 5 months, Son of labourer, diarrhœa 7 days, general delicate health, 7 Sept. 19, South Wharf road. As above.

2.—Paddington, St. Mary.

M. 2, Son of cow keeper, cho. 8 hours, no precursory diarrhœa, 2 Sept. 4, Iron Gate Wharf.

3.—Fulham.

F. 33, W. of labourer, diarrhœa, 3 days, 4 Sept. Sand's End. House detached, near to meadows subject to be overflowed by the River Thames.

F. 68, Wid. of bone boiler, cho. 12 hours, 5 Sept. 2, Orchard place, North End. Cottages very small, neighbourhood dirty for want of drainage, close to where 2 deaths were recorded last week.

F. 52, W. of gardener, cho. 18 hours, consecutive fever 4 days, 6 Sept. 4, Northampton place. Cottages good, large stables and piggeries in the neighbourhood.

The 2 following cases are brother and sister; their mother is since dead. The water of the wells in the lane was originally good, but became bad about 2 years ago, so that most of the water used here is brought from a well some distance off, which was dug in charity to another district by a gentleman in the vicinity:—
F. 1, Da. of labourer, cho. 6 hours, 5 Sept. Parson's green lane.
M. 4, Son of labourer, cho. 30 hours, 5 Sept. Parson's green lane.

M. 10, son of a gardener, diarrhœa 4 days, 6 Sept. Garden row, Walham green. The mother of deceased thinks, that he caught his death from excessive and continued bathing in a pool of stagnant water.

M. 38, labourer, cho. 6 hours, 6 Sept. 2, Peterborough row. The deceased had attended at the wake of the above labourer's wife. Houses over crowded.

M. 71, gardener, cho. 18 hours, 7 Sept. back of 7 Stars, North End. There is a night shoot very near.

F. 40, W. of licensed victualler, cho. 10 hours, 7 Sept. Seven Stars, North End. House exactly opposite to Orchard place, Sun street and Star lane.

4.—Hammersmith, St. Paul.

F. 70, charwoman, cho. 2 days, typhoid fever 3 days, 4 Sept. 7, Margaret's row, Brook green. Was in the same house where 3 people died last week.

F. 50, charwoman, cho. 24 hours, 6 Sept. Broadway. Locality open; always in great poverty, intemperate—had been nursing in a house where cholera had been.

I attended her about 6 weeks since for a moderate attack of diarrhœa.—Registrar.

F. 28, W. of journeyman tailor, cho. 18 hours, 8 Sept. 1, Salem place, Bridge road. No particular observation as to locality. Husband, wife, and 3 children occupying one room; always filthy and offensive. The family always in the utmost destitution and poverty, not intemperate. Wife of a feeble constitution, and subject to epilepsy; only returned from Bermondsey the day previous, where she had been to visit a sister and 2 children, all dead from cholera; no premonitory symptoms, but collapse ushered in the disease; she never rallied in the slightest, although she had immediate medical assistance.

5.—Hammersmith, St. Peter.—No cholera.

6.—Kensington Town.

F. 1, Da. of labourer, diarrhœa, 1 Sept. Jennings buildings. Street close, house over crowded.

M. 62, master carpenter, choleraic diarrhœa, terminating in cho., 2 Sept. Trafalgar place. Healthy.

M. 70, shoemaker, cho. 28 hours, 1 Sept. Potteries. In every respect unfavourable to health. Neglected diarrhœa 1 week.

M. 48, labourer, diarrhœa, 6 days, cho. 15 hours, 3 Sept. Potteries. Diarrhœa neglected.

F. 36, W. of labourer, diarrhœa, 1 month, cho. 18 hours, 3 Sept. Potteries. Diarrhœa neglected.

M. 36, master grocer, diarrhœa, 3 days, cho. 5 hours, 2 Sept. 5, Queen's buildings.

F. 51, W. of gentleman, choleric diarrhœa, 2 days, subacute gastritis, 4 days, 4 Sept. 2, Brompton square. Healthy.

M. 41, floor cloth manufacturer, diarrhœa, 9 days, consequent upon an exhausted constitution, and complicated with diseased kidneys, 29 Aug. 19, Brompton crescent.

F. 29, cook, phthisis, 3½ years, cho. 24 hours, 6 Sept. at the CONSUMPTION HOSPITAL. The deceased had not been more than a fortnight in the Hospital; when admitted she appeared in an extremely debilitated state. There have been only two deaths from cholera in the Hospital, although the number of resident patients is about 80; the first was that of a male, on the 15th of July last. During the prevalence of influenza, at the close of the year 1847, I believe only one of the patients died of that malady.

M. 64, labourer, cho. 48 hours, 2 Sept.

16—ST. MARTIN IN THE FIELDS; Charing Cross.

M. 4 months, Son of stationer, diarrhoea, 10 days, convulsions, 2 hours, 31 Aug. 376, Strand. Good house, well ventilated, street cleaned daily.

M. 28, police constable, A. division, cho. 48 hours, 6 Sept. Police station, Northumberland street. As officer of health of the district I inspected this Barrack on the 8th Sept. It has the whole sewerage of Tottenham court road, passing in front of it, a grating close to front door, and at the time of inspection, the tide had flooded the kitchen floor with very foul water from the sewer. The sewer discharges into the Thames about 60 yards S.E. of the Barrack. A very unfavourable position for a police station.

The following 2 cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE:—

F. 25, servant, cho. 13 hours, 5 Sept. Casual, not an inmate.

F. 50, W. of labourer, cho. 26 hours, 6 Sept. from No. 8, Eagle court. From the same room in 1840 were removed the bodies of a grandfather and grandmother, the daughter, and two grandchildren, who died of typhus. (See Mr. Chadwick's Report on Interments in Towns, p. 33.)

The following 2 cases occurred in CHARING CROSS HOSPITAL:—

F. 19, servant, cho. 17 hours, 5 Sept.

M. 55, labourer, cho. 13 hours, 7 Sept. A man of powerful frame, employed by a contractor; was taken ill while rising in the morning. Neglected his illness, went to his work, and was taken thence to the hospital.

17—Long Acre.

F. 24, Spinster, Da. of boot maker, diarrhoea, 9 hours, cho. 8 hours, 31 Aug. 15, Mercer street.

F. 67, Wid. laundress, cho. 24 hours, consecutive fever, 5 days, 3 Sept. 3, Bedfordbury.

M. 60, porter, cho. 34 hours, 4 Sept. 2, Angel court.

F. 8 months, Da. of tailor, diarrhoea, some days, 1 Sept. 5, Castle street.

M. 11, Son of machinist, cho. 16 hours, 6 Sept. 5, Lazenby court.

18—ST. JAMES, WESTMINSTER; Berwick Street.

M. 1, Son of labourer, (deceased,) cho. 24 hours, 4 Sept. 26 Peter street. This child was interred on the same day with its father, who died of cholera a few days before in the hospital. Peter street is considered very unfavourable to health, mostly inhabited by the lowest description of Irish.

F. 73, Wid. of gardener, cho. 33 hours, 4 Sept. 2, George court, Rupert street. The deceased lived at Walworth, and came to visit her daughter in George court on Sunday in her usual health (intending to stop a day or two); she was attacked at 12 o'clock on Sunday night, and died on Tuesday morning. George court houses and rooms are very small, and unfavourable to health.

F. 67, Wid. of tailor, cho. 24 hours, 7 Sept. 2, Pulteney place, Peter street. The medical man states the deceased had been living low for a long time, and was totally unable to hear up against the disease. No. 2, Pulteney court, is a very narrow, close, and confined place; densely inhabited, and very unfavourable to health.

19—Golden Square.

The 4 following cases occurred in ST. JAMES'S WORKHOUSE, Poland st.:—

M. 22, labourer, cho. 25 hours, 3 Sept. Deceased was found by a policeman on the step of a door in Poland street, on the 2nd instant, at 7 a.m.

F. 56, cho. 20 hours, 4 Sept. Brought from Little St. James street, the 3rd inst., where she had gone to nurse her daughter.

F. 81, dyer, cho. 10 hours, 6 Sept. inmate. This workhouse may be considered a model for cleanliness and internal arrangements; the water closets are so constructed as to admit the water both on opening and shutting the door, and has two houses fitted up for reception of cholera patients apart from the Workhouse. Only one cholera patient at present.

M. 52, labourer, cho. 56 hours, 7 Sept. Brought from No. 6, Angel court, King street, St. James's.

20—St. James's square.

F. 50, Wid. of labourer, cho. 11 hours, 3 Sept. 6, Angel court, King street. Locality and ventilation bad.

F. 50, W. of labourer, cho. 24 hours, 2 Sept. 6, Angel court, King street.

F. 5, Da. of labourer, cho. 23 hours, 6 Sept. 3, Angel court, King street.

F. 35, W. of pianoforte maker, cho. 12 hours, 6 Sept. 52, Great Windmill street. Locality not bad; very clean house, well ventilated.

F. 64, W. of watchmaker, diarrhoea, 4 days, 5 Sept. 2, Titchborne street, Haymarket. Locality not bad.

M. 50, draper, diarrhoea, 4 days, 6 Sept. 84, Regent street. Airy, healthy locality.

This person had been subject to severe fits of cramp; occasionally, over 2 years, "informant."

M. 41, shoemaker, cho. 24 hours, 6 Sept. 7, Crown court, Pall mall. Bad locality; houses ill-ventilated and bad drainage.

21—MARYLEBONE; All Souls.

M. 44, waiter, cho. 24 hours, 3 Sept. 28, Upper Charlton street. He had been attended for 5 hours before I saw him, by an assistant to Mr. Ayling, a chemist, in Upper Marylebone street. Deceased was in tolerable health, but the day before the attack had walked a long distance, and taken little or no food. Street defective in drainage, and many of the houses from that cause, being too thickly inhabited, are very unhealthy.

M. 14, Son of porter, diarrhoea, 2 days, typhoid state, 6 days, 31 Aug. 11, Oxford market. Not known to be unhealthy.

F. 32, W. of tailor, cho. 24 hours, 1 Sept. 22, Union street. In the same house on Aug. 28, died of cholera the wife of a turner; another female was attacked, but has since recovered. On Sept. 1 the daughter of the turner, 15 years of age, was attacked with cholera, and removed to the Marylebone Infirmary, where she died. This is the fourth case of cholera (during 5 days) which has occurred in this house, and 3 have proved fatal. I have already given my opinion of this street.

Many of the houses are hotbeds for cholera and all epidemics.

F. 23, W. of chair maker, diarrhoea, 5 days, cho. 24 hours, 4 Sept. 27, Carburton street. Street open, and I believe healthy.

F. 66, Wid. of major in the army, cho. 14 hours, 5 Sept. 16, Newman street. In good health, attack sudden. An airy and healthy residence.

F. 64, W. of gentleman's coachman, cho. 24 hours, 6 Sept. 35, Weymouth mews. This female was in perfect health up to the time of the attack, which was very sudden; considered by the medical attendant as a very malignant case. The only detectable effluvia in the mews is that arising from the stables.

F. 66, Wid. of solicitor, diarrhoea, 3 weeks, cho. 12 hours, 6 Sept. 19, Newman street. A very airy, open, and healthy residence; under medical treatment from the commencement of diarrhoea.

M. 56, stationer, diarrhoea, typhus, 7 days, 7 Sept. 1, Great Portland street. A very open and healthy locality.

The 5 following cases occurred in the MIDDLESEX HOSPITAL:—

M. 20, Bachelor, occupation not known, cho. 12 hours, 3 Sept. from Gresse street, Rathbone place.

F. 75, not known, cho. 6 hours, 5 Sept. from South street, Manchester square.

F. 36, W. of driver of van, cho. 12 hours, 8 Sept. from 8, Alfred mews, Alfred street.

M. 45, tailor, cho. 8 hours, 7 Sept. from Mill street, Hanover square.

M. 33, painter, cho. 20 hours, 7 Sept. from 31, Cleveland street. Street neglected and dirty; vegetable and varied refuse, cast from the greengrocers' and other shops, being allowed to remain for many days. I believe the drainage is not very defective. (All streets partaking of the character of bye-streets are more or less overlooked and neglected by parish authorities. In this parish the state of Upper Rathbone place, Union street, part of Wells street, Ogle street, Saville street, Charlton street, and the whole of Cleveland street, requires strict investigation.)

22—Cavendish Square.

F. 34, W. of coachmaker, diarrhoea, 6 days, cho. 10 hours, 3 Sept. 8, Devonshire mews east.

F. 26, W. of servant, cho. 18 hours, miscarriage, secondary fever, 3 days, 1 Sept. 2, Mill hill place.

M. 10 months, Son of boot maker, diarrhoea, cho. 3 days, 1, Sept. 4, Bowling street.

M. 49, coach maker, cho. 19 hours, 1 Sept. 23, Marylebone lane.

F. 51, servaut, bloody diarrhoea, 5 days, 41, Upper Harley street.

M. 57, master fishmonger, cho. 16 hours, 25 Aug. 15, Marylebone lane.

23—Rectory.

F. 29, W. of chinaman, cho. 22 hours, 25, Crawford street.

F. 7 months, Da. of sailor, cho. 3 hours, 5 Sept. 2, Salisbury place.

F. 4, Da. of labourer, cho. 6 hours, 4 Sept. 2, Little Park street. Confined.

M. 77, labourer, cho. 48 hours, 8 Sept. 8, Little James street. Very dirty.

26—St. John.

M. 38, carman, cho. 3 days, 3 Sept. 27, Carlisle street. Street good. Houses densely populated.

F. 38, W. of coachman, diarrhoea, 3 days, cho. 18 hours, 1 Sept. Avenue road. Street good; lived over the stables. Washed the linen of her master, who died of cholera on the 27th Aug.

M. 63, coachman, diarrhoea and coma, 9 days, 2 Sept. 4, Frederick street. Small houses, densely populated; poor neighbourhood.

M. 5 months, Son of servant, cho. 34 hours, 4 Sept. 12, Ordnance road. Street and houses good.

M. 5 months, Son of servant, marasmus, diarrhoea, 6 Sept. 7, North street. Street good.

F. 75, Wid. of tailor, diarrhoea, 3 days, cho. 12 hours, 1 Sept. 5, ALMS HOUSES. Houses and situation most healthy.

F. 66, Wid. of grocer, cho. 14 hours, 5 Sept. 12, ALMS HOUSES. Attended upon and washed the linen of the patient who died of cholera at 12, Alms houses, on the 1st Sept. and registered the death, in good health, on the 3rd, before washing the clothes—seized the morning after.

27—HAMPSTEAD; Hampstead.

M. 22, journeyman carpenter, diarrhoea, 7 or 8 days, (neglected), cho. 13 hours, 4 Sept. Holly mount. A high and healthy situation. The only death registered during the week in this.

27—PANCRAS; Tottenham court.

F. 34, W. of french polisher, cho. 5 days, 30 Aug. 15, Cleveland street.

F. 42, milliner, cho. 17 hours, 7 Sept. from Britannia road, Islington.

* An inquest in this case was ordered in consequence of there being no medical attendant. The death occurred in an underground kitchen. The closeness and stench were so great that the jury men hurried from the place, nearly all of them having experienced a sensation of sickness. The coroner also declared that he felt the same. In this close apartment, wherein the dead body was laid, the operation of cooking was going on, and the occupants, upon being questioned respecting the stench, declared that they felt no ill effects from it.

29—Somers Town.

F. 2, Da. of bookseller, diarrhoea, 2 days, gastro enteritis, 2 days, 1 Sept. 58, Whitlebury street. Healthy.

F. 34, W. of tailor and clothier, cho. 17 hours, 5 Sept. Devonshire terrace. Healthy situation. The deceased had returned from a fortnight's sojourn in the country in good health, and was attacked two days after.

F. 10 months, Da. of policeman, diarrhoea, 5 days, 5 Sept. 72, Pratt street. Healthy.

M. 72, carpenter, cho. 17 hours, 7 Sept. 20, Ashby street, King's Cross. Very unhealthy neighbourhood. The house clean and well drained.

F. 45, W. of labourer, cho. 3 days, 5 Sept. 9, Little King street. Narrow crowded street. Full of stables.

F. 65, Wid. of labourer, diarrhoea, 7 days, cho. 2 days, 6 Sept. 2, Suffolk street, east, King's Cross. Not unhealthy.

M. 3, Son of painter, cho. 23 hours, 7 Sept. 27, Pratt street. Stabling and dung at the back of the premises. Second case in same house.

31—Regents Park.

F. 30, W. of wood carver, cho. 50 hours, 2 Sept. 4, Eden street, Hampstead road. Thickly inhabited, and bad ventilation.

M. 16, mariner, cho. 12 hours, 2 Sept. 147, High street, Camden town. Very healthy locality, but defective drainage.

M. 66, carpenter, cho. 54 hours, 1 Sept. 2, Cumberland street, west. Very healthy.

M. 76, gentleman, cho. 4 days, typhoid fever, 10 days, 30 Aug. 59, Mornington road.

F. 30, servant, cho. 13 hours, 4 Sept. 56, Grove street, Camden town. Healthy.

M. 26, private second Life Guards, cho. 13 hours, 4 Sept. Barracks, Upper Albany street. Healthy.

F. 5 weeks, Da. of private, second Life Guards, diarrhoea, 7 days, 3 Sept. 6, Albany place. Healthy.

F. 14 days, Da. of cordwainer, diarrhoea and apthia, 11 days, 1 Sept. 77, Albany street. Healthy.

F. 40, W. of labourer, intemperance, cho. 14 hours, 1 Sept. 65, Grove street. Camden town. Healthy.

M. 3, Son of plasterer, cho. not certified, 31 Aug. 34, Clarence gardens. Healthy.

F. 30, W. of labourer, cho. 8 hours, 5 Sept. 66, Grove street, Camden town. This person was dead when the medical attendant arrived.

M. 5, Son of private, second Life Guards, cho. 6 days, 6 Sept. 2, Edward street. Unhealthy.

F. 30, W. of porter, cho. 2 days, professionally attended only a few hours previous to her death, 4 Sept. 17, Edward street. This house and the adjoining is opposite a wharf, which is the deposit for all kinds of manure, decomposed vegetable matter, and refuse of the worst description, exhales the most obnoxious effluvia, and which is much complained of by the inhabitants.

F. 1, Da. of porter, diarrhoea, hydrocephalus, about a fortnight, 6 Sept. 17, Edward street.

M. 8, Son of mariner, cho. 60 hours, 6 Sept. 4, Eden street, Hampstead road. Thickly inhabited, and bad ventilation.

F. 61, Wid. of paper maker, cho. 22 hours, succeeded by fever, 8 days, 6 Sept. 65, Stanhope street, Hampstead road. Healthy.

F. 74, Wid. of cabinet maker, cho. 12 hours, 7 Sept. 34, Augustus street. Healthy.

F. 45, W. of accountant, cho. after being in a state of collapse, 17 hours, and having had diarrhoea 4 days previous, 3 Sept. 12, Frederick street, Hampstead road. Healthy.

F. 6 months, Da. of sadler, cho. a few days, 31 Aug. 9, Henry street, Hampstead road. The return of last week records the deaths of 2 persons by cholera in the same house. Another death occurring 2 days subsequently, in all, 3 cases in 4 days, induced me to visit the premises. On examination, I find the dwelling is in the rear of the houses above named, having no outlet, bad ventilation, and thickly inhabited.

32—Kentish Town.

F. 60, W. of Chandler shop keeper, cho. 10 hours, diarrhoea, 2 days, 3 Sept. 1, Sussex place, Prince of Wales' road. Occasional complaints of the neighbours, of offensive smell from drains.

F. 12, Ds. of housekeeper, diarrhoea, exhaustion, 2 Sept. 11, Hethersett street Hampstead road.

F. 45, Wid. of labourer, diarrhoea, 5 days, cho. 17 hours, 2 Sept. 3, Monte Video place.

F. 49, spinster, cho. 2½ days, 6 Sept. 1, Alfred place, Maidenlane.

F. 67, Wid. of government clerk, diarrhoea, 10 days, vomiting and congestion of the brain, 5 hours, 4 Sept. 11, St. Pauls road, Camden New Town. Healthy.

F. 58, W. of a person whose occupation I cannot learn, cho. 3 days, 7 Sept. High street.

33.—ISLINGTON; Islington, West.

M. 52, cab driver, cho. brain fever, 2 Sept. 13, Thornhill street, Caledonian road. Was first seized on cab-stand with a fit—was a powerful man—formerly a pugilist.

M. 11, Son of brickmaker, cho. 16 hours, collapse, 9 hours, 2 Sept. 10, Claytous street. A new street and cleanly.

M. 4 months, Son of pork butcher diarrhoea, 3 days (at wet nurse) 3 Sept. 1, Buckingham place.

M. 9, Son of chaff cutter, cho. 6 hours, 1 Sept. 29, Caledonia street.

M. 51, labourer, cho. 30 hours, 2 Sept. 10, Milton place, Holloway. Suffering with acute rheumatism and fever for last 12 months.

F. 1, Da. of ostler, diarrhoea, 2 months, with cough, dysentery 1 week, 31 Aug. 1, Red Cap cottages, Upper Holloway.

M. 27, brickmaker, cho. 48 hours, 4 Sept. 14, Thornhill street, Caledonian road. There is a gully hole opposite the house which emits a horrible stench at times,—two of the neighbours died two days before of cholera.

F. 40, W. of printer, cho. 2 days, 5 Sept. 3 Burnard place, Holloway. Had attended her mother's funeral a week back, who died of cholera at Lambeth.

M. 3, Son of shoemaker, cho. 7 hours, 7 Sept. 4, Titterton terrace, White Conduit Fields. Ill cleansed premises.

F. 45, W. of a coal porter cho. 2 Sept. 3, Rodney place, Whiteconduit fields. Close confined place—had been attending upon her brother in the next street, who died of cholera on the same day.

The following case occurred in the WORKHOUSE:—

F. 10 weeks, Da. of a labourer, diarrhoea, 8 days, cho. 1 day, 31, Aug. The father and mother died a few days ago of cholera, at the Free Hospital, Grays inn road.

34.—Islington East.

F. 71, Wid. of coal dealer, diarrhoea 3 days, cho. 30 hours, 2 Sept. 26 Norfolk street.

The following 2 deaths occurred in Brand court, Holloway.

F. 56, Wid. of brickmaker, privation and anxiety long continued, cho. 15 hours, 1 Sept. No. 1 Brand court, Holloway. Same time registered, grandchild, "brochitis 6 days." Daughter, mother of child, removed on Monday from Elder walk to Free Hospital, cho. died there. On going to see the house found, in the back room ground floor two young persons in bed on floor, under medical treatment; a door leads at once into yard—drain within 6 feet. I believe there is no authority that can compel them to go to the hospital, if they refuse, which is the case.

M. 33, labourer, cho. 2 days, Sept. 5, No. 3, Brand court, Holloway The Medical Officer of the Holloway Dispensary says of Brand court, "No less than 7 cases of cholera have occurred in this court within a week, 2 of which have already proved fatal, within a few yards of the court. Many other cases of cholera have also occurred. The drainage of this place, as well as of the whole of Brand street, is very defective, and an open sewer runs by the side of this man's house, and at the back of all the houses on one side of Brand street. The houses are all very damp, from the want of good drainage; the floors of the lower rooms rest upon the ground."

F. 3, Da. of a law clerk, cho. 24 hours, 1 Sept. 13, Suffolk street.

F. 33, W. of bricklayer, cho. 38 hours, 3 Sept. 10, Elder walk.

M. 34, shoe manufacturer, cho. 50 hours, 3 Sept. 20, Alfred street.

F. 90, Wid. of barge master, diarrhoea 2 days, 3 Sept. 5, Clothworkers' Alms Houses, Frog lane.

F. 8 months, Da. of journeyman plasterer, diarrhoea 4 days, 4 Sept. 18, Albion place, Ball's Pond.

F. 32, W. of carman, cho. 12 hours, 3 Sept. 8, Rutland terrace, Hornsey road.

M. 39, labourer, cho. 7 hours, 6 Sept. 3, Slaney place, Brand street, Holloway. Many of these courts were at one time comparatively in the country, and their bad construction was neutralized by a full allowance of fresh air, but they are now so hemmed in with new streets, that all their faults are aggravated to a degree that cannot be described without personal inspection. Common decency is hardly maintainable under these circumstances, and a "state of being" is produced detrimental to themselves and all surrounding them.

F. 22, W. of journeyman carpenter, cho. 12 hours, 5 Sept. 27, Windsor street. The 3rd death from cholera in this street.

M. 61, a gardener, cho. 30 hours, 7 Sept. 26, Windsor street. The state of this house and its offices is a disgrace to the landlord.

M. 36, commercial clerk, cho. 9 days, 5 Sept. 14, William street, New North road. Previously mentioned as having some defect in the drainage. This person's office in town was in close approximation to Fleet Ditch.

M. 1, Son of coachman, diarrhoea 3 days, 6 Sept. 1, Chapel place, Park place, Highbury Vale.

F. 50, W. of carver and gilder, cho. 14 hours, 4 Sept. 4, Frog lane. The drain from Anglers' gardens passes in front of this house. This is in course of remedy, as it has been very offensive.

F. 55, W. of journeyman coppersmith, cho. 2 days, 5 Sept. 9, Frog lane.

M. 35 brickmaker, cho. 12 hours, 7 Sept. 9, Anglers' gardens.

M. 2, Son of journeyman house painter, marasmus 3 weeks, diarrhoea 1 week, 6 Sept. 2, Popham place, Elder walk. When the water comes in, the drains are offensive. This happens 2 or 3 times a week.

M. 30, foreman to wild beast show, cho. a few hours, 6 Sept. 18, Wilton terrace, New North road.

F. 1, Da. of smith, mesenteric disease 3 months, diarrhoea 6 days, 6 Sept. 2, Elder walk.

M. 54, labourer, cho. 5 Sept. 19, Wharf road. Part of these premises out of my district, situated on the Regent's Canal.

M. 3, Son of an omnibus conductor, scarlatina 5 weeks ago, dropsy, diarrhoea 3 or 4 days, 2 Sept. 1 Anglers' gardens. 2nd death in this house this week. Drains in course of alteration; have been very bad.

M. 38, merchant's clerk, cho. 16 hours, 8 Sept. Queen's Head row. See notes in this and preceding week to Windsor street. This house is next door to corner of that street.

F. 4, Da. of an independent person, cho. after marasmus 15 hours, 7 Sept. 8, Rutland terrace, Hornsey road. 2nd death in this house this week.

F. 66, W. of labourer, cho. 18 hours, debility 30 hours, 7 Sept. 16, Broadway, Elder walk. Informant complains of state of drain and privy.

M. 19, cordwainer, cho. 10 hours, 6 Sept. 45, King street terrace, New North road. Had been to a fair held on a damp piece of ground in the immediate neighbourhood of open sewers.

F. 48, Wid. of labourer, cho. 24 hours, 6 Sept. 10, Brand street, Holloway. The state of this street repeatedly complained of, both now and at the time of the influenza, 1847—8.

M. 40, independent, cho. 10 days, gastric fever 5 days, 5 Sept. 14, Alfred street.

M. 44, baker, cho. 14 days, congestion of the brain, 8 Sept. 2, Shepperton place. Pigs kept up a yard near this house—reported before,

F. 37, W. of labourer, cho. 10 hours, 6 Sept. 7, Brand street, Holloway. One man dying in this house; another died while I was registering.

Note.—Week ending 1 Sept.—Deaths 25, of which cho. 12, diarrhoea 6.

8 Sept. " 44, of which cho. 24, diarrhoea 6.

More removals to Free Hospital.—See Gray's Inn Return.

Taking into consideration the "locality, drainage, ventilation, and manière d'être" of those that have died from cholera and diarrhoea, since the 23d of June last, I find that placing each case in one of the following grades, the result to be:—very good, 0; good, 5; tolerable, 30; bad, 39; very bad, 47. This does not include those removed to Free Hospital, who may safely be placed in the two last numbers.

35.—HACKNEY; Hackney.

M. 30, gardener, cho. 16 hours, Grove lane. The houses in Grove lane stand open and airy, but the drainage is imperfect.

M. 53, commercial clerk, slight premonitory diarrhoea, 5 days, cho. 8 hours, 5, Sutton place. Airy and pleasant.

F. 45, W. of bricklayer, diarrhoea, cho. 1 week, 1, Down terrace. Airy, and good drainage.

M. 26, cattle drover, cho. 14 hours, High street, Homerton. House clean and airy.

39.—Stoke Newington.

F. 25, W. of brickmaker, cho. 13 hours, in the stage of collapse, 3 Sept. 18, Prospect place, Hack road. The house close and overcrowded, and very unfavourable to health.

M. 3, Son of coachman, diarrhoea, a few hours, cho. 12 hours, 3 Sept. 5, Elizabeth terrace, Edward's lane. The street is open and well cleansed.

M. 1, Son of coachman, diarrhoea, 3 days, rice-water purging, 5 Sept. 5, Elizabeth terrace, Edward's lane. The street is open and well cleansed.

Mr. E. T. Bond, the medical attendant of these children, certifies (as to the elder one) "this child was one of a family of seven, 5 children and father and mother occupying 2 rooms, the house consisting of 4 rooms, the 2 lower ones occupied by another family of six,—the parents are very decent people, but the father had been six weeks out of work, and the family had been, in consequence, sadly pinched for food: the whole seven slept in one chamber, the condition of which at my first visit, reminded me of something between an oven and a stewpan. The child was in a state of collapse when I first saw it, and lived ten or twelve hours afterwards."

M. 2, Son of labourer, cho. 4 days, 6 Sept. 6, Cock and Castle lane. Close and overcrowded, two families living in 3 rooms, consisting of 6 to 9 persons.

M. 7, Son of gardener, cho. 20 hours, collapsed when first seen, 7 Sept. 4, Red Lion lane, Church street. This street is close and overcrowded, but cleanly.

M. 19, Son of brickmaker, cho. 13 hours, collapse 5 hours, 7 Sept. 13, Cock and Castle lane. Close and overcrowded. The mother of this youth died in the same house 12 days since, and I understand that she had been in attendance on sick members of her family, and this makes the 13th of them who have died of cholera, &c. in this and an adjoining district.

40.—ST. GILES; St. Giles, South.

F. 35, W. of master carver and gilder, cho. 11 hours, 1 Sept. 2, Little Wild street.

F. 47, W. of wheelwright, cho. 33 hours, 7 Sept. 7, Alfred mews.

In reference to the deaths registered in the week ending Saturday, Sept. 8, Mr. Simpson, the registrar, states that the deaths from all causes exceed that of any previous week, and that the mortality from cholera and diarrhoea is also larger than on any previous occasion. It is satisfactory to find that the deaths from cholera last week in Church lane are reduced to two, independent of those occurring in the Workhouse which have been removed; but in the surrounding district they have increased. The mortality from the prevailing epidemic in Church lane (the "rookery"), among the poor Irish families has been excessive; it first showed itself on the 21st July. There are 15 houses on each side of the way, and 28 deaths will be found in my returns, as follows:—In the house No. 3, Church lane three deaths have been registered; at No. 4, two; No. 6, two; No. 7, four; No. 8, two; No. 15, one; No. 17, one; No. 18, three; No. 20, one; No. 21, two; No. 22, two; No. 24, one; No. 27, three; and No. 28, one. Many of the inhabitants of the lane have dispersed, and the deaths of several have been registered elsewhere, independent of those removed and dying in the Workhouse.

42—St. George, Bloomsbury.

F. 64, Wid. formerly a servant, cho. 6 days, 3 Sept. 18, Little Coram street. Very close, having no back windows, and the street unfavourable to health, generally speaking.

F. 43, W. of carpenter, cho. 11 hours, 5 Sept. 33, Hyde street. The informant stated that the privy was situated in the front area, and so confined as to emit the stench up the house, which at times was intolerable.

M. 7, Son of carman, cho. 9 hours, 5 Sept. 5, Museum street. Very clean and healthy.

M. 35, employed at floor cloth works, cho. 32 hours, 5 Sept. 35, Kenton street. The deceased left home at 6 a.m. for his employ in the Strand, and returned at 1 p.m. very sick. Had medicine on his road home; diarrhoea came on rapidly, but medical aid was not obtained until 5 o'clock.

F. 35, W. of dairyman, disease of the liver, 4 or 5 years, diarrhoea, 32 hours, 4 Sept. 20, Museum street. In this case an inquest has been since held by desire of the husband, owing to some idle reports to his prejudice.

43—STRAND; St. Clement Danes.

F. 40, W. of porter, cho. 18 hours, 31 Aug. 10, White's alley, Liberty of the Rolls.

F. 29, W. of labourer, cho. 17 hours, 6 Sept. 10, Brick court, Liberty of the Rolls.

M. 19, porter, cho. 18 hours, 3 Sept. 16, Milford lane.

F. 24, W. of chimney sweep, cho. 10 hours, 5 Sept. 4, Kingsbury place, Liberty of the Rolls.

M. 2, Son of labourer, cho. 3 days, 6 Sept. 9, Lower Serle's place.

M. 62, journeyman upholsterer, cho. 36 hours, 6 Sept. 2, Clement's court.

F. 45, W. of journeyman paper hanger, cho. 22 hours, 7 Sept. 1, Church passage, Liberty of the Rolls.

F. 33, W. of coal porter, cho. 9 hours, 7 Sept. 6, Crown court.

F. 9 months, Da. of journeyman butcher, cho. 18 hours, 6 Sept. 7, Little White's alley, Liberty of the Rolls.

M. 3, Son of cab driver, atrophica, diarrhoea, 2 days, 4 Sept. 2, Vere street.

It will be observed, that the disease in this district is fatal in 4 distinct quarters; they may be distinguished as—the White's alley district, situate between Chaucery and Peter lanes—the Shire lane district, opening into Fleet street, near Temple bar—the Clement's lane district—and Milford lane district, near the river. All the cases of this week, and almost all from the beginning of the outbreak, have occurred in one or the other of these neighbourhoods, which are dirty, close, badly drained, stinking, and filthy—every room tenanted by a distinct family of the poorest description; and in many of the houses there are 30 people—almost every house contains a cesspool, emptied occasionally by the lodgers, who throw the contents (as at 6, Crown court, near Shire lane) by parlours into the court. Scarcely a case has occurred in the more respectable and open part of this district.

The following 3 cases occurred in the KING'S COLLEGE HOSPITAL:—

M. 71, labourer, cho. 24 hours, 3 Sept. from Model Lodging house, Bloomsbury.

M. 23, labourer, cho. 14 hours, 2 Sept. from 8, Wild court, Great Wild street. Close, crowded, filthy court, inhabited by the lowest class of Irish.

F. 4, Da. of costermonger, cho. 24 hours, 6 Sept. from 41, Clement's lane. Close by Enon Chapel court. The drains smell dreadfully. House close, crowded, unhealthy.

44—St. Mary le Strand.

F. 77, Wid. of silversmith, cho. 1 Sept. 7, Houghton street, St. Clement Danes.

F. 61, W. of porter, cho. 3 days, second attack, 1 Sept. 21, Drury court.

F. 60, Wid. of lawyer's clerk, cho. typhus a fortnight after the primary attack, 3 Sept. 12, Exeter street, St. Paul, Covent garden.

45—St. Anne, Soho.

F. 62, needlewoman, cho. 11 hours, 2 Sept. 425, Oxford street. Her sister died in same house on the 31st August. Open street 1 bar from the medical gentleman who attended this patient that the house is well drained, new drains having been constructed at a considerable expense four years ago.

M. 8 months, Son of clerk, diarrhoea, 4 days, debility, 5 days, 1 Sept. 408, Oxford street.

F. 5, Da. of cabinet maker, cho. 8 hours, 3 Sept. 12, St. Anne's court. Close and over-crowded.

M. 27, gas fitter, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 11, Grafton street. Offensive smell in house, with slaughter-house at the back. Open street.

M. 52, tailor, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 1, Porter street. Open street.

F. 2, Da. of vocalist, scarlatina, 10 days, diarrhoea, 4 days, 5 Sept. 65, Dean street. Open street.

M. 34, carpenter, cho. 18 hours, 5 Sept. 3, Market street. House dirty and crowded, having a slaughter-house at back.

F. 42, W. of tailor, cho. 60 hours, 8 Sept. 3, Market street. She attended upon the person, who died of cholera above.

46—47—HOLBORN; St. George the Martyr.

F. 51, spinster, diarrhoea melaena, 13 days, 1 Sept. 23, Red Lion street. Healthy neighbourhood.

M. 59, watchmaker, diarrhoea, 3 days, gradual decline, 2 months, 3 Sept. 13, Theobald's road, Red Lion square. Healthy neighbourhood.

M. 39, journeyman tailor, cho. 20 hours, 5 Sept. 55, Theobald's road. Bedford row. Healthy neighbourhood.

F. 30, W. of groom, diarrhoea, 4 days, cho. 30 hours, 7 Sept. 13, Fullwood's rents. This is a densely-populated neighbourhood. The house is very large, with a yard at back, one side open to Gray's Inn gardens.

F. 1, Da. of journeyman currier, diarrhoea, 8 Sept. 50, Eagle street, Red Lion square. Very full of lodgers.

M. 49, waiter, diarrhoea, 14 days, cho. 12 hours, 7 Sept. 3, Castle court. This court branches out of Fullwood's rents. No thoroughfare; thickly populated.

F. 85, Wid. of journeyman baker, diarrhoea, 18 hours, cho. 8 hours, 7 Sept. 4,lland court. A clean court, leading from Bedford Row to Holborn.

48—St. Andrew, Holborn.

F. under 1, Da. of labourer, cho. 6 hours, 3 Sept. 1, Fox place, Fox court, Gray's Inn lane. Fox place is very close and crowded. Fox court is a large open court and thoroughfare into Gray's Inn lane.

M. 60, labourer, cho. 2 Sept. 2, Burge's court, Mount pleasant. Burge's court is a small narrow court at the back of Mount pleasant, good drainage. The first floors look into a large open yard.

F. 43, W. of waterman to a cab stand, cho. 40 hours, 5 Sept. 1, Crown court, Portpool lane. Crown court is very narrow at the bottom, and close, but all the upper rooms look into the large dray yard of Messrs. Keed and Co. brewers.

F. 38, Wid. cane chair bottomer, cho. 18 hours, 5 Sept. 101, the narrow part of Leather lane, near Holborn. This part is thickly inhabited. The Old Horse and Groom Inn yard is behind, with the old gallery, &c. Plenty of water, and, I think, good drainage.

M. 3, Son of labourer, diarrhoea, 14 days, 3 Sept. 12, Tindall's buildings, Gray's Inn lane. Tindall's buildings is a large open place, thickly inhabited with Irish families; it seems to be kept clean; there is a large sewer at the bottom.

F. 5, Da. of compositor, cho. 6 hours, 7 Sept. 20, Back hill, Hatton garden. Back hill is a large open street, with good drainage and plenty of water.

The 4 following cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE:—

F. 39, Spinster, cho. 12 hours, 31 Aug. The Holborn Union Workhouse has not so many inmates at this time as it has sometimes. Every part appears to be kept as clean as it possibly can be.

F. 60, W. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 3 Sept. from 12, Tindall's buildings, Gray's Inn lane.

M. 52, labourer, cho. 20 hours, 5 Sept. from 2, George court, Fox court, Gray's Inn lane.

M. 37, porter, cho. 26 hours, 6 Sept. from 2, Tash street, Gray's Inn lane. Tash street is narrow, and generally very clean. A sewer in the centre of the street, good drainage, and a good supply of water.

49—Saffron Hill.

F. 4, Da. of carpenter, diarrhoea, 56 hours, collapse, 51 hours, cho. 2 Sept. 131, St. John street.

M. 23, shopman to cheesemonger, cho. 6 days, 1 Sept. 2, Hatton yard. The deceased was shopman to Mr. Osborn, cheesemonger, of Ludgate hill, where 2 persons were attacked with cholera and died a few weeks since.

F. 63, W. of lodge keeper at Charter house, cho. 12 hours, 31 Aug. 4, Charter house lane.

M. 2, Son of tinman, cho. 4 Sept. 110, Great Saffron hill. The stench from the privy of this house is sometimes very offensive.

M. 4 months, Son of turner, cho. infantum, 18 hours, 5 Sept. 4, Benjamin street.

M. 45, carpenter, cho. 5 Sept. 9, Hatton garden.

M. 43, Blacksmith, cho. 14 hours, 6 Sept. 16, Saffron street. There is a fat melter's at the back of this house which, 1 am informed, (when they are boiling,) smells very offensive.

F. 5 weeks, Da. of tailor, diarrhoea, 6 Sept. 5, Leicester place.

M. 8 months, Son of drover, diarrhoea, 4 Sept. 5, Red Lion alley. This house is close to several slaughter houses, but there has not been a case of diarrhoea occur there for a long period that has proved fatal, and no death from cholera.

50—CLERKENWELL; Peutonville.

M. 9 months, Son of farrier, teething, diarrhoea, 2 days, 75, White Lion street.

M. 93, gardener, cho. 3 days, 2, White Conduit terrace.

M. 3 weeks, Son of butler, diarrhoea, 4 days, 9, Warren street.

M. 30, engineer, cho. 24 hours, 6, Southampton street.

F. 37, W. of glass cutter, cho. 33 hours, 2, Field court.

51—Amwell.

M. 10 months Da. of porter, cho. 3 days, 2 Sept. 19, Vineyard gardens.

M. 26, not known, cho. 14 Aug. HOUSE OF CORRECTION. I have reported this case, but could not obtain the Coroner's signature, in order to register it, until this week.

F. 16, servant of jeweller, cho. 2 Sept. 14, Exmouth street. The house in which this poor girl died abuts on the Spa fields burying ground; the window of the kitchen in which she lived opens nearly upon the earth; graves are allowed to remain open all night, and the exhalations therefrom are most offensive. I consider the number of interments in this ground very prejudicial to health.

F. 35, W. of glass grinder, cho. 20 hours, 7, Sept. 3, Vine court. This death took place within a few yards of Spa fields burying ground, and the interment is to take place there. I cannot help observing that the space of ground now open for interment is only 72 feet by 72, and from 15 to 30 persons are buried in this space weekly!

52—Goswell street.

M. 53, glass cutter, cho. 12 hours, preceded by diarrhoea some days, 2 Sept. 32, Wisniskiu street.

F. 30, W. of glass embosser, diarrhoea, 3 weeks, cho. 16 hours, 1 Sept. 4, Ashley street.

53—CLERKENWELL; St. James.

M. 56, broker, diarrhoea, 2 Sept. 29, Clerkenwell green. The wife of this man was registered last week; he came and registered her death on the 29 Aug. when he seemed quite well.

M. 6 months, Son of printer, diarrhoea, 10 days, 3 Sept. 24, Eagle court.

M. 59, labourer, cho. 24 hours, 3 Sept. 71, Turnmill street.

F. 48, W. of labourer, cho. 18 hours, 3 Sept. 11, Rose alley. House very confined and ill cleansed.

M. 64, labourer, diarrhoea, 15 hours, cho. 30 hours, 2 Sept. 12, Bit alley. House very confined and ill cleansed.

F. 19, Da. of butcher, cho. 18 hours, 6 Sept. 4, Albert place. This girl was attacked about seven o'clock in the morning at a house near the Marsh Gate, Lambeth; brought home in a cab about ten o'clock, and died soon after eleven o'clock the same night.

M. 48, silversmith, fever, gastric, 9 days, subsequent to cho. 2 Sept. WORKHOUSE, Coppice row, from 9, Pear tree court. In the Workhouse 2 or 3 days.

F. 53, W. of itinerant musician, cho. 2 days, 3 Sept. 1, Mailstone place, Old Nichol street. A close, dirty undrained court. The third death in the same house—the family then removed, and the father since dead.
F. 6, Da. of journeyman weaver, cho. 18 hours, 5 Sept. Pyke's buildings, Barnet street. A yard connected with stables, only partially drained.
F. 9, Da. of journeyman tailor, cho. 18 hours, 5 Sept. 19, Crahtree row. A crowded row. No drainage.
F. 4, Da. of hawker, cho. 24 hours, typhus, 5 days, 4 Sept. 2, Collingwood street. A close and crowded street, the spot where the death occurred tolerably drained.

F. 7 months, Da. of journeyman chair maker, diarrhoea, 7 days, 3 Sept. 5, Collingwood street.

F. 64, Wid. of ship's steward, cho. 6½ hours, 5 Sept. 5, Virginia row. An over-crowded, close, and ill-cleaned street, with a capital sewer running through it, and notwithstanding the waste water is carried off by surface drainage only.

F. 29, Single woman, cohabiting with a hawker, cho. 15½ hours, 7 Sept. 2, Turville buildings, Turville street. This court is a small parallelogram, containing 6 inhabited and 2 uninhabited houses, with no back yards, with an almost total stagnation of air—the chief supply being perpendicular; no water laid on, and the drainage being through a stone grating in the centre of the court, having communication with a sewer.

M. 12 days, Son of journeyman tailor, diarrhoea, 4 days, 2 Sept. 10, Bath street. A crowded and ill-cleaned street, with good drainage.

M. 5 months, Son journeyman nautical instrument maker, diarrhoea, 3 days 6 Sept. 11, Caroline street. A very close, narrow, and crowded street with good back drainage.

F. 5 months, Da. of hawker, epidemic diarrhoea, 7 days, 4 Sept. 14, Vincent street. A very close, over-crowded, ill-cleaned street, without drainage.

F. 2, Da. of Hawker, measles, 5 day, cho. 2 days, 7 Sept. 2, Turville place. A very close and overcrowded court, good drainage.

F. 32, spinster, shoe binder, cho. 12 hours, 7 Sept. 1, Gibraltar walk. A narrow, close, and crowded street—not otherwise injurious to health.

Mr. Murray, the Registrar, says "notwithstanding the abatement of Cholera in its original location, it is gradually creeping over my district; in its progress discovering with instructive sagacity every deficiency of precaution, every absence of the essentials to good health, whether existing in a street, a house, a family, or an individual, and more rarely appearing where none of the predisposing causes are known to exist. That its chief fury is now spent is to be hoped, that many more victims may be stricken down is to be feared. But whilst there are no sewers in streets a century old, or no communications into existing sewers from contiguous houses, whilst houses remain contaminated with the filth of years, whilst the streets remain for days uncleaned from accumulating dirt, whilst the free circulation of fresh air continues to be impeded, and whilst the daily supply of water of questionable purity continues, from various causes, to be locally deficient, so long may the periodical occurrence of such appalling visitations as that which now afflicts my district be expected with fatal energy and telling effect."

77—WHITECHAPEL; Spitalfields.

F. 9, Da. of porter, cho. 18 hours, 6 Sept. 3, Diamond court, Great Pearl street. Close and badly drained.
M. 72, carpenter, cho. 20 hours, no medical attendant, 6 Sept. 4, Dorset street. Crowded and badly drained.

M. 2, Son of baker, diarrhoea, 7 days, 2 Sept. 2, Well street.
M. 39, weaver, cho. 3 days, fever, 4 days, 3 Sept. 49, High street. Mother of this man died of cholera in the same house 2 weeks since.
M. 22, pastry cook, cho. 9 hours, 5 Sept. 7, Halifax street. Died on the day he was brought from Newington (at his mother's house) where he had been living for 4 years and she died 3 days after of cholera.
F. 51, Wid. of weaver, cho. 36 hours, 5 Sept. 43, Brick lane, Spitalfields. Street wide and open.
M. 27, labourer, cho. 22 hours, 8 Sept. 10, George street. Five in family lived in a small room. House over crowded.
F. 45, W. of shoemaker, cho. 11 hours, 8 Sept. 7, Halifax street. Five in family in one room. Her son was brought home on the 5th instant, and died in 9 hours of cholera.
M. 2, Son of weaver, diarrhoea, 2 days, cho. 8 hours, 6 Sept. 3, Chicksand street. This street wide and open. House over crowded.

80—Whitechapel, North.

M. 47, bedstead maker, fever and cho. 21 hours, 3 Sept. 6, Pratt's alley, Little North street. A close, narrow place.
F. 23, W. of french polisher, cho. 12 hours, 6 Sept. 1, St. Mary street, Whitechapel road. First house out of the open road.
M. 43, general dealer, cho. 2 days, 7 Sept. 7, Love court, Petticoat lane. A close and crowded place chiefly occupied by Jews, but this is the first case among them which has occurred in my district.

The following 6 cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE:—

F. 23, a single woman, cho. 12 hours, 2 Sept. from Crown court, Glass house street, Rosemary lane.
F. 25, single woman, cho. 24 hours, 2 Sept. from 3, Glass house street, Rosemary lane.
F. 43, W. of porter, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. from 5, Dowsing place, Chicksand street.
M. 45, bricklayer, cho. and fever, 7 days, 4 Sept. from 11, King's Arms court, Whitechapel road. The wife of this man died on the 30 Aug. and was reported last week.
F. 9, Da. of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 5 Sept. from Spitalfields Workhouse.

F. 56, W. of butcher, diarrhoea and enteritis, 3 days, 3 Sept. 5, Everard's place, Back Church lane. Not over-crowded, and open.
M. 2, Son of tailor, diarrhoea, convulsions, 4 Sept. 8, Gower's walk. Not over-crowded; open, and well-cleansed.

83—Aldgate.

F. 30, W. of labourer, cho. 6 days, 2 Sept. 1, Cow yard, Blue Anchor yard. Close, crowded, and very unfavourable to health.
M. 9, Son of labourer, cho. 8 hours, 1 Sept. 12, Blue Anchor yard. Unfavourable to health.

F. 38, W. of tailor, cho. 27 hours, 2 Sept. 3, Queen street. A very close confined street, the houses without ventilation.
M. 64, coal whipper, diarrhoea, 6 hours, cho. 12 hours, 31 Aug. 8, Crown court, Glasshouse street. This court is very densely populated by persons of dirty and intemperate habits.

F. 60, W. of labourer, cho. 6 days, 3 Sept. 5, Cooper's court, Blue Anchor yard. In this court there are above 200 persons closely packed, in one house containing 3 rooms there are 19 persons living.

F. 52, W. of carpenter, cho. 9 hours, 2 Sept. 17, Darby street, Royal Mint street. Open, but surrounded by a bad locality.

M. 29, mariner, cho. 24 hours, not certified, 6 Sept. on board the "Princess," brig, in St. Katherine's docks. Had been invalid for 12 months preceding.

F. 5, Da. of ship carpenter, cho. 36 hours, 4 Sept. 14, New Martin street, Glasshouse street. This street was one of the filthiest in the neighbourhood, a sewer and good drainage to all the houses was made 2 years ago, and the street well paved, this is the first case of cholera here.

M. 65, carpenter, diarrhoea, 30 hours, bloody flux and dysentery, 6 Sept. 17, Darby street, Royal Mint street. Open, but surrounded by bad locality. This man's wife died on the 2nd instant.

F. 22, W. of nightman, cho. 4 days, 5 Sept. 3, Crown court, Blue Anchor yard. Over crowded, unhealthy place.

M. 8 months, Son of labourer, cho. 8 Sept. 3, Shorter's rents, Dock street. The cholera seems to have visited No. 7, 8, and 9, in this court. The medical gentleman states this case was produced by neglect and improper treatment.

M. 46, private in the Scotch Fusilier Guards, 4 Sept. cho. 4 hours, HOSPITAL, Tower of London. Steady man, not of intemperate habits.

The following 7 cases occurred in the HOSPITAL, 1, Dock street:—

84—ST. GEORGE IN THE EAST; St. Paul.

F. 35, W. of mariner, cho. 12 hours, 2 Sept. 99, Old Gravel lane. Not considered unfavourable to health; the deceased kept a lodging house for sailors, and drank freely.

M. 8, Son of labourer, cho. 12 hours, 30 Aug. 4, Jones' row, Chapel street. Close and overcrowded with poor labourers.

M. 1, Son of mariner, diarrhoea, 3 weeks, 30 Aug. 8, Hardinge street. Not considered unhealthy.

F. 37, W. of mathematical instrument maker, cho. 15 hours, 3 Sept. 3, Lower Chapman street. Not considered unhealthy.

M. 20, labourer, cho. 20 hours, 3 Sept. 43, Devonshire street. Close and overcrowded.

F. 8, Da. of carpenter, cho. 8 hours, 4 Sept. 2, China place, Back road. The deceased was a weakly child, and had eaten some stale periwinkles overnight.

M. 44, labourer, diarrhoea 7 days, cho. 2 days, 3 Sept. 4, Martha street. Not considered unhealthy.

M. 48, licensed victualler, cho. 33 hours, 5, Sept. 131, Saint George street. Not considered unhealthy.

F. 16, Da. of City missionary, cho. 12 hours, 5 Sept. 96, Old Gravel lane. This house is adjoining my residence, and is a great nuisance, from being the receptacle and resort of vagrants and low characters, seeking assistance from the father of deceased, a missionary, who has also a large family in the house.

M. 80, surgical instrument maker, diarrhoea, 8 days, 4 Sept. 37, John street. Not considered unhealthy; probably from old age.

The 4 following cases occurred in the CHOLERA HOUSE, 3 Bath terrace:—

F. 47, W. of labourer, cho. 46 hours, 6 Sept. from 4, Sun court. A close, confined court, crowded with labourers and families.

F. 55, Wid. of labourer, cho. 39 hours, 7 Sept. from 5, Duke street. The houses in Duke street are mostly overcrowded.

M. 23, mariner, cho. 10½ hours, 6 Sept. from 102, St. George street. Not considered unhealthy.

M. 26, ship rigger, cho. 12 hours, 7 Sept. from 4, Hungerford street. Hungerford street is the worst street in my district, chiefly inhabited by prostitutes and low characters; ill-cleansed, and cellars full of water from want of drainage.

85—St. Mary.

F. 36, Wid. cho. 11 hours, 2 Sept. 8, Merton's court, Ratcliff highway. A narrow court, about 8 feet in width, containing 8 small houses,—no thoroughfare.

 M. 6, Son of porter, cho. 6 hours, 4 Sept. 17, Glover's Hatch. Glover's Hatch is at the back of White Horse street, the houses are small, close and unhealthy.
 F. 51, Wid. of carpenter, cho. 4 Sept. 30, John street, Cornwall road.
 M. 5, Son of iron plate worker, cho. 9 hours, 2 Sept. 6, Mitre street.
 F. 6, Da. of shoemaker, cho. 6 Sept. 52, Cornwall road.
 F. 26, singlewoman, cho. 7 days, consecutive fever, 4 Sept. 129, Wootton street.
 M. 5 months, Son of labourer, cho. 8 hours, 4 Sept. 122, Cornwall road. The house where these two deaths occurred is close and dirty; and from the nature of the business carried on below, (of rag and bone dealer) emits at all times "a compound of most villanous smells."

M. 10 months, Son of singlewoman, diarrhoea, cho. 3 days, 6 Sept. 122, Cornwall road. As above.
 M. 11 hours, Son of labourer, cho. 3 Sept. 3, Little Windmill street. The mother had cholera during her confinement, the child appeared to die from that cause, the mother is recovering.
 M. 64, journeyman wheelwright, cho. 5 days, congestion of the brain, 2 days, 6 Sept. 7, Maiden court, Broadwall. The houses in Maiden court are open in front, but the situation is damp.
 M. 12, Son of journeyman carpenter, cho. 12 hours, 6 Sept. 13, Mitre street.
 F. 44, W. of journeyman printer, cho. 5 Sept. 4, John street, Roupell street. Houses clean and airy at back.
 M. 68, master tailor, cho. 7 Sept. 4, Brad street.
 F. 24, W. of beer retailer, cho. 16 hours, 5 Sept. 162, Waterloo road.
 M. 41, coal porter, cho. 20 hours, 7 Sept. 6, Little Windmill street. Several cases before recorded in this most dirty street.
 M. 2 months, Son of servant, diarrhoea, 1 week, convulsions, 6 Sept. 16, John street.
 M. 33, journeyman smith, cho. 17 hours, 6 Sept. 5, Cornwall place. The third death from cholera recently in this place, described before.
 F. 27, W. of wigmaker, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 98, Cornwall road.
 The total return of deaths this week in my district is 40, with one exception, (the week ending 4th August, when the number was 42), the greatest number registered in any one week. The deaths from cholera and diarrhoea in that week were 36; in this 33, other causes 7; the last number is the full weekly average of any corresponding quarter, showing that the deaths from cholera are the excess.—Registrar.

108—Waterloo Road, 2nd.

F. 55, Wid. of shoemaker, cho. 11 hours, 31 Aug. 10, Prince's buildings, York road.
 M. 73, Somerset House messenger, cho. 30 hours, 1 Sept. 22, Howley place. This house declared to be very unhealthily by medical attendant.
 F. 35, Wid. of sawyer, diarrhoea 22 days, cho. 8 hours, 2 Sept. 5, Granby gardens.
 F. 4, Da. of shoemaker, cho. 12 hours, scarlatina anginoza 24 hours, rubella 24 hours, 2 Sept. 22, Apollo buildings. A most unhealthy locality—fully described in last return.
 M. 10, Son of master oilman, cho. 12 hours, 2 Sept. 2, Mount Row, Westminster road. These are respectable houses, in an open airy situation.
 F. 3, Da. of butcher, cho. 12 hours, 2 Sept. 16, James street. The attacks and deaths in this street have, I think, been more severe than in any other part of my district—it was built on a swamp—the ditches formerly complained of are now filled up.
 F. 71, Wid. of artist, paralysis 18 months, cho. 5 weeks, decay, 3 Sept. 79, James street. Described above.
 F. 19, single woman, diarrhoea 48 hours, cho. 24 hours, 3 Sept. 2, Granby street. An airy street.
 F. 2, Da. of tailor, diarrhoea 2 days, cho. 6 hours, 3 Sept. 9, Granby Gardens. Drains smell very badly.
 M. 32, clerk to a dyer, cho. 12 hours, 2 Sept. 70, Oakley street.
 M. 16, Son of railway carriage inspector, cho. 12 hours, 2 Sept. 6, Little Vine street.
 M. 41, master wax-doll maker, cho. 17 hours, 3 Sept. 11, Mount Row, Westminster road. Cesspool overflowed. This case was a relapse.
 F. 22, straw-bonnet maker, cho. 4 Sept. 6, Agnes street, Waterloo road.
 M. 1, Son of cab proprietor, diarrhoea 6 days, 4 Sept. 14, Howley place.
 F. 4, Da. of labourer, cho. 7 hours, 5 Sept. 36, Frances street, Westminster road. Very numerous has been the attacks and deaths in this street; it is crowded with Irish of dirty habits.
 M. 1, Son of baker, cho. 9 days, 6 Sept. 31 Frances street, Westminster road.
 F. 3 months, Da. of labourer, diarrhoea, cho. 2 days, 3 Sept. 4, Robert street, Vine street.
 M. 3, Son of engineer, cho. 9 hours, 5 Sept. 22, Thomas street.

 F. 48, Wid. unknown, cho. 5 days, 3 Sept. 7, Smart's terrace, Addington street. A clean newly built terrace, without any complaint as to drainage.
 M. 2, Son of labourer, cho. 3 days, 4 Sept. 34, Charles street. The privy was in a dreadful state—it has since been emptied.
 M. 2, Son of solicitor's clerk, cho. 9 hours, 5 Sept. 38, York road. An open airy street.
 F. 41, Wid. of cooper, cho. 16 hours, 5 Sept. 123, Lower Marsh.
 F. 33, W. of porter on railway, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 4, Farnham place, Lower Marsh.
 M. 1, Son of porter on railway, cho. 4 Sept. 4, Farnham place, Lower Marsh.
 F. 40, W. of paper stainer, cho. 5 days, 6 Sept. 3, Mary's buildings. A very narrow confined place.
 M. 39, veneer cutter, cho. 20 hours, 5 Sept. 33, Isabella street.
 F. 49, W. of printer, cho. 3 days, 6 Sept. 23, Lower Marsh.
 F. 8, Da. of mariner, cho. 13 hours, collapse 7 hours, 7 Sept. 7, Sussex place, Vine street. The privy near to the house, and very offensive.
 F. 32, W. of dealer in marine stores, cho. 9 hours, 4 Sept. 20, Gloucester street.
 F. 30, wife of sawyer, diarrhoea 3 days, cho. 30 hours, 6 Sept. 3, Cottage place, York street.
 M. 2, Son of news agent, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 94, York road. Open, airy street.
 F. 56, W. of bricklayer, cho. 14 hours, 6 Sept. 3, Cheltenham place, Westminster road.
 M. 1, Son of equestrian, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 7, Gloucester street.
 F. 34, W. of stone mason, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 10, Agnes street.
 M. 68, hatter, diarrhoea 14 days, cho. 10 hours, 7 Sept. 25, Agnes street.
 F. 1, Da. of bricklayer, diarrhoea 4 weeks, convulsions 2 days, 8 Sept. 3, Robert's place, Lower Marsh.
 F. 4, Da. of compositor, cho. 32 hours, 7 Sept. 17, Vine terrace.
 M. 34, Custom-house gauger, cho. 6 Sept. 13, Anne street.
 Perhaps it may not be irrelevant to state that I have taken considerable pains, since the commencement of cholera in my district to ascertain at what particular stage of the disease medicine had first been administered, and I have no hesitation in saying that at least half the cases I have registered were allowed to proceed unchecked, until the most alarming and dangerous symptoms had manifested themselves, but lately more circumspection seems to have been used. Nevertheless the cases are still numerous in which persons seem to have been taken (the nature of the attacks) to be unconscious how highly necessary it is that immediate attention should be paid to it. My enquiries lead me to concur with the observations of a brother registrar,—"That the employers of the poor could do much to render them more alert to the terrible consequences of neglect or uncleanness."

 F. 42, W. of carrier, cho. 18 hours, 2 Sept. 5, Neville place, Neville street.
 F. 31, W. of brickmaker, cho. 48 hours, 2 Sept. 117, East street.
 F. 82, Wid. of smith, cho. 12 hours, 3 Sept. 12, St. George's cottages, Jonathan street.

M. 79, Lambeth pensioner, cho. 4 days, 4 Sept. 4, Carlingham street.
 F. 12, Da. of bricklayer, cho. 36 hours, 7 Sept. 13, Queen's place, New street. Very bad in all respects.
 F. 52, W. of labourer, cho. 28 hours, 29 Aug. 4, Pavé court, Lambeth walk. This court is wretchedly bad in all respects; inhabited by costermongers and others very poor, the effluvia arising from their habits and mode of living is shocking; bad drainage, filthily dirty, and scarcely any ventilation.

F. 53, Wid. of bird fancier, cho. 33 hours, 30 Aug. 8, Globe court, Regent street. This court contains only 9 houses, and I am informed every house has been attacked. See last Report—a mother and 4 children.

F. 40, W. of commercial traveller, diarrhoea, 1 day, cho. 2 days, 31 Aug. 14, Chester place. Large 10 roomed houses, inhabited by very respectable families, in the high road to Kennington.

F. 35, W. of mercantile clerk, cho. 12 hours, 1 Sept. 1, Wickham street. Cholera has again made its appearance in this street very fatal. Nothing has been done to alter its condition to my knowledge.

F. 39, W. of cabman, cho. 3 days, 30 Aug. Thomas yard, Regent street.
 F. 22, Spinster, cho. 8 hours, 1 Sept. 89, Tyers street.

M. 49, lamp lighter, cho. fever, 5 days, 2 Sept. 13, Vauxhall walk.
 F. 4, Da. of potter, cho. 7 days, 3 Sept. 6, Cross street, Vauxhall. Very bad.—See former Returns, Little Vauxhall terrace.

F. 81, Wid. of bargeman, diarrhoea, 1 day, 2 Sept. 126, Vauxhall walk.
 F. 42, W. of labourer, diarrhoea, 1 week, cho. 12 hours, 1 Sept. 91, East street.

F. 7, Da. of ivory turner, diarrhoea, 12 hours, cho. 4 hours, 2 Sept. 63, New street.
 F. 2, Da. of coal porter, cerebral disease, diarrhoea, 9 hours, 3 Sept. 2, St. Oswald's place, Vauxhall. This place is very confined; immediately in front of the houses is the fence of Vauxhall Gardens, from 16 to 20 feet high, which must greatly obstruct the free current of air.

F. 23, Spinster, cho. 2 Sept. 65, Pleasant place, Brook street.
 F. 57, Wid. of gentleman, diarrhoea, cho. 3 days, 3 Sept. 20, Golden's place.

F. 30, W. of engineer, cho. 21 hours, 3 Sept. 50, St. Alban's street.
 F. 48, W. of laundryman, cho. 2 days, 3 Sept. 55, Devonshire street.

F. 56, Wid. of master baker, cho. 3 days, 4 Sept. 3, Loughboro' street.
 M. 7, Son of labourer, cho. 3 days, 3 Sept. 82, Vauxhall walk.

F. 40, W. of labourer, cho. 45 hours, collapse, 15 hours, 4 Sept. 4, Princes place, Bird street.
 F. 30, W. of hair dresser, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 4, Charles place, Union street. Very bad in most respects.

F. 76, Wid. of carpenter, cho. 24 hours, 5 Sept. 20, St. Alban's street.
 M. 41, master plumber, cho. 25 hours, 2 Sept. 19, Princes road.

M. 72, gentleman, cephalitis, 14 days, diarrhoea, 7 days, 2 Sept. 4, Pleasant place, Brook street.
 M. 50, coach painter, cho. 24 hours, 3 Sept. 13, St. Oswald's place.

F. 44, W. of labourer, cho. 15 hours, 5 Sept. 2, Edward's street.
 F. 52, Spinster, cho. 6 days, 3 Sept. 26, Chester place.

F. 69, Wid. of carpenter, cho. 16 hours, 4 Sept. 23, Regent street.

 M. 30, bird fancier, diarrhoea, 3 days, cho. 12 hours, 4 Sept. 40, King street.

F. 0, Da. of labourer, cho. 13 hours, 2 Sept. 3, Hampshire street. This is the same house where a mother and 4 children died. The present occupier was not made acquainted with that fact until after he had taken possession. The wife is also very ill.

M. 38, costermonger, diarrhoea, 4 hours, cho. 8 hours, 6 Sept. 1, Pavé court, Lambeth walk.
 F. 55, W. of bookbinder, cho. 4 days, collapse, 16 hours, 4 Sept. 90, Union street.

F. 15, Da. of baker, cho. 18 hours, collapse, 6 hours, 3 Sept. 3, King street.
 M. 32, draper, cho. 2 days, 6 Sept. 4, Neville place, Neville street.

F. 10, Da. of costermonger, cho. 31 hours, collapse, 24 hours, 4 Sept. 2, Graves' cottages, Saunders' street.
 F. 84, Wid. cho. 9 hours, collapse, 5 hours, 4 Sept. 2, Graves' cottages, Saunders' street. The whole of this place ought to be destroyed in some manner; the state of the premises is such as must be highly prejudicial to the health of any human being. The medical gentleman coincides in that opinion.

M. 12, Son of painter, cho. 30 hours, 2 Sept. 55, East street.
 F. 9, Da. of porter, deceased, cho. 21 days, 4 Sept. 81, Wickham street.

F. 38, W. of omnibus driver, cho. 24 hours, 3 Sept. 25, Wickham street.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE deaths registered in London in the week ending Saturday September 15 were 2865; of which 1682 were by cholera; making the aggregate numbers, since the commencement of the epidemic in London, 12837. The deaths from all causes in the last six consecutive weeks were 1909, 2230, 2456, 2796, 3183, 2865. The numbers last week sensibly decreased. On Sunday the inhabitants of these islands, in the city and the country, in their cathedrals, village churches, and chapels, assembled to entreat God to stay the destroying plague; and as if by anticipation it began to subside, so that the time was most appropriate. After they had been journeying through the gloom, while the darkness grew thicker, the terror greater, the strokes of mortality nearer and everywhere uncertain, the light began to dawn, and the prayer—half supplication, half thanksgiving—rose of itself from the hearts of the people.

These great acts of religion are rarely performed in England; and whether the earnestness of the nation or the truth of God is regarded, the prayer for health has a much more serious import here than the ceremonial rites of paganism in Persia, Greece, or Rome; yet there it would have been deemed impiety to ask the increase or the earlier and later rains, unless the land were tilled and the seed sown: or to implore victory for their arms, except through the valour of well equipped armies. The prayer for the public health in England is a solemn pledge, not only that all the powers of the State, but that the local authorities, the clergy, the educated classes, who form and govern opinion—all the multitudes who join in that prayer—will employ the means, which with God's blessing will ensure its accomplishment, and save the people from the ravages of the cholera and other epidemics.

Thousands of the houses of London have now no pure water; in some places where the cholera is most fatal, the inhabitants are driven to use the polluted waters of tidal sewers for culinary and household purposes. This state of things will exist no longer; the first engineers of the country will be employed to lay the rivers under contribution, and in every house there will be a spring of fresh, filtered, living water; for circulating water is the life-blood of a city.

The bodies of the dead, "sown in corruption," will be decently interred in distant grounds, and sacred groves, where their flesh may be resolved into its elements, without tainting the air and destroying their brothers.

The carnage of slaughtered animals will no longer be suffered to infect the air of cities.

The sinks and sewers of London—black, bubbling lakes and rivers under ground—extending from the Thames to the house-drains and cesspools, send up damps into dwellings nightly, travel by us in the streets daily, and through a thousand mouths by the way and river side pour their poisonous incense on the passengers for ever: these emanations, if not drawn through and decomposed by fire, will no longer open under our faces, but ascend with the smoke over the houses; and other matters be carried, solid or in streams of water, over distant fields.

No city perhaps ever possessed such an efficient body of medical men as are now practising in London. During this epidemic they have performed services which in any other field must have won the highest honours; combating the disease night and day in the most pestilential quarters, and that on much more settled principles than the public might be led to suspect from certain discussions at the medical societies. And their office has been discharged with so much kindness as to deserve the gratitude of the poor; instead of drawing down on their heads the charges with which the physicians of other countries have often been assailed by the populace. Nearly all the sick have been seen by these practitioners; yet 12837 persons have already died of cholera in London. How is this? The medical force will be found to have been employed at an immense disadvantage. It is called into action at the wrong end of the malady. Inquiries prove that while medical advice is generally sought in the characteristic stage, it is seldom obtained in the premonitory stage, when the power of medicine is decisive; and to that earlier and still more important period preceding the premonitory stage, which is prevented as easily as cured, medical practice has had little or nothing to say. Cholera here also only shows in high relief what exists in ordinary circumstances. Medical men rarely if ever treat the beginnings of diseases, and are scarcely ever consulted professionally on the preservation of the health of cities or families. The art of preserving health is taught in no regular course of lectures at any of the great schools of medicine in the United Kingdom. Yet the classical sanatory works of Pringle, Lind, Blane, Jackson, Johnson, and Martin have been framed from observation in the British navy and army. In the science of health there are more exact, demonstrable truths than in the science of disease; and the advantage of "prevention" over "cure" requires no proof. In the Cyropædia of Xenophon physicians who only treat the sick are compared to "menders of torn clothes," while the preservation of health is declared a noble art, worthy of Cyrus himself. Vegetius speaks in similar, Jackson in stronger terms, but perhaps unjustly: for if it is godlike to save many from suffering, and to carry them in healthy life up to the natural term of existence, it is a worthy occupation to rescue a few from the arms of death, or incurable infirmity. But the preservation and restoration of health are parts of one science; and if, as has been done by London and Liverpool, health officers be appointed in all the districts of the kingdom, the art of preserving health will be studied by a high order of men well paid by the public; and ultimately with an increase of their remuneration,—the diminution of sickness, the disappearance of epidemics, immense advantage to the public,—the whole medical profession may devote themselves to the preservation and development of the vigour of the human faculties, instead of being tied down to the treatment of the sick and dying. "And this," Lord Bacon says, after his great survey of learning, "we hope might redound to a general good; if physicians would but exert themselves and raise their minds above the sordid considerations of cure; not deriving their honour from the necessities of mankind, but becoming ministers of the Divine power and goodness, both in prolonging and restoring the life of man; especially as this may be effected by safe, commodious, and not illiberal means, though hitherto unattempted. And certainly it would be an earnest of Divine favour if, whilst we are journeying to the land of promise, our garments, those frail bodies of ours, were not greatly to wear out in the wilderness of this world."*

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Positive, and tension variable.	The sky was generally one-half covered with cloud till 11 P.M., and overcast afterwards; cumulostratus and cirrostratus.
MONDAY.	Positive, and tension moderate between noon and 3h. P.M.	The clouds were slightly broken at noon, otherwise the sky was covered throughout the day; cumulostratus, cirrostratus, and scud. Frequent flashes of lightning were seen during the evening. Rain was falling occasionally between 9 P.M. and midnight.
TUESDAY.	Positive, and tension weak.	One half of the sky was covered till noon, wholly covered till 6 P.M., and generally clear afterwards; cumuli, cumulostrati, and cirrostratus. Lightning was seen occasionally during the evening, and thunder was heard at 5h. 30m. P.M.
WEDNESDAY.	Positive, and tension variable.	The sky was overcast till 6 P.M., and generally clear afterwards. Cirrostratus, scud and haze. Frequent showers of rain fell during the day. Flashes of lightning were seen in the S.E. during the evening.
THURSDAY.	Positive, and tension weak, at 9h. A.M., at other examinations nothing was shown.	The sky was overcast till 1h. 30m. P.M., and the amount of cloud was variable during the remainder of the day. Cirrostratus and scud. Squalls of wind and rain occurred during the morning.
FRIDAY.	Positive, and tension variable from 3h. P.M.	The sky was generally covered with cumulostratus and cirrostratus throughout the day.
SATURDAY.	Positive, and tension strong between noon and 9h. P.M.	The sky was overcast throughout the day. Cirrostratus and scud.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9 A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10 A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the "Devonshire" Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. A.M. was 57°7; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 54°2; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 55°9 and 54°0 respectively.

The reading of the barometer was 29°73 on Sunday at 10 A.M.; it then decreased till Wednesday about noon, when its reading was 28°88; after which period it increased till Saturday, about 9 A.M., and remained nearly stationary the rest of the day.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in each day of the Week ending SATURDAY; September 15th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used:—Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow; cho., for cholera. Pop., Population according to the Census of 1841. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns are omitted in this list.

F. 76, W. of scavenger, cho. 24 hours, 9 Sept. 3 Holiday yard. The water for the use of the inmates of this house, is supplied from the main into a butt which adjoins the closet in the cellar; this has only taken place recently, the inhabitants of Holiday yard having previously obtained the water for their use from a tap placed in the centre of the yard. A short time ago I had a great number of complaints from most of the houses in the yard, respecting the privies, which have at times overflowed; a sewer has since been made to communicate with the houses, and the complaints have now diminished.

F. 28, W. of chair-caner, cho. 4 days, 12 Sept. 3 Sherwood place.

The husband and father of the above persons states, that the drainage of his house is very good, but that on Thursday morning, the 6th instant, they were emptying some privies in Austin street (a short distance from his place) with the apparatus and hose, into the sewer, which caused a bad effluvia to arise up the grating of the drain in his yard; that on that day his wife was taken ill, and the child was shortly after affected, and died of cholera on Saturday. The wife continued to get worse, and died of cholera on the 12th. And a boy about 13 years of age working for him, was also taken ill, went home, and died of cholera in a few days, in the Green Sub-District. The wife was delivered of a dead child the day before she died.

M. 35, labourer, cho. 30 hours, 11 Sept. 65 Princes road.

I am not aware of any particular feature in these cases. The extraordinary neglect in numerous cases in not calling in medical assistance until the disease has obtained such a fatal hold upon the system that no skill or attention could afterwards subdue it, is but too apparent. Very many cases have fallen under my notice where parties have allowed diarrhœa to go on, accompanied with sickness, for days, many of them for a week; the disease has then assumed a more serious form, medical aid has been sought, but all efforts to save them have proved unavailing.

These streets and places have been described in former Returns; most of them are badly drained, badly ventilated, and much crowded.

In the return of deaths from cholera during the week ending 8th Sept. 1849, case No. 3, 22 Union street, will be found my remark—"In the same house, on Aug. 28, died of cholera the wife of a turner; another female was attacked, but has since recovered. On September 1, the daughter of the turner, 15 years of age, was attacked with cholera, and removed to the Marylebone Infirmary, where she died." Although I received this last statement from a credible informant, I am happy to say that the latter part of it is incorrect; "the daughter of the turner" having recovered at the Infirmary on September 8. Thus, of the four cases of cholera occurring (during five days) at 22 Union street, only two have proved fatal. I have been informed that the Marylebone Committee of the Board of Health have caused all the inmates of this house to be removed to the Workhouse.

In this yard there is a privy open to all comers, which is situated over a dung-heap; and I am informed the soil mixes with the dung, and that the refuse of the slaughter house in the neighbourhood is thrown amongst the dung, which lies much too long, and when removed the smells therefrom are very bad and injurious. There is only deceased's family residing down the yard, one house being empty. There are several stables occupied by horses. The privy is the only one for the occupiers.

F. 9, Da. of drover, (deceased), cho. 3 days, 12 Sept. 58 Middlesex street. No complaint as to drainage or otherwise. Deceased's father died at 25 Weston street, in Mr. Holl's district, on the 8th instant, of Asiatic cholera, after a few hours' illness; and on the 9th instant, deceased (who was removed from the house in Weston street on the previous evening, after the death of her father) was taken ill, and was then no doubt labouring under the disease.

M. 40, labourer in gas works, cho. 48 hours. 33 Cambridge street, Agar town. Open place but ill drained, house small, two families, not overcrowded.

Mr. Holl, the registrar, says:—"It is perhaps singular that up to the 15th instant no death nor case of cholera occurred in the Imperial Gas Works, Maiden lane. I inquired of a gentleman connected with the establishment who told me he had not heard of any case at this or the other establishments at Hackney and Shoreditch. Mr. Fogarty, the medical gentleman, under whose care the workmen are, informed me that the men are the most healthy persons in the neighbourhood. However two cases have occurred, but the first was not a strong man and rather intemperate; the other had been engaged but three days, and was a kind of superintendent. Is the coal gas destructive of the poison in the atmosphere which induces cholera?"

The whole number registered since 27th June to the 15th September inclusive, a period of between two and three months, are—

Cholera	26
Diarrhoea	25
Dysentery	6
Total	57

The first case of cholera, referring as far back as my book goes, 27th June, 1849, occurred to a female who was brought to the workhouse, whence I know not, and upon whom an inquest was held. The second, a female brought from a court in Fleet street to the Fever Hospital. The third case, 25th July, in Bayham street south, Camden Town, female, was an inhabitant of my district and a resident of some years, living in a healthy situation. August 4th, a case in King street, which intersects Bayham street and near the spot where the first case occurred; by the first case, I mean that in Bayham street, which really was the first in my district. August 9th, the next case was in Paradise place, Pancras road, directly east from Bayham street, a good half mile. August 16th, cases occur again in the first locality, Bayham street, west from Paradise place, and so alternately from east to west and from west to east. Out of the 26 cases registered by me, 11 were in the healthy part of Camden Town, and 11 near the Fever and Small Pox Hospitals, a very crowded and dirty neighbourhood, and all within a short distance of each other. Of the remaining four two were brought to the district and two died in an unhealthy house in Pratt street. Of diarrhoea, commencing 27th June, 5 patients died in the workhouse, 8 in neighbourhood of the hospitals, and 12 spread over the district.

M. 47, collector of bones, cho. 15 Sept. From 7 Weymouth street, Old Kent road.

M. 55, commercial traveller, cho. consecutive fever, 15 Sept. From 2 Vine yard, Harrow street.

The deaths from cholera and diarrhoea in the Workhouse this week are 14, causing my total to exhibit the same excess upon Sept. 8, which that showed over Sept. 1, the numbers being 33, 38, 43. Notwithstanding this, I cannot help indulging the hope that the worst is past. I have been this evening (Saturday) in various parts of my district registering births; I hear of very few persons ill, and only one death beyond those included in the present return. The cool cheerful weather we have had the last two or three days seems to have strengthened the nerves, and dissipated the fears of many timid persons, which is by no means an unimportant point.

107—LAMBETH; Waterloo Road, 1st Part.

Pop. 12767. Cholera 1; Diarrhoea —.

M. 8, Son of stereotyper, cho. 14 Sept. 33 Duke street. No apparent exciting cause beyond the circumstance of the child having eat two pears.

A marked decrease in the deaths from cholera and diarrhoea this week as compared with the last week's return, which was 33: this week 17. During the prevalence of the disease I have been convinced, from the inquiries I have made, that many valuable lives have been sacrificed from want of early attention to the premonitory symptoms, especially in young children and even grown up young females, who in many instances have neglected, from the painless nature of the attack, to inform their relatives or friends for two or three days. Numerous others again have, in the first instance, taken (without advice) opening medicine, castor oil, rhubarb, &c., purchased at the nearest chemist's, and sold without inquiry,—thus most probably hastening, instead of checking, the approach of the "insidious foe." The well known reluctance of the English character in all persons who are just able by their exertions to exist, to apply to the parochial doctor or parish authorities for assistance, and their total inability to pay the usual heavy charges for medical attendance, have in many instances caused delay till too late. In my humble opinion some arrangement should be made to afford medicine and attendance to all persons who apply for them, without its being considered in the light of receiving parochial relief, during the existence of the present scourge, which, though decreasing, is still virulent.

F. 65, Wid. of ship carpenter, cho. 12 hours, 13 Sept. 7 Hampshire street.

This place contains eight houses, in every one of which, I am informed, cholera has made its appearance. In No. 3 died a mother, just on the point of confinement, and four children. The husband, after the loss of all his family, fled; to wander, as he said, about the country, careless what might become of him. The landlord, or his agent, let the premises to another family, who entered the house ignorant of what had taken place, and were almost immediately seized with cholera. The daughter died in a few hours; the mother was very bad when I saw her, but has also since fled from the spot.

F. 13 months, Da. of carpenter, mesenteric disease 4 months, cho. 4 days, 15 Sept. 2 John street, Melon ground. This is the third death in this family within a week.

117—St. George.

Pop. 11225. Cholera 2; Diarrhoea —.

F. 60, W. of commercial clerk, cho. 22 hours, 14 Sept. 6 Ann street, Cobourg road.

M. 40, wharf clerk, cho. 16 hours, 14 Sept. 5 Southgate terrace, Cobourg road.

118—Dulwich.—Nil.

Pop. 1904. Cholera —; Diarrhoea —.

119—ROTHERHITHE; Rotherhithe.

Pop. 13917. Cholera 3; Diarrhoea —.

F. 32, W. of cordwainer, cho. 10 days, 14 Sept. 13 New street. Small and close neighbourhood. This is the second death in the same house within a few weeks.

M. 2 months, Son of labourer (deceased), cho. 5 days, 15 Sept. Globe street. The house small with a filthy sewer uncovered within a few yards of the house.

M. 20 months, Son of labourer, cho. 7 hours, 14 Sept. 14½ New street. Small house and close neighbourhood.

120—GREENWICH; St. Paul Deptford.

Pop. 18664. Cholera 3; Diarrhœa 1.

- M. 33, Son of a sawyer, cho. 60 hours, 14 Sept. 6 Friendly place.
 M. 44, grocer, cho. 21 hours, 14 Sept. 4 High street. He was one of the guardians of the Greenwich Union, for St. Paul Deptford, and he attended a meeting of the Board on the day preceding his death.
 M. 22, labourer, cho. 39 hours, 15 Sept. 1 Flood street.
 M. 16 months, Son of a labourer, teething, diarrhœa 6 weeks, 15 Sept. 5 Spring street.

Pop. 6953. Cholera —; Diarrhœa —.

122—Woolwich Arsenal.

Pop. 13367. Cholera 2; Diarrhœa —.

M. 21, waterman, cho. 16 hours, 13 Sept. 7 Union street. Was seized with cramp and pains in limbs on board the "Nymph" steamer, whilst on duty on passage up the river, and brought back in another vessel, taken to his own house, but died in a few hours after. A sober steady man.

F. 71, Wid. of artilleryman, cho. 35 hours, 15 Sept. 4 Surgeon street. This poor woman was lying ill with diarrhœa from Monday night till Thursday morning. No person to assist her till Mrs. Cary (whose husband died on the 6th instant of cholera in same house) returned home and immediately went to her assistance with the surgeon. It is a house with six rooms and thirteen persons living in it (chiefly Irish), the walls in a filthy state. There is no water laid on, so that the inmates generally get their water by begging it. A drain runs from a house in Hog lane through the washhouse of this house. There are two cellars, and I am informed that one of them has not been opened more than three or four times these five years. There are four houses in this unhealthy street, all of them in very bad condition.

123—Woolwich Dockyard.—Nil.

Pop. 12418. Cholera —; Diarrhœa —.

124—Greenwich East.

Pop. 13043. Cholera 4; Diarrhœa 2.

F. 28, spinster, servant, cho. 23 hours, 14 Sept. GREENWICH HOSPITAL. Deceased's master (Captain Branch) died on the 10th instant.

The 5 following cases occurred in the UNION WORKHOUSE:—

F. 80, Wid. of pensioner, natural decay, diarrhœa 8 days, 8 Sept. Inmate.
 M. 63, labourer, cho. 20 hours, 8 Sept. This was one of the men engaged to perform the duty of coffining the dead, attending funerals, &c. He is supposed to have taken the cholera by getting into the hearse to assist in taking out a very offensive corpse for interment.

M. 2, Son of ship's cook, cho. consecutive fever 6 days, 8 Sept. Taken ill in the street with mother, and brought in at midnight. No home.

M. 22, lunatic, diarrhœa 3 days, 14 Sept. Inmate.

M. 40, labourer, cho. 5 days, consecutive fever, 14 Sept. Brought into the Union from the "Golden Anchor," having first been taken there ill.

125—Greenwich West.

Pop. 16552. Cholera 1; Diarrhœa —.

M. 58, carpenter, cho. 33 hours, diarrhœa, some days, 11 Sept. 36 Blackheath Hill.

* The return from the North sub-district, West London, was not received in time for insertion in the causes of death. The 14 deaths, exclusive of cholera, are placed to causes not specified.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE mortality from cholera has rapidly declined. The deaths from all causes registered in London in the three weeks ending September 22, were 3160, 2842, and 1981. The decrease has been exclusively in the cholera deaths, which were 2026, 1682, and 839 in the three weeks. The deaths from cholera, which in the first week of September were 300 and 400 a-day, fell on the 19th to 110, and have since not exceeded 123.

The facts which have been published in detail will, it is believed, be found useful contributions to the natural history of the epidemic. They will show the regular course of the disease through a vast city population; the influence of sex, age, profession, and locality, and a great variety of circumstances on its mortality. It may be useful to point out now the remarkable effects of locality on the fatality of the epidemic, although the proportions may yet be altered by subsequent deaths.

London is divided into 36 districts for registration purposes, and the districts are sub-divided into 135 sub-districts. The population was enumerated in 1841, and the nearest approximation that can be easily given to the actual population is obtained by assuming that the population increased in 1841-9 at the same rate as from 1831 to 1841. Dividing the deaths from cholera in the 13 weeks ending September 15, 1849, by the population thus estimated, the following results are arrived at, and cannot be far from the truth:—

More than 5 in 1000 of the inhabitants of London died of cholera; the more accurate proportion was 53 in 10000 inhabitants. From all causes the mortality was 116; a rate which is equivalent to an annual rate of 4.64 per cent.

35 in 10000 of the inhabitants on the north side of the Thames died of cholera.

104 in 10000 of the inhabitants on the south side of the Thames died of cholera.

The mortality was therefore three times as great on the south as it was on the north side of the river.

Taking 10000 inhabitants as the basis of comparison in each district, the mortality ranged from 8 in Hampstead to 225 in Rotherhithe.

The large north districts extend from the Edgeware-road to the river Lea; the mortality was, for Marylebone, 15; St. Pancras, 17; Islington, 20; Hackney, 15. The mortality of Marylebone and St. Pancras is slightly raised by the Middlesex and University College Hospitals. Some cholera patients were sent out of Islington to the Free Hospital in St. Pancras, where their deaths were registered.

The middle districts, extending in a curve from Kensington to Bethnal Green, present generally a much higher rate of mortality; yet there are remarkable exceptions. The mortality in Kensington district, including Paddington and Fulham, was 19; St. James Westminster only 12; St. Giles, 48; Holborn, 28; Clerkenwell, 15 (5 less than Islington); St. Luke, 30; Shoreditch, 65; Bethnal Green, 75. St. James Westminster is a wealthy parish; the houses were rated at £69 on an average in 1841. The rookery and other bad streets contributed among other things to raise the mortality of St. Giles district to 48. Clerkenwell, extending across the higher part of the New Road to Pentonville, has lost only 15 in 10000; St. Luke double the proportion. The rated value of the houses, and probably the income of the inhabitants, diminish rapidly in passing from the west to the east parts of London. The average rating of the houses in 1841 was, for St. James Westminster, £69; St. Giles, £48; Holborn, £30; St. Luke, £28; Shoreditch, £13; Bethnal Green, £8. The two last districts are poor, and badly drained. Some of the deaths registered in Shoreditch, in a certain sense, belong and have been counted to the district of St. Luke, whose workhouse is in Shoreditch.

The river side districts of the north present a higher rate of mortality from cholera than the corresponding districts of the middle and outside range. Chelsea lost 42 in 10000 inhabitants, Kensington we have seen 19; St. George Hanover Square, extending from Oxford street to the river, lost only 14 in 10000; and 71 out of the 106 deaths were in the Belgrave sub-district. The mortality (57) was high with less than half the population in the low Westminster district; St. Martin-in-the-Fields and the Strand districts rising fast from the banks of the river lost 27, and 31 in 10000; the city of London within the walls 33; the London city, east district 38; the west district, traversed by the Fleet ditch, 70 or 128, accordingly as we include or exclude the deaths in St. Bartholomew's Hospital. At the close of the epidemic these deaths may be distributed over the districts from which the patients were brought; in the mean time the mortality of the city from cholera must lie between 43 and 57. Whitechapel lost 50; St. George-in-the-East, Stepney, and Poplar, 35, 40, 67, the mortality here being inversely as the density of the population.

Opposite the City and Whitechapel lie on the other side the Thames St. Saviour, St. Olave, and St. George Southwark, where the mortality was 141, 151, 142; further east the mortality rises to 163 in Bermondsey, and in Rotherhithe, intersected by stagnant water, reaches the maximum 225 in 10000, or 2½ per cent. It will be observed that on the north bank, opposite Bermondsey and Rotherhithe, the deaths from cholera were only 35, and 40 in 10000, yet the ordinary rate of mortality in St. George-in-the-East is 2.89, and of Rotherhithe 2.77 per cent. The mortality of Greenwich, including Deptford and Woolwich, was 61 in 10000; Camberwell and Newington 88 and 125, less than the mortality of districts on the south river side, but much higher than even Shoreditch and Bethnal Green. The Lambeth district extends from the Thames to Norwood; over this great area and population the average mortality was 97 in 10000. The mortality from cholera of the river side parts of Lambeth is as high, as the mortality of St. Saviour, St. Olave, &c. The parts on the south side the river where the cholera has prevailed with so much violence are below the Trinity high-water mark. At Norwood there were only 2 deaths by cholera; at Dulwich, in Camberwell district, none; at Eltham 3; Sydenham 5, in Lewisham district; so that the mortality from cholera on the high ground, and in the outer districts of Surrey on the south side the Thames, was as low as in Hampstead, Kentish Town, Stoke Newington, and Stamford Hill.

The physical causes of cholera, or rather of the mortality of cholera, may now be investigated in the soil, atmosphere, and people, of the several districts of London.

* The City of London within and without the walls is divided into three Unions for the relief of the poor, making three registration districts—the City, the West, and the East districts. Bartholomew's Hospital is in the West district. The 57 and 128 include the deaths in St. Bartholomew's Hospital, into which many of the patients are brought from other parts, as well as from the West London district.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Nothing was shown at my examination.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus, scud, and haze.
MONDAY.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	One third portion of the sky was covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, and cirrostrati, till 4 P.M., and cloudless afterwards.
TUESDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was cloudless till 10 A.M.; from this time till 3 P.M. clouds were prevalent, but variable in amount; overcast during the remainder of the day.
WEDNESDAY.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till noon, and one-third part covered during the remainder of the day; cumulostrati, cirrostrati, and haze.
THURSDAY.	Positive, and tension strong at 9 A.M.	The sky was overcast till 8 P.M., and cloudless afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
FRIDAY.	Nothing was shown at my examination.	The sky was overcast till 4 P.M., and generally clear afterwards; cumulostratus, cirrostratus, and scud. Showers of rain fell during the day.
SATURDAY.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	The greater part of the sky was covered with cumuli, cumulostrati, and cirrostrati till 1 P.M. Generally cloudless from this time till 7 P.M., and overcast afterwards.

The observations are taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; and 9h. P.M.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1843, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part 1, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers by applying the proper corrections. The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9 A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10 A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the "Devonshire" Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. A.M. was 55°8; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 53°2; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 56°4 and 51°9 respectively.

The reading of the barometer on Sunday at 10 A.M. was 30°03; it then increased till Wednesday at about noon, when the reading was 30°38; it then decreased during the remainder of the week, the reading on Saturday at 9 P.M. being 29°926.

The following is the REGISTRAR-GENERAL'S RETURN of DEATHS from CHOLERA and from DIARRHŒA, registered in LONDON on each Day during the Weeks ending Saturday, September 15, and Saturday, September 22, 1849.

* The figures of a lower denomination than thousands being omitted, the sum of the population of the Districts will be found to differ slightly from the general Totals. See Appendix to Registrar-General's Ninth Annual Report for information respecting the Population of the Districts and Sub-districts of London at the several censuses.

Monday's Return includes more than the due number of deaths, as registration is, in a great measure, suspended on Sunday.

NOTE.—The district of Kensington comprises the parishes of Kensington, Hammersmith, Fulham, and Paddington. Westminster district comprises the parishes of St. Margaret and St. John the Evangelist, with Privy Gardens and Whitehall, and the Close of the Collegiate Church of St. Peter. St. Giles district comprises the parishes of St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. George Bloomsbury. The following are co-extensive with the Unions of the same name:—Hackney; Strand; Holborn; East London; West London; City of London; Whitechapel; Stepney; Poplar; St. Saviour; St. Olave; Wandsworth (Wandsworth and Clapham); Greenwich; and Lewisham. The remaining districts are co-extensive with the respective parishes of the same name.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in each day of the Week ending SATURDAY, September 22nd, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow; Pop., population according to the Census of 1841. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

F. 31, W. of labourer, cholera 36 hours, 17 Sept. 6 Priest alley, Great Tower street. I understand that the house in which this death took place is rendered very unhealthy by the bad smells arising from the cesspool or privy in the house. The deceased was taken ill early on Sunday morning, and died this afternoon (Monday). Her husband and her little boy, aged about seven years, were both taken ill with cholera yesterday (Sunday) afternoon, and removed to St. Bartholomew's Hospital without hope of recovery. Another family residing in the same house were compelled to move out yesterday, and the house, which is the property of the parish of Allhallows Barking, Great Tower street, is now shut up. I have already had occasion to report two deaths at the "Duke's Head" public-house, in the same court, from cholera, one on the 6th, and the other on the 24th of last month.

WORKHOUSES of the District.—See Camberwell, Peckham Sub-district, No. 116 (Marlborough House); and Stepney, Mile End Old Town Upper, No. 90 (Deacon's Farm House).

 F. 34, dressmaker, cholera 12 hours, 12 Sept. Montague place, Stone's End.
 M. 42, tailor, cholera, 16 Sept. QUEEN'S BENCH PRISON. From near Regent's Circus.—Inquest. At the inquest, the coroner stated this to be the first case of cholera which had occurred at any prison within the city of London or the Borough of Southwark, and, in opening the proceedings, directed the attention of the jury to a letter, numerously signed by inmates of the prison, complaining of smells arising from the water-closets and drains, and stating it to be their opinion that deceased's illness and death had been influenced thereby.

The evidence adduced went to show that deceased came into the prison on the 5th instant, about 10 days previous to which he had an attack of sickness and diarrhoea, which soon passed off. In the present instance, he was taken unwell about half-past 3 o'clock on Saturday morning, and allowed the diarrhoea to proceed unchecked for nearly 12 hours before he applied for medical aid. He was then taken to the infirmary, and everything was done for him which the skill and attention of two medical gentlemen could suggest. He died at 8 the next morning. The complaint relative to the drains and water-closets did not appear to be sustained by the evidence given.

The 2 following cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE.

M. 76, licensed victualler, cholera, premonitory diarrhoea 2 days, 17 Sept.

F. 63, W. of shoemaker, cholera, 18 Sept.

Four of the cholera cases that I have this day registered occurred in Albert street and its immediate neighbourhood. I have registered six deaths from cholera in Albert street since the 10th instant; which street consists of about 100 small houses, all built within a very few years, and mostly inhabited by decent mechanics. At the back of the houses on the north side, there was until very recently an open ditch, close to the houses. It has lately been filled up, which is a great improvement; but there is still within twenty yards an open sewer, and the effluvia arising therefrom at times is very offensive.

F. 52, Wid. of journeyman hatter, cholera 3 days, 10 Sept. 15 Star court, Mint.

M. 8 months, Son of labourer, cholera 3 days, 12 Sept. 15 Star court, Mint.

The female died on the 10th, and was buried on the 12th; the death not having been registered, or any application made to me relative thereto.

I discovered this circumstance from the daughter of the deceased, who applied yesterday (17th), during my absence from home, to have the death of her son registered. She was requested to call at 4 o'clock, which she promised to do, but did not; and, upon my visiting the house this evening, I ascertained that the infant was also buried.

Star court consists of about 20 small houses, inhabited by labourers, hawkers, &c. It is closely built, but the yards and pavement are kept very clean, and the inhabitants are the most decent and orderly of that class who reside in the Mint.

The 2 following cases occurred at the UNIVERSITY COLLEGE HOSPITAL:—

M. 45, paper hanger, cholera 28 hours, "post mort." From 40 Grafton street.

F. 62, W. of beadle, diarrhœa 4 days, cholera 36 hours, "post mort." From 21 Little Gower place. Little Gower place, in which several cases of cholera have occurred (some of which have terminated fatally) since the commencement of the epidemic, is an ill-ventilated place, the houses being immediately behind those in Gower place, and having immediately in front of them a high wall, the boundary of the University College against which the inhabitants are permitted to throw potato skins, pea and bean shells, and other refuse. The air is shut out at both ends, the inlet and outlet being each formed by a kind of gateway from Gower place. The house surgeon at the hospital states, that he has often thought of reporting the filthy condition of the place to the Board of Health. The cases of fever which come under his notice from that locality are numerous.

In my return of Thursday last, and on two previous occasions, I reported High row, Kensington, to be healthy; but since then, having occasion to pass the place, I observed three gully-holes within a few yards of the houses where the deaths occurred, and which, upon inquiry, I find at times emit a most dreadful stench.

It is much to be regretted, that at a time when it is advisable to call public attention to such a nuisance the informants are unable to give satisfactory answers to questions on the subject, they being, in most cases, nurses who reside in a different locality, and the rapidity of the disease rendering their stay in the house of short duration, they are, in consequence, ignorant of facts.

The following account of the same place has been received from H. Broadhurst, Esq., Campden hill, Kensington:—

"The effluvia proceeding from a gully-hole nearly opposite to the house where the draper's assistant died, as well as from two others, one in High row, the other turning the corner into Bedford place, is so dreadful as to account for any amount of disease. There is also a cow yard in the immediate vicinity of High row, which is extremely offensive."

F. 4 months, D. of labourer, cholera 2 days, fever 4 days, 22 Sept. 9 Peter street. The deceased was the sister of the child returned by me on Monday last, who died in the same house.

M. 58, coachmaker, cholera 15 hours, 21 Sept. 5 Queen's Head court. The deceased was a very temperate and respectable man, and removed from No. 7, Archer street, in good and perfect health, to No. 5 Queen's Head court on the day before his death. I made a return of a death of cholera from this house on the 20th of August, when the assumed cause was stated. I have since discovered that the house, No. 5 Queen's Head court, not only abuts on the back yards of two or three of the houses in Little Pulteney street, but has the wall of an old cesspool projecting several feet into the back kitchen. The large cesspool, which is for the accommodation of houses both in Pulteney street and Queen's Head court, ought to have been filled up; the brickwork is not only damp but very often quite wet, and frequently emits a most intolerable stench to the lower parts of the house as well as to the upper. This state of matters requires the prompt attention of the authorities.

Mr. Simpson, one of the registrars of St. Giles, says "he has much pleasure in stating that not a single death from cholera or diarrhœa has been registered in his returns for the present week, ending Saturday, September 22; and that there is also a marked decrease in the deaths from all other causes. The number of the previous week was 21, and this week only 5. He is convinced, from his experience, having visited all the cholera localities in his district, that the house-to-house visitation has been attended with the greatest benefit and success, and that many lives have been saved by thus having early recourse to medical advice. The appointment of medical inspectors in the metropolis by the Board of Health, during the prevalence of the epidemic, must also be hailed with delight by the public, who must have observed the gradual decrease in the number of deaths from cholera since their appointment."

M. 16 months, Son of waterman, diarrhœa 4 months, 19 Sept. 15 Lucretia street. Dirty, crowded street.

M. 1, Son of labourer, cholera 8 days, 19 Sept. 35 Hooper street. This street is an anomaly and matter of surprise to many; it is a longish, narrow, densely crowded street; the dirtiest spot in my district, in close connexion with filthy ditches, and surrounded by a foul unwholesome neighbourhood, in which many deaths have occurred. It is, moreover, the head-quarters of the costermongers, and yet this may be said to be the first fatal case of cholera which has happened in it, a previous one being considered as very doubtful by medical attendant. The inhabitants are congratulating themselves on their hitherto providential escape.

M. 35, groom, cholera 6 days, 21 Sept. 17 Edward street. Healthy street, near the river. Medical aid unsought until collapse had arisen, as stated by medical attendant.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

It is gratifying to observe the further abatement of pestilence in London. After the first week of September, in which the fatality from cholera was greatest, and 3183 persons died from all causes, the total number fell in the second week to 2865, then to 1981, and in the week ending last Saturday the total deaths registered were 1611. During the same period, the weekly numbers of lives destroyed by cholera, have been 2026, 1682, 839, and in the last week 434. Diarrhœa was fatal successively to 272, 280, 238, and last week to 163. In comparing the returns for the last two weeks, the decline of mortality is most obvious in the South Districts, where the deaths from cholera have fallen from 422 in the week ending September 22nd to 161 in the last; and to take the most striking examples of particular districts, in St. George Southwark they declined from 58 to 10, in Newington from 66 to 15, and in Lambeth from 117 to 50. In the North and Central Districts the improvement is also remarkable; in the former the deaths from cholera in the two weeks having been consecutively 71 and 37, and in the Central having been 95 and 51. The improvement in the East Districts is not so great, the 183 deaths of the previous week having fallen to 113 in the last; but in the West Districts the public health has recently been stationary, the weekly deaths caused by the epidemic having been 68 and 72, though here too a great change has taken place for the better in the latter half of September as compared with the former. In the whole metropolis the daily number of deaths from cholera last week has fluctuated between 102 and 53, but showing an almost constant tendency to fall. The mortality from small pox, measles, and scarlatina is much less than the average; from hooping cough it is near the average; typhus has recently shown a slight increase.

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·680. The highest temperature occurred on Tuesday, when it was 72° 7'; the highest mean temperature on Thursday, when it was 62° 2'. The mean temperature of the week was 58° 4', and was higher than the average of the same week in 7 years by 5° 4'.

ERRATA IN REMARKS OF FORMER WEEK.—For 71 deaths in the Belgrave sub-district, read 84. In the following line, the words “with less than half the population,” refer to the Belgrave sub-district, and should be transposed accordingly.

SOUTH SIDE OF THE RIVER.

* The City of London within and without the walls is divided into three Unions for the relief of the poor, making three registration districts—the City, the West, and the East districts. Bartholomew's Hospital is in the West district. The 65 and 146 include the deaths in St. Bartholomew's Hospital, into which many of the patients are brought from other parts, as well as from the West London district. † Including the deaths in St. Thomas's Hospital, the mortality from cholera in St. Olave was 179. The deaths of several children who were removed from Mr. Dronet's establishment at Tooting, in the Wandsworth district, occurred and were registered in other districts of London. The deaths from cholera in St. Luke's workhouse have been transferred from the Shoreditch district to St. Luke's district in the calculations.
ABBREVIATIONS.—c denotes deaths from cholera to 10000 living, e denotes elevation in feet of the ground above the Trinity high-water mark.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Nothing was shown at any examination.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Light rain was falling frequently.
MONDAY.	Positive, and tension strong at 9 P.M.	The sky was, for the most part, covered till 8 P.M., and about one-half covered afterwards; cumuli, cumulostrati, and scud. A shower of rain fell at noon.
TUESDAY.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	The sky was generally cloudless throughout the day; dense haze was prevalent from 9 P.M. till midnight.
WEDNESDAY.	Positive, and tension strong at 9 P.M.	Three-fourths of the sky was covered with cirrostrati and fleecy clouds till noon, and generally cloudless during the remainder of the day.
THURSDAY.	Positive, and tension variable at each examination.	The sky was generally covered throughout the day; cumuli, cumulostrati, cirrostrati, and scud. Rain began to fall at 10.30 P.M. and continued falling till midnight.
FRIDAY.	Positive, and tension weak at 3 P.M.	The sky was cloudless during the earlier part of the morning and overcast afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
SATURDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling generally from 4.30 P.M. till midnight.

The observations are taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; and 9h. P.M.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers by applying the proper corrections. The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9 A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10 A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the "Devonshire" Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 59.2; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 57.5; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 60.2 and 56.3 respectively.

The direction of the wind was principally E.N.E. during the first five days, and S.W. during the last two days.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.79 in. on the 23rd day at 10 A.M. to 29.61 on the 27th, at noon; increased to 29.73 on the 28th, at 9 A.M.; and decreased to 29.39 at the end of the week.

The following is the REGISTRAR-GENERAL'S RETURN of DEATHS from CHOLERA registered in LONDON on each Day during the Weeks ending Saturday, Sept. 15, Saturday, Sept. 22, and Saturday, Sept. 29, 1849.

* The figures of a lower denomination than thousands being omitted, the sum of the population of the Districts will be found to differ slightly from the general Totals. See Appendix to Registrar-General's Ninth Annual Report for information respecting the Population of the Districts and Sub-districts of London at the several censuses.

☞ Monday's Return includes more than the due number of deaths, as registration is, in a great measure, suspended on Sunday.

NOTE.—The district of Kensington comprises the parishes of Kensington, Hammersmith, Fulham, and Paddington. Westminster district comprises the parishes of St. Margaret and St. John the Evangelist, with Privy Gardens and Whitehall, and the Close of the Collegiate Church of St. Peter. St. Giles district comprises the parishes of St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. George Bloomsbury. The following are co-extensive with the Unions of the same name:—Hackney; Strand; Holborn; East London; West London; City of London; Whitechapel; Stepney; Poplar; St. Saviour; St. Olave; Wandsworth (Wandsworth and Clapham); Greenwich; and Lewisham. The remaining districts are co-extensive with the respective parishes of the same name.

MARYLEBONE; ALL SOULS.

Mr. Thorne, the Secretary to "the Health Committee of the Directors and Guardians of the Poor of St. Marylebone," has written to the Registrar-General, stating that the Board can show the statements under the head "St. Marylebone, All Souls," in the return for the week ending Saturday, September 8th, "to be utterly unfounded." This letter was transmitted to the Registrar; the district was visited; and the following are the facts, as far as they can be ascertained, and have any bearing on the public health.

In 22 Union street, the daughter of a turner was attacked with cholera, and removed to the Marylebone Infirmary, where she recovered. Six persons were attacked by cholera in this house, which contained 33 inhabitants. Two died, and not three, as the Registrar was at first informed.

Mr. Thorne states that on September 3d, "the purification of the dwellings was carried out by order of the Health Committee of the Directors and Guardians; and with respect to many of the houses being hotbeds of cholera and all epidemics, the report of any existing nuisance is immediately followed up by the most active proceedings against the occupiers and landlords for its abatement and removal."

With respect to No. 1 Great Portland street, considered by the Registrar a "healthy locality," and where a death took place, the Guardians, by a resolution on September 7, instructed the Secretary "to communicate with the Commissioners of Sewers on the subject of the offensive and dangerous effluvia arising from the gratings in the parish, and more particularly to direct their attention to two gratings opposite the house of Mr. Kirton, of 1 Great Portland street, who is now dying of cholera, the smell arising from the gratings being so offensive that the windows cannot be opened to obtain the needful ventilation without the admission of the pestilential effluvia." The Registrar had not adverted to these gully-holes; but he states that the Commissioners of Sewers offer to trap all parish drains at 14s. 6d. each.

The Board adduces the testimony of the parish surveyor, two foremen of 21 men who are constantly employed in cleansing the district referred to, the Inspector of the Poor, and the Beadles, to prove that the cleansing of the streets is efficiently performed. The surveyor states that some of the courts and bye-places are cleaned daily; also that the vestry have discontinued contracting for the cleansing of the parish, and employ their own men and carts, to ensure the perfect and proper performance of the work.

All Souls, Marylebone, is on the border of St. Pancras, to which the half of the boundary street belongs. Several of the patients whose deaths were registered by Mr. Wallington in Middlesex Hospital, were brought from streets in St. Pancras. He states that the following is a revised statement of the sanitary condition of several of the streets which he before mentioned, and in which the persons whose deaths he has registered from cholera and diarrhoea occurred.

"On September 19, in company with a gentleman from the General Register Office, I visited parts of the above parishes, and made the following notes:—

"Upper Rathbone Place.—One side of this street is in St. Pancras, and that parish cleanses and keeps in repair the upper part of the street, viz., from Charlotte place to Percy passage. I found it neglected and dirty, and the road out of repair. One of the inhabitants declared it had not been cleansed for more than a week. Between No. 414, in this street, and No. 8, Percy passage (St. Pancras), exist an offensive cesspool and drain, which have not been cleansed for 14 years, making these two houses very unhealthy; the remainder of the street is repaired and cleansed by Marylebone. The road is out of repair in places, allowing dirty water to lie in pools. It is cleaner than the upper parts of the street. Inhabitants complain of the smells from the drains, and state that to keep the lower parts of its not being deep enough for a sufficient fall, the water flows back in the drains whenever the sewer is nearly full.

"On Tuesday, September 25, I again visited this street. I found it in a most filthy condition, particularly the upper part of it, where much stagnant water, mingled with putrifying vegetables and oyster shells, was lying. I questioned the most credible of inhabitants on both sides, who testify that neither of the parishes has cleansed any part of the street for more than a week.

"Black Horse yard, Rathbone Place.—The fluid from the public-house urinal flows over the pavement and lies in the gutter, emitting a noxious effluvia. First case of cholera here July 20th, and second case August 3d. Drains offensive. The tenements over the stables in this yard are badly ventilated and unhealthy; they have no back windows.

"Ogle square, Ogle street.—Drains in same condition as when the place was condemned by a medical man as unhealthy. First case of diarrhoea cholera here June 9th; another (a worse case) on July 29th, in same house and family. My remarks on this latter case were inserted in the return for August 4th.

"Ogle Meus, Ogle street.—In dirty condition. Case of diarrhoea here 19th May last. The houses are dirty and miserable abodes.

"Union street.—It was tolerably clean. From No. 30 some men were removing the last cart load of black filth; the stench from it was horrible and filled the air. This is one of the many nuisances which I referred to in my report. The houses in this street are mostly dirty, and many of the inhabitants are living underground in damp kitchens; noxious smells are emitted from many of the gratings, and no one could justly call it healthy. Many of the shops here are of the poorest and dirtiest description; filthy rags, bones, and bottles, with the various articles of the marine store-dealer, are to be found in plenty. Many cases of cholera have occurred in this street lately. The landlady at No. 22 informed me that when the cholera first entered her house it contained 33 inmates. Of the six persons who were attacked she was one. The two deaths here occurred August 28th and September 1st.

"Wells street.—I found it clean. The yard at the back of Rebecca court was dirty, and the court itself not very clean. A cholera case at 18, Wells street, September 16th.

"Saville street.—Not very clean. No. 23. A medical man has condemned this house as unhealthy. The instant we descended the stairs to the lower part, we were driven back by the effluvia, which was most disgusting, and must affect the strongest. The house is filthy in the extreme, and not in a tenable state. This nuisance of the cesspool, or drain and privy, has long existed. There is a report that some vaults at No. 21, in the same street, require investigation; No. 29, case of cholera, September 9th. The effluvia from the drainage in this house are much complained of, and I believe that most of the houses in this street are similarly inconvenienced. No. 12, malignant case of cholera August 17th. Complaint of noxious effluvia existed in this house.

"Charlton street.—Tolerably clean. No. 11, case cholera Asiatica, September 15. This house is clean and respectable, none ought to be less so. Mr. Withers, the tenant at will, complains that the dustman will not remove the dust; he is compelled to apply at the Court House, before he can get it taken away. There is now an accumulation, and he has applied to the dustman without effect. The cistern is too small for the supply of the inmates, and they are frequently a day and more without water, unless they beg it. The landlord will not remedy the evil. There were complaints of effluvia from drains of Nos. 12 and 13 in same street, and of a large cesspool and smaller one of No. 10 Clipstone street. No. 12 Charlton street, house dirty, like many in the street; drainage not good; privy in yard very offensive; a supply of water ought to be carried into it; there were also complaints of the cesspool next door, No. 13, and of No. 10 Clipstone street. No. 13, house not tenable, lower part of it, and small yard revolting. The long existing and abominable nuisance (the cesspool before alluded to) overflows, literally forcing up the paving in the yard. It is overrun with rats, which have undermined the house and drains, and the effluvia from the latter impregnate the air in the house; there is a quantity of dust requiring immediate removal. The landlord, who does not live in the house, is now receiving from the various tenants 30s. per week; two of them attest these facts, and affirm that the water-butt has not been cleansed for more than twelve months, the water is very dirty, and frequently of bad taste; they do not drink it without boiling.

"Upper Charlton street.—Tolerably clean, drainage not very good, occasional effluvia emitted, which are complained of. No. 15, case of diarrhoea cholera, 19th May. No. 16, case of diarrhoea cholera, 19th August.

"Cleveland street.—St. Pancras cleanses this street from the New road to Grafton street, once a week; we found it rather dirty. As we proceeded along the street, a dead cat met our view, lying in the gutter, and a little further on we found a dead dog; this part of the street is generally dirty, and particularly on a Sunday. Several weeks ago a dead cat (from which the maggots crawled) was seen four days in the street. Marylebone cleanses Cleveland street from Grafton street, to the end. We found it clean in some parts.

"Great Portland street.—No. 1, a case of diarrhoea, 7th September. We found the street clean; there is an open grating on each side of this house, which is at the corner of the street (similar gratings exist throughout the parish). We detected effluvia arising from one of them.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHOEA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, September 29th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhoea registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow; Pop., population according to the Census of 1841. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

1 KENSINGTON; St. John Paddington

Pop. 18737. Cholera —; Diarrhoea 1.

F. 37, independent, diarrhoea, exhaustion, 25 Sept. 37 Moscow road.

Pop. 6436. Cholera —; Diarrhoea 1.

F. 24, W. of ground excavator, diarrhoea 3 days, 23 Sept. 12 White Lion place, Paddington. A paved court over-crowded; bad drainage, said to have been often complained of to the owner.

3 — Fulham

Pop. 9319. Cholera 8; Diarrhoea —.

M. 1 year and 3 months, son of an Irish labourer, cholera 36 hours, 22 Sept. 1 Peterborough row. Situation open; house thickly inhabited.

The west side of the High-street of Fulham is generally considered very unhealthy; but since the prevalence of cholera in this parish particular attention has been paid to cleansing the sewer by a backwater, viz., the Bishop's Mount, and I am happy to say that we have not had a single death from cholera, and also that this side of the street was never, in my recollection, healthier than at the present time.

M. 23, labourer and bone collector, cholera 7 days, typhus fever 7 days, 23 Sept. 1 Orchard place, North end. The widow of deceased says that when I called upon her 12 months since to register the birth of her child, that I told her they would all die of fever unless the neighbourhood of the houses was cleansed and drained. The whole of the neighbourhood is still very deficient of drainage.

M. 57, labourer (assistant in the brickfield), cholera 18 hours, 24 Sept. 4 Willow place, North end. A yard of small and ill-ventilated cottages. Many deaths from cholera have occurred here.

Typhus has become prevalent amongst the poor in this district within the last few days.

M. 14, Son of labourer, cholera 22 hours, 24 Sept. Normand's Land. Situation airy; a large number of swine kept close to the dwelling.

M. 2, Son of labourer, cholera 18 hours, 25 Sept. Parson's Green lane. The house reported before. The whole of the lane overcrowded.

M. 34, labourer (Irish), cholera 8 hours, 27 Sept. Parson's Green lane. The wells of water in this lane are described as unfit for any purpose whatever. There are, I should think, 300 inhabitants who are obliged to fetch their water from the other side of Parson's Green.

M. 21, Irish labourer, diarrhoea 2 days, cholera 23 hours, 27 Sept. 17 Parson's Green lane. House over-crowded; no water fit for use; drainage of the lane bad.

M. 22, labourer, assistant in the brickfield, cholera 12 hours, 28 Sept. 6 Star lane, North End. The lane is in a bad state for want of drainage.

4 — St. Paul Hammersmith

Pop. 9888. Cholera 3; Diarrhoea —.

F. 38, laundress, cholera 12 hours, 22 Sept. 9 Crafter terrace, Latymer road. No further observations than have been formerly made as to this locality.

F. 4, Da. of labourer, cholera 5 hours, 25 Sept. 8 Park Cottages, Latymer road. Damp and badly drained locality.

F. 43, laundress, typhoid fever, after cholera 10 days, 23 Sept. Lower Mall. A person of very intemperate habits.

5 — St. Peter Hammersmith

Pop. 3565. Cholera —; Diarrhoea —.

6 — Kensington Town

Pop. 17369. Cholera 3; Diarrhoea 2.

M. 3 months, Son of labourer, diarrhoea, 22 Sept. Jennings's buildings. Street close; houses mostly ill-cleansed.

F. 24, laundress, cholera 34 hours, rapid collapse, with slight diarrhoea, and no cramp, 22 Sept. 19 Durham place. Situation salubrious; drainage good. Medical Report of treatment: hydrarg. gr. viij, opii pulv. gr. ij, followed by two-grain doses hydrarg. chlorid. every 10 minutes; fomentations of turpentine to the abdomen; mustard poultices; salines, with stimulants.

F. 22, laundress, cholera, consecutive fever 12 days, 24 Sept. William street, Norlands. Street open; houses clean.

M. 52, working tailor, cholera 22 hours, 26 Sept. 3 Peel street. Generally healthy. Took a seidlitz powder on the day before the attack, his bowels being confined.

M. 1, Son of labourer, diarrhoea, bronchitis, 26 Sept. Jennings's buildings. Street close; house over-crowded.

7 — Brompton

Pop. 9465. Cholera 1; Diarrhoea —.

F. 24, W. of merchant, cholera 7 days, 25 Sept. 2 York cottages. Healthy.

Pop. 14467. Cholera 4; Diarrhoea 1.

F. 55, W. of shoemaker, sudden, cholera 2 hours, 27 Aug. 4 Evans buildings. Very close; cul de sac.—Inquest.

F. 7 months, Da. of labourer, diarrhoea 1 month, 23 Sept. 9 Davis place.

F. 37, W. of labourer, cholera 19 hours, 25 Sept. 3 Bolton's gardens, Queen's road east. Close; cul de sac.

F. 62, Wid. cholera 36 hours, diarrhoea was present previously but neglected, 26 Sept. 12 Bolton's Gardens, Queen's Road East. Very narrow and close; cul de sac.

F. 45, W. of labourer, cholera 21 hours, 27 Sept. 9 Evans place. Narrow and close; cul de sac.

Pop. 12638. Cholera 3; Diarrhoea 1.

F. 13, Da. of carpenter, sudden, natural, diarrhoea.—Inquest. 1 Aug. 2 Britton street.

F. 76, Wid. sudden, cholera.—Inquest. 30 Aug. 22 College street.

M. 54, gentleman, cholera 14 hours, 27 Sept. 27 Upper Manor street.

M. 42, cabinet maker, cholera 2 days, 27 Sept. 16 Godfrey street.

Pop. 13074. Cholera 7; Diarrhoea 1.

F. 38, W. of journeyman tailor, cholera 14 hours, preceded for some days by diarrhoea which was neglected, 19 Sept. 1 Blacklands street.

F. 31, W. of draper, cholera 2 days, secondary fever 7 days, 21 Sept. 181 Sloane street. Resided at Windsor; and had only come to town for a few days on business.

M. 40, labourer, cholera 6 hours, 23 Sept. 4 Bull's gardens.

In reference to this case, the following is an extract from a letter addressed to the Registrar by J. B. Ryder, Esq., Chairman of the Board of Guardians, St. Luke:—

"I find another death from cholera has taken place in Bull's gardens, which makes the 12th, at least, from this disease within the last two months—about the 25th attack of cholera, and, I understand, about the 70th of diarrhoea, in these gardens and the immediate neighbourhood.

"In addition to the pigsties kept by the inhabitants of the 'gardens,' there is an open main sewer running in front of them, from which most offensive exhalations are constantly emanating.

"A memorial from the neighbouring inhabitants, supported by the Board of Guardians of this parish, complaining of the nuisance, was some months ago presented to the Commissioners of Sewers, praying that the sewer might be immediately covered.

"The Guardians themselves have subsequently addressed the Commissioners on the subject of this pestiferous place, and have also repeatedly drawn the attention of the Board of Health to it."

F. 70, W. of working coachmaker, cholera (a constitution previously disposed to disease and much lowered), 23 Sept. 31 Exeter street. Healthy. There are three other deaths (children of the same family) from cholera, at 2 Lower Symons street, upon which an inquest is to be held. I have therefore not registered them to day.

M. 7, Son of labourer, cholera 9 hours, 21 Sept. 2 Lower Symons street.

F. 4, Da. of same, cholera 9 hours, 22 Sept. 2 Lower Symons street.

F. 8, Da. of same, cholera 30 hours, 23 Sept. 2 Lower Symons street.

The house where these three persons have died is in a poor and dirty neighbourhood. It is inhabited by five families (consisting of fifteen persons) in five rooms, one of which has no chimney. Another person lies dead of cholera (not yet registered), in the same house. Another was attacked with it, but recovered. The drains are in a very bad state, the soil from the privy occasionally overflowing the yard. A sewer grating in front of the house is occasionally so offensive as to oblige the inmates to close the windows and street door.

M. 10 months, Son of stableman, diarrhoea 10 days, pneumonia 3 days, 22 Sept. 31 Wood street.

11 ST. GEORGE HANOVER SQUARE; Hanover Square

Pop. 21398. Cholera —; Diarrhoea —.

Pop. 15048. Cholera 1; Diarrhoea 1.

The 2 following cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE, Mount street.

M. 63, farrier, anasarca, diarrhoea, 20 Sept.

F. 44, nurse in the workhouse, cholera 10 hours, "post mort." 23 Sept.

13 — Belgrave

Pop. 30106. Cholera 6; Diarrhoea 3.

F. 40, W. of servant, cholera, 24 Sept. 5 Prince's row East, Pimlico.

M. 11 months, Son of waiter, hydrocephalus, mesenteric disease (from birth), diarrhoea 1 week, 22 Sept. 15 St. George's row.

F. 8 months, Da. of coachman, diarrhoea from teething, 24 Sept. 503 Westbourne street.

F. 64, W. of carpenter, cholera, 24 Sept. 31 Brewer street.

F. 5, Da. of labourer, cholera 8 hours, 25 Sept. 1 St. George's place.

F. 38, W. of omnibus conductor, cholera 9 hours, 25 Sept. 1 Graham street.

F. 46, W. of wood turner, cholera 24 hours, 27 Sept. 6 St. George's place. Was in good health before the attack. Lost a sister a short time since in another part of London from same disease.

M. 5, Son of labourer, cholera 6 hours, 27 Sept. 20 St. George's row.

F. 38, W. of licensed victualler, diarrhoea 14 days, 28 Sept. 1 Grosvenor row.

14 WESTMINSTER; St. John the Evangelist

Pop. 15223. Cholera 14; Diarrhoea 4.

M. 4 months, Son of labourer, diarrhoea 20 days, 24 Sept. 17 Union court, Orchard street.

M. 30, porter, cholera 15 hours, 22 Sept. 7 Lower Garden street.

The medical attendant states that "in this case there were no premonitory symptoms. The patient on the evening before his death drank heartily of beer whilst heated from moving furniture, and on going home he eat a good supper of beef and potatoes. The attack of cholera commenced about 1 A.M., violent vomiting and purging with cramps in the abdomen, &c. He was visited at 4½ A.M. The vomiting and purging were checked, but rection never took place. The sanitary condition of this street is truly wretched; it is situated extremely low, with inefficient drainage, the houses old and ill-cleansed, and, although many deaths from cholera have taken place in it during the last few weeks, nothing has been done to improve it, or compel the landlords to make their houses more fit for human beings."

M. 65, gentleman, rheumatic gout many years, cholera 12 hours, 26 Sept. 2 Romney terrace, Horseferry road.

F. 1, Da. of stonemason, diarrhoea infantum 2 months, 26 Sept. 2 Bowling street.

M. 33, engineer, diarrhoea 3 weeks, typhus, 25 Sept. 4 Ship court, Horseferry road.

The 2 following cases occurred in the GRENADIER GUARDS HOSPITAL, Rochester row.

M. 21, private grenadier guards, cholera 16 hours, "post mort." 25 Sept. From St. George's Barrack, Charing Cross.

M. 21, acting corporal grenadier guards, cholera 14 hours, 26 Sept. From St. George's Barrack, Charing Cross.

M. 49, milkman, diarrhoea with congestion of lungs 10 days, 25 Sept. 10 Bentinck street.

M. 28, officer Millbank Prison, cholera 1 week, 25 Sept. MILLBANK PRISON.

The 2 following cases occurred in the GRENADIER GUARDS HOSPITAL, Rochester row:—

M. 19, drummer, Grenadier Guards, cholera 12 hours, 28 Sept.

M. 21, corporal, Grenadier Guards, cholera 14 hours, 29 Sept. Both from the Wellington Barracks, St. James's Park.

The 7 following cases occurred in MILLBANK PRISON:—

F. 23, prisoner, former occupation unknown, cholera 19 hours, "post mort." 4 Sept.—Inquest.

F. 23, prisoner, former occupation unknown, cholera 13 hours, "post mort." 4 Sept.—Inquest.

F. 43, prisoner, formerly fancy trimmer, cholera 24 hours, 6 Sept.—Inquest.

F. 36, prisoner, formerly dressmaker, cholera 23 hours, subject to occasional attacks of diarrhoea, 6 Sept.—Inquest.

M. unknown, prisoner, cholera 15 hours, 6 Sept.—Inquest.

F. 27, prisoner, wife of convict, cholera about 36 hours, diarrhoea 2 hours previously, 7 Sept.—Inquest.

F. 36, prisoner, former occupation unknown, cholera 8 days, diarrhoea 2 days previously, 8 Sept.—Inquest.

15 — St. Margaret

Pop. 30489. Cholera 13; Diarrhoea 1.

F. 74, Wid. of butcher, cholera 2 days, 21 Sept. Queen square.

F. 3, Da. of whitesmith, cholera 1 day, 22 Sept. SICK HOUSE, York street. From 21 Bowling street.

M. 6, Son of labourer, cholera 24 hours, 22 Sept. 21 St. Ermin's hill.

F. 54, W. of messenger (?) cholera, 22 Sept. 13 Prince's street.

M. 63, carter, cholera 10 hours, 21 Sept. 2 Providence row.

M. 1, Son of stone sawyer, diarrhoea 10 days, 23 Sept. 3 Paradise row.

F. 27, W. of bootmaker, cholera 12 days, 22 Sept. 42½ York street.

F. 1, Da. of house painter, cholera 36 hours, 24 Sept. 12 Palmer's passage, Chapel street.

F. 28, spinster, debility after an attack of cholera 14 days, 21 Sept. WORKHOUSE, 10 Dean street.

F. 42, W. of carpenter, cholera 3 days, 22 Sept. SICK HOUSE, York street.

F. 3, Da. of hawker, cholera, 24 Sept. 12 St. Ermin's hill, Broadway.

M. 6, Son of labourer, scarlatina 1 month, anasarca 2 weeks, cholera 12 days, ischuria 4 days, 27 Sept. 17 Orchard street.

M. 3, Son of labourer, cholera, 27 Sept. 7 Providence row.

M. 36, cabman, cholera, 27 Sept. SICK HOUSE, York street. From Cottage court, Orchard street.

16 ST. MARTIN IN THE FIELDS; Charing Cross

Pop. 13299. Cholera 3; Diarrhoea —.

M. 18, sailor, cholera 16 hours, 24 Sept. 15 Billin court. House recently built; drainage good, and conveniences well provided. He had slept on board, in dock, and came home to spend Sunday with his mother. He supped on cold apple-dumplings with massive crusts, and complained soon after.

F. 65, servant, cholera 25 hours, 24 Sept. WORKHOUSE. An inmate for some length of time.

Pop. 15386. Cholera 1; Diarrhoea 2.

M. 10 months, Son of ostler, diarrhoea 9 days, convulsions, 23 Sept. 10 White's alley, Liberty of the Rolls.

A close, overcrowded neighbourhood, situated between Chancery and Fetter lanes (frequently referred to during the prevalence of cholera), consisting of closely approximated courts, whose houses have small, ill-ventilated rooms, each containing a family, often numbering five or six persons. Cleanliness and ventilation are alike totally neglected by the parents.

F. 36, W. of coal heaver, diarrhoea 48 hours, cholera 36 hours, 25 Sept. 2 Kingsbury place, Liberty of the Rolls, adjoining White's alley.

In this close crowded court the houses have only one window at the back, and that is on a staircase. The waterclosets, or rather privies, communicate with a cesspool in the centre of the place, and smell dreadfully.

M. 10 months, Son of journeyman tailor, diarrhoea 3 days, convulsions 2 hours, 26 Sept. 18 Clement's lane, St. Clement Danes. Clement's lane has been frequently reported on. To the condition of it attention cannot be too strongly directed.

During the past week I have only registered of diarrhoea, 2 cases; of cholera, 1 case. A case occurred in each of the following places:—10 White's alley, 2 Kingsbury place (contiguous), and 18 Clement's lane—two out of the four quarters to which I drew attention a few weeks back, as being, with not more than a dozen exceptions, the quarters where all the cholera has occurred in the St. Clement Danes district.

The sub-districts or quarters alluded to are:—White's alley, Shire lane, Clement's lane, and Milford lane.

M. 4, Son of journeyman crucible maker, diarrhoea 8 days, 24 Sept. 13 Baldwin street, Old street. See first case. Informant, father of deceased, states that the effluvia arising from the filthy state of the rooms above has accelerated his child's death.

F. 6, Da. of journeyman stenciller, cholera 6 days, 20 Sept. 5 Little Mitchell street.

M. 2, Son of journeyman smith, cholera 18 hours, 53 Brick lane. The house is in a very dirty state, facing the Gas Company's works. There have been several attacks and deaths of parties resident in this house.

M. 5 months, Son of journeyman type-founder, cholera 1 week, 22 Sept. 6 Page's place, John's row.

A court containing six small two roomed houses; very damp and confined; two privies in the court common to all, one within four feet of the door where this child died. The smell is most offensive. Informant states that nearly all the inmates have had diarrhoea. The medical officer, who has been most attentive, considers the place unfit for habitation.

M. 1 year 5 months, Son of policeman, diarrhoea 1 week, 28 Sept. 20 Bath buildings.

M. 1, Son of costermonger, diarrhoea, low fever 5 weeks, 24 Sept. 2 Hooper street. Most unhealthy street.

I have observed in my district that the deaths by cholera and diarrhoea are far more numerous with females than with males. This observation, however, only holds good after the age of 16. Until that age the deaths were almost equally divided, viz., 56 males and 51 females; but after the age of 16, when the female becomes useful as a nurse, the deaths are 99 females against 50 males. I think the difference has arisen chiefly from two causes. Many have been in an advanced stage of pregnancy when the attack came on, and at such a period were probably less able to withstand it; but the chief cause seems to be that females are almost always the attendants on the sick, and thus being confined to the vitiated atmosphere of the room, and wearied by night and day exertions, they are much more likely to take the disease. I have registered many females who appear to have imbibed cholera in their unremitting attendance in the sick chamber. The births this quarter are very few.

The registrar concurs in the following statement by the medical attendant of this case:—"This locality has been visited with much sickness. A case of cholera two doors off, was removed to the workhouse, where the patient died. Two children died at No. 7, and two cases occurred at No. 3; a person died at No. 8. Several children have within the last two months died of fever. The houses require a general repair. The privies are close to the front door, and smell very badly. The houses consist of two rooms and a lean-to (a shed?), and are let to persons having large families, at a rent of 4s. and 4s. 6d. per week.

The 5 following cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE. When these deaths were registered, no case of cholera remained in the house:—

129 — Streatham

Pop. 8834. Cholera 2; Diarrhoea —.

F. 55, Wid. of brickmaker, cholera 24 hours, 23 Sept. Manor park, Mitcham road.

This death occurred at one of six small tenements, chiefly occupied by brickmakers (adjoining the brick fields of this estate), which were formerly horse-stalls or bullock-sheds, all on the ground-floor, without drains or any place to throw their refuse, and with only two privies for their use. The deceased was first attacked about 3 o'clock on Saturday morning, the 22nd instant. A medical man was applied to three times, but did not attend till about 9 A.M. In the meantime another medical man was applied to, who promptly attended, and did everything necessary at that advanced stage of the disease. The deceased had slight bowel complaint 10 days previously, for which she had medical advice.

F. 3, Da. of brickmaker, cholera 16 hours, 26 Sept. Manor Park, Mitcham road.

This death occurred at one of the six tenements alluded to in my report of the 24th instant. They are overcrowded, badly ventilated, and have only stagnant water for drink or use. Two fresh cases occurred on Thursday last at the same place, one of a male about 40, and the other about 19.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE number of deaths from all causes registered in the week ending last Saturday, is 1290, and again exhibits an important decrease on the previous week. Since the first week of September, when the total deaths were 3183, the mortality has steadily declined, and is now, happily, not much in excess of the rate that usually prevails in the last quarter of the year. Cholera has fallen more rapidly than it increased, for during last week the deaths registered were 288, a number in the fourth week of its decline, which differs not much from the number returned about eight weeks before it attained its greatest fatality. Diarrhœa and dysentery also decrease, but more slowly; it will be observed, however, that the deaths from these two forms of disease last week, namely 146, are hardly less numerous than those of part of the years 1846 and 1847, when the periodical increase was unusually great. In St. Giles only one death from cholera was registered last week; in East London, West London and City of London, the deaths were 12, those in the previous week from cholera having been 26; in Lambeth the deaths in two weeks have fallen from 50 to 24. It lingers in Fulham, and in some other districts the recent improvement is not remarkable. Other epidemics, with the exception of typhus, are near the average. With reference to small pox, Mr. Holl states that he has registered only two deaths in the hospital for this disease (in Camden Town sub-district) in three months. Within this period, the house has been nearly empty, at one time there was but a single patient, and all the cases were of a mild form. A man of 62 years died in Aldgate of "destitution" (according to the Coroner's verdict).

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.374; the mean temperature was 51° 2', less than the average of the same week in seven years by about two degrees. The temperature was considerably lower than in previous weeks; and on some days rain fell heavily.

Note on an alleged inaccuracy in the Cholera Returns.

At two late courts of the London City Commissioners of Sewers, one of the aldermen has called in question the accuracy of the Cholera Returns made by this Office. And on Saturday (October 6th) Mr. Sidney, in a letter to the Editor of the "Times," resumes the charge in the following terms:—"My complaint arose from the mischievous tendency to the trade of the City by publishing inaccurate statements of the number of deaths from cholera; and I am borne out by the Report of the Officer of Health which gives the number during the past week, ending Saturday last, in the City of London (out of a population of 126,000 inhabitants) as 14, whilst the Registrar-General increases the number for the same period to no less than 26." Now 26 deaths by cholera were registered by the Registrars of the City of London in the week referred to; and the 26 persons died in the City within and without the walls. The sex, age, profession, fatal diseases and duration of illness, date of death, and place of death, are specified in the printed return itself; and Alderman Sidney can, if he will take the trouble, see these particulars, with the names of the deceased, and the names of the informants, in the books of the City Registrars. The deaths were registered, but did not all occur in the week; in several cases inquests had been held, and, as was explained in a note to the daily return for Saturday, September 29th, the account was swelled by an undue proportion of such cases; as deaths on which inquests have been held are not legally registered before the Coroner affixes his signature to the entries. The City Coroner and City Registrars, by an arrangement between themselves, registered deaths from cholera, which had occurred previously, in the last week of the quarter; and the deaths in the previous returns were understated to that extent.

St. Bartholomew's Hospital is in the City of London; many patients suffering from cholera have been received, and many have died in the hospital. Under the Act the deaths are registered in the district in which they occur. They are so returned, and this appears to be the imaginary "inaccuracy" which has given rise to the complaints; but most unjustly, for in the detailed return the deaths in St. Bartholomew's Hospital are carefully distinguished from the other deaths in the City, and the previous residence of the patients is stated. The following is a copy of the printed return for Tuesday, September 25, and a specimen of the rest:—

WEST LONDON; North.

Pop. 12682. Cholera 2; Diarrhœa —.
F. 47, Wife of hairworker, cholera 3 days. 32 Hosier lane.
F. 22, spinster, cholera. ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S HOSPITAL. From 6 Fulwood's rents.

It was shown on a diagram in the weekly return referred to by the alderman, that the mortality of the City of London from cholera was 49 or 65 in 10000, according as the deaths in St. Bartholomew's Hospital were included or excluded. In the four months from June 2nd to September 29th the particulars of 792 deaths from cholera in the City of London appeared in the weekly returns, which are forwarded from this office to Mr. Simon, the able Health Officer, who estimates in his Report the number belonging to the City, after excluding certain deaths in St. Bartholomew's Hospital, at 697 out of 124505, or 56 in 10000. The deaths from cholera to 10000 inhabitants in Hampstead were only 8; in the district of St. James Westminster, 15; St. George Hanover square, 16; Marylebone, 17; Clerkenwell, 18; Paucras, 22; Islington, 25; Kensington, 25; Hackney, 26; St. Martin-in-the-Fields, 33; Strand, 35; Holborn, 35; Lewisham, 35; St. George-in-the-East, 46; Stepney, 47; St. Luke, 48; St. Giles, 51; Chelsea, 53; City of London, 56; Whitechapel, 67; Westminster, 69; Shoreditch, 71; Wandsworth, 76; Greenwich, 78; Poplar, 86; Bethnal Green, 91; Camberwell, 100; Lambeth, 113; Newington, 142; St. Olave, 152 or 179; St. Saviour, 162; St. George Southwark, 164; Bermondsey, 189; Rotherhithe, 263.

London City, within and without the walls, has thus suffered more than the average mortality from cholera; and the West London Union has been the most fatal district north of the Thames. The Tables of Mortality inform the public how costly in human life the nuisances and tardy sanitary arrangements of the City have proved; and the statistics of the tradesmen's ledgers, exhibit equally cruel inroads on the profits of business. They have lost their fellow-citizens, workmen, children, wives, and customers. Unquestionably, no class of persons is so much interested, in so many ways, in the health of London, as the shopkeepers; sanitary improvement is with them a question of business; which will always be liable to periodical interruptions from epidemics, so long as London remains imperfectly supplied with water, is badly drained, and is infested with nuisances. The wealthy always retreat from a city in an epidemic. The Common Council, Vestries, and Boards of Guardians were reminded of this in 1847; the description of the epidemic of influenza in the last quarterly return of 1847 closed with the following passage: "The population of London was left at the mercy of any epidemic that should break out in any part of the world. During six weeks influenza interrupted business; afflicted hundreds of thousands by sickness, implanted fatal diseases in the breasts of many, and destroyed five thousand of the inhabitants! Are the men who opposed sanitary measures, and declared so loudly, that the 'City of London for health, cleanliness, effective drainage, lighting, and for supply of water to its inhabitants, cannot be surpassed,' satisfied? or will they fight against the public good, till cholera drive away their best customers, and decimate their own families? Let us hope that, instead of pursuing such a course, they will assist in supplying London with the necessities of city life, which they have enumerated, and which they now know are wanted."

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Nothing was shown at any examination.	The sky was covered with cirrostratus and scud throughout the day. Heavy squalls of rain were frequent.
MONDAY.	Positive, and tension strong between noon and 9 P.M.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Misty rain was falling frequently.
TUESDAY.	Positive, and tension strong at each examination.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cumulostrati, cirrostrati and scud. Thick fog prevailed during the evening.
WEDNESDAY.	Positive, and tension strong between 9 A.M. and noon.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Heavy rain was falling frequently. From 1 P.M. till 6 P.M. the wind was blowing with a nearly constant pressure of from 2 lbs. to 8 lbs. on the square foot; at 2h. 15m. a gust of 9 lbs. pressure was recorded, and at 2h. 30m. a gust of 15 lbs. nearly was recorded.
THURSDAY.	Positive, and tension strong between noon and 3 P.M., and weak at other examinations.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling heavily till 9 30 A.M.
FRIDAY.	Positive, and tension weak between 9 A.M. and noon.	The sky was for the most part clear till 3 P.M.; cirrostratus and fleecy clouds, variable in amount, prevailed till 7 P.M., and the sky was overcast afterwards.
SATURDAY.	Positive, and tension strong generally during the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling from 5h. 30m. P.M. till midnight.

The height of the eastern of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's first glass standard barometer.

The observations are taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; and 9h. P.M.
The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part 1, 1846. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9 A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10 A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the "Devonshire" Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 49.0; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 49.8; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 49.5 and 49.5 respectively.
The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.20 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.08 in. at about 5 A.M. on September 30; it remained at this reading till midnight on this day, after which it began to increase, and it was 29.64 in. at 9 P.M. on October 2nd; it then decreased quickly and was 29.13 in. the 4th, at 9 A.M.; it then increased, with slight exception, till October 6th, at noon, when it was 29.67, and it decreased to 29.53 by the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, October 6th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

1 KENSINGTON; St. John Paddington

M. 11 months, Son of servant, teething, diarrhœa, convulsions 4 days, 28 Sept. 43 Charles Mews. Healthy.

3 — Fulham

F. 31, W. of labourer, cholera 10 hours, 30 Sept. Peterborough row. The house is clean and well ventilated. The water used by the inmates is from an Artesian well next door.

F. 46, W. of labourer, cholera 4 days, consecutive fever 2 weeks, 30 Sept. 10 Willow place, North End. It is here where cholera first broke out in this district, and many deaths have occurred.

F. 43, W. of labourer, cholera 4 days, 30 Sept. Normand's Land. A large square building, divided into four houses: situation open. Pigs kept close to dwelling.

F. 7, Da. of gardener, choleraic diarrhœa 12 hours, 3 Oct. 4 Star lane, North end. The lane in front of the houses is now a pond of water for want of drainage.

M. 25, Irish labourer, cholera 56 hours, 3 Oct. 2 Peterborough row. Other deaths from cholera have occurred in this house and the adjoining.

F. 57, Wid. of labourer, cholera 10 hours, 4 Oct. 2 Stanley place. Cottages in a low situation.

4 — St. Paul Hammersmith

F. 3, Da. of hostler, exhaustion from diarrhœa 2 days, 6 Oct. 3 Providence place, High bridge. The house is small and confined, and near the river.

M. 39, phlegmonoid erysipelatous inflammation of the arm after cholera and typhus.

5 — St. Peter Hammersmith

6 — Kensington Town

F. 54, W. of labourer, cholera 15 hours, no premonitory diarrhœa, 29 Sept. Potteries, Kensington. In every respect unfavourable to health.

M. 8, Son of labourer, cholera 18 hours, no premonitory diarrhœa, 1 Oct. 7 New street. House overcrowded; drains at times offensive.

F. 2, Da. of single woman, a garden labourer, diarrhœa, anasarca, 2 Oct. Jennings's buildings. Street close; house overcrowded.

M. 27, carpenter, diarrhœa 3 hours, cholera 12 hours. 5 Oct. WORKHOUSE, Kensington. Brought to the workhouse in a cab from Brompton, in a state of collapse.

7 — Brompton

F. 55, supposed to be a married woman, husband unknown, cholera 25 hours, 1 Oct. 13 Yeoman's row.

The deceased had walked out, and on Thursday last had washed the clothes of a person who died of cholera in my district on 29th ultimo. I am informed that another woman now lies in a hopeless state from an attack of cholera who had made use of the suds in which the said clothes had been washed, to clean her room.

F. 63, W. of journeyman baker, cholera 17 hours, 2 Oct. 5 Yeoman's row. This is the person I mentioned in my return yesterday as then lying dangerously ill, who, to clean her room, had made use of the suds in which the clothes of a person who died of cholera had been washed. The death of the person who washed the clothes was reported in yesterday's return.

F. 29, W. of journeyman carpenter, cholera 17 hours, 1 Oct. 9 Lloyd's place.

The medical attendant remarks,—"The deceased had suffered from troublesome diarrhœa during the autumn, but was quite well when attacked by cholera, and there was no apparent cause for the attack either in the habits of the deceased or in the locality of her dwelling, no other case having occurred in Lloyd's place."

8 CHELSEA; Chelsea South

F. 5, Da. of shopman, cholera 6 days, 28 Sept. 1 George street.

F. 57, Wid., cholera 13 hours, diarrhœa for a day or two neglected, 1 Oct. 41 George street.

M. 31, costermonger, cholera, 12 hours, no previous diarrhœa, 6 Oct. 4 Union place, George street. Low, and badly ventilated; cul-de-sac.

9 — Chelsea North-West

M. 83, formerly a cordwainer, diarrhœa 5 weeks, 4 Oct. 6A College place.

10 — Chelsea North-East

M. 6, Son of journeyman carpenter, cholera about 12 hours, 2 Oct. 3 James street.

F. 3 weeks, Da. of domestic servant, diarrhœa 5 days, 3 Oct. 10 Oxford street.

M. 50, gunmaker, cholera 5 days, 4 Oct. 15 Wood street.

11 ST. GEORGE HANOVER SQUARE; Hanover Square

M. 49, stableman, cholera, duration unknown "post mortem," found dead in the stables, seen over night at 8½ apparently well, said to have complained of slight looseness of the bowels the day before, 23 Aug. A stable in Three Kings' yard, Davies street.—Inquest.

This yard consists of stables, therefore subject to animal effluvia and gases not favourable to health. This case was not registered until the present time, delayed for the signature of the Coroner.

M. 65, linendraper, diarrhœa, dysentery, 29 Sept. 113 New Bond street. Street well ventilated. Deceased was taken unwell in the country, where he had gone for change of air.

13 — Belgrave

M. 9, Son of labourer, cholera 68 hours, 29 Sept. 14 St. George's terrace.

M. 1, Son of brewer's servant, diarrhœa 3 days, 30 Sept. 9 Eaton court.

M. 69, accountant, diarrhœa 5 days, cholera, 2 Oct. 50 Stafford place.

M. 27, fishmonger's assistant, cholera, 4 Oct. 2 Motcomb street, Belgrave square.

M. 3, Son of coachman, cholera, consecutive fever 10 days, 4 Oct. 3 Elizabeth street South.

F. 56, Wid. cholera, 19 hours, 5 Oct. 9 Eaton court.

The 2 following cases occurred in ST. GEORGE'S HOSPITAL.

F. 7, Da. of labourer, cholera 3 days, 12 Sept. Came from Twickenham. Parents going about the country hop-picking. Came into the hospital labouring under anasarca, which entirely disappeared on the cholera coming on.

M. 58, mosaic engraver, disease of heart, diarrhoea. 10, Stephen street. Crowded.

M. 9 weeks, Son of baker, diarrhoea. 9 Kirkman's place. Crowded.

M. 32, chandler's-shop keeper, diarrhoea 4 days, (no attendance), cholera 8 hours, (attendance), 29 John street. It is the opinion of the medical man that cholera was brought on from neglect in not obtaining medical advice sooner.

F. 17 months, Da. of cabinet-maker, diarrhoea 3 weeks, 3 Oct. 17 Tottenham place. Crowded.

M. 42, brewer's servant, cholera 24 hours, 2 Oct. 5 Upper Tottenham place. Very close, crowded, and badly ventilated.

28 — Grays Inn Lane

F. 50, Wid. of carpenter, cholera 7 days, congestion of brain 4 days, 28 Sept. 24 Thanet street.

M. 5, Son of labourer, cholera, 14 hours, 1 Oct. 15 James street. Close and unwholesome. No windows at the back of the house.

M. 46, labourer, cholera, secondary fever 5 days, 1 Oct. ROYAL FREE HOSPITAL. From 5 Elder walk, Lower road, Islington.

29 — Somers Town

M. 38, labourer, cholera 12 hours, 29 Sept. 3 Elstree street.

Drainage very bad; landlord has been applied to, but has neglected to attend to it. At No. 2 there was, I am informed, an illicit still about six weeks back, and the refuse from that house ran under the flooring of the kitchen at No. 3, and was extremely offensive.

Deceased was employed at the gas factory until the last four months, and since that period he has only been occasionally employed at digging for different parties. A very sober and steady man.

F. 64, W. of general dealer, cholera 36 hours, 2 Oct. 3 Seymour row.

Mostly stables, occupied by cabmen, carmen, sweeps, and dealers in fish and vegetables. Deceased resided with her husband in a room over a place formerly used as stables, but now occupied by a dealer in wood. No place of convenience on the premises. There had previously been a death at No. 4 in the same row.

30 — Camden Town

F. 6 months, Da. of greengrocer, diarrhoea 4 days, 29 Sept. Oxford place, Agar Town. A nurse child; situation not unhealthy.

31, — Regents Park32 — Kentish Town*33 ISLINGTON; Islington West

F. 51, W. of carpenter, cholera 9½ hours, collapse 7 hours, (had a severe attack of diarrhoea 5 weeks' back), 1 Oct. Starkey's cottage, Sutton gardens, Caledonian road. A foul drain runs at the back of the house. The houses or hovels in this spot are generally without drains, and are held for about 10 years on lease, which has nearly expired.

F. 19 months, Da. of labourer, diarrhoea 10 days, rice water purging 2 days, 29 Sept. 2 Gordon place, Upper Holloway. The place is ill-cleaned, and the dwellings let out in tenements to travellers and excavators; it is on the rise of Highgate hill.

F. 69, Wid. of bricklayer, cholera 21 hours, 4 Oct. 3 Charlotte place, George's place, Holloway.

The drain was lately opened, and left so for three or four days, emitting an offensive smell. Her sister, who was the occupier, and had dwelt there for many years, died last week of cholera.

34 — Islington East

M. 10, Son of merchant, scarlet fever 24 hours, cholera 48 hours, 2 Oct. 19 Sussex place, Rotherfield street.

Vomiting commenced on Sunday evening. At half-past 7 on Monday morning he was attacked by scarlet fever; in the evening the eruption disappeared; on Tuesday at 8 o'clock in the morning he was cold and almost pulseless, the skin was of a dark colour, and he vomited at intervals. At a quarter past 10 he died.

CENTRAL DISTRICTS.40 ST. GILES; St. Giles South

F. 30, W. of pauper, cholera 66½ hours, 5 Oct. WORKHOUSE. From 3 Church lane.

41 — St. Giles North

F. 7, Da. of labourer, diarrhoea (not certified), 16 Sept. 1 Carrier street. The house is in a most filthy and wretched condition, being close, ill-cleaned, over-crowded, and ill-ventilated; and twenty persons slept in a small room on the previous night. The staircase was covered with filth, and the stench arising from the house was so offensive that the Registrar was obliged to request the mother to accompany him to the adjoining house to register the death of her child, which had been buried a fortnight since by the parochial authorities without his certificate. Carrier street forms a part of the "nookery" of St. Giles, a locality already well known.

42 — St. George Bloomsbury

No death from cholera. The death of a child, aged 7 years, from dysentery, was registered at 32 Colonnade mews, Russell square 1 and the Registrar remarks that, "in the same mews I reported a case of cholera the 25th August, 1849, and in the same house I have this day registered the death of another child of the same person, of consumption. But the medical attendant, Mr. Walne, of Guilford street, in both cases, declined furnishing any regular certificate of the cause, but merely wrote them on separate bits of paper, without his signature."

F. 7 months, Da. of haberdasher, diarrhoea 12 days, 2 Oct. 16 King street, Bloomsbury.

43 STRAND; St. Clement Danes

M. 13, Son of confectioner, cholera 24 hours, "post mort." 10 July. KING'S COLLEGE HOSPITAL.—Inquest.

The coroner's certificate was received in July, but the death was not registered until now. The lad had eaten freely of wheiks bought in the street, and had subsequently bathed. There has been only one genuine case of cholera registered this week in this district, inclusive of King's College Hospital.

M. 1 year, Son of journeyman tailor, diarrhoea 7 days, 1 Oct. 10 Milford lane, St. Clement Danes. Several cases of cholera have occurred in the same house, four of which have proved fatal. The privy is on the first floor and smells dreadfully.

F. 50, Wid. of labourer, cholera 2 days, secondary fever 2 weeks, "post mort." 3 Oct. KING'S COLLEGE HOSPITAL. From 29 Clements lane. This Clements lane is still a chosen spot of the destroying miasma. The deceased's husband died on the same day at home of typhus.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the week ending last Saturday, the total number of deaths registered was 1075; the weekly average derived from deaths in the autumnal quarter (which commences with the present month) of five previous years is 1162; the weekly return, therefore, now exhibits a decrease on the average, after a period of more than three months, during which it has shown a considerable, and in eleven consecutive weeks, an enormous excess above the usual rate of mortality. The decrease is observed in the West, North, and Central Divisions; the mortality in the East and South, where the deaths from cholera are still the most numerous, is about the average. The deaths from cholera in the last week were 110; in five previous weeks they were 2026 (the highest number which, exclusive of those from diarrhoea, the epidemic attained) 1682, 839, 434, 288. In last week the deaths from diarrhoea and dysentery (the mortality of which is more steadily maintained) were 105, almost as numerous as deaths from cholera, and considerably more than usual at this advanced season of the year. The aggregate deaths from these three kindred diseases were therefore 215; whilst the weekly average is only 35. During last week the daily number of deaths from cholera averaged 16; on Wednesday they were only 11. In the districts of St. James (Westminster), Islington, St. Giles Holborn, Camberwell, and Rotherhithe, no deaths from cholera were registered during the week. In Kensington there were 6; in Hackney 5; in Bethnal Green 7; in Shoreditch 12; in Poplar 5; in St. Saviour 6; in Bermondsey 6; in St. George (Southwark), Lambeth, Wandsworth 7 each, and in Greenwich 8. In all other districts the mortality from the epidemic did not range higher than 4 deaths. All other epidemics are at present under the average; small-pox and measles remarkably low; but scarlatina becomes more fatal, the deaths having risen from 39 in the previous week to 56 in the last (the average being 64). Typhus was fatal in 47 cases.

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.540 in.; the mean temperature was 46° 7', which is 4° 7' less than the average of the same week in seven years; it also shows a decrease on the mean of the previous week, of 5 degrees.

Meteorological Observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, during the Week ending Saturday, 13th Oct., 1849. Under the Superintendence of the Astronomer Royal.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Nothing was shown at any examination.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling heavily from 7.30h. p.m. till 11h. p.m.
MONDAY.	Positive, and tension moderate at 9h. a.m.	The sky was overcast till noon, three-fourths were covered till 5h. p.m., and cloudless afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
TUESDAY.	Positive, and tension strong between noon and 9h. p.m.	The sky was generally cloudless till near noon; from this time till 4h. p.m. clouds were prevalent, but variable in amount, and the sky was cloudless during the remainder of the day; cumulostratus, cirrostratus and haze.
WEDNESDAY.	Positive, and tension strong throughout the day.	Three-fourths of the sky were covered between noon and 3h. p.m., and cloudless at other times; cumuli, cumulostrati, and cirrostrati.
THURSDAY.	Positive, and tension weak at 9h. a.m. and 9h. p.m.	The sky was generally covered with cirrostratus and portions of scud throughout the day.
FRIDAY.	Positive, and tension moderate generally throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 10h. a.m.; three-fourths were covered with cumulostrati, cirrostrati, and scud till 5h. p.m., and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards. At 2h. 20m. p.m. there was a well-defined mock sun, and part of a solar halo visible.
SATURDAY.	Positive, and tension strong at 3 h. p.m.	The sky was covered with cirrostratus and scud throughout the day. Rain was falling frequently, and, at times, heavily.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 159 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's first glass standard barometer.

The observations are taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; and 9h. p.m.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I., 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections. The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9 a.m., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10 a.m., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read. This instrument was taken down on Tuesday morning for the purpose of cleaning and oiling; on Tuesday the air was almost calm.

The direction of the wind is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31. In reading the 18th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and - "lower," than the average. The temperature of the water of the Thames is ascertained by the use of a self-registering thermometer, suspended from the side of the "Iphigenia" Cholera Hospital Ship, at the depth of about 2 feet below the surface. The readings of this instrument are registered under the superintendence of Lieutenant Sanders, R.N., Superintendent of the "Dreadnought."

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the "Devonshire" Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 45.5; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 43.3; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 46.1 and 41.5 respectively. The direction of the wind was variable during the first three days, and its mean direction was N.E. during the last four days. The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.53 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.13 in. at 10h. a.m. on the 7th; and it continued at about this value till after midnight on the 7th, when it began to increase; on the 9th it rose at 9h. a.m. it was 29.91 in.; it decreased to 29.37 in. at 3h. p.m. on the 11th, and continued at about this reading during the remainder of the day; after this time the reading increased slowly till the morning of the 13th, and quickly during the 13th, to 29.89 in. at the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHOEA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, October 13th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhoea registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN the week ending last Saturday, the number of deaths registered, in London, is 1028, and shows a further decrease on the returns of previous weeks. The weekly average of 5 previous autumns, corrected for increase of population, is 1162; the decrease on the average, as shown by the present return, amounts therefore to 134 deaths. This reduction of the mortality is greatest in the districts on the South side of the river; for the deaths of the week in this division, were 276, whereas the average is 324. The mortality from cholera, now rapidly approaches the average; the deaths having fallen from 110 in the previous week to 41 in the last. In the West districts they have declined from 15 to 4; in the North from 7 to 1; in the Central from 10 to 6; in the East from 32 to 17, and in the South from 46 to 13. There were 5 deaths in each of the districts of Shoreditch and Bethnal Green; in all others, the number of fatal cases of the epidemic was still less. In the whole metropolis, the daily number did not, in any instance, exceed 9; on Wednesday and Saturday it was only 5. The deaths from diarrhœa and dysentery were more numerous, and amounted in the week to 63; in the previous week, they were 105. Of the 14538 persons, who have died of cholera in London in 55 weeks, 6657, or nearly one half, died after less than one day's illness (exclusive of the duration of premonitory diarrhœa); and of the remainder, 2466 sunk under the disease, before it had reached the second day.

At present, small-pox and measles are much less fatal than usual; scarlatina was fatal in 41 cases, the average being 64; typhus in 63 cases the average being 56.

The reading of the barometer reached 30·04 in. on Thursday at 9 o'clock A.M.; the mean of the week was 29·89. The mean daily temperature increased from 43° on Sunday to 59° 7' on Thursday, and continued at nearly this value during the rest of the week. The highest temperature was 69° 7' on Friday. On the first three days of the week the mean temperature was below the average of corresponding days in 7 years; in the last three days it was about 12 degrees above the average. The mean of the week was 52° 4'

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Positive, and tension moderate at 9h. P.M.	The sky was for the most part covered with cloud till near noon, clear from this time till 8h. P.M., and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
MONDAY.	Positive, with strong tension at 9h. A.M. and weak at 9h. P.M.	The sky was covered with cirrostratus till noon, and clear during the remainder of the day.
TUESDAY.	Positive, and tension variable during the day.	At times the sky was one-half, and at other times three-fourths covered with thin cirrostratus and fleecy clouds till 6h. P.M., and overcast afterwards.
WEDNESDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	Thin cirrostratus and light clouds were prevalent throughout the day, but variable in amount. Rain was falling during the earlier portion of the morning.
THURSDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was cloudless throughout the day.
FRIDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was cloudless till 1h. P.M.; from this time till 6h. P.M. cirrostratus and fleecy clouds prevailed, and generally clear afterwards.
SATURDAY.	Positive, and tension variable between 3h. P.M. and 9h. P.M.	The amount of cloud was very variable until 7 P.M., at which time the sky became overcast with dense cirrostratus. Rain began to fall at 8h. 40m., and continued falling at intervals till midnight.

The observations are taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; and 9h. P.M.

The means of the readings of the thermometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1846. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9 A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10 A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast of the "Dreadnought" Hospital Ship, and read each day at 9h. A.M. was 50.0°; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 50.3°; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 55.4° and 49.4° respectively.

* The mean direction of the wind for the first three days was N.E.; it was S.E. on the 17th and 18th, and S.W. on the 19th and 20th. The reading of the barometer at the beginning of the week was 29.90 in. this increased to 29.99 in. on the 15th at 9h. P.M.; decreased to 29.80 in. by noon on the 17th; it continued at about this value till after 3h. P.M., when it began to increase, and was 29.94 in. on the 18th at 9h. A.M., and till midnight the change of reading was very small; after this time it decreased, the reading was 29.75 in. on the 19th at 9h. P.M., and it was 29.80 in. at the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, October 20th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

4 KENSINGTON; St. Paul Hammersmith

F. 4 months, Da. of stonemason, diarrhœa 3 days, 11 Oct. Bridge road.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE total number of deaths registered in London, in the week ending last Saturday, was 902; the weekly average of five autumns, is 1162; the present return, therefore, shows a decrease of 260 deaths on the estimated mortality of the season. The numbers in the last three weeks, during which the mortality has continued to fall below the average, have been successively 1075, 1028, and 902. In last week only 25 deaths from cholera were registered; the numbers returned in the first three weeks of October were respectively 288, 110, and 41. Of the 25 deaths of the week, one occurred in the sub-district of Long Acre, 2 in the district of Pancras, one in Islington, one in the workhouse at Lower Homerton, one (after puerperal peritonitis) in Cock-court, Bishopsgate, 3 in the district of Shoreditch, 3 in Bethnal Green, 2 in Whitechapel, 4 in St. George in the East, one in Stepney, 2 in Poplar, and one in each of the following districts: Bermondsey, St. George (Southwark), Lambeth, and Camberwell. The deaths from diarrhoea and dysentery in the last week, were 51; the average is 27; their continuous decline is shown by the numbers returned in the first three weeks of October, which were 146, 103, and 63. Typhus was fatal in 52 cases; the weekly average is 56. From small-pox there were 7 deaths (about a third of the average); whilst those from measles, scarlatina, and hooping-cough were respectively 20, 33, and 16, the three epidemics exhibiting at present only a half of the usual mortality. The mortality from phthisis is also much less than the usual amount. Besides a case of cholera, already referred to, the deaths of 13 women, after childbirth, were registered in the week.

The reading of the barometer was 30 in. on Wednesday; the mean reading of the week was 29·87. The mean temperature has been throughout the week higher than the average of the same week of 7 years; on the last five days it was from 9 to 12 degrees higher than the average of corresponding days. The mean of the week was 55 degrees.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Nothing was shown at any examination.	The sky was covered with cirrostratus and scud till near 6h. p.m., and clear afterwards. Rain was falling at intervals during the morning.
MONDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was generally overcast till 9h. a.m., three-fourths covered till noon, and the amount of cloud was afterwards very variable, cirrostratus, fleecy clouds, and scud. Frequent showers of rain fell during the evening. An aurora at night, and the magnets were disturbed.
TUESDAY.	Positive, and tension variable between noon and 3 p.m.	The sky was generally covered with cirrostratus throughout the day.
WEDNESDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till near noon, and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards; cirrostratus, fleecy clouds, and scud.
THURSDAY.	Negative and active at noon.	The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with cirrostratus throughout the day. Rain fell occasionally during the evening.
FRIDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	Three-fourths of the sky were covered till noon, cloudless from this time till 8h. p.m., and overcast afterwards; cumulostrati and cirrostrati.
SATURDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was generally overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling occasionally during the morning.

The observations are taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; and 9h. p.m.
The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections. The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. a.m., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. a.m., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hundred observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 56.6; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 54.4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 54.1 and 54.3 respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29.68 in. at the beginning of the week to 30.02 in. at 9h. p.m. on the 27th; and it continued at about the value till 9h. p.m. on the 24th; it then decreased till noon on the 26th, at which time it was 29.67 in.; and it then continued to increase slowly till the end of the week, when it was 29.97 in.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHOEA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, October 27th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhoea registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE mortality of London, which fell below the weekly average of 5 autumns in the second week of October, has steadily continued to decline during the three subsequent weeks. The present return shows that only 837 deaths were registered in the week ending last Saturday, while the average is 1162, (allowance being made for increase of population on previous years;) the decrease is therefore 325. A comparison of returns made for the same week in the last 10 years, shows that in any of the nine weeks the mortality has not been so low as at the present time; in the corresponding week of 1841 the deaths were 840; in that of 1848 they were 1115, after cholera had given warning of its presence. Only 11 deaths from cholera were registered in last week; in the three preceding weeks they were successively 110, 41, and 25, declining by nearly a geometrical progression. Of the 11, one occurred in Lower North-street, Chelsea; two in the workhouse of St. Martin-in-the-Fields (one having been that of a girl brought from a house in Bedfordbury, the condition of which is minutely described by the registrar); one in Claremont-place, Gray's-inn-lane; one in George-yard, Saffron-hill; two at No. 12, Seven Step-alley, Gravel-lane; one in the Lunatic Asylum, Hoxton House; one in Maidstone-place, "a very low and ill-drained spot" in Haggerstone East; one at 4 Paternoster-row, Spitalfields, where the mother of the deceased died five days afterwards of "diarrhœa;" and one in Wycombe-place, Kent-road. In the last week 40 deaths were registered from diarrhœa and dysentery (the average is 27); in the three previous weeks they were 105, 63, and 51. Two of these, in the present return, occurred at Jennings'-buildings, Kensington, a locality which has frequently obtained unfavourable notice in the records of the late epidemic. Typhus was fatal to 37 persons; the average is 56. Other epidemics are still under the average. The mortality from small-pox and measles continues unusually low. A woman of 57 years died of "inflammation, from a plum-stone lodging, 33 days before death, in the colon, and producing thickening, and complete obstruction."—Post. mort. In two cases, intemperance is stated to have been the cause of death.

The mean reading of the barometer at Greenwich was upwards of 30 in. on the first three days of the week. The mean of the week was 29.807. The mean temperature of the week was 50.3°, which is 4° above the average of the same week in 7 years.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Positive, and tension weak at Nov. 2d. 0h. This was the only time electricity was shown during the week, at the time of examination.	The sky was overcast until 5h. p.m., and generally clear afterwards; cirrostratus, scud, and haze.
MONDAY.		The sky was cloudless till 9h. a.m.; from this time till 5h. p.m. the sky was for the most part covered with cumulostratus, cirrostratus, and fleecy clouds, and cloudless afterwards.
TUESDAY.		The sky was clear till 6h. p.m.; clouds of various modifications prevailed afterwards, and were very variable in amount.
WEDNESDAY.		The sky was covered with thin cirrostratus till 10h. a.m.; generally clear from this time till 6h. p.m., and overcast afterwards. A lunar halo was visible during the evening.
THURSDAY.		The sky, with slight exceptions, was covered with thin cirrostratus and light clouds till 5h. p.m. Thin cirri, in detached fragments, generally covered one-half of the sky afterwards.
FRIDAY.		One-third portion of the sky was covered with light clouds till 4 p.m., and it was cloudless afterwards.
SATURDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Thick fog prevailed during the evening.

The observations are taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; and 9h. p.m.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part 1, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. a.m., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have at 9h. a.m. in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. a.m., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and - "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 50.6; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 47.4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 49.9 and 46.9 respectively.

* The direction of the wind for the week was variable, and at all times its pressure was small.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29.37 in. at the beginning of the week to 30.54 in. by noon on October 29; it decreased to 29.37 in. by 9h. a.m. on November 1; it was at 29.37 in. by 9h. a.m. on Nov. 2, and decreased to 29.26 in. by the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, November 3rd, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

16 ST. MARTIN IN THE FIELDS; Charing Cross

The 2 following cases occurred in the WORKHOUSE:—

F. 57, charwoman, cholera 48 hours, 26 Oct.

F. 11, Da. of coal-porter, cholera 3 days, 27 Oct.

The occurrence of two cases in this lightly-visited district when the epidemic has all but disappeared, requires especial attention. At 32 Bedfordbury, on the 21st October, died of true cholera the wife of a coal-porter, in the ninth month of pregnancy, when, four medical men being present, the Cæsarean operation was proposed, but not acceded to. The bed was saturated with serous evacuations unconsciously passed, and orders were given to the nurse to cleanse, &c. On the 24th, the girl was taken ill. Finding the bed and clothes still in the same filthy condition, and all the family sleeping on it, I ordered the child to be taken to the cholera ward, and the bed to be burned, and the room lime-whited. While executing this order, the nurse was taken ill and was removed to the cholera ward. I inspected the premises with my colleague last autumn; found the cesspool emptied and filled up, and patent pipes were given to the nurse to be laid directly into the sewer. No water was at that time laid on in the water-closet, then in course of construction. The room is over a gateway into a stable-yard, and on market days (three times a-week) the country carts pass under it loaded with manure, and at such times the place is horribly offensive. In the same yard there are a sunken tank and pump, to which persons resort for water; close to these is a cowhouse, and a little further off a sunken dung pit. Query.—May there not be infiltration of putrescent animal matters into this tank which is used by persons in the neighbourhood? No other person in the house has been ill.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the week ending last Saturday, the deaths registered in the metropolitan districts were 893; a number which shows an excess of 56 on the return of the previous week, but a reduction of 269 on the corrected average of five autumns. If the present return be compared with that made in the same week of each of the years 1840-8, it will be found that, with but one exception (in 1841, when the deaths were 841), the mortality ranged formerly from 910 to 1165, and therefore was considerably higher than in last week, though the population in those years was less. The increase of 56 now observed on the week ending November 3, partly arises from pneumonia and bronchitis, the deaths from which become more numerous as the winter advances, having been 104 in the previous week, 127 in the last. The total number of deaths from cholera in the week was only 6 (5 less than in the previous week); in the same week of 1848 there were 62. The steady decline of diarrhoea and dysentery is shown by the numbers of the last five weeks, which were respectively 105, 63, 51, 40, and 29. A boy died of diarrhoea in Peterborough-row, Fulham, whose father had been carried off by cholera in September; a boy of the same disease at Brudenell-place, New North-road, from an unwholesome condition of the house; and a girl at Maidstone-place, in the house in which a death from cholera, reported in the former week, occurred, and in a locality then described as "low and ill-drained." Of the 6 deaths from cholera, one occurred at Water-lane, Homerton; one at Weatherhead-gardens (Hackney-road), a place low, undrained, and drenched by waste water; one in Christchurch, St. Saviour's; one at Drummond-road, St. James Bermondsey; one in Walworth; and one in Lambeth. A death from apoplexy, on which an inquest was held, occurred in Huntingdon-street, Hoxton. The deceased was a female of 65, who for the last four years had lived in an underground cellar, which is only 11 feet in length, 8 feet 6 inches in width, 5 feet 9 inches in height, and sunk 5 feet 7 inches below the surface of the street. A small window scarce gives light or ventilation, and "the walls (says the Registrar) are so damp that you might brush the water from them."

The mean daily reading of the barometer was above 30 inches on the last three days of the week. The mean of the week was 29.732. The temperature on the last three days was considerably higher than the average of the same days in 7 years. The mean of the week was 50.2°, which is higher than the average by 4.1°.

The observations are taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; and 9h. P.M. The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, and of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and - "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. A.M., was 51.2; and the mean reading, at 9h. P.M., was 50.4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 48.5 and 49.0 respectively. The reading of the barometer at the beginning of the week was 29.96 in.; it decreased to 29.17 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 4th; it increased to 30.25 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 9th, and decreased to 30.16 in. at the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, November 10th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

3 KENSINGTON: Fulham

M. 4 months, Son of Irish labourer, (deceased,) diarrhœa 10 days, 3 Nov. 2 Peterborough row. The father of this child died of cholera in the same house, on the 6th September.

6 — Kensington Town

M. 64, carpenter, chronic diarrhœa, 4 Nov. WORKHOUSE. Healthy.
F. 2 years 9 months, Da. of porter, diarrhœa, convulsions 3 days, hydrocephalus 2 days, 31 Oct. 5 Cambridge Villas. Healthy.

16 ST. MARTIN IN THE FIELDS; Charing Cross

F. 58, servant, diarrhœa and debility 2 months, 7 Nov. WORKHOUSE. There was no post mortem examination in this case, but it is considered that the disease arose from organic changes, and not from mere functional disturbance.

18 ST. JAMES WESTMINSTER; Berwick Street

M. 11 months, Son of policeman, C Division, diarrhœa 2 days, 10 Nov. 4 Tyler's court, Berwick street.

NORTH DISTRICTS.

23 MARYLEBONE; The Rectory

M. 8 months, Son of carman, diarrhœa, convulsions 2 days. 16 Northumberland street.

35 HACKNEY; Hackney

F. 11, Da. of labourer, cholera 8 days. 5 Water lane, Homerton. House clean and airy.

CENTRAL DISTRICTS.

55 ST. LUKE; White Cross Street

F. 1, Da. of watch pendant maker, diarrhœa 5 months, 5 Nov. 16 Pump alley.

60 WEST LONDON; South

F. 73, Wid. of parish clerk, diarrhœa 2 months, synochus 1 month, 8 Nov. 11 Chatham place.

61 — North

M. 24, shoemaker, diarrhœa, 5 Nov. UNION HOUSE, West street.

EAST DISTRICTS.

67 SHOREDITCH; Hoxton New Town

M. 5 years, Son of bookkeeper, diarrhœa 2 days, convulsions 2 hours, 1 Nov. 38 Brudenell place, New North road. Unfavourable to health, owing to a cesspool, which has not been emptied for years, and the want of a regular water-closet.

71 — Haggerstone East

F. 7 months, Da. of servant, diarrhœa 2 days, 4 Nov. 7 Maidstone place. A very low, ill-drained spot. The same house as that in which the case of cholera mentioned in last week's report occurred.

74 BETHNAL GREEN; Church

F. 1 year 2 months, Da. of weaver, teething, diarrhœa 11 weeks, 2 Nov. 36 South Conduit street.

F. 4, Da. of saddle-tree rivetter, diarrhœa, typhoid fever 1 month, 31 Oct. 20 James street.

75 — Town

M. 1 year, Son of weaver, diarrhœa 6 months, 31 Oct. 4 Hague place, Sale street.

76 — Hackney Road

M. 38, journeyman cordwainer, cholera 2 days, 6 Nov. 3 Weatherhead gardens, Crabtree row. A low and undrained spot, with a porous soil, through which the waste water percolates freely.

77 WHITECHAPEL; Spitalfields

M. 18 months, Son of cabinet-maker, diarrhœa 2 weeks, 4 Nov. 27 Great Pearl street.

93 POPLAR; Bow

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE deaths from all causes, registered in the metropolitan districts in the week ending last Saturday, were 878. This number exhibits a decrease of 284 deaths on the weekly average of five previous autumns, corrected for increase of population; and the returns of the last ten years show that the present low rate of mortality is without example (within the period of observation) at this advanced season of the year, unless the year 1841 must be excepted, when the deaths returned in the corresponding week were 827, but out of a population undoubtedly less than at the present time. The mortality in the early part of November has usually ranged from 900 to upwards of 1200 deaths. The deaths registered last week from the zymotic or epidemic class of diseases were only 204, while the average is 307; those from diseases of the respiratory organs (exclusive of phthisis) were 134, while the average is 214. But the mortality from phthisis (or consumption) and bronchitis seems to increase, and is now about the average; and influenza was fatal to four young persons and an adult. The deaths from diarrhœa and dysentery in the week were 22, which is about the same as in former years at this season; those in the last four weeks have been successively 51, 40, 29, 22. From cholera, 8 deaths were registered, or two more than in the preceding week; but in two cases the persons died of disease consequent on cholera, from which they had previously suffered. One of the 8 deaths occurred in Holland Cottages, St. John Westminster; one in Earl-street, Lisson Grove, Marylebone; one in King's College Hospital (the patient having been brought from Drury-lane); one in St. John-street, Clerkenwell; one in Green-walk, Bermondsey; one in Lambeth; one in York-place, South Lambeth; and one in Nightingale-vale, Woolwich. A boy of 6 years died of diarrhœa after 52 hours' illness, in Frederick-street, Bromley, an overcrowded and dirty neighbourhood, where cholera lately was rife.

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29·863. The mean daily height was above 30 inches on Sunday, Monday, and Saturday. The mean temperature of the week was 45·2°; on Saturday it was 39·3°. It was above the average of the same days of 7 years on the first four days, and below it during the rest of the week.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.		The sky was for the most part clear until 7 p.m.; it was afterwards frequently obscured with cirrostratus and thick haze.
MONDAY.		The sky was generally overcast till 9 a.m., one-third portion was covered from this time until 4 p.m., and overcast afterwards. Thick fog was prevalent during the earlier portion of the morning, and also from 5 till 6 p.m.
TUESDAY.		One half of the sky was covered till 10 a.m.; overcast till 4 p.m., and the amount of cloud was very variable afterwards; cirrostratus and scud. Showers of rain fell between noon and 3 p.m.
WEDNESDAY.		Three-fourths of the sky were generally covered till 4 p.m., and cloudless afterwards; cumuli, cirrostratus and scud. At 6h. 45m. a squall of wind and rain occurred, at which time a gust of nearly 6 lbs. pressure on the square foot was recorded.
THURSDAY		The sky was cloudless till 8h. 30m. a.m.; from this time until 5 p.m., it was for the most part covered with cumulostratus, cirrostratus and scud. Frequent showers of rain fell during the afternoon.
FRIDAY.		The amount of cloud was very variable till 4 p.m., and the sky was clear afterwards; cumulostratus, cirrostratus and haze.
SATURDAY		The sky was cloudless throughout the day.

The observations are taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; and 9h. p.m. The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. a.m., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whewell's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. a.m., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and - "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 46.1; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 43.4; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 44.9 and 42.0 respectively.

The mean direction of the wind was S.W. till Wednesday, and N.W. from Thursday. The reading of the barometer at the beginning of the week was 30.17 in.; it increased to 30.20 in. by 1h. a.m. on the 14th; decreased to 29.47 in. by 3h. p.m. on the 14th; it increased to 30.19 in. by the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, November 17th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

* The Returns from Mr. Redford and Mr. Defriez, for the sub-districts of London Road and Cripplegate, were not received by post on Monday in time for publication. The united averages of the two districts, derived from births and deaths of the preceding six weeks, are substituted, and amount to 22 births and 16 deaths. The average deaths are placed to "Causes not specified."

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE Return for the week ending last Saturday, shows that the deaths registered in the Metropolitan districts were 892, a number which is less by 270, than the weekly average of five previous autumns raised according to probable increase of population. It is satisfactory to observe, that as compared with the average, namely 116, the mortality has exhibited a considerable decrease during a period of seven weeks; from the beginning of the present month the total deaths in each week have been less than 900. In the class of zymotic or epidemic diseases 178 deaths are enumerated, whilst the average is 307; from diseases of the respiratory organs, 170, (being an increase of 36 on the preceding week,) whilst the average is 214. Phthisis, which is not included in the latter class, was fatal to 104 persons, or rather less than the usual number; pneumonia or inflammation of the lungs (which now increases rapidly) to 82, nearly all children, and bronchitis to 60. From typhus there were only 34 deaths, a smaller number than has been recorded for a long period; from scarlatina, 35; from measles, 30; from hooping-cough only 12; from influenza, 4. The mortality from small-pox, which has recently been low, suddenly rose from 6 deaths in the previous week to 17 in the last. Fortunately the deaths from diarrhoea, which were only 16, are now 7 below the average. Only two deaths from cholera were registered in the week; a man who had lived in Shilton-court, Bedfordbury, died in Charing Cross Hospital, of "consecutive fever after cholera" (three weeks' illness); and a child after 18 hours' illness in Blandford-mews, in the Rectory, Marylebone. A woman of 46 years, on whom an inquest was held, died in the Regent's Park sub-district, of "exhaustion from want of sufficient food," according to the verdict of the jury.

Annexed to the present Return, are Tables of 18,166 deaths from cholera and diarrhoea in London, distinguishing sex; and showing the different ages at which they occurred, and also the annual rate of mortality derived from the deaths and population at each age. Amongst other facts, it is shown that the mortality from the epidemic was uniformly greater among males than females up to the age of 30 or 35; that between 35 and 45 years, women suffered more; that in the decennial period following the rate of mortality was nearly equal to both sexes, and that up to 85 it was greater among women, at which age the proportion turns in their favour. It also appears that from 25 years the rate of mortality constantly increased up to extreme age, though generally diarrhoea was the milder form which the epidemic assumed in the case of octogenarians.

The mean reading of the barometer was above 30 inches on Tuesday; the mean of the week was 29.753. The mean temperature was below the average of the same days in 7 years, during the last 5 days, except on Friday when it was slightly higher. The mean of the week was 43.3°; on Thursday it was only 38.3°, but rose 6 deg. on the day following.

This Table may be read without reference to the decimal point, thus:—To 100000 living, the deaths from Cholera and Diarrhoea, at all ages, were—Males 847, Females 802: from Cholera alone, Males 671, Females 648; and from Diarrhoea, Males 176, Females 154; or to 1 death from Cholera and Diarrhoea, at all ages, there were 118 Males living; and from Cholera alone 149 Males living; from Diarrhoea alone 566 Males living to 1 death annually.

NOTE.—The mortality from Cholera having been suddenly increased, at certain ages, in the three first weeks of the year 1849, in consequence of the outbreak in Drouet's Asylum for Pauper Children at Tooting, a correction has been made in calculating the mortality per cent., as given in the above Table, a number equivalent to the average of previous weeks having been inserted at ages 5-10 and 10-15 for the three weeks alluded to. Without this correction the mortality per cent. would have been—At ages 5-10, Cholera, Males *652, Females *569; and at ages 10-15, Males *390, Females *316.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	No electricity was shown till Nov. 24, at noon; during the afternoon, however, of Saturday the electricity was positive, with variable tension, at most times very weak.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain fell frequently during the day.
MONDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
TUESDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
WEDNESDAY.		The sky was generally overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
THURSDAY		The sky was generally overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
FRIDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain began to fall at 3 P.M., and continued falling during the remainder of the day. After 9 P.M., the time of reading the gauge, the amount of rain which fell before midnight was 0.17, which is registered for the 24th.
SATURDAY		The sky was overcast till 11 A.M.; one-half covered till 6 P.M., and cloudless afterwards; cirrostratus and scud. Thick fog prevailed during the evening.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. A.M. was 45.1; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 42.7; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 44.0 and 41.0 respectively.

The reading of the barometer at the beginning of the week was 30.18 in.; it decreased to 29.80 in. by the 10th at 9h. A.M.; increased to 30.62 in. by the 20th at 1h. A.M.; decreased to 29.21 in. by 3h. P.M. on the 24th, after which the reading increased slightly till the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, November 24th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

9 CHELSEA; Chelsea North-West

F. 65, W. of labourer, diarrhœa 7 days, 18 Nov. 4 Oakham street.

10 ——— Chelsea North-East

• The age of a female found murdered was not stated.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the week ending last Saturday, the deaths registered in the Metropolitan districts were 931. The return continues to show a considerable decrease on the weekly average, which is 1162, as calculated for increase of population, from the mortality of former autumns; but it exhibits a slight increase on the returns of the five weeks immediately preceding; during the greater part of November the deaths fluctuated between 837 and 893. The increase is apparent in deaths caused by diseases of the respiratory organs: hooping-cough carried off 23 children, about double the number of the previous week; pneumonia 94 persons (of whom 78 were under 15 years of age), being an increase of 12 on the previous week; asthma 21, an increase of 9; and phthisis 134, an increase of 30. The deaths from all epidemic diseases were 173, whilst the autumnal average is 307. The fatal cases of typhus have declined to 35; those of diarrhoea and dysentery were 20; and only one death is returned as caused by cholera, and in this case the deceased sunk under debility, the consequence of two attacks of the disease which she had suffered previously. She was a woman of 27 years, and died in the south-west sub-district of the City of London. A case is recorded in which the fatal diseases (atrophy and icterus) were the result of intemperance. 12 women died after childbirth.

In the Returns for weeks ending September 22nd and 29th, diagrams were published showing the deaths from cholera to every 10000 inhabitants, in each DISTRICT of London. A tabular statement is now given, showing the mortality from cholera in 58 weeks, in each of the sub-districts into which London is divided; the population of each sub-district, the deaths from cholera to every 10000 inhabitants, and the number of inhabitants to every death. To take a few examples: Lambeth contains 8 sub-divisions; in Waterloo-road (first part) the deaths to 10000 of the population were 159; in Waterloo-road (second part) they were 145; in Lambeth Church (first part) they were 118. These places are in the neighbourhood of the river; but the sub-districts which are more remote, present more favourable results; for in Kennington the deaths were 110 to 10000 inhabitants; in Brixton they were 79, and in Norwood only 7. Wandsworth and Camberwell also exhibit the greatest contrasts in the comparison of the sub-districts into which they are severally divided, the deaths ranging from 17 in 10000 in Putney to 175 in Battersea, and 182 in Streatham and Tooting; from 5 in Dulwich to 182 in Camberwell (sub-district). In St. George Hanover Square, the Belgrave sub-district, which is of low situation, suffered a mortality of 33 in 10000; while the average of portions more favourably situated, was not more than 8. In St. James Bermondsey the rate of mortality was 208 deaths; in Rotherhithe 270. The above are some of the general results, but in the Table, the sub-districts which contain work-houses, hospitals, and other public institutions are distinguished, as allowance must be made for persons taken into them from other districts, after they had been attacked by the disease.

The mean height of the barometer in the week was 29.803; the daily mean was above 30 in. on Tuesday. The mean temperature of the week was 34° 5', and was lower than the average of the same week in 7 years by 9° 1'. On Wednesday, the daily mean was less than the average by 17° 5'.

Meteorological Observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, during the Week ending Saturday, 1st Dec., 1849. Under the Superintendence of the Astronomer Royal.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Positive, and tension strong during the evening.	The sky was overcast with cirrostratus till 6.30h. p.m., and clear afterwards. Dense fog prevailed till 2h. p.m.
MONDAY.	Positive, and tension strong after 3h. p.m.	The sky was overcast till 6.30h. p.m., generally clear until 8.30h. p.m., and the amount of cloud was variable afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.
TUESDAY.	Positive, and tension variable throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 9h. a.m., one-half covered with cirrostratus till noon, and generally free from cloud afterwards. Thick fog prevailed during the evening.
WEDNESDAY.	Positive, and tension strong till 3h. p.m., and weak afterwards.	The sky was obscured with thick fog till 9h. a.m.; after this time it was clear until 8h. p.m., and generally covered with cumulostratus afterwards.
THURSDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was overcast till 10h. a.m., one-half covered till 3h. p.m., clear until 7h. p.m., and covered with thin cirrostratus generally afterwards. A lunar halo was visible during the evening.
FRIDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling generally.
SATURDAY.	Positive, and tension strong till about noon; nothing shown during the remainder of the day.	The sky was principally free from cloud till about noon, and overcast during the remainder of the day. The rain recorded this day fell between the hours of 9h. p.m. and midnight of the preceding day.

The observations are taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; and 9h. p.m.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1846. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. a.m., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. a.m., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and - "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. a.m. was 8.8; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 34.6; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 34.2 and 33.2 respectively.

The reading of the barometer increased from 29.25 in. at the beginning of the week to 30.03 in. by 9h. p.m. on the 27th November; it decreased to 29.6 in. by noon on the 30th of November; it increased to 30.00 in. by 5h. p.m. on 1st of December, and then decreased to 29.96 in. at the end of the week.

NOTE.—A correction is required in several sub-districts for the increase of population in the interval from 1841 to 1849; but this can only be made after the next census, as the increase is greatest in the exterior districts, and the population of the interior is nearly stationary, the Table as it at present stands, overstates the mortality of the open districts.

To a certain extent this is, however, neutralized by an error in an opposite direction; in the hospitals of St. Bartholomew, St. Thomas, King's College, University College, Westminster, Charing-Cross, the Royal Free Hospital, a certain number of cases of cholera were received from the districts in which the hospitals were not situated. In St. Bartholomew's the mortality was considerable. It is not possible at present to distribute these deaths over the districts to which they properly belong. So of the workhouses; several of which were used as hospitals for the reception of cholera patients.

- 12 deaths occurred in St. George's Hospital, 6 of which appear to have occurred to

† The Health Officer of the City of London has distributed the deaths from cholera and dysentery, during the last week, over the sub-districts in which the attacks took place; the mortality for the week ending 11th inst. was:—in the City, 10; in the West London, 90, 143; and of London City, 139, 23, 30, 31, and 32, respectively. The deaths from cholera and dysentery in the Metropolis was 4 of cholera to 1 of dysentery.

are situated. (P.) denotes prison, (L.) lunatic asylum in the sub-district. The Millbank Penitentiary and the Westminster House of Correction suffered from cholera; so did the Hulks on the river, and the lunatic asylums of Camberwell and Bethnal Green; but more particularly the house of Drouet for pauper children, in Tooting, Streatham, Wandsworth.

The mortality from cholera of the several sub-districts of the City of London is disturbed by the deaths from that disease in St. Bartholomew's Hospital; and the mortality is more correctly shown in the note below, the deaths in St. Bartholomew's having been distributed by the Health Officer of the City over the sub-districts in which the attacks took place.

The Table gives the results of comparing the deaths from cholera in the several sub-districts, with the population of those districts in 1841.

+ The Health Officer of the City of London has distributed the deaths from cholera and diarrhoea in hospitals in the quarters ending June 23rd, September 29th, and in two subsequent weeks, over the sub-districts in which the attacks took place; the mortality from diarrhoea and cholera in 100,000 was, by this arrangement, in the sub-districts of East London, 61, 63; of West London, 90, 143; and of London City, 139, 23, 30, 31, and 39, respectively. These three districts comprise the City within and without the walls. The proportion of deaths from cholera and diarrhoea in the Metropolis was 4 of cholera to 1 of diarrhoea.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHOEA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, December 1st, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhoea registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used : Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

1 KENSINGTON; St. John Paddington

M. 1, Son of labourer, marasmus 2 months, diarrhoea, 21 Nov. 3 Wharf, South Wharf road.

12 ST. GEORGE HANOVER SQUARE: Mayfair

F. 63, Wid., diarrhoea 3 weeks. MOUNT STREET WORKHOUSE. Brought in a dying state. Home not known.

NORTH DISTRICTS.

21 MARYLEBONE; All Souls

F. 1 year 10 months, Da. of coachmaker, diarrhoea, bronchitis 6 weeks, 22 Nov. 28 George street.

27 PANCRAS; Tottenham Court

M. 2 months, Son of clerk to pianoforte manufacturer, diarrhoea from birth, convulsions 4 days, 21 Nov. 40 Howland street.

31 ——— Regents Park

F. 80, Wid. of gardener, old age, dysentery and diarrhoea 3 weeks, 23 Nov. 5 Nelson street, Camden town.

35 HACKNEY; Hackney

F. 66, chronic diarrhoea 12 months, ulceration of bowels.

CENTRAL DISTRICTS.

55 ST. LUKE; White Cross Street

F. 4 months, Da. of watch-dial painter, diarrhoea 1 week, 28 Nov. 46 Banner street.

60 WEST LONDON; South

M. 68, minister of Moravian chapel, diarrhoea, probably ulceration of the bowels, 29 Nov. 32 Fetter lane.

64 LONDON CITY; South-West

F. 27, debility after two attacks from cholera.

EAST DISTRICTS.

M. 6 weeks, diarrhoea 4 days, convulsions 2 days.
F. 2 years 5 months, diarrhoea 3 months, convulsions 14 days.

74 BETHNAL GREEN; Church

F. 5 months, Da. of cooper, diarrhoea, hæmorrhage 7 days, 26 Nov. 24 Foster street, Bethnal Green.

92 POPLAR; Poplar

F. 1, Da. of labourer, diarrhoea 3 weeks, acute bronchitis 2 days, 28 Nov. 5 Spratley's row, Mill Wall.

SOUTH DISTRICTS.

94 ST. SAVIOUR SOUTHWARK; St. Saviour

M. 2, Son of gas-fitter, diarrhoea 4 months, 24 Nov. 2 Hall's court, Southwark.

97 ST. OLAVE SOUTHWARK; St. John Horselydown

M. 69, labourer, exhaustion from diarrhoea of 4 months standing, 20 Nov. UNION WORKHOUSE.

108 LAMBETH; Waterloo Road, 2nd Part

M. 3 months, Son of single woman, infantile diarrhoea 4 days, 5 Whiting street. The diarrhoea was attended with violent vomiting. The grandfather of the deceased is also suffering from diarrhoea and sickness. The house is well drained, but is in an unwholesome locality. The informant said that the water was dreadfully bad, and scarce fit to be used, which she imputes to the rotten state of the water-butts.

115 CAMBERWELL; Camberwell

M. 7 weeks, Son of labourer, diarrhoea 8 days, 23 Nov. Lordship lane, East Dulwich.

119 ROTHERHITHE; Rotherhithe

F. 83, diarrhoea 7 days.

133 LEWISHAM; Lee

M. 6 months, diarrhoea 3 weeks.
Besides the above, the widow of a hairdresser, aged 33 years, died in the Town sub-district of Bethnal Green of "disease of the uterus (5 years), diarrhoea (7 days)," at 3 Nelson street, the drainage of which is reported as bad.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

THE Return for the week ending last Saturday shows that the total deaths registered in the Metropolis were 1053. The average of the season, corrected for increase of population, is 1162, and therefore exceeds the deaths of last week by 109. The mortality which for some time after the abatement of the epidemic continued to fall till it reached a point unusually low, again steadily increases, as appears from the numbers successively returned in the last four weeks, which were 878, 892, 931, and 1053. The cause of the increase may be discovered in the fact, that whereas deaths from epidemic diseases in these four weeks were respectively 204, 178, 173, and 203, those caused by diseases of the respiratory organs (chiefly bronchitis and pneumonia) were 134, 170, 194, and 203, showing a gradual rise towards the average, which is 214. The deaths from phthisis (which are not included in the above) have been in the last four weeks 128, 104, 134, and 133; the weekly average is 128. Hooping-cough was fatal, in the same periods, to 22, 12, 23, and 18 children; the average is 34. There were 9 deaths from influenza last week, showing an increase on recent returns; the average of previous seasons is 21, but is chiefly derived from the mortality in 1847, when influenza was epidemic, and multiplied the deaths both from this and other affections of the respiratory organs. The deaths in last week from typhus were 51, a considerable increase on previous weeks; but other epidemics are still much below the average. It is gratifying to state that no person in London was registered as having died in the last week from cholera; this is the first week in which the bills of mortality have been quite free from this disease since June, 1848, a period of nearly eighteen months. The deaths from diarrhoea were 17, less by 6 than the average. A man of 47 years died of "marasmus, after spirit-drinking." The death of a man of 63 in St. Andrew Eastern (Holborn), was caused by destitution. In Norwood a man died of glanders, caught from a diseased horse.

Accompanying the present Return is a diagram, which exhibits the mortality from cholera in the London districts, with the average elevation of the inhabited portions of each; and shows also by which of the nine water companies each district is supplied, and the source from which its water is obtained.

The mean daily reading of the barometer on Thursday was 29·635 in., the highest in the week; the mean of the week was 29·419. The mean daily temperature, which fell to 33° on Tuesday, rose to 46° on Thursday. The mean of the week was 42° 2', slightly above the average of the same week in seven years. On Tuesday the mean temperature was 8° below the average, and on Thursday 6° above it.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Negative electricity with strong tension was exhibited for the most part throughout the morning of Wednesday during rain. Positive with moderate tension was shown at about noon on Thursday; and positive with strong tension on Saturday, at 9 P.M.; nothing shown at any other time during the week.	The sky was overcast and rain falling for the most part throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
MONDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day and rain falling; cirrostratus and scud.
TUESDAY.		The sky was about one-fifth covered with cloud at 9h. A.M., one-half covered at noon; three-fourths at 3 P.M.; and one-half at 9 P.M.; fleecy cloud and cirrostratus the prevailing clouds.
WEDNESDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day, and rain fell without intermission till about 2h., and occasionally after that period; clouds, cirrostratus and scud.
THURSDAY.		Cloudless throughout the day.
FRIDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day.
SATURDAY.		The sky was overcast at 9h. A.M., and cloudless the remaining part of the day; heavy rain had fallen previously to 9h. A.M.

The height of the column of the barometer is considered to be 150 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's first glass standard barometer.

The observations are taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; and 9h. P.M.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part 1, 1846. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections. The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed in grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read.

Whevell's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower;" than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. A.M. was 40·7; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 41·5; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 40·2 and 40·5 respectively.

* The mean direction of the wind for the week is variable.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29·56 in. at the beginning of the week to 29·30 in. on the 2nd day at 6h. P.M.; it then increased till 9h. A.M. on the 4th, when it was 29·44 in.; it then decreased to 29·17 in. by 8h. P.M. on the 5th; again increased till 6h. P.M. on the 6th, when it was 29·70 in.; then decreased to 29·29 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 8th, and increased to 29·54 in. by the end of the week.

* The City of London within and without the walls is divided into three Unions for the relief of the poor, making three registration districts—the City, the West, and the East districts. Bartholomew's Hospital is in the West district. The 65 and 146 include the deaths in St. Bartholomew's Hospital, into which many of the patients are brought from other parts, as well as from the West London district.

† St. George Hanover Square, comprises the sub-districts of Hanover Square, May Fair, and Belgrave.

‡ The deaths of several children who were removed from Mr. Douet's establishment at footling, in the Wandsworth district, occurred and were registered in other districts of London. The deaths from cholera in St. Luke's workhouse have been transferred from the Shoreditch district to St. Luke's district in the calculations.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN the week ending last Saturday, 1002 deaths were registered in the Metropolitan districts; the weekly average of the season corrected for increase of population being 1162, the present decrease on the estimated mortality amounts to 160 deaths. The numbers returned in the last four weeks have been consecutively 892, 931, 1053, and 1002; the increase of mortality was preceded and accompanied by a decrease of temperature, (the mean having fallen about 16 degrees in three weeks), and a rise of temperature is now followed by a slight decrease in the total number of deaths. The deaths from phthisis in the last four weeks were 104, 134, 133, and 108. But under other diseases of the respiratory organs the increase is generally maintained; the deaths from bronchitis were 60, 60, 86, and 89; those from pneumonia (inflammation of the lungs chiefly in young persons) were 82, 94, 88, 90; and from asthma, 12, 21, 16, 26. In the zymotic or epidemic class, scarlatina and typhus have declined respectively from 32 and 51 fatal cases in the previous week to 19 and 33 in the last, and are both below the average, whilst measles which numbered 29 in the former week, was fatal in 46 cases in the last. Last week the deaths from diarrhoea were only 14; only one death from cholera occurred in the same period. The deceased in this case was a child of four years, who had lived in Horace-street, Marylebone. Mr. Burrows, the registrar of Goswell-street sub-district, reports, that within two weeks he has registered the deaths of three persons at 9, Charles-street, Northampton-square, where the family had recently lodged: first, a young woman of 19, who died of erysipelas (4 days' duration), and œdema of the glottis (12 hours); next week her parents who were 48 and 47 years of age respectively, and died within 48 hours of each other, the father also of œdema of the glottis (48 hours), congestion of the lungs (24 hours); and the mother, of congestion of the brain, after 48 hours' illness. The cause of death is certified in each case by the medical attendant. Amongst other deaths registered last week was that of a child of three years, who died of inflammation of the larynx, from inhaling the steam of boiling water. Vaccination was attended in two cases by fatal results. An old man died from exposure to cold in a field. Three deaths are ascribed to intemperance. In the 1002 deaths, the cause of death was certified by the written statements of medical attendants in 888 cases; in 12 cases, there was no medical attendant; in 15 cases, the patients may have had medical aid, but the diseases of which they died are not certified; of the remaining 87 cases, 84 were the subjects of inquest, and returned by coroners.

A Table is appended to the present Return, which shows the Annual Mortality of London at various ages, as compared with that of the South-Eastern Division of England, and also of part of Northumberland. Taking boys under 5 years, it appears that while 29 out of 1000 die in three Northumbrian districts, 53 die in the South-east Division of England, and 93 in London; and that this rate of 93 which prevails in London in ordinary times was raised by a few weeks' prevalence of influenza in 1847—8, to 106, and by cholera in 1849 to 107. Influenza was almost as fatal to children, as the more terrible epidemic by which it was followed; and to aged men and women who had turned 75 years, the mortality of cholera was even less. The annual mortality of men between 45 and 55 years, which is in parts of Northumberland 12 out of every 1000 living, and in the South-Eastern Division 15, is in London 27 in average years; and here it was raised from 27 to 28 by influenza, and to 35 by cholera.

The daily mean height of the barometer at Greenwich Observatory was above 30 in. on Monday; the mean height of the week was 29·852. The daily mean temperature, which was 37° on Sunday, fell steadily to 32° on Thursday, and rose on the next two days to 49° and 54°. The mean temperature of the week was 40°, about the average of the same week of seven years; on Thursday the daily mean was 8° below the average, and on the following days successively 9° and 13° above it.

The MORTALITY in LONDON compared with that in the SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION, comprising the Counties of SURREY, KENT, SUSSEX, HAMPSHIRE, BERKSHIRE, and with THREE DISTRICTS in NORTHUMBERLAND.

This Table may be read without reference to the decimal point, thus:—To 100000 Males living at all ages in three Districts in Northumberland the annual number of deaths in the 7 years 1838-44 was 1417, and in the South Eastern Division 1991; in London the annual number of deaths during the same period was 2737, while in the years ending September 1848, 1849, the deaths of Males in London increased to 3072 and 3419, to 100000 Males living at all ages.

NOTE.—The mortality in London, in the columns headed 1847-8, 1848-9, is deduced from the deaths registered during the years ending September 30, 1848 and 1849; the other columns show the annual mortality during the 7 years ending December 31, 1838-44.

MONDAY.	Positive, with moderate tension, was shown for the most part throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Fog prevailed for the most part of the day; rain fell about 4h. P.M.
TUESDAY.	Slight positive electricity at 9h. P.M. Nothing else shown during the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Fine rain fell occasionally during the day.
WEDNESDAY.	Positive, with moderate tension, shown for the most part throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
THURSDAY.	Positive, with moderate tension, shown for the most part throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
FRIDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was overcast and rain falling throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud.
SATURDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was generally overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling during the earlier portion of the morning.

The observations are taken at 9h. A.M.; noon; 3h. P.M.; and 9h. P.M.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the fall rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The former of these instruments was out of order during the week.

Whe-well's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and - "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. A.M. was 41.0; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 42.1; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 39.9 and 41.4 respectively.

† The mean direction of the wind for the week is variable.

‡ The reading of the barometer increased from 29.54 in. at the beginning of the week to 30.07 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 10th; it decreased to 29.73 in. by 9h. P.M. on the 14th, and increased to 29.66 in. at the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, December 15th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhœa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhœa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

1 KENSINGTON; St. John Paddington

M. 7 weeks, Son of coachman, diarrhœa, inanition, 8 Dec. 12 Oxford mews.

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

IN the Metropolitan districts the deaths registered in the week ending last Saturday were 1043; the weekly average of the last quarter of five previous years, corrected for increase of population, is 1162. In the corresponding week of the year 1846, 1276 deaths were returned; in that of 1847, 1946 deaths, when the mortality was increased by influenza; and in the same week of 1848, the deaths were 1118. But though still considerably less than usual, the weekly contingent now shows a tendency to rise to the winter rate of mortality, and the present return shows an increase of 41 on the deaths of the previous week. In three successive weeks ending December 15, the deaths from bronchitis were respectively 60, 86, 89; last week they rose to 110, whilst the average is only 68; from asthma there were 21, 16, 26, and 19 in the last four weeks; and from pneumonia (or inflammation of the lungs) 94, 88, 90, and 81. The mortality from pneumonia, which is less than the average, occurs to a much greater extent among children than aged persons; and the latter class are now the principal sufferers from the increased coldness of the weather. Three men and five women died last week at 90 years and upwards; two of the women had turned 95 years. From diarrhœa and dysentery the deaths were 19; a woman of 70 died on the 16th December in Great Pulteney-street from debility which succeeded an attack of cholera. All epidemics are less fatal than usual, except measles, which rather exceeds the average.

The most important particulars registered of each case of cholera were published week by week in the Tables; as this not only assisted the various officers engaged in preventing and treating the disease, but put the facts within the reach of all those who were studying the nature and causes of the epidemic. Data were thus published which will show the influence of sex, age, season, locality, water, drainage, occupation, wealth or poverty. It is gratifying to find that in addition to the analyses which have been already drawn up at the General Register Office, others have been undertaken by private inquirers. And Dr. Guy has favoured the Registrar-General with the following account of the professions or occupations of 4312 men of the age of 15 and upwards who were destroyed by cholera. It will be seen that the disease in London was not only fatal to the poor, but to many artisans, tradesmen, shopkeepers, professional people, and persons of independent means. Of the men who died of cholera 135 were returned simply as gentlemen or of independent means, 6 were clergymen or ministers of religion, 16 medical men, 13 magistrates or lawyers, 11 architects or engineers, 11 merchants, 11 officers in the army and navy, 25 master mariners, 100 clerks or accountants, 11 Custom-house, 7 Excise officers, 14 builders, 14 booksellers, &c., 14 carpenters, undertakers, &c., 13 cheesemongers, 17 drapers, &c., 11 fishmongers, 12 fruiterers, 20 grocers, 13 oilmen, 42 licensed victuallers, 5 wine merchants, 8 master shoemakers, 6 master tailors, 6 tobacconists, 19 travellers. Of the classes returned as artisans and labourers, 52 were bakers, 32 butchers, 102 weavers, 80 tailors, 151 shoemakers, 47 bricklayers, 17 masons, 20 plasterers, 70 cabinet-makers, 111 carpenters, 28 coopers, 73 painters and plumbers, 33 sawyers, 20 shipwrights, 22 tanners, 18 turners, 16 coachmakers, 35 cabmen, 57 coachmen and cabmen, 15 saddlers, 52 carmen and carriers, 37 grooms and ostlers, 6 drovers, 44 engineers, 10 railway guards, 13 stokers, 16 letter carriers and postmen, 99 porters or messengers, 24 policemen, 7 watchmen, 62 soldiers, 299 sailors and Greenwich pensioners, 27 watermen, 18 bargemen, 7 ballast heavers, 53 coalporters and coalheavers, 25 footmen and man servants. 756 labourers are returned.

Dr. Guy has given in the Table "a rough approximation to the ratio which the deaths bear to the living" in the several occupations. This determination is as difficult as it is interesting. The occupations were only returned for the Metropolis in a very general way by the Census Commissioners in 1841; and in the trades masters were not distinguished from men. The results which deserve most attention are those which relate to well-defined, numerous occupations.

"Labourer," "Gentleman," "Man servant," are terms very loosely employed; but the statement that 1 in 67 labourers, 1 in 200 gentlemen, and 1 in 1572 man servants, including footmen, died of cholera, expresses something near the risk incurred by the three classes in the epidemic. The domestic men servants of London were 39300 in 1841, and 25 died of cholera; the clergy, doctors, and lawyers did not exceed 12000, yet 35 persons belonging to the learned professions died of cholera in 1849.

In the weekly returns from which the statement is drawn up, the professions were not uniformly given; but the abstract will be made more complete afterwards from the register-books.

The mean daily reading of the barometer at Greenwich Observatory was above 30 inches on the last three days of the week; the mean of the week was 29.952. The daily mean temperature, which was 51° on Sunday, gradually fell to 33° on Friday and Saturday; the mean of the week was 42°, rather more than the average of the same week in seven years. The daily mean was about 10° above the average on Sunday and Tuesday, and 6° below it on Friday.

ABSTRACT of the OCCUPATIONS of 4312 Males, 15 Years of Age and upwards, who died of Cholera in London during the Years 1848-9; together with a rough approximation to the ratio which the Deaths bear to the Living. This ratio is obtained, in the case of tradesmen, by dividing the number following each trade (as given in the Post Office Directory for 1840) by the number of deaths; and in the case of all the other classes, by dividing the number of the living in each class, as returned by the Census of 1841, by the number of deaths. In the case of such of the working-class as follow occupations of the same name with that borne by tradesmen, the number of the living is obtained by subtracting the number of tradesmen from the total given in the Census, such total comprising both the employers and the employed. The Table comprises the inmates of Workhouses, Hospitals, and Asylums, who were returned as having definite occupations.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	No electricity was shown during the week.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain was falling from 10h. p.m. until midnight.
MONDAY.		The sky was cloudless till 9h. a.m.; generally covered with cirrostratus and scud till 6h. p.m., and cloudless afterwards.
TUESDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Rain fell frequently during the day.
WEDNESDAY.		Three-fourths of the sky were covered till 10h. a.m.; from this time till 5h. p.m., the sky was for the most part covered with cirrostratus and thin clouds, and clear during the remainder of the day.
THURSDAY.		The sky was cloudless till 2h. p.m., and, with slight exceptions, it was covered with cirrostratus and scud afterwards.
FRIDAY.		The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Showers of snow and hail fell frequently during the morning, the air at the time being quite calm.
SATURDAY.		The sky was for the most part covered with cirrostratus and scud throughout the day. Light snow fell occasionally during the afternoon.

The observations are taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; and 9h. p.m.

The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31.—See Phil. Trans., Part 1, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.

The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.

The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. a.m., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The former of these instruments was out of order during the week.

Whevel's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. a.m., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.

The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31.

* In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher;" and — "lower," than the average.

The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. a.m., was 42.6; and the mean reading at 9h. p.m. was 40.9; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 41.1 and 39.7 respectively.

† The mean direction of the wind was S.W. till Tuesday, and it was mostly N. from Wednesday.

The reading of the barometer decreased from 29.86 in. at the beginning of the week to 29.47 in. by 3h. a.m. on the 17th; it increased to 29.75 in. by 9h. p.m. on the same day; it then decreased and was 29.35 in. by 1h. p.m. on the next day (the 18th); it was 30.13 in. by 9h. p.m. on the 18th, then decreased slightly for a short time; it then increased again till Saturday, and during the whole of this day the reading was about 30.44 in.

FATAL CASES of CHOLERA and DIARRHOEA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, December 22nd, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Cholera and Diarrhoea registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhoea.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

- 6 KENSINGTON; Kensington Town

HEALTH OF LONDON DURING THE WEEK.

In the week ending last Saturday, the deaths registered in the Metropolitan districts were 1053; the weekly average of this season, corrected for increase of population, is 1162. The mortality of last week is, therefore, less than the estimated amount by 109 deaths, and is nearly the same as that of the previous week. Of the 1053 persons, whose deaths are included in this Return, 841 had medical attendants, and written statements of the diseases which proved fatal, distinguishing in many cases the primary and secondary forms, are entered in the Register Books; 15 had no medical attendance; in 15 cases the cause of death was not certified, and in these it does not appear whether or not the patients had professional aid. At the end of the quarter an influx of cases returned by Coroners swells the number of deaths registered in the week; but many of these occurred at earlier dates. Inquests were held on 176 deaths in the present Return, considerably more than the due proportion; they fall mostly under fractures, wounds, drowning, hanging and suffocation, burns, scalds and poison, making altogether 65, whilst the weekly average is 30; and under apoplexy, from which there were 44 deaths, whilst the average is 26; besides 45 in which the cause of death could not be ascertained, or was defectively returned, the average of such being only 12. 7 children are returned as having died of suffocation in bed; 5 deaths are ascribed to intemperance, of which one was the case of a girl of 14 years, who died after 38 hours' illness, of congestion of the brain and other organs, from drinking gin; a child died of want; a man of 40 years, in the sub-district of St. Andrew East, of "exposure to cold and destitution," and a pork-butcher of 27 years, on the third day after admission into the workhouse of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, from the effects of "starvation and neglect." A woman who had no medical attendance died in Somers Town of "inflammation of the lungs;" she is stated to have arrived at the advanced age of 100 years. In the last week 42 children died of measles, which is about the average, 24 of scarlatina and 24 of hooping cough (both diseases now under the average). Smallpox, which was fatal in 7 cases, and typhus in 31, are also less prevalent than usual. There is a decrease of deaths on the previous week both from bronchitis and pneumonia; 8 persons died of influenza. Only 9 deaths occurred from diarrhoea; none from cholera. Tables accompany this Return which show the deaths from cholera in each of the 135 sub-districts of London, in each week since October 1848.

The mean daily reading of the barometer at Greenwich Observatory ranged from 30.440 in. to 30.304 in. on Sunday and Monday; on Tuesday it was 30.378 in. The mean of the week was 29.877 in. The mean temperature of the week was 33.1°, less by 9° than that of the previous week, and less than the average of the same week in 7 years by 5°. The daily mean was throughout less than the average, except on Wednesday. On Friday, when the mean temperature was only 25°, it was less than the average of the same day by 13°.

DAY.	ELECTRICITY.	GENERAL REMARKS.
SUNDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was generally clear till 8h. P.M., and overcast with cirrostratus afterwards.	The height of the cistern of the barometer is considered to be 150 feet above the mean level of the sea. The readings of the barometer are considered to be coincident with those of the Royal Society's first glass standard barometer. The observations are taken at 9h. a.m.; noon; 3h. p.m.; and 9h. p.m.
MONDAY.	Positive, and active generally during the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. Light snow fell occasionally at noon, and during the evening misty rain frequently fell.	The means of the readings of the barometer, the dry thermometer, and the wet thermometer, observed at these times, are converted into mean daily values by the application of corrections deduced by Mr. Glaisher from five years' observations ending 1845, December 31. See Phil. Trans., Part I, 1848. And the mean daily dew point is deduced by the usual rules from those mean daily values of the dry and wet bulb thermometers.
TUESDAY.	Positive, and tension strong at each examination.	The sky was for the most part covered until 10h. A.M.; clear from this time till 6h. P.M., and overcast afterwards; cirrostratus and scud.	The results for mean daily temperature of the air, or the numbers exhibited in Column 7, include those deduced from the maximum and minimum thermometers, as determined by the self-registering thermometers, by applying the proper corrections.
WEDNESDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was overcast throughout the day; cirrostratus and scud. During the morning fog prevailed, and rain fell.	The readings of the two self-registering thermometers, the one placed in the full rays of the sun, and the other placed on grass fully exposed to the sky, are taken every morning at 9h. A.M., and therefore exhibit the highest and lowest readings respectively that have occurred in the previous 24 hours. They are, however, placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the thermometers are read. The former of these instruments was out of order during the week.
THURSDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	Thin cirrostratus and haze obscured one-half of the sky until 9h. A.M.; cloudless during the remainder of the day.	Whewell's anemometer (from the indications of which the estimation of horizontal movement is made) is read at 10h. A.M., and the result given is for the 24 hours preceding. It is placed here opposite to the civil day which precedes that on which the anemometer is read.
FRIIDAY.	Nothing was shown throughout the day.	The sky was cloudless from 9h. A.M. till 8h. 30m. P.M., when clouds came up suddenly, and covered the sky. A heavy fall of snow occurred during the earlier portion of the morning.	The average temperature of the air is that determined by Mr. Glaisher from the two-hourly observations taken at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich, in the seven years ending 1847, December 31. * In reading the 16th column, it will be borne in mind that + is read "higher," and - "lower," than the average.
SATURDAY.	Positive, and tension weak during the morning.	The sky was overcast till 4h. P.M.; generally clear from this time till 8h. 30m. P.M.; and during the remainder of the day clouds were prevalent, but variable in amount; cirrostratus and scud.	The temperature of the water of the Thames is ascertained by the use of a self-registering thermometer, suspended from the side of the "Dreadnought" Hospital Ship, at the depth of about 2 feet below the surface. The readings of this instrument are registered under the superintendence of Lieutenant Sanders, R.N., Superintendent of the "Dreadnought." The mean reading of a thermometer placed on the mainmast, and read each day at 9h. A.M. was 32.6; and the mean reading at 9h. P.M. was 34.5; the mean readings at the Royal Observatory for the same times were 31.6 and 34.0 respectively. The reading of the barometer at the beginning of the week was 30.44 in.; it increased to 30.48 in. by the 23rd at 10h. A.M.; it decreased to 30.29 in. by noon on the 24th; increased to 30.44 in. by 10h. A.M. on the 25th; decreased to 29.23 in. by 9h. A.M. on the 28th, and increased to 29.55 in. by the end of the week.

FATAL CASES of DIARRHŒA Registered in the Week ending SATURDAY, December 29th, 1849.

The following is a List of the Cases of Diarrhæa registered during the week. It states the sex (M. or F.), age, profession, duration of case, date of death, and residence of the deceased. The deaths in Hospitals and Public Institutions are distinguished. The cases are certified by qualified Medical Practitioners, unless the contrary is stated. The attention of medical men is called to the utility of mentioning, whenever it occurs, the premonitory diarrhæa.

The following abbreviations are used: Da., for daughter; W., for wife; Wid., for widow. The epithets "Asiatic," "malignant," &c., though often used in the returns, are omitted in this list.

WEST DISTRICTS.

8 CHELSEA; Chelsea South

M. 67, diarrhæa 4 days.

15 WESTMINSTER; St. Margaret

M. 1, Son of gas-fitter, diarrhæa, bronchitis, convulsions. 2 New Tothill street.
M. 40, labourer, chronic diarrhæa. WESTMINSTER WORKHOUSE.

NORTH DISTRICTS.

27 PANCRAS; Tottenham Court

M. 9 months, Son of cabman, diarrhæa 4 days, 24 Dec. 44 Tottenham street.
